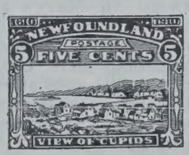
Newfoundland Guy Issue

By A. B. Perlin.

In August, 1910, there were great celebrations in Newfoundland, particularly in the city of St. John's, and they included the issue of a set of postage stamps. The cause of these celebrations was the 300th anniversary of the first attempt at permanent settlement of the colony, which was made by John Guy, of Bristol, in 1610, and which, through strife with the fishermen, who refused to recognise Guy's authority, internal bickering amongst the "planters" and depredations of pirates, ended in dismal failure.

The stamps are what interest us here, however, and I propose to deal with each design separately, and to give such historical particulars as may be found necessary to explain it.

These stamps are particularly interesting because they were produced by a firm which had never printed postage stamps before, because the method of production was the lithographic process, and because, further, they provide more minor varieties, especially of perforation, than any issue of Newfoundland stamps that preceded them.



They were announced in the report of the Postmaster-General for the year ending June, 1909, when he naively suggested that if there was not much demand for postal purposes, at least stamp collectors would be bound to take up a pretty fair quantity. That this hope was justified, this extract from his report for the year following will show:—

"The sale of stamps for the past seven months has continued to increase, and for that period it almost equals the total sales for the year ended June 30, 1909. This increase is in a great measure due to the issue of the Guy Tercentenary stamps in August last."

The set consisted of eleven values, and I propose to take each denomination separately and describe the design in detail in the hope that a little information concerning the early history of Newfoundland, which is the early history of the British Empire, will be found interesting.

One Cent.—Portrait of King James I, from an engraving after Vandyke. King James granted the charter to the company formed by John Guy to colonize the new found isle. Newfoundland's foremost historian, the late Judge Prowse, writes of him: "In his policy to Newfoundland he appears, at first sight, in a favourable light. . . . His advances to Guy's association were liberal."

Two Cent.—The design of this stamp is a Coat of Arms, purporting to be the Arms of the London and Bristol Com-

BOSTON PAID CANCELLATIONS

Back in the fifties, Boston cancelled most of the stamps on its mail in black ink with the well known "Paid" cancellation, consisting of "Paid" between bars in a circle. The postmark was in red upon the cover and several varieties are known.

I have a few sets of 3c 1851 covers showing this "Paid" cancellation with different red postmarks, as follows:

Boston and date
Boston, Mass., and date
Boston 3 cts. (small) and date
Boston 3 cts. (large) and date
These four varieties for $2.00

These covers and stamps are in nice condition and may be returned, if unsatisfactory.

pany for colonizing Newfoundland. Actually, the Arms is that granted to the Colony by Charles I in 1637, a fact which only became known recently. On January 1, 1928, the Arms was for the first time officially adopted by the Government of Newfoundland and now replaces the old lion and unicorn on Government stationery. I believe that the error in description on the postage stamp was caused by the fact that Prowse illustrates the Arms in his history and describes it as that of the London and Bristol Company.

THREE CENT.—Portrait of John Guy. Few authentic facts are obtainable with respect to Guy's plantation. Guy was an Alderman of Bristol and had invested in successive colonization plans for Newfoundland fostered by Sir Humphrey Gilbert, and his more famous half-brother, Sir Walter Raleigh. These plans had failed miserably. Guy thereupon proposed a scheme which was considered by his other associates in the old companies, and it was agreed that it would be feasible if Government assistance were available. This was about 1607. Immense influence was exerted to secure the Government aid, and all Guy and his associates contributed towards the expenses of the venture was a mere 100 pounds, payable in five annual instalments. The charter to the company was issued under the Great Seal in 1610, and the grant under it included all that land between St. Mary's and Bonavista Bays, with a reservation of the public right to the fishery. Prowse says: "Guy's instructions show clearly that the charter was a dishonest attempt to give away to Court favourites land occupied and possessed by Englishmen long anterior to the grant."

Guy sailed from Bristol in May, 1610, in three ships and with about forty colonists. The company settled at Cupids, a little settlement in Conception Bay. Hostilities begun by the fishermen and attacks by pirates caused the colony to fail, and a few years later Guy sailed for home, after disposing of his share in the plantation.

FOUR CENT.—This stamp shows Guy's flagship, the Endeavour.

FIVE CENT.—View of Cupids, the small Conception Bay town, site of Guy's colony.

SIX CENT.—Francis Bacon, Lord Verulam. This portrait is after an old engraving. The inscription wrongly names him "Lord Bacon," but when raised to the peerage, he took the title of "Verulam." He was, as the stamp rightly states, the guiding spirit in the colonization scheme and as Chancellor to James I, it was his influence which secured the grant of the charter to Guy's company, in which he was a considerable shareholder. He wrote an essay to forward the plans of the company, entitled "ON PLANTATIONS," in which he showed himself a shrewd man of affairs with a vision in advance of his times.

EIGHT CENT.—View of Mosquito. This is a very small settlement near the head of Conception Bay, where Guy landed a few of his colonists. It was but a few miles distant from Cupids.

NINE CENT.—A logging camp on Red Indian Lake. This has nothing to do with Guy's colony, but presumably Guy did not accomplish enough to provide the number of designs required to complete the set. Red Indian Lake, at that time, was the centre of the logging industry which provided the newly built Harmsworth paper mills with the raw material they required. It is now also the centre of one of the greatest zinc-lead discoveries ever made, Buchan's Mine, which begins operations this year (1928).

TEN CENT.—View of the paper mills at Grand Falls owned by the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company and controlled by the Harmsworth family. This mill had just begun to operate at the time the order was placed for the Guy issue, and as, outside of the mines at Bell Island pictured on the five cent Cabot stamp, it was the greatest industrial undertaking in the country, it was thought worth illustrating on a stamp. There was some adverse comment at the time about the propriety of thus advertising a private industrial enterprise. The paper produced by this mill supplies the two great London dailies, Daily Mail and Daily Mirror with newsprint. Newfoundland has a great future in the newsprint industry, and one of the biggest mills in the world is now operating at Corner Brook, on the Humber River, producing nearly 500 tons of newsprint a day.

TWELVE CENT.—Portrait of King Edward VII.

FIFTEEN CENT.—First portrait of King George V to appear on a stamp after his accession.

Three denominations of the Guy issue are known in a variety of perforations and there are two notable errors. The stamps themselves are unattractive, the colours were in some cases ill-chosen, and the designs could have been treated much more effectively. The appearance of the stamps is due partly to the fact that they were produced by lithography and further that the time allowed the printers to complete them was not sufficient to permit a better production.

The perforation varieties occur as follows:—

One Cent: 12x12, 12x14, 12x11.
Two Cent: 12x12, 12x14.
Five Cent: 12x12, 12x14.

Gibbons also notes the one cent perforated 11½x11, and the two cent 12x1
I have not myself seen these var

"NFW" error is quite scarce in

A STUDY IN ENVELOPE VALUES

COMMENTS ON THE ENVELOPE SECTION OF THE NEW SCOTT CATALOG

By J. M. BARTELS.

1907-10. Beginning with this issue the catalog completely abandons its former policy of listing dies, and satisfies itself with just one of each general design. We merely find a note stating "Most of these dies are very much alike for each value and it is almost impossible to give descriptions by which they may be distinguished one from the other." Ye gods and little fishes! They are nothing compared with the minute types of the contemporaneous 2c carmine of which we find five described on pages 21 to 23 and listed as subvarieties "a", "b", and "c". A similar listing of "types" or rather "dies" should be adopted for the last two general issues of envelopes. The descriptions are much less difficult than the catalog indicates and should by all means be included as an essential part of U. S. 20th Century postage stamps. The notes concerning electrotypes at the head of both issues could well be dispensed with as being of no practical value and somewhat confusing. If there were as many as stated no one has ever identified more than a small proportion, and they are of little consequence compared with the importance of dies themselves; lucid description of which are found in several publications by my firm.

1916-21. Only one price has changed in this entire issue including the wrappers. The 1c envelope on brown unglazed paper has been raised from $1 to $4. The most glaring error in the whole list of pricing envelopes and wrappers occurs in No. 3044 the 1c brown (listed as unglazed, but it should be glazed paper). For eight years we have tried to locate copies, but never found or heard of another one after securing an original small lot of 25. These were nearly all distributed as new issues at the time. If anyone has any additional information or copies the writer would like to hear from him. This item again remains stationary at $1. The 2c wrappers, Nos. 3045 and 3047 are also good property and bargains at full catalog. Don't miss a chance to get them even if you have to pay a little more. All 3c envelopes of this issue are getting scarcer as the stocks in all post offices were ordered to be revalued 2c. Those on colored papers seem to be out of stock pretty generally judging from orders coming in from dealers who cannot supply the clientele.

1920-21—Revalued 2c. I have always considered it a great pity and an error in judgment that any envelopes were ever included in this list or the revalued 1½c, which were not on denominations as specified by the P. O. Dept. In a number of cases a few wrong values would get into a box. Some clerk would discover them and throw them aside. Along comes some collector and asks for something of an unusual nature. These freaks are quickly produced and bought, then immediately we have a very rare error as only a specified number often from 25 to 100 were "issued". They go into the catalog at some substantial figure running as high as $50. This is followed by an album space which greatly increases the demand. If a beginning is made by including such material as full fledged collectible varieties others will soon be discovered, let us not suggest purposely produced. The history of several of these has been kept in the dark though the envelopes have been freely offered at large discounts from list prices.

I consider all 3c envelopes in stock at any post office were entitled to be revalued, including the 3c green (2706a) which were stowed away for many years at the Frederick, Md., office. Others were privately revalued by postmasters who could not secure a government die in time, or who received such a poor job that part of the returned stock failed to show any "2". This was Jacksonville, Fla., which is responsible for Nos. 2710 sold at Daytona, and 2711 sold at Orlando Beach, Fla. 4c envelopes, type IV, were ordered surcharged at New Orleans for a special reason, are therefore regular and became common.

The list would have been better off had we excluded from the catalog for the general collector the following unauthorized numbers: 2690a to 2694, 2698b, c, d, and e, a total of nine envelopes in this list. Equally entitled to listing with these is the 4c black, oval die, on white, found in the St. Louis post office together with 2692 and nearly all of the 2698d. This envelope should precede 2698b.

1925. — Revalued 1½c. What was stated in the preceding paragraph applies quite largely also to this issue. The listing should have been confined to surcharges on 1c envelopes only. This would eliminate all 2c envelopes which had no right to exist, and especially all 1½ on 1½c obviously an absurdity. Who can supply the history of these latter monstrosities? Will someone let us have full particulars and all facts in the case. All we have seen of the latter shows the type which was used in Philadelphia. This would delete from the list the following numbers: 2716a, 2717, 2731 to 2732b, 2743, a total of eight envelopes. No. 2733a is overpriced, although it is the only envelope revalued on the 1903 issue. A large quantity was found in a New England P. O., numerous purchasers receiving hundreds each and still leaving quite a supply on hand according to fairly recent information. It is priced $2.

A really rare envelope is No. 2732c, 1½ on 1c blue of 1887 (or according to the watermark, 1890). This was obtained from an Illinois post office and has a peculiar and interesting history which I must reserve for another time. Strange to say there is not a single price change in any of the revalued envelopes. 2724 remains unpriced, but is obtainable, and certainly quite rare.

A peculiar note follows No. 2732b. Will someone kindly send for our inspection that mythical 1c wrapper of 1920 said to be unglazed. Some have been submitted on an unglazed paper of a fairly dark shade, but they were manila and not the 'brown" which is officially termed "Kraft", adopted from the German and meaning "strength".

No. 2714 now exists on amber and should be included.

War Dept.—Only two price changes have been made. The War 6c dark red on cream, and envelope on every want list, was raised from $50 to $75, and is certainly much rarer than No. 3250 priced for many years at $100. No. 3234 and 3272 and other Wars should go up next year. The 1875 1c exists in two copies on orange, and is as much entitled to listing as the same on amber (3246) which never existed except with "Specimen" on the envelope.

THE PROGRESS FOR THE YEAR

AS REPORTED BY WM. LYCETT, SEC., AT ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE S. P. A.

The Secretary herewith presents his sixth report to an annual convention, and one that, like all preceding ones, shows a healthy condition of affairs and a year of progress even if the pace has slowed somewhat. It shows business has been conducted promptly in the various departments and that the membership is assisting to a large extent in the upbuilding of the organization, as evidenced by their participation in the various activities. The reports of the other officers to be presented will add to this.

There have been proposed 430 applicants for membership as compared with 463 for the previous year. The Sales Department reports sales of $20,890.49, an increase over last year of $3,847.75, and the Exchange Department shows $6,142.82 exchanges, about half of those of 1927-28, the shrinkage being undoubtedly the result of the forced change of management and the untimely illness of Mr. Buell.

The recruiters (22 less than last year) have been working steadily, 88 members having proposed applicants during the year; but only three have proposed more than ten each: Wm. Lycett, 137; Helen Hussey, 105; R. C. Bach, 16. Miss Hussey deserves praise for equalling her remarkable record of last year, and that of proposing 386 members during her five years of membership.

The Society has lost 15 members by death during the year, or previously, and reported this year, as follows: L. L. Richards, Jr., Carl Baumann, H. C. Milius, A. McC. Doyle, Hernando de Soto, Joseph E. Ralph, Robert F. Hoag, Arthur C. Kaufmann, O. N. Sanford, Willis D. Engle, Thomas A. Rife, W. A. Lieson, E. C. Markland, Charles Olney, E. A. Smith. Many of these are old and tried members, including Mr. O. N. Sanford, the first member to take a life membership, and the first one to die, also two Honorary Life Members—Joseph E. Ralph and Willis D. Engle. We mourn their loss and revere their memory, and recommend that the Convention take appropriate action to that end.

The Board of Governors expelled two members for unethical conduct, the applications of four applicants were returned to them, and one withdrawn. Every effort is being made to have on the Society's roll none but those whose record is absolutely clean and of whose trustworthiness there is no doubt.

The number of droppings for non-payment of dues and also of resignations is entirely too high, notwithstanding, as reported last year, a certain number is inevitable and must be counted on. The Secretary believes a mistake is made to offer any advantages, discounts, premiums, or anything not specified in the Constitution, or undue urging to join and mistating advantages. Members secured by these means are rarely permanent, and account for many of the droppings, all of which are mostly at a monetary to the Society.

The situation of the Junior member does not improve. There are now on roll 87 Junior members, with mon suspensions occurring. 118 have dropped during the year, but seven transferred to the regular roll. 33 been admitted to membership.

Three Life Memberships have taken, and a partial payment made one other. There are now 23 Life M berships and $450 in the Life Mem ship Fund.

The following is a complete mem ship summary:

Membership July 31, 1928,	1,
New members,
Reinstated, Restored,
Gains,	432—1,
Deceased,
Resigned,
Dropped for non-payment of dues,
Expelled (unethical conduct),
Losses,
Membership July 15, 1929,	1,

During the year the Secretary has lected $3,044.67 for dues, initiations, of buttons, etc., and prorated it as lows, turning the money over to the pr er recipients promptly on the first of e month: Official Organ, $980.48; Board Governors, $498.63; General Fund, $ 495.56; Life Membership Fund, $70. has also signed warrants for disbur ments to wit: General Fund, $1,287. Sales Department Insurance Fund, $3- 03; Exchange Department Insura Fund, $6.00.

The Year Book was issued by the S retary after the publisher designated the Washington Convention failed to Owing to the increased size caused increase in membership and Convent orders, and a falling off of members support with ads and cards, a deficie of $168.30 had to be paid from the G eral Fund. Receipts were $274.70, the printing of an edition of 2,000 c $443. The Secretary questions whet the issuance of the Year Book as a s paying proposition is necessary, believ rather that it should be issued at expense of the Society, and be kept a minimum by advertisements.

The Society is increasing in memb ship all the time, and the Secretary fe impelled again to report that at times is a physical impossibility for him handle the work promptly alone, and meagre salary precludes him hiring sistance at his own expense. The Pre dent has always without question orde warrants drawn for his reimburseme but he believes there should be a amount for assistance by law, as in larger sister society. During the y $38.50 has been so paid.

Thanking the officers and members coöperation rendered, and truly trusti that the coöperation will continue and next year be a record one, with all wo ing together for the Society's interes with a Convention that will be marked harmony and good-fellowship and ina gurate a new era, this report is respe fully submitted.

GENERAL ISSUES, USED
I have just purchased a large general collection of the above formed in Rhode Island during the past 20 years.
This collection is remarkably strong in cancellations, shifts, broken plates and special papers, etc., etc.
In addition to the General Issues there are a few New Yorks, including several re-strikes, and a fine real blue paper.
In the General Issues I have as follows:—
1847. 5c, 13 pairs and 61 singles, including Orange Town. Blue and red figures, single and double, etc.
1847. 10c, 17 singles.
1851-56. All values in singles and pairs, cracked plates of 1c and 3c, rare cancellations, etc.
1857-60. Fine lot all values, fine cracked plates 1c and 3c, rare cancellations, reprints, etc.
1861. 1st Issue, 3c, 10c and 24c.
1861. 2nd Issue, Grand lot of all values.
1862-66. Fine lot, many re-strikes.
1866-68. Grills, fine lot, many rare items.
1869. Fair lot only, not so strong as rest of collection, but includes a lot of rare and unusual cancellations.
1870-88. A grand lot, many very rare items not often to be met with.
About twenty new approval books are being made up from this collection and will be available on my return from vacation after September 10th. [16

NEY-BOWES METERED MAIL
(Clipping from F. P. Brown)
mong the smaller industrial romances he present era arising from new inions may be classed Pitney-Bowes age Meter Co., which occupies the inant position in the postage meter . Company has been in business it nine years, but in early days had y obstacles to overcome in the shape rice of its product, newness of idea inertia of the government. s a result, however, of successive reductions from $2,000 to $1,500, 00, $785, $385, and just lately to $75 machine, its field of operations has greatly widened. The machine, h is sold outright to users, seals, ips, cancels and stacks mail at the time, preventing stamp stealing or e of postage.
n each machine a detachable meter is which is rented to the user for $10 a th. The meter is taken to the post e where it is set and sealed by the rnment for amount of postage paid When postage has been used meter matically locks and ceases to operate. from the meter royalties, of course, the company prospers.
ompany believes that metered mail is in its infancy. Some foreign coun. (France and Canada) are already ressively endorsing the use of metered by offering users a 2% discount on postage costs. The government ng is so much greater on printing and ination of frauds than such a dis- that it is a wise policy to pursue.
he company is working with the govnent to improve the system and many lopments are pending. As time goes t seems likely that metered mail will ually supplant the postage stamp for mercial users. In this country alone figured there is a potential market 500,000 machines. The large banks industrial companies are already s, but the larger market has not been tched.

THE CODED APPROVAL BOOK
A TALE OF SECRET SERVICE IN THE WORLD WAR

By CAPT. A. C. TOWNSEND.

The Censorship Bureau in New York was a busy place in 1917 and 1918. All foreign mail was sent there, opened and subjected to close scrutiny in the search for code messages or any other indications of communication with the enemy. What the results were is still and always will be a mystery, as the Secret Service never talks. However, I was in a different part of the war service, and can tell this tale of one of the jobs that I got mixed up in.

It was my love for stamps that got me into it. I was on duty at Hoboken. At my own request I had been given the job of collecting and censoring the mail from departing troops, and a whale of a job it turned out to be, but that is not part of this story. The censorship in New York was an entirely separate affair.

One day a transport quartermaster came into my office on the return of his ship from abroad. "Cap'n," he said, "I want some advice. You know we took over such and such troops, who came here direct from a southern training camp. A couple of days before we landed a soldier came to me with this package, sealed, stamped and ready to mail. He said it contained a roll of films that he took in camp just before leaving—just some pictures of himself and his buddies—that he was very anxious to get to his wife in case he should be killed. He was afraid of its getting lost in the mail on the other side, he said, and asked me if I would mail it for him when I got back. I was touched by the appeal and the sentiment behind it, and readily promised to do it for him."

He stopped to light a cigar with me, and then went on to say that on the way back he had gotten to wondering over the matter, and as to whether it was a safe thing to do, and so concluded to ask my opinion before mailing the package. I told him he was mighty right in having hesitated, as it was strictly against the censorship rules to handle mail of the departing troops in any except the regular way through my office, and that he might have gotten into trouble over it.

"I'll have the films developed by the port photographer," I said. "If they are as claimed we will mail them out as the soldier asked. If not—well, we'll see what they are first." And those pictures turned out to have been taken on the Transport, every one of them. Views of the guns it carried, views forward and aft from the masts, and views of the other transports and convoy. The Quartermaster nearly died of shivers when he saw them. Information for the enemy!

There was, of course, only one thing to do with them. I got from the port Adjutant the name of a Military Intelligence officer attached to the Censorship Bureau and went to him with the package of films. He was happy to receive them, asked for the full story about them, and said they would at once start tracking the matter down. Said it was most probable the man had given a false name as sender, so he could not be traced, but they could certainly find and watch the person to whom they were addressed, and perhaps put a stop to serious spy work.

"Will you let me know the result?" He shook his head and smiled. "Sorry, but we are not allowed to reveal anything at all of our work. You will have to be content with the fact that you have put important information into our hands."

I asked questions about the censorship of the foreign mail, and told him of some of our Hoboken experiences with the mail left by departing troops, their attempts to give information as to their date of sailing, name of ship, etc., by devices which we readily saw through. He suddenly stopped me and said:

"Say, Cap'n, do you know anything about postage stamps?" "I claim to," I replied. "I've been a collector nearly all my life. Why?" He answered, "Well, we get in a lot of stamps from abroad for dealers here and elsewhere; big lots of war stamps, and what you call approval books, some of them worth a good bit of money. We have been passing them through as harmless, but I got to wondering recently whether those books might form any possible means of communication with the enemy, and it has been worrying me ever since I thought of the idea."

I pricked up my ears, for I've always been bugs on puzzles, cypher and cryptogram stories and things of that sort, and was interested at once. "Got anything of the sort now?" I asked him.

"Yes. We have a book that came in yesterday from London by registered mail, and I had it put on my desk just because of that idea of mine. I can't see any possible harm in it, and was going to O. K. it and send it out tomorrow, when your questions made me ask if you knew anything about stamps. Do you want to have a look at it?"

I certainly did. He got it and we went into a private office and sat down with the book. It was just an ordinary little blue backed approval book of a few pages, addressed to a name I did not know, just off Nassau Street, New York. I turned the pages over and back again. Just a fairly good line of stamps from various countries, the total value being put down as some $80.00.

There didn't appear to be anything unusual about it, yet the idea that there might be kept me staring at it. I turned the pages over and over, looked at the backs of the stamps for any marking or lettering, and then with a magnifying glass he had, we looked them over closely for any secret marks which might disclose a code.

Nothing resulted, and my friend was evidently getting a bit anxious to get

EDITORIAL

ANOTHER convention of the American Philatelic Society has become history and Minneapolis has repeated its success in the role of host to the national organization that it gained on former occasions, or in 1896 and 1905, respectively. This year a great added attraction was billed in the national stamp display and the Twin Cities have enrolled the name high on the scroll of achievement as a doer of the philatelic deed. Particulars of the Exhibition and of the convention cannot be given here as this notice is written just after the Minneapolis week had begun. Legislatively, there is not much business in prospect, but one can never tell what questions may arise; and we have reason to believe that the subject of philatelic publicity will have an inning. The feeling is that Boston will have the call for the next convention, but in this connection, mention must be made of a contender for the honor; and the following letter from Homer P. Macnamara, President of the Lincoln's Home Philatelic Society, Springfield, Illinois, is submitted: "L. H. P. S. does not give up easily and we are going to send Ray Bahr, our vice-president and official spokesman to Minneapolis for the convention this year to ask for the 1930 convention for Springfield, and our local society. We have spent some time and thought on this subject and think that we can conduct a convention and a stamp display that will be worthy of our city." Springfield's lightning-rod is one to be reckoned with and we have no doubt but that the local society could stage the features with telling effect.

THAT the American Philatelic Society could sponsor well-directed publicity with a clear conscience must be admitted. To some of us, the most important question of the times is that of advertising our pursuit, and while it is admitted that it might not do to shout stamps from the house-tops just yet, the necessity for increasing the momentum that the philatelic movement has gained is recognized. By type and by the spoken word, the story of the attractions of stamps should be spread. Chicago is furnishing an example of how a local field may be cultivated through a down-town store that has established a great club of boys and girls, and through the columns of community newspapers. On one of the hottest afternoons in August, the editor of the WEEKLY spoke to seventy-five boys and girls who organized a club under the auspices of Miss Grace Hannegan of the Myers Publishing Company, proprietors of a number of neighborhood newspapers.

WE have with us today, Mr. Kent B. Stiles, who as a writer on philatelic subjects, occupies a seat in the sun. Mr. Stiles has woven many a philatelic story with well-chosen threads, and our guess is that he has guided through his writings, many a faltering step to the promised land. He is an editor of Scott's Monthly Journal and is the stamp editor of the American Boy and Youth's Companion; and now he is about to become the author of an outline of philately of more than 60,000 words with perhaps 200 illustrations. The book, "Stamps", will come from the press of Harper & Brothers, New York, about October 1, 1929, and we are certain that it will cause a most favorable reaction for our pursuit. As a newspaperman, Mr. Stiles knows what material to present and how to fashion it in a readable way. The text will be augmented by a thorough glossary that will embrace coinages, portraits, foreign words, complex inscriptions, translations and so on; and we are sure that the book will be one of the best examples of "good work" imaginable.

FROM Mr. W. F. Goerner, Edgewood, Rhode Island, we have received a copy of the Providence Journal Magazine of August 11th, showing Charles N. Kraus, "seated at the key of W 1 B C R, stamp-collecting radio station," and telling how his requests to foreign countries have brought many returns to the young "short-wave expert." The young man is the son of Prof. C. A. Kraus of Brown University and he has developed into a radio-stamp-collector, perhaps the first of his genus. We quote: "During the last few years, Mr. Kraus has collected stamps from more than fifty foreign countries by means of his radio station. His bulky stamp book contains more than 4,000 specimens, at least half of which were collected through the medium of the dot-and-dash system." The story is replete with details that the collector will appreciate, and mention is made of exchange relations that have been fostered through radio.

FROM Mr. R. D. Wolcott, Canton, China, we have received the following letter: "This is a cover that I am sending you by the French airmen, Rignot and Arrachart, who leave on July 14th, on the next to final leg of their flight from Paris to Tokyo. From Shanghai, or possibly from Tokyo on to the U. S. A., the letter will go by steamer. Although this flight was advertised by the Chinese Post Office, in all, only 800 covers were posted. No air mail stamps were allowed, as it is a special air mail, as the cachet shows." The cachet is in red and reads: "Vol. Paris-Tokyo. Rignot-Arrachart. Section: Canton-Shanghai. Poste Aerienne Special" in rectangular frame with ornamental border at top. Mr. Wolcott also takes occasion to say: "For Hong Kong specialists, let me add that recently, it has been discovered that one stamp in each sheet of the current 25 cent (top row, third stamp from left corner, sheet 1) has a badly broken inside right corner ornament. Ordinarily, Hong Kong only uses two sheets of these 25 cent stamps a week, or say, 110 sheets a year; so, with one error to the sheet, the variety will be rare, later on."

MR. R. W. IRELAND, General Commercial Manager of the National Air Mail Transport, Inc., Chicago, to whom collectors in the days of the contract air mail were indebted for much attention says that this company carried nearly eight million letters in July. In an article recently, Mr. Ireland tells how the air-riders sacrifice everything to keeping the mails on time, and we are struck by the foreword of the editor of the paper, Chicago Commerce, as follows: "The dispatch rider of the romantic pioneer days of America is with us again today, now panoplied for the clouds and riding a charger of metal and fabric that soars through the air, yet retaining the old code of a century or so back, the tradition handed down untarnished through the pony express days, the first mail trains and now the airplanes—'The mail must go through'."

A READER sends in a steamboat cancellation that may not be of record. A three-cent stamped envelope of 1864 bears in addition to "Steamboat" in black, the impression in a double-line oval, in blue: "Goodrich Transp'n Co., June. 6, 1870, Steamer Monitowoc." The letter has the Chicago postmark and was addressed to Waukesha, Wis.

LETTERS that came on the recent Zepp form the window displays of shops and stores throughout the country, and have caught the eyes of many passers-by. Another method of window-dressing through stamps is for the business house to show covers addressed to it from foreign countries. It is interesting to hear the comments of the members of the great public who stop to look at the stamps, when they air their knowledge of them.

LEEWARD 1d AND 1½d COI CHANGES, 1929

By HARRY E. HUBER.

By Order in Council of Jan. 9, 1 the rate on post cards to all destinat beyond the Leeward Islands Federal only was raised from 1d to 1½d, as f February 1, 1922, and this was in e until by Statutory Rules and Orders 21 of Oct. 8, 1926, the former rate o was restored to cards addressed to British Empire, and to the United St from December 1, 1926. To "other eign destinations" the reduction was made until August 1, 1928 (by S. R. No. 10 of Apr. 13, 1928).

With the 1d universal post card restored as from 1st August, 1928, an er change in colors was necessary, 1d red, and 1½d light brown, Pos & Revenue stamps were announced the Crown Agents in their bulletin July-September, 1928, as on order, the Leeward Islands, and in their letin for the fourth quarter as ha been dispatched.

Red was restored to the 1d (w color it held when first issued on sc CA paper in 1921), but instead of ora according to the original color schem 1907, chestnut brown was used for 1½d stamps of the Leeward Islands F eration, Montserrat, British Virgins St. Kitts.

The stamps were typographically pr ed by Messrs. De La Rue & Co., L London, from DLR-1888, Postage & R enue, King George V keyplate No. 16 sheets of 120, 2 panes of 60 each, v the plate number in the lower ma only, under the 2nd of the left and of the right panes, on script CA wa marked paper, and comb perforated On the 1d the marginal line is single it was when originally issued in red 1921, on script CA, and in violet, in 19 However, on the 1½d brown, the m ginal line is partially double (along s and under the three lower left stamps the left pane), or right (of the ri pane), instead of continuously double on the 1½d red, plate 11, issued S 10, 1926.

These stamps were distributed by Federal Treasurer at St. John's, Antig during December, 1928, with instructi that they were not to be issued u Jan. 1, 1929. However, as New Ye Day is a public holiday throughout Federal Colony it is very doubtful if of these new varieties were sold u Jan. 2, 1929.

Following issue of the 1d red, and 1 chestnut brown, the 1d violet and 1½ of the Federal series were withdra

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

More news every week than I can possibly do justice to. But keep sending it along, and we'll give it all a mention, even though there's not room for all the details of interest.

Official Flights

Graf Zepp gets first page this time. First—You may send covers to Los Angeles for the trip to Lakehurst on the round-the-world flight. 55c for letters, 28c for cards. Second—On the incoming mail on the westward trip, get your hands on one with the Aug. 3rd cancellation. Great bulk of the mail started on the original trip, and was cancelled May 16, or thereabouts. Comparatively little added when the flight finally got off. Incidentally, one sack was thrown off over Staten Island, lost, finally picked up, and backstamped Newark, N. J., Aug. 7. Third—Note these figures: From New York to L. A. or Lakehurst—8,033 letters, 4,303 cards; from Lakehurst—791 and 435. N. Y. to Japan—738 letters, 374 cards; from Lakehurst—108 and 98. From N. Y. to Germany—16,381 letters, 7,565 cards; from Lakehurst—572 and 541. Obviously, get a bid in for the Japan terminals and Lakehurst cancellations. Total postage from U. S., $49,281.37. U. S. P. O. gets $1,602.12. Fourth—A small mail was carried from Cuers, France, May 22, on the return from the first attempt.

Service between Mexico and Guatemala started Aug. 8, with stops at San Jeronimo and Oaxaca. Several of my "orphan" covers came in, evidently by this trip or connections, as part are backstamped San Jeronimo, and all are dated the 7th or 8th. Cachet reads R. A. C. No. 6—Mexico-Mariseal. Covers are from Tapachula, Tonala, and Irapuato.

First flight north from Chile mentioned last week is good. 534 covers from Santiago with special cachet; less from other cities, and no cachets.First Sunday flight on CAM 25 took place Aug. 4. Only cachet was at Miami, where they grabbed the palm tree Pan-American cachet, added a bathing girl and new words, and used it. Mostly purple, some green.On recent additional amphibian flight CAM 27 Detroit-Cleveland, July 8, no cachet, but contractors signed 10 covers at identification for Bob Brooks.Did you get any mail on the non-stop transcontinental refuelling plane, as stop-pressed last week? May not have started yet—might try the San Francisco P. M. if there's still time.

First air express was carried between Green Bay and Milwaukee, July 25. Usual type cachets, and about 25 collectors' covers each way.July 1 day flight on CAM 3—about 500 letters sent from Tulsa, bearing the cachet, provided by the P.M.First night flight Chicago-Twin Cities—about 900 from Chicago. One-half violet, one-half red. A few have the cachet reading "July 15", original starting date. Most have the date cut out entirely.

Postal Bulletin, Aug. 8, announced that effective the 10th service via FAM 7 Miami-Nassau was discontinued until Jan. 1, 1930, when it would recommence, and run again for the winter tourist season till Apr. 30. Mark that on your calendar. Anybody get a last day cover?Honolulu, Hawaii, P. M. returns covers and says he hasn't heard anything about the before-mentioned inter-island air service.

Dedications, Shows and Unofficial Flights

Alliance, Ohio, dedicated Aug. 3 and 4, special flight to McKeesport, where all covers were postmarked the 5th—purple cachet.Owosso, Mich., Aug. 3, 4—purple or black "James Oliver Curwood's Life Long Home".Tillamook, Ore., was Aug. 3 and 4, 3-line black cachet by Legion.Indianapolis, Ind., special cachet by contractors welcoming Jackson and O'Brine, Aug. 10 and 11.Salem, Ore., dedication and Legion convention Aug. 8, 9, 10—2 different cachets, and colors each day. One signed by state Governor I. L. Patterson, thank you!

Sweetwater, Tex., Aug. 10 and 11. Big red cachet all over the stamps—by C. of C. Colorado Springs, held the Second Pike's Peak Air Meet Aug. 9-11, and used the familiar 2 color plane within circle design.Homestead, Pa., Aug. 10, special cachet by CAM 11 for the Standard Steel Propellor, used by Jackson and O'Brine.Faribault, Minn., Jackson's home town, opened its airport Aug. 9, and had invited him as guest of honor. No cachet, but "Faribault, Minn.," purple rubber stamp in corner of covers.Cumberland, Md., dedicated Aug. 10—no cachet.San Andreas, Cal., made me grin. I'd said something about appreciating autographs on the covers when I sent them in. They came back, beautifully signed by 10 different notable names on the various covers, but—all in the same flowing script! Dedication Aug. 7. Cortland, N. Y., Air Meet Aug. 10-12. Private cachet on about 50 covers. Central States Aircraft Expo. at Aurora, Ill., C. of C. decided on cachet at last minute, and applied it Aug. 9-16.

Covers carried by Newcomb and Mitchell on their Cleveland endurance flight have been delivered. Special cachet, airport postmark at hour of landing, signed by both fliers, and carried for the whole flight. A few are held by the Cleveland Air Mail Society, and may be had from J. T. Schweier, Sec., for $3. Club treasury gets the profit.

Stamp News for the Juniors

This page is primarily for you, the Junior collector. We are interested in what interests you and we want you to take possession of it, if in any way it can serve you.

We also invite the Senior collector to extend words of advice, encouragement and stimulation and thus develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

Bear in mind that two short articles of from 50 to 75 words read better than one long one. Address all communications to the Beverly office.

Bits of Information

Buluwayo Provisionals.—The name by which the stamps provisionally issued in Buluwayo, Rhodesia, in 1896, during the Matebele rebellion are generally known. The name of the town means "the place of killing" and it was formerly the kraal of the Matabele king, Lobengula.

Bundi.—One of the feudatory states in the Rajputana district of India. It has an area of 2,220 square miles and a population of about 180,000. Postage stamps for use in this State were first issued in May, 1894.

Bureau of Engraving & Printing.—The Government Department at which all United States postage stamps are designed, engraved and printed. It is situated at Washington, and has held the stamp printing contract since 1894. Revenue stamps, paper money, bonds and Government certificates are all printed in the same building.

Service. — An overprint found on many of the stamps of India intended for official use.

Servicio Interno.—(Internal Service) —An overprint found on certain stamps of Guatemala used for official purposes on correspondence to points within the borders of the republic.

Temple of Heaven

By A. C. LeDuc.

This is located in the city of Peking (now called Peiping) in China. Peking is divided into two sections, the Chinese city and the Tartar city. The Chinese city was built in 1543 and is much newer than the other part, which was built in 1267-71 by Kublai Khan. The Temple of Heaven is situated on the right side of the main entrance to the Tartar city. This is within the Altar of Heaven, which is one mile square. The Temple is circular in form and is triple roofed. The roof is made of blue porcelain tiles. It is among many temples and shrines in the Altar of Heaven.

It was here in the Temple of Heaven that the Emperor would go to worship Shang-ti, the Supreme Ruler. Here burnt offerings of oxen, sheep and other things were offered.

This beautiful building is shown on the bicolored Chinese stamps of the commemorative series of 1909 and also on the constitution commemoration set of 1923.

Junior Dictionary

Real M. C.—The value expressed on the first stamp of Corrientes. The M. C. stands for "moneda corriente" or "current money". In 1856 this was mostly local paper money or Spanish silver. The real was of course an eighth of a peso and therefore nominally 12½c American; but local depreciation may have made it actually much less.

Real Plata F.—Some of the early stamps of Cuba and the Philippine Is. have their value expressed as so many "reales plata fuerte" or the abbreviation of these words. The phrase signifies "coined silver", in other words "cash" and not depreciated paper currency. The "peso plata fuerte" or silver dollar was divided into eight reales, each silver real therefore being worth about 12c in United States currency.

Reay Envelopes. — U. S. envelopes manufactured by the firm of George H. Reay in 1870 and distinguished from the later issue of 1874 by the superiority and fineness of the engraving.

Recargo. — The inscription shown upon the 5c Spanish war tax stamp of 1898-99. In this sense the word means "additional charge," referring to the extra fee charged under the tax.

Receipt.—An inscription shown on certain British 1d stamps originally issued for revenue purposes, which in 1881 were allowed to do duty as ordinary postage stamps.

Recibos.—A Spanish word meaning "receipt" found on certain revenue stamps of Spain which have been used for postage.

The Cuban Poetess

By A. C. LeDuc.

The large pictorial stamp issued by Cuba in 1914 commemorates the hundredth anniversary of the birth of the poetess Gertrudis Gomes de Avellaneda. She was an eminent lyric poet, dramatist and novelist. One authority claims that as a lyric poet she has no rival of her sex in any literature. The stamp honoring her memory is one of the few stamps commemorating the activities of a woman in a field of endeavor other than as a sovereign. She died in 1873.

In the July 22 issue of Mekeel's, Mr. Ward mentions a ten cent current stamp that is so sticky in front that it adheres to the wax paper enclosing it. "In view of the difficulty in making the glue on the back work," says Chester W. Hodgson, "perhaps it would be better to stick 'em on face down."

A hint has come in from Max M. Smith that a certain Junior collector would like to hear a bed-time stamp story. Well, Max, here goes: A collector was once swallowed by a whale. It was all dark in there and lonely so the collector pulled a stamp paper from his pocket and by the light of a block of Edisons he read that the design on the new Falkland Island stamps was to embrace a likeness of the English king and of a whale.

"Ha," exclaimed the collector, "I see that the King is still the Prince of Whales."

Whereat the whale opened his mouth to laugh, and the collector hopped out upon the Isle of Yap where lots of strange things happen.

WHICH IS CORRECT?

J. Earl Talcott requests us to give correct pronunciation of the words "p atelic" and "philately". He writes us t his dictionary places the accent on second syllable of each of these words, and without a doubt his diction is right. We pass this on to our read many of whom may be uncertain as the correct pronunciation.

DANZIG EXHIBITION

Free City of Danzig has just an international philatelic exhibi- nder the patronage of Mr. Zander, ostmaster-General. It was held in unicipal Museum, which used to be nciscan monastery. Although inter- al in plan, it had its chief support Central and North Europe; British tions were conspicuous by their ab- and there was no British represen- on the jury.

ce the creation of the Free City, g has become a very live centre of elic activity, due chiefly to the va- and interest of the Danzig stamps. first issue consisted of German s overprinted "Danzig" in 1920, and had been obsolete before it was ered a sheet of the 5 marks Ger- stamp with the centre inverted had overprinted for Danzig. This is quoted at 30,000 francs (£240) in rench catalogue. The discovery of rror was one of the curious and tic episodes of the trade. A sheet enty had been in a dealer's stock, spected by him. RUM-RUNNERS AND WASHABLE BIRDS

Buccaneers, blockade-runners, rum-runners, ships with eyes, and birds whose tail-feathers lose their colour in rainy weather, are among the subjects mentioned in connection with stamps, in the interesting contents of Gibbons' Stamp Monthly for August.

There are also articles on The Language of Philately, a new discovery in Canadian stamps, the Coamo provisionals, and Mauritius surcharges.

Correspondence, market hints, news from all parts, a complete new issue chronicle, notes for juniors, and other features go to make up a particularly readable holiday number.

Minneapolis Exhibition

The Postmaster General has definitely decided not to issue the 2-cent stamp commemorating the Battle of Fallen Timbers at the Philatelic Exhibition to be held in Minneapolis during the week of August 19. This decision has been reached in view of the fact that the monument to General Anthony Wayne to be unveiled in Ohio will not take place until the middle of September, and issuing the stamp a month in advance would result in its coming as an anti-climax at the time of the celebration. The branch Agency, however, will have on hand numerous stamps for collectors in attendance at the Exhibition, and this will include a good quantity of the better copies of the George Rogers Clark stamp still on sale in Washington, in addition to Molly Pitcher, 2c Hawaii, 2c and 5c Aeronautical Conference stamps and other similar commemorative issues. It has been decided not to carry in stock at Minneapolis any of the regular issues or the "State" overprints. It is quite possible that Mr. Michael L. Eidsness, Jr., Superintendent of the Division of Stamps, will be in attendance at the Banquet.

2c Battle of Fallen Timbers

Plates for the 2-cent stamp showing monument to General Anthony Wayne commemorating the Battle of Fallen Timbers have been completed. A good number of stamps have been printed and by the time they are placed on sale between September 12 and 20, no doubt, the entire order calling for thirty million copies will have been completed. At this writing, the statue has not arrived, hence, the committee in charge is not in a position to give definite information as to when the celebration will take place, so that no definite date for the appearance of the stamps can be given at this time. The entire lot will be printed on the flat bed press, and as the stamp commemorates a matter of local interest, it is not thought that the Bureau will be instructed to print any additional copies.

Clark Variety

Mr. M. A. Walker writes that on plate 19743 of the George Rogers Clark stamp positions 26 to 30 inclusive from the left pane show a smear or crack on the lower right numeral "2". He has checked up these varieties on ten sheets and finds them constant. We are pleased to furnish this information to our readers, but would advise that the writer has not had the pleasure of examining the oddity, so can give no information as to what might have caused the variety.

2c "Nebraska" Freak

Mr. A. G. Sharpe has submitted for inspection a cover mailed from Chapman, Nebraska, showing a 2-cent overprinted stamp with sheet margins at the bottom. The stamp itself bears a surcharge and a further surcharge appears on the margin producing an interesting freak, which would, however, be a normal stamp, if the margin were removed. Evidently the top of the sheet from which this stamp was removed contained an entire horizontal row without surcharge. As the variety was used in the business mail, there is no doubt but what the balance of the sheet was broken up and used for postage.

2c Coil Oddity

Miss Elizabeth Brahms submits for inspection an interesting pair of the 2-cent endwise coil, No. 487, showing a slight surface crack in the left margin and running through the little ornamental leaf design in the lower left portion of the stamp. This, no doubt, occurred at the time the plate was hardened, and is possibly on the early printings only, as the constant inking and cleaning of the plate usually wears off the smaller surface cracks.

We wish to thank Messrs. Charles S. Boyer and George R. McNeil for notes of interest.

In the absence of Mr. Smith, who is away for a few days, we offer the following new issue items from Gibbons Stamp Monthly:—

British Empire

Bahamas.—The Crown Agents' Bulletin for the quarter ending June, reports that the 5d Queen's Staircase type has now been despatched with Script watermark.

Falkland Islands.—B. S. H. Grant shows us two shades of both the 1d and 2½d values of this colony. The colours of the 1d are scarlet and scarlet-vermilion, while those of the 2½d are indigo, listed in the catalogue, and Prussian blue. This latter shade, our correspondent tells us, only arrived in the colony last spring, and is the final printing of the 2½d in the old type, since the new set has already been despatched.

The existing stocks will be allowed to run low before the forthcoming issue is put on sale, when the whole of the remainders left will be destroyed.

India.—Cochin.—Mr. Jacob I. Chandy, B.A., in sending us the latest Cochin provisional, points out the error which invariably accompanies each of these emissions. This time it consists of a wrong font "2" without serifs, and is to be found on the 1st stamp of the 4th row of the sheet.

Our kind informant tells us that the total printing of this stamp was 542 sheets of 48 each.

New Zealand. — Niue. — Messrs. Ewens, Ltd., show us the 10/- stamp of this dependency on Cowan thick opaque paper in a bright reddish shade of claret.

THREE NEW MEXICANS

San Antonio, Aug. 13.

Enclosed find a mint copy of the new 35c Mexico Air Mail stamp that just came in today. These stamps were promised some time ago and then again promised for issue at the time of the Carranza Issue. They were finally issued to commemorate the inauguration of the flights from Guadalajara—this according to my agent in Mexico City. The design as you will note is the same as the Carranzas, but with the dates and tablet under picture left out. In the corner instead of the portrait of Carranza there has been placed the Coat of Arms of Mexico—an eagle perched on a cactus plant with the snake in its mouth. I also inclose a pair of the new 5c Charity—"Infants". This is practically the same as the 1c and 2c already issued and completes this Charity Issue.

OPENING OF VATICAN P. O.

Essen, Ger., Aug. 8.

The memorable event of the opening of the Vatican Post, which took place August 1, drew an enormous crowd. In the early morning hours the first interested parties appeared, bent upon obtaining the Vatican postage stamps, of which no fewer than 2,000,000 were sold. The face value of this quantity of stamps is around 9,000,000 lire, equalling $120,000 U. S. currency. In the afternoon of August 1, His Holiness the Pope paid a visit to the post office. On that account the building had to be shut down a little before the official closing hour.

NEW MEXICAN STAMPS LIKELY

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 15.

I just received a wire this morning from Mexico in answer to a query of mine and I am informed that a new issue of nine values will appear about the first of September. My agent tells me that a letter follows, but does not say in his wire if issue is entirely air or a combined issue, but I understand it is to be air mail. Will advise you definitely as soon as I have the information.

2c OHIO CANALIZATION

The Post Office Department has decided upon the design for the new 2-cent red stamp commemorating the completion of the Canals and Locks of the Ohio River and will have ready for issue during October a new stamp which they will designate as the "Ohio Canalization" issue. It will depict a boat and lock on the Ohio River with hills in the background, and will be the size of our current 2-cent stamp, with long dimension horizontal. Thirty million of this variety will also be issued, and, no doubt, the entire lot will be available when they are first placed on sale.

VATICAN STATE—FIRST DAY

We are indebted to S. Bayer, Rome, for a first day cover with two values of the new Vatican State stamps, 50c and 80c. Each stamp is hit hard with the cancellation, and for good measure a third sample cancellation is added.

LATE NEWS ITEMS

At the banquet of the National Air Mail Society, held at Chicago on August 12th, Captain B. B. Lipsner, Chicago, first air mail superintendent was the lion of the evening; and the suggestion was made that the government be asked to place his portrait on a new air mail stamp. Captain Lipsner will attend the Minneapolis convention.

The Minneapolis Tribune of August 14th says that more than three thousand collectors will attend the convention and exhibition and that more than one million dollars' worth of stamps will be on display, thereby showing that this newspaper is broad-minded.

According to the Minneapolis Evening Tribune of August 15, Henry A. Diamant of St. Louis will speak over WCCO on the "Charm of Stamp Collecting" at 7 P. M. Thursday (evidently of convention week).

Writing from Buenos Aires, on July 21st, Mr. A. H. Davis informs us: "The following air mail routes have recently been opened: 18th instant, Santiago, Chile-Buenos Aires. Of the 514 letters carried, 205 are philatelic items. 12th inst., Posadas-Buenos Aires (statistics not yet available). 14th inst., Buenos Aires-Posadas, net weight of mail, 810 grams. 19th inst., Tucuman-Rosario de la Frontera (no mail carried). The following airways are projected. Buenos Aires-Santiago de Chile, airway open but no mails carried yet. Buenos Aires-Rosario-Cordoba-Santiago del Estero-Tucuman-Salta. Santiago del Estero-Ojo de Agua-Tintina-Rio Hondo. Dolores-General Conesa-General Lavalle. Bahia Blanca-Trelew-San Antonio Oeste-Comodoro Rivadavia." A day later, Mr. Davis writes: "From an official source, I have been favored with the following first day statistics. July 12th, Posadas-Monte Caseros, 72 grams. Posadas-Buenos Aires, 623 grams. July 14th, Monte Caseros-Posadas, 120 grams. Posadas-Asuncion, 80 grams."

ART IN STAMPS

By H. M. Southgate.

I was much interested in reading Frank E. Robbins' article in your of July 29 on "Art in Stamps". His eral statement that our U. S. stamp unsatisfactory from an artistic stanc is certainly true, and it is much regretted that the opportunity pres by numerous issues brought out b Post Office is not utilized for ar development.

While there are occasional comm pointing out the unsatisfactoriness o designs, still the public at large as as collectors, do not appreciate our s comings in this respect. Perhaps t well evidenced by the fact that George Rogers Clark stamp is pro the most popular issue that has turned out, and yet it is open to de criticism because of the abnor heavy border, meaningless ornament and a crowded vignette.

I wish to put in a word, however the Engraving Division of the Bure Engraving and Printing, who de the design for our stamps. This Di does not have, in general, a free ha design a stamp for any specific pur but are given in most cases a photo of some large historical painting an to make a design copying that, and ther data to describe the subject.

Models are then made up, some several of them, and sent for approv the Post Office Department, whose c in the matter is final. In the case o Clark stamp I have seen a model o more attractive proportions, which lieve the Bureau would have preferr have used, but it was not approved.

Another point where the Burea Engraving and Printing is badly h capped is in connection with the relat short time allowed in most cases fo preparation of designs and turning the work. In numerous instances i been a scramble to get any sort o sign thrown together, plates made printing done within the time avai The Bureau of Engraving and Pri which is part of the Treasury De ment, can take no initiative in the p ration of a design, until orders ar ceived from the Post Office Depart

The Bureau of Engraving and P ing, I assume, has no funds to en eminent artists, and with the deficit i Post Office Department it does not as though there would be much lia of special appropriation being made that purpose; although the amount volved would be practically nothin the vast total, but the results woul far-reaching.

It certainly would seem as though artistic side of our permanent is should be given most careful consi tion and subject to approval by artist addition to the Post Office Depart Officials. The matter should be of cient importance to enlist the service the Commission of Fine Arts.

The chief value of commemor stamps is in the stories that they While they should be artistic, per that may be subordinated to some e to the telling of the story, so descri lettering is necessary; but on the reg issues, if we could get back to the b tiful simplicity of the three cent stamps, there would be a decided The simplicity of the British Postal U Congress stamp, which does not have a country designation on it, ma taken as a further example of at leas artistic design.

The designing of government secur carries a minor condition not of im tance in most lines of artistic work, the protection requirements. The signs of some of our currency, mad the past by well-known artists result a tremendous loss to the Treasury f counterfeiting. Consequently, art r give second place especially in currenc protective design.

Also methods of manufacture pla restraining hand on the design in s ways. The whole problem is surrou with many complications and I am the officials and designers of the Bu are not only alive to the situation, most anxious to make their product best ever.

Paging Thru My Rarities

esterday evening the boys came up to house for a good old time of it and uiet them down towards half past, I out my famous collection of rarities. s volume has won many medals in petition amongst the free-for-all ses, catch stamps, Marquis of Nassau et rules.

always delights my fellow dock lopers to show them page after page tamps I have picked up—off the dock amps that alone are worth millions, the collection is not for sale, and r will be as long as auctions are ducted as at present. Permit me to those pretty little pages of rares aves, I. F., Buenos Aires, Do Not Use t Hooks.

ly greatest rarity is the so-called ing machine perf on a 2c Internal enue. The sewing machine had a stitching device on it, and this atiful variety, known as the hem-h perf, is alone in its class.

HE NEXT VARIETY IS A HARDING IM- PRECANCELED NEW YORK CITY. THIS N ODD RARITY IN THAT THE IMPERFS E SOLD ONLY IN WASHINGTON, BUT BY TAKE, IT WAS PRECANCELED NEW YORK.

he next best thing is a Madison, Wis-in, post office dedication cachet. nk of it! This cover registers that entous occasion of laying a corner e. No other corner stone ever got wonderful stamp publicity and there as before one's very nose.

nother queer stamp is the variety wn as Hat of Columbus broken. re is a shift in this variety as the next to Columbus got the stove in onnet instead of Chris. No one has ed this before.

page of rare Playing Card stamps ws, showing the variety with sur-ge upside down, upside down back-ds, in neutral position, and an 8c ne price range of a 7c.

IEN THERE IS THE ¾ MCKINLEY POST . THIS PIECE ALONE IS RARE AS I E IT IN USED CONDITION, WHENAS IT NEVER ISSUED. THIS PROVES THAT IT ISSUED.

beautiful page is made up of the Z s, all the grills being in the shape of letter Z. This has taken years to ct, as the grill in the letter varieties ed with A, but towards the letter Z began to peter out.

rather odd page consists of the 2c rose-carmine. This stamp was lit-y issued by the millions as rose-car-until someone saw a rose-carmine. change of shade was remarkable as page changed from rose-carmine to ine-rose over night. A page of m-orange and also a page of orange-m are shown for comparison.

handy bit of enigma is worked the collection by putting all the 3c ns on one page, thusly permitting to call the printings by name. This er tests the on-looker's ability to w his stuff. A well-known firm of untants have certified that in this 76% Yale graduates prefer the tinental-National-American print of on soft brittle paper with silk s.

specialized collection of the 1c Jef-on postal card completes this price-collection. The various dies have worked out, showing Jefferson ing, Jefferson pouting, Jefferson by Head, Jefferson Egg and Stove , Jefferson after a family quarrel, Jefferson with the measles. For enience, a list of these dies was made as Die A, Die A-1, Die A-2, as on buff, cream, cream buff, cream puff.

The meeting ended with a rousing cheer for the host, and after a friendly fight, visitors went home with a feeling that they had spent an evening never to be forgotten.

back to his work, when an idea suddenly hit me as we went over the pages again. "Look here," I said, "it may not mean anything, but the arrangement of these stamps is odd, it strikes me. Instead of those of one country being grouped together they are scattered through different pages. That might be all right with a cheap lot, put together in a hurry, but most of these are worth from 50c up, and I never saw an approval book of good stamps fixed up that way. Do you suppose—."

I got no further, for with shining eyes he grabbed the book from me, jerked out a pencil, reached for a sheet of paper, and exclaimed, "Fine business! I felt in my bones there was something wrong with these stamp books—and we have been passing them through with hardly a glance. Bully for you, and what chumps we have been!"

His excitement was contagious, but I said, "Whoa! Don't go so fast with your conclusions. That was just a wandering idea of mine, and it probably doesn't amount to a thing. What are you doing?"

"Putting down the names of the countries as they appear on the sheet," he replied. I caught his idea and as he wrote I called the names. He got down about 30 when he quit writing and said, "That's enough to go on—to tell us whether we have a code or not. Let's check up."

As the names were put down they were as follows: Malta, Zambesia, Kiauchau, Japan, Macao, Oldenburg, Orange River, Japan, Kiauchau, Cuba, Japan, Panama, Monaco, Iceland, Zambesia, Spain, Oldenburg, Norway, Uruguay, Denmark, Greece, Dominica, India, Bolivia, United States, United States, and so on—just a jumble of nothing.

"Know anything about decoding?" he asked me. "I have an idea," I replied. "You have to experiment, don't you, to see if you can find a key? Whether you start with the first letter and skip so many each time for the next one, and things like that?"

"That's a starter," he said. "Sometimes you count ahead and sometimes backward. Sometimes the key changes after so many letters are decoded, and a lot of stuff of that sort. We will just have to experiment. Let's hope this was not gotten up by an expert, if it is a code, or it may take days to find it."

He wrote down the initials in a long line—M Z K J M O O J K C J P M I Z S O N U D G D I B—and then hesitated over the next two. "What do you think, U. S. or America?" I frankly confessed that I had no idea, so he put down America, and then began to work.

He took the first letter, M, and went down the line, skipping first 1, then 2, and so on, but it made no sense. He did the same with the second letter, the third, fourth and fifth, but still only a jumble resulted. He tried working backward with no better success, and tried in other ways I could not understand, and which he was too busy to explain. Finally he leaned back and wiped his forehead and said, "I'm afraid that it wasn't a hunch after all. Just a fool arrangement that doesn't mean a thing. Sorry to have taken up so much of your time. I'll O. K. it and send it—Wait! We haven't tried substitution—B stands for A—that sort of thing, you know."

He grabbed his pencil again, began putting down more letters, running his pencil through them and trying again, and a little later let out a whoop. "It is a code message! Cap'n, you did a good job for your country today. And we have been passing these things through for months. Watch this: You count around, like the face of a clock, with A at 12. This works on a skip-five plan. The first letter is M, 5 ahead gives us R. Second letter Z; count 5 right on ahead gives E. K is P, J is O, M is R, O is T—REPORT, see?"

I saw. "Go on," I said, tense with excitement over the apparent reality of the thing. I called out and he wrote—O is T, J is O, K is P, C is H, J is O, P is U—" "Stop," he cried. "That doesn't make sense—TOPHOU. Something is wrong. Very carefully we checked back over the stamps themselves, but the record was right as it stood. He stared at it and at me, trying to find a clue. "Perhaps it is a code word for some person; if so, we're sunk," he said.

We puzzled over it in vain for a while, until he finally said, "Let's go on a little further. Perhaps it isn't a code after all. That REPORT may have just happened so. Queerer things do happen."

We went on, M is R, I is N, Z is E, S is X, O is T—and again he cried out. "It's a code all right; look here." And the wording read REPORTTOKHOURNEXT—. "That 'K' must be someone he is to report to. Go ahead." On we went, and after a bit we had REPORT TO K HOUR NEXT SAILING. There we stuck again. Those two U. S. stamps stopped us. He worked like mad over it with no result. He wiped his forehead again and groaned. "Can you see any way out of it?"

I couldn't, but I stared at those two stamps. The key lay in them. The first was a 20c Franklin, the other a 2c Harding, imperf. "Those stamps never ought to be in an approval book sent over here," I mused aloud. "They are too common here. A 20 and a 2. Got it!" I cried. "22 is the code name of the Leviathan. All the transports are numbered, as I suppose you know, and we never use the names in writing or cabling, just the code number. Look at that; they even have our code—Report to 'K' hour next sailing of Transport Leviathan."

We shook hands and slapped each other on the back, as happy as two kids. Then we went on through the book and finished the message. The rest is not important to this story. The stamp part of it is finished. The delivery of the book, the shadowing of the owner as he watched the Leviathan load and sail from Hoboken with nearly 10,000 troops aboard, how he was successfully followed as he rushed to report the midnight sailing to K, the allowing of K to file an innocent appearing London cablegram before his arrest, and what happened at the London end—all these things are part of the secret archives of the Military Intelligence of the late war.

But old "22" sailed serenely and safely over the ocean without sighting a "Sub", and deposited her troops over on the other side, where they would do the most good.

official stamps. An unexpected surprise has been furnished in that in both cases the overprints have been changed! That of the Union now reads downwards, except in the new 2d pictorial, while that of S. W. Africa has changed altogether, due, we understand, to the fact that the old overprinting "forme" had been broken up.

Writing of the Union stamps, Mr. J. Robertson states that the inversion was not intentional, being a pure accident as a result of the Government Printer being "rushed" to produce a supply of officials at short notice. He continues that the next printing will be awaited with interest to see whether the overprint will revert to its previous form, in which it only existed on the 6d value.

In both the Union and South-West Africa official stamps may now be used by the general public for all postal purposes.

We believe that a pictorial £1 stamp is contemplated for the Union, while it will also be overprinted for use in S. W. Africa.

Straits Settlements.—The following alterations and additions to the current series are announced:

4c Orange, color change.
35c Red and purple, color change.

Federated Malay States

25c Dull and bright purple, new value.
30c Purple and amber, new value.
35c Red and purple, color change.
50c Black on emerald, color change.

C. A. Bulletin.

Victoria.—Mr. Henry Harvey kindly shows us a specimen of the 4d Emblems in dull rose, imperf., printed by F. W. Robinson on horizontally laid paper, with the Ballarat cancellation, "5" in bars.

Other Countries

Brazil.—A minor variety of the 1,000 on 100r Wenceslao Braz stamp of Brazil has been brought to our notice by Mr. R. E. Gee. This consists of a broken final "o" in the surcharge giving this numeral the appearance of a letter "g."

Egypt. — With reference to the Prince Farouk stamps with brown centre, the Survey of Egypt definitely state that the whole of the 200,000 sets were printed at one time, so that the two sheets of the two values which show this color variation are an unexplained mystery.

Honduras.—The Colindres commemoratives, listed this month, are printed in sheets of 10, to the tune of 3,500 of each value.

The stamps are typographed from combination plates in which the centres are in half-tone and the frames in line. The former have been inserted at a separate operation, and their positions differ slightly for each stamp in the sheet. This, together with the distinctive damage which has been done to each centre at the insertion, makes this issue quite easily plateable.

Hungary. — The King Stephen stamps are to be reissued in August in new colors, the 8f becoming claret, the 16f lilac, and the 32f ochre.

Paraguay.—From a copy of an official decree kindly sent us by Mr. Norman Stocks we learn that yet a fifth series of Air stamps is in preparation, viz.:

0$95 on 70c, Arms Type,	200,000
1$90 on 20c, Arms type,	200,000
4$75 on 4p, Map type,	200,000

This last value has already arrived, together with the fourth set, but the other two are yet to come.

Portuguese Colonies. — The Mozambique and Nyassa Companies. We are informed that the charters of these companies are to be cancelled, and that t territories will in future be administe by the Portuguese Government. philatelic result will be that they ar stop issuing stamps at the end of year. For which relief, much thanks

We would suggest that the Portug authorities insist that all the plates for printing the present stamps shal destroyed under official supervision. will prevent any subsequent reprin such as took place in the case of the Nyassa giraffe series and other issue

Spain.—Below we print the numl of the recent Spanish "League of tions" stamps, for which information are indebted to Señor Miguel Gal viz.: 1c to 20c, 38,000 of each; 25c, 000; 30c to 50c, 38,000 of each; 1 30,000; 4 ptas., 20,000; 10 ptas., 18, and 20c Express, 18,000.

Switzerland.—With reference to two Dies of the 10c, Tell, of 1 Thomas G. Richards draws our atten to a difference which he considers m prominent than that described by Crane last month. It is to be foun the "H" of "Helvetia," which in D has the crossbar equidistant from the and the bottom, whereas Die II ha appreciably above the centre, nearer top.

American Philatelic Society Convention At Minneapolis

At 10.15 A. M. on Tuesday, with an absence of formality, the convention was called to order by the president, A. H. Wilhelm. The report of the Committee on Credentials showed a proxy representation of fewer than one thousand, and this comparatively scant showing was viewed with some concern, since it blocked any movement to change the by-laws. Amendments may be made only by an affirmative vote which "shall constitute a third of all the members of the society entitled to vote." The regular and only ticket in the field was successful, the votes ranging from 1,205 to 944.

The President's annual address was intently followed and he told of the great gain in membership and influence of the society during the past four years of his terms, and among the suggestions that he offered was one providing for a Stamp Week. The chairman of the following committees were appointed: Appropriations, H. M. Clark; By-Laws, T. H. Pratt; Convention Seat, L. A. Davenport; Chapters and Units, H. A. Diament; Sales Department, C. W. Hennan; Finance, Wilson D. Wood; Illustrations of U. S. Stamps, Judge R. S. Emerson; and Resolutions, C. E. Severn.

The reports of officers were in the aggregate a strong showing of faithful and intelligent performance. Vice-President Mosler said that his board had handled 144 cases during the year, taking drastic action where the evidence warranted. The secretary reported that the actual membership on August 1, 1929, was 4,273, an increase of 167 during the year. Deaths numbered 48, and there are now 433 life members. Here we may say that the fee for life membership has been increased to $50 from $30, after the advisability of making the change had been thoroughly discussed. The Sales Superintendent indicated the success of his department by saying that his sales for the year amounted to $88,201.

The death of the Rev. John Luther Kilbon was revealed when the report of the Committee on Obituaries was called for and the coincidence that Mr. Kilbon had died alone while actually working on the report was impressive. A tribute was paid to him, befitting a loyal member and a man of sterling qualities.

The meeting of the Revenue Unit was held at 4.30 P. M., Tuesday, on the third floor of the Hodgson Building. The evening was American Philatelic Society night at the National Philatelic Exhibition, and members generally took advantage of the opportunity to view the rich display.

Here we may say that the registration was somewhat under 250, but the beautiful badges that were provided for the delegates were to be seen wherever the eye strayed.

A big attraction of the Exhibit was the branch of the Postal Agency, presided over by Mrs. Shaughnessy, and while the stock of stamps on hand was not particularly large in quantity, it was well-selected. A special postmark, "Minneapolis, Minn., Philatelic Exhibition Sta.", loaned distinction to letters posted there. Too, there was a special cachet, advertising the Exhibition in charge of the managers; and the handsome exhibition label was in demand. While it was known that the special stamps to commemorate the Battle of Fallen Timbers would not be placed on sale in fairness to the section that proposed the stamp to depict local history, yet some disappointment was felt that it was not available. Business was fairly brisk at the Agency and many collectors appreciated the opportunity to get a good range of recent issues first hand.

We doubt whether the volume of publicity that was attendant to the exhibition and convention was ever equalled heretofore, outside of New York. All of the papers seemed to regard the meetings as news, and they gave space freely to descriptions of the exhibition and the convention. Many of the stories were accompanied by cuts, and Mr. Laurence S. Clark, who had charge of the publicity, made a record that will not soon be eclipsed. Too, the varied and ingenious ways in which the Stamp Show was advertised were remarked, and with the background of publicity that was being received in different ways we believe that the show could have packed them in for almost another week. Minneapolis has shown what may be done in a city other than the very largest one, and have made exhibitions what they are now regarded to be, an indispensable adjunct to the convention or vice versa. It is impossible to be at the convention sessions and the exhibition at one and the same time, and the suggestion has been made that when an exhibition is held in the convention, said city should go light on other entertainment.

S. P. A. CONVENTION

NEXT ANNUAL SESSION WILL BE HELD AT WORCESTER, MASS.

Reported by WM. LYCETT.

The 35th annual convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans was held in Cleveland, Ohio, August 12-14, in the Hotel Cleveland. There were 118 registered attendants, and probably 50 more unregistered. The member coming the greatest distance was Cecil J. Dale from Havana, Cuba, but many European countries and Hawaii were represented by proxy.

The call to order was made at ten o'clock Monday morning by Howard W. Codding, chairman of the local committee of arrangements, who introduced Postmaster H. A. Taylor and Paul E. Wilson, of the Chamber of Commerce, followed by Dr. Norman P. McGay, all of whom made interesting addresses. These were responded to by Maj. G. W. A. Camp, President, and the Convention formally opened.

C. P. Lippincott, chairman of the Committee on the Election of Officers and Credentials, announced the result of the election as follows: President, Dr. N. P. McGay; Vice-President, E. W. Heusinger; Secretary, Wm. Lycett; Treasurer, Dr. Dallas G. Bray; Board of Governors, Wm. Lycett; Directors at Large, F. L. Coes and P. P. Gray; International Secretary, C. W. A. Braun; Counterfeit Detector, Gustave Larson; Attorney, T. V. Morgan; Publicity Manager, E. C. Pierce; Librarian, Wm. R. Ricketts; Assistant Librarian, H. V. Backman; Historian, N. R. Hoover; Trustees, Samuel Bennett, J. Louis Dawson, C. D. Millar; Official Organ, Stamp Collector's Magazine. Mr. Pierce declined, and later President McGay appointed Howard W. Codding Publicity Manager. On Wednesday the Board of Governors was discontinued by constitutional amendment and six directors at large provided for. Four of these are Maj. Camp, N. R. Hoover, F. F. Greeley, and R. C. Bach, the previous B. of G. Next session at Worcester, Mass.

The reports of the officers showed a healthy condition and an increase in membership during the year, that of the Secretary showing a membership of 1,526, 396 new members admitted, 15 deaths, 2 expulsions. Sales Manager Hussey reported sales of $20,890.49, and Exchange Manager Buell exchanges of $6,142.82. Exchange Manager Wyer resigned during the year, and illness of his successor had prevented progress, but the future is promising. An Air Mail Department had been established during the year, with H. C. Carpenter appointed as Manager. The receipts for dues and initiations were $3,044.67.

The Constitution was entirely revised, the system of government being changed from a dual board to a single Board of Directors consisting of the President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and six Directors at Large, and an Executive Committee composed of the President, Secretary, and three Directors. A Board of Appeals was provided to consider questions of discipline and disputes between members. A Committee on Finance, Audits, and Budget was constituted, and directed to report a Budget to the next Convention. A. W. Deas was appointed chairman of this committee.

Indorsement was made of the proposed legislation to allow illustrations of U. S. stamps, also of Mr. Gerlach's proposal to catalogue makers to use a uniform system of numbering stamps. Compensation of Secretary was increased, also an allowance made for clerical assistance.

The local entertainment comprised a visit to the Federal Reserve Bank, sightseeing tour, starting from the Terminal Tower and ending with the Museum of Art, a bridge party for the ladies, and theatre tickets for everybody, closing with a banquet Wednesday evening, where President McGay acted as toastmaster, and he and Mrs. McGay received the visitors. Mrs. X. Veneskey rendered several piano selections, and an orchestra supplied other music. The speakers were: Howard W. Codding, who introduced Toastmaster McGay, and he in turn the other speakers: R. C. Bach, W. W. MacLaren, D. W. Martin, and Pres. M. Lloyd, of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club; Secretary Lycett, Mrs. J. E. O'Brien, chairman of the Ladies' Committee; Life Member Roscoe B. Martin, and Cecil J. Dale, the member who had traveled so far to attend.

Previous to adjournment President McGay was installed by Maj. G. W. A. Camp, announced some appointments, and declared his policy of harmony and good fellowship and his intention to do his utmost to carry on the upbuilding of the society.

PLAN FOR ZEPP LETTERS

Arrangements have been completed by the Post Office Department for handling mail carried on the Graf Zeppelin when she reaches this country after completing her 'round the world flight.

When the Zeppelin reaches Los Angeles, all mail intended for that city surrounding territory will be taken and backstamped with a special stamp red ink. TIAN POSTAL REVENUE, 1925-26

By HARRY E. HUBER.

n August 1, 1925, the newly formed au of Internal Revenue took over actual administration of all internal e. The collectors of customs in the al districts act also as collectors of nal revenue.

ternal revenue and postage stamps placed on sale in the rural com-es (83) for the first time during -26, and the total receipts from this ce amounted to only G.10,438.50. The nificant sales made in the majority he communes reflect the primitive of the rural population. Unfortuy, the treaty of Sept. 16, 1915, and equent agreements, have not provided American assistance in solving the ational problems of Haiti, one of the difficult with which the country is d, and toward the solution of which tisfactory progress has been made.

t the close of the fiscal year (Sept. 1926), there were 19 Americans and Haitians in the organisation of the ncial Adviser-General Receiver, and merican and 13 Haitians in the inal revenue service. The activities of Receivership are supported by a fixed ge of 5% on all customs revenue, and of the Internal Revenue on a 15% ge. In both cases the Banque Nale de la Republique d'Haiti is given of this as commission for its services eceiving the collections.

he value of postage stamps sold dur- the year in the 11 districts was 7,485.43, as compared with G.195,-00 in the preceding year.

n June 3, 1926, a weekly air mail rice was inaugurated between Port au nce and Gonaives, by planes of the S. Marine Corps. After a few months service was made thrice weekly, the ie as to Cap Haitien (inaugurated y 2, 1925). The air letter rate is 50c gourde per 20grs.

COMMEMORATIVES IN BLOCKS
The recent purchase of three collections of U. S. Commemoratives has given us a nice supply of large blocks of most of these sought for issues. Almost anything in blocks of four, and an exceptionally nice lot of larger pieces; blocks of from 20 to 50 stamps, with imprints, plate numbers, arrows, etc. All of the pictorial issues from Columbians to date. Not enough similar pieces to advertise in detail, but your want list will have our prompt attention while these pieces last. First come—first served.

ODD "PAID" CANCELLATIONS

No.	Stamp.	Town.	Color.	Reported by
1.	3c 1851	Leominster, Mass.	Black	Dr. Carroll Chase
2.	3c 1851	Bucksport, Me.	Blue	Dr. Carroll Chase
3.	3c 1851	Alexandria, La.	Red	Dr. Carroll Chase
4.	3c 1851	?	Blue	Dr. Carroll Chase
5.	3c 1851	?	Blue	Dr. Carroll Chase
6.	3c '51-'57	Watertown, N. Y.	Black	John W. Glaze
7.	3c 1851	Bennington, Vt.	Blue	Dr. Carroll Chase
8.	3c '57 T. II	Bond's Village, Mass.	Red	Dr. Carroll Chase

The above lot of interesting cancellations were drawn from Dr. Carroll Chase's collection, with a single exception, the No. 6. They were made under ideal conditions at his summer place on Lake Winnipesaukee, where all went happily except that his dog, Copain, had a very unsuccessful encounter with a "Wood Pussy", which caused a bit of confusion for a time.

In going through his collection of odd cancellations, over one hundred were drawn, and they are all appearing in the Forum from time to time.

From the philatelic standpoint, the most striking recent acquisition is the long awaited book on 3c 1851-57 stamps by Dr. Carroll Chase. Perhaps 50% of all of the questions asked me in the past year could have been answered, had the questioners owned this book. The text is handled in some fifty chapters, and over 350 pages.

While many of these chapters have to do entirely with these two 3c stamps of 1851 and 1857, several of the chapters might well apply to any of the other denominations of this period. For example, the chapters on Plate Arrangement, Paper, Gum, Impression, Perforation, Demonetization, Rates, several chapters on Postmarks and Obliterations, and then the Covers,—all these, together with the data in the remaining chapters give the student of these issues a ready reference which is invaluable.

Plate Varieties are shown in enlarged sections, the Cracked Plates and Plate Flaws need never bother you longer after seeing them pictured in the book. The double Transfers are shown in an unmistakable way, and you see the "Line Thro Three Cents" and others, so that you may go through your holdings and pick out your own Cracked Plates, Flaws and Shifts.

Collectors interested in locating stamps from the various Plates will find these taken up serially in chapters. The much liked Plate No. 3 shows picture of each and every item in the "Three Rows", being the last three vertical rows of the left pane, and these 30 stamps are so carefully described as to detail, that you can slip them into your own plating if you so desire.

Chapter 25 on perforation is a most interesting chapter to me. It begins with the invention of the perforating machine by Henry Archer in Ireland. The British Government, impressed with the invention, paid Archer 4,000 pounds for his machine, patent rights, and expenses. In February the British Government placed the machine in use.

Cancellations are prolific and representative of what to look for in 1851-57. Various shapes of postmarks, odd types of lettering, oddly shaped numerals—all are here. Then there are Check Lists of Railroad postmarks, Inland Steamboats, Mississippi River Packets, also Way marks, and the types of "Steam" are pictured so far as seen to date.

The above brief and partial synopsis of what may be found in this exceptional work on Early U. S. Stamps is available to the many who wish to gain knowledge of these issues. The cancellations shown, frequently date back into the same ones used in the 1847 period, and many shown date along into the issues of the Civil War, some even later. Likewise the data given may antedate 1851 in several instances, while other data extends well into the subsequent issues.

On hurriedly glancing through what I have written above, it sounds as though it should terminate here, as so many radio programs do—"This program is sponsored and paid for by ———." In the preface Dr. Chase says "——— I take much pleasure in giving credit to Lyman J. Seeley for his generosity in both the time and money spent in obtaining the necessary advance subscriptions which made publication possible." The work appeared in many installments in the American Philatelist, and the present book is the consolidation of all those chapters, together with the added information, cancellations, history, and allied data uncovered by the former serial publication.

In case you do not see any advertising of this book, I secured mine from the J. O. Moore Co., Inc., Hammondsport, N. Y., and in case your dealer does not have this book, and need it, they have probably not disposed of their quota at this time. The edition is small.

If you are a member of the American Philatelic Society, you will have the most of this information in the articles as issued, and which you of course saved. If not a member, you can add a substantial reference book to your library.

If this book were not available, you would probably be eager to secure it. This is a thought occasioned by the many requests for similar books on foreign stamps. Every once in a while someone advertises that they wish to buy some old Book, maybe a Maury, or a Lallier Album, or some such thing.

If collectors of United States stamps spent a moderate percentage of their stamp funds on albums and helpful handbooks, and publications, then handled their albums as gently and as little as possible, to keep their contents spotlessly clean and neat; meanwhile spending much time in the study of their publications, they would land several notches higher in their collecting, and would know exactly what and why and how much as regards certain stamps. This, in the final analysis—knowledge—is what makes stamp collecting fascinating.

Suppose you collect 20th Century U. S. only. You subscribe to say three stamp papers, meaning weekly and maybe monthly publications.

Now can you lay your hands on the article that tells you the quantity of each denomination of commemoratives issued since 1900? If not, your reference items are of small use. Many collectors form scrap books filled with needful information, a very good idea.

When you see a note quoting the price realized at auction on a 4c 1908 on bluish paper do you save it? Have you a record showing the approximate quantities of 5c errors perf. 10, as compared to the perf. 11s?

Think of the questions you could answer if you had only saved what you have read, and had it where you could lay hands on it. Suppose some industrious chap were to make a book containing all of the facts possible to glean on commemoratives, would you like a copy?

MEXICAN WAR COVERS

SOME INTERESTING PRE-STAMPS COVERS ASSOCIATED WITH OUR TROUBLE WITH MEXICO

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Here of late, the philatelic student not only seeks the stamp or cover as a stamp or cover, but is much interested in the historical side of the item in question, as well. He adds to his stamp album what might be considered under the class of "Americana", hence, is interested in the Patriotic cover indicating its special use for special occasions.

While several important collections have been built up around the Civil War Period, including patriotic covers, franked covers and other items of interest to the occasion, it is only recently that I have had an opportunity of seeing a small lot of pre-stamp covers built around our war with Mexico.

In the little lot, covers are first found from New Orleans, from Fort Jessup, La., and from Fort Gibson, Ark., all near the Texas border, regarding movement of troops. The boys are writing home, telling us about camp conditions, and those from the Forts bear circular cancellations in black, with the month, the year and amount paid, usually ten or twelve cents, indicated either in manuscript or by means of a postmark. Those from New Orleans, as the letters are coming east, are marked "SHIP", in addition.

As war is declared and the troops move into Mexico, the letters, while bearing headlines of points in the southern republic, nevertheless, are usually carried to points in the United States from which they are postmarked and sent on to destination. One such cover bears an elliptical postmark in brown, reading—"Victoria, Tex.," in addition to "July 10" in manuscript. A most interesting communication dated "City of Mexico" has a Mexican postmark in manuscript dated Christmas Day. This was then carried to New Orleans, and a straight line postmark in blue reads—"Forwarded by the N. O. 'DELTA' Courier." There is also the black town cancellation of New Orleans with "10" in manuscript. There is a second identical letter. As the communication was written in duplicate, the writer evidently believed that the first letter might not reach its destination safely.

One letter dated "Camp Comargo, Mex., Nov. 10, 1846", shows a straight line postmark in black reading—"Pt. Isabel", in addition to the figure "10" in the same color ink. This is addressed to the father of one of the soldiers in Louden County, Va., and as the letter is most interesting, it is being quoted in part.

"You may think me rather presumptuous in addressing you a short letter, but it alone being for the entire benefit of your Son, you will therefore conceive it as my apology. I have known your Son for some months past, and during my acquaintance his conduct has in every respect met my entire confidence and approbation. I confess I regret seeing him placed in his present & disgraceful position, I mean in the capacity of a common Soldier, for a young man of his youth and vigor immediately upon enlisting in the U. S. A. at once places himself in a School of vice, depravity, degradation, and confirmed dissipation. I have been an old Soldier, and have fully realized with heartfelt sorrow, the error & certain absurdity of a Soldier's career. I have taken a strong interest in your Son and have accordingly proffered him my services as far as they will extend with cheerfulness, desiring at the same time they may be of salutary benefit to him. He regrets most deeply and sorely ever having acted in contradiction to your feelings and wishes and hopes the day may not be far distant when he may have it in his power to make you all the recompense in his power, since his arrival in Mexico he has not enjoyed one days health, and I consider his constitution, altho young as he is—is much impaired, the climate to which he is constantly exposed is of itself enough to prostrate and destroy the energy of the most hardy Soldier. Your son's spirits are exceedingly depressed and broken down, so much so that he is the object of sympathy & consideration. It would be an act of justice & charity for his friends to use their utmost exertions in endeavoring means & measures to effect his discharge from the service of the United States Army, & these things can be easily accomplished by adopting certain & legal measures. . . ."

Several other letters from the same point, in addition to one from Monterey, dated Oct. 27, '46, also show the "Pt. Isabel" postmark. Evidently mail from different points carried different numbers, for some show simply "Pt. Isabel", some "Pt. Isabel—No. 12", and one "Pt. Isabel—No. 2", the latter being from Monterey. Mail from points in Mexico also bear postmarks reading—"Brazos" in one line, and immediately underneath, either the date in full including the year or simply the month and the day. The earlier covers dated in April to June of 1847 show year dates, while those of the latter part of the year have the year dates missing. In several cases, the postmark reads — "Brasos" as well as "Brazos."

One soldier writes from Buena Vista on May 8, 1848, and addresses his communication to the National Intelligencer —a newspaper in Washington. He wr that the Government contemplates s page of the pay of the Privates in Virginia regiment. It seems that States were paid for raising regim within their borders, and that the partment is now considering this as ment for the services of the soldiers. Private in the Army asks that the ne papers take up the subject as he con ers it an outrage. This letter, along a further communication from Monte dated August 20, 1848, bears a concen postmark in blue reading—"Brazos— go, Tex.," with the month and day d

Some of the mail went through port of Vera Cruz and bear postmark black of this city. I note a two- postmark used in January to February 1848 reading—"Vera Cruz, Mex., 14." A cover used on May 11, of same year, shows a rectangular postm with two-line inscription reading—"V Cruz, Mexico, May 11." This is stam in black, along with the figure "10." second cover dated "July 1" of the sa year and addressed to England, bear similar postmark with the word "M ico" omitted. From the postmarks on back, we find that the cover pas through New Orleans on July reached London on August 20, and delivered at its final destination, Wor tershire, on August 22.

Another unusual cover from the tlefield bears two very unusual postma of Vera Cruz, different from anyth noted on the several other letters pre ously mentioned. They both are sim in character to English postmarks, and doubt the cancellers were made in E land. One cover with the postmark black shows a crown at the top, and mediately underneath in three line "Paid at Vera Cruz." The second p mark on the same cover, circular in sign, in which the lettering forms p of the circle, reads—"Vera Cruz 1 Ap. 16." The cover also shows a N Orleans postmark of April 22, in addit to the word "SHIP." There is indica on the cover that a two shilling fee h been paid, leading me to believe that may have been posted upon a Brit ship. The communication is addressed Washington.

Such a historical little collection pro an interesting addition to a stamp coll tion, for it shows how the mails w carried in the early days, when the like hood of loss was great. No doubt, similar collection of pre-stamp covers revolutionary interest could be found hunted for, although no doubt, those co munications would mainly bear ma script postmarks, rather than print marks, as are found in the Mexic series.

THE "WARNER BATES" COLLECTION
OF
UNITED STATES — "BANK NOTE" ISSUES

I have purchased this well known collection to improve my considerable stock of these issues, for which I see a great future.

I should appreciate offers of fine collections of this group of stamps, especially wanted are rare and fine cancellations, perfection copies with ordinary cancellations and good plate varieties, such as double entries, etc., etc.

I am arranging this great collection in my approval books, which are grouped as follows:—

I. Stamps on Covers.
II. Rare Cancellations.
III. Cheap and ordinary cancellations in perfection copies.
IV. Plate varieties, re-entries, double impressions, grill varieties, stitch watermark, etc., etc.

A large number of books of each group are now priced and can be sent to collectors if they will inform me which group they care to see. [18

NEW SOUTH WALES, 1860-72

By LEONARD A. GIBBENS.

Most collectors possess a liking for early British Colonial stamps but do not collect them because they are mostly expensive. This, of course, is true, but these stamps are the very best to buy if we have an eye to the future of stamp values. There is no doubt that rare stamps are the finest investment, also that early issues of our colonies, which although they may not all be rarities, rank an easy second.

The other day I met a collector who does not like "new stuff"—as he puts it—and will not collect it. He is not a rich man, but nevertheless is a collector of early colonials. Owing to pecuniary, and other reasons, he does not collect in a general way. His collection is composed of groups of stamps and one of these I want to refer to here, because it is beautiful in appearance and none of the stamps are too expensive for the average collector to acquire and, unlike many "group" collections, this is in all ways well worth while.

The stamps I have in mind are the issues of New South Wales for the period 1860-72 (Gibbons' Nos. 131 to 170 inclusive) and I refer only to stamps in the finest possible used condition, for reasons which I shall mention later on. These handsome stamps, of which there are two main designs in the series, were printed in the colony from engraved steel plates obtained from Perkins, Bacon & Co., London. The dies were engraved by William Humphrys, from water colour drawings by Edward Henry Corbould, after the original designs of T. W. Levinge of the N.S.W. Post Office. It is not necessary for me to take up space with lists of stamps, etc., because if you will refer to Gibbons' catalogue you will see the number of stamps in this group, together with their respective prices; also you will observe that the first set is headed "Perf. 12." Previous to 1860, stamps were issued in New South Wales imperforate, but, doubtless to move with the times as well as for the sake of convenience, the Government were desirous of having them perforated and it is on record that they approached Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., with a view to acquiring a suitable perforating machine. Several difficulties occurred and in the meantime it appears that a machine was purchased from a local source (for the sum of £45), and there is hardly any doubt that this was the machine first used to perforate the stamps of New South Wales. Stamps perforated by this machine—referred to as Hannington's, since this was the name of the man who sold it to the Government—gauge 11½-12.

If you will refer to your catalogue again you will see another set under the heading "As last Perf. 13." Now, in reference to this, the machine acquired from Hannington was regarded as a temporary affair since the Government had again approached Perkins, Bacon & Co. with a view to securing a more practical and serviceable machine and this firm eventually forwarded two machines which reached Sydney sometime in March, 1861. These machines were satisfactory, but there seems no definite information available as to the gauge of them, although the general opinion is that one, if not both of them, must have gauged 12½-13.

You will see a note in the catalogue after No. 153, referring to the 2d stamps from Plate 1. According to the Royal Philatelic Society's work, impressions from the repaired plate, which superseded Plate II in March, 1861, are mostly heavily printed in a chalky blue, approaching a cobalt. Specimens dated late in 1861 and subsequently, often show signs of wear of the plate on some of the stamps.—West-End Philatelist.

ODDS AND ENDS—

A VERY fine photograph was taken of the S. P. A. convention attendants at Cleveland, and we have been favored with a specimen by Sec. Wm. Lycett. It is, however, a yard wide, and we would reproduce it in the WEEKLY were it not for the fact that the results would not be very satisfactory. There are some 90 in the group, which is arranged in three rows.

WE have received from the Marks Stamp Co., a wholesale price list of stamps priced per ten and hundred. It is the firm's number 115, and will be sent to any dealer upon request.

WE are indebted to several correspondents for editorials appearing in the daily press referring to the wide-spread interest taken in the mail carried by the airships.

A RAPKIN ENDORSEMENT

We receive many letters of commendation of our paper as an advertising medium, but the following from the firm of G. F. Rapkin, London, England, possesses unusual interest to us, and we have great pleasure in printing it. Mr. Rapkin has advertised in the WEEKLY for several years, and last season used liberal space. He has placed with us a series of advertisements to be used during the coming season, and the copy was accompanied by the following:—

"We wish to state how pleased we are with the results obtained from advertising with you, and you will note by the enclosed instructions for next winter's advertising, that this is increased by over 50% from last year."

ANNOUNCEMENT
We take great pleasure in introducing our branch office to the trade, located at 105 Fulton Street, New York. It has been opened to solicit more extensively our business.
To meet the requirements of the dealers we are carrying a full line of France and her colonies as well as Europe and the British colonies.
Our special price lists are issued every month and we depend upon them to arouse the interest of all retailers.
If no copy has been sent to you ask for one at once.

DEATHS

On the morning of the opening session of the American Philatelic Society convention at Minneapolis, the reading of the reports of officers and committee chairmen was progressing. The report of the Obituary Committee was called for, John Luther Kilbon, chairman, whereupon Secretary Davis read a letter from a relative of Mr. Kilbon, saying that he had passed away while in the very act of preparing the roll of those who had passed away during the yearly term. A pause followed, after which several members paid tribute to Mr. Kilbon, member 66, formerly of Boston, and latterly of New York City. The Reverend John Luther Kilbon once served on the Board of Vice-Presidents, but perhaps is best remembered as the publisher of the Boston Stamp Book, a handsome publication, whose contents were in keeping with its appearance. Mr. Kilbon was a man of scholarly attainments and his writings on philately were distinguished not alone for their subject matter but for their choice setting as well. At times he found his health impaired, we believe, and while for some years he has not been active in philatelic affairs, his interest in the A. P. S. survived, it is needless to say. The loss of this man of high character is greatly regretted.

Friday morning, soon after the convention had convened, a painful impression was made by the reading of a telegram announcing the death of Mrs. Charles J. Phillips, the wife of one of our best-known members. Mr. Phillips expected to attend the convention and inquiries had been made by his friends who had counted upon meeting him. Mrs. Phillips was known to many members through her participation in philatelic conventions, and the sad message shocked them in particular. Mr. Severn paid a tribute to the memory of Mrs. Phillips, and was asked to send a telegram conveying the sincere expressions of condolence that had been voiced. The philatelic world feels a throb of sympathy for Mr. Phillips in his bereavement.

TREASURE HUNTING

By CAPT. A. C. TOWNSEND.

PART VII.

During several years I travelled the country quite largely, having a good deal of luck, but most of it bad. For instance. Up in a Michigan town I ran across an old house set in the middle of a half block of grounds. It was a square, three story brick with a cupola, and that cupola looked like trunks full of old letters to me. After passing it two or three times I got up my courage and rang the bell.

A dear old lady with white hair and blue glasses came to the door. I told my story and asked if she had any stamps. She shook her head slowly and said "I knew I shouldn't have done it; I knew I shouldn't have done it." I asked what, and she said that a year before she had been up in that cupola and the contents of three trunks of letters and old papers had been destroyed. Did I suppose they were of much value? Of course I said no; there was no use in telling her what they might have been worth.

And down in central Illinois I got into an old town that had been founded about 1830, but to my surprise all the houses seemed to be of brick and modern. I asked the local editor and he said that when the coal mines were opened near there everyone made money, tore down their old houses and rebuilt. There seemed to be no place to dig, but finally I struck one old and rather tumbledown two-story frame house. There was another old lady out in the yard feeding chickens, so in I went.

Talked to her of the value of stamps, and she interrupted to ask if stamps from India were any good. Being told they were if old enough, she said her two sisters had been there as missionaries many years before and that she had their letters, as well as some old family correspondence. Did she know where they were? Oh, yes; she had them upstairs in some shoe boxes. Rainbows!!

We went in; she went upstairs and promptly came down with two shoe boxes crammed tight with letters. I went at them eagerly; struck several covers before stamps came into use, and my hopes ran high. Then found some 1861's and 1870's and then, to my horror, a folded cover with the stamp cut off. Then another and another. I called them to her attention and she was utterly unable to account for the fact. I asked for the letters from India and she said they were all there.

Through both boxes I went carefully. There was not a letter from India and not an 1847—nothing of any value but a few Civil War patriotics. The old lady was bewildered. After a little thought she accounted for the facts. Two nieces had visited her some years before. While there they asked to see the correspondence from India—and not only took every letter, but took every valuable U. S. stamp. The old lady was quite heart-broken over it. "If they had asked for them they could have had them without question, but to pretend to want to read the letters and then steal them! Well, it just shows how few people you can trust!"

However, not all the luck can be bad if you keep plugging. Up in Minneapolis I picked up a wonderful double transfer sheet of the 3c purple, and around in Illinois by persistent tackling of old people whom I saw on the street or in their yards or windows I gathered up a good many pretty fair stamps and covers. Any collector can do as well or better, with persistence and courtesy. Stamps like gold are where you find them, and you sometimes hit them in the most unlikely places.

Here in Chicago a year ago I had an odd experience. A friend was saving for me the stamps that came to his office and one day among them I found a 13c of 1917. It had a blurred postmark ending in KIN. I went to see Voorhees and asked him if he could use some of them. Yes. How many? All you can get. Fine; have about a thousand dollars on tap when I get back in a day or two. I got a postal guide and went through every town in Illinois, the only one ending with KIN being Pekin. Hopped the train and went down there, asked for the Postmaster, poked the stamp at him and asked if he had any of them. He glanced at it and said yes, plenty of them. Got as many as ten sheets? Oh, yes. "All right," said I, "give them to me. Here is $130." He stared at me, took a closer look at the stamp and said "Oh, thunder; I thought that was a 1c stamp. We haven't any of those."

I insisted the stamp had come from there but a very few days ago. He said it didn't. Well, how did he account for it? Perhaps it came from South Pekin, he replied. Had never thought of that, but off to So. Pekin I went. Put the matter up to the Asst. Postmaster and he also denied having any, altho it was their postmark. After puzzling over it a bit he suddenly said, "I know; there is an old lady here who has been using a lot of queer stamps on packages and papers for some time. Her husband died a while ago and must have left them." Did he know her name? He did, and gave it to me with her address. I beat it for the house and found her raking the yard. Yes, her husband had left a lot of unused stamps; she never knew he had them. She had sold off a lot of them to a local concern to use on mail and was usin the rest as opportunity offered.

She took me in the house and I g beautiful lot of blocks of ten of va commemorative issues and other th The 13c ones that started me on the were all gone, but Voorhees got a p nice lot of stamps after all, and I do my money after paying her a pren for what she had left.

Remember that in the first of t stories I spoke of my lifelong chum that altho he had not collected in 30 y he still can't resist picking up odd stan He came in to see me last week f Omaha. A druggist friend was se out his business and my chum went d cellar with him looking around. Ther found some cans with 6c black and g Proprietaries on them. Got a sponge hot water and took off 25 beautiful co Not so bad, was it?

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON, Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

Official Flights

Don't believe I have mentioned the elaborate cachet applied by the N. A. T. at Ft. Worth for the first daylight flight July 1. Big purple picture, covering about half the envelope.Joseph Goldberg, 5002 S. Ashland Ave., Chicago, says that if you got Aug. 1st night flight covers from Chicago without cachet, to send them in to him and he'll see that it is supplied.St. Paul P. M. says 864 pieces went from there on this flight.1st night flying on CAM 20: Pittsburgh, 1,400; Cleveland, 800; Cleveland Airport, 600.

Postmaster B. D. Chilson, Hilo, Hawaii, writes a personal note of regret that he is compelled, by departmental orders, to return all covers sent him for first air mail service. Says air mail is still very indefinite, but indicates something may happen a bit later. Suggests covers be sent to individuals or organizations who could hold them in the meantime.Robert Dexheimer reports another wreck cover. Mailed at Togandale, Nev., Dec. 15, 1922, it has a 4-line cachet, "Delayed by forced landing Air Mail, Porcupine Ridge, Utah, Dec. 15, 1922, Recovered Dec. 27, 1922."

C. M. Beugless shows me an official letter stating that there was a round trip of a plane carrying several hundred pounds of mail between dates of Jan. 24 and 31, Fairbanks to Nome. Outbound trip required 4 days, while return trip was made in one day, the 31st. Guess that settles that argument!Mail back from 1st trip to Chile shows Miami postmark of July 8, Cristobal the 11th and 16th, and Chanaral the 22nd. First northbound trip, previously mentioned, shows both a black and purple cachet from Santiago, with purple appearing much the scarcer.Western Canada Airways first contract flight Prince Albert-Lac La Ronge took place June 21st, blue cachet.

Williams and Yancey signed 9 covers with the special "Aeroporto Littorio" postmark previously recorded.First air mail from the Vatican State was carried Aug. 2nd, 221 pieces, mostly to Genoa. Was stamped with ordinary Vatican stamps.

Unofficial Flights, Dedications, etc.

Air mail pickup from Leviathan on its Boston-New York trip, recently mentioned has not produced any covers so far, and Boston P. O. says they had no official knowledge of the event. Must have loaded the sacks with a few bricks or old tires I guess.Reported K. C., Kansas, Airport Celebration cachet June 12 only in yellow. Now shows up in black, also. Likewise, dedication Aug. 3 and 4, used black or green interchangably both days.

Dunkirk and Fredonia, N. Y., joint airport dedicated Aug. 17, two cachets by the respective Chambers of Commerce. All letters flown via CAM 20 to Buffalo, and there postmarked Aug. 17, 10.30 P. M.Trans-Missouri Valley Air Meet covers sent to Beatrice, Neb., returned by P. M., who said he knew of no cachet, and no dedication was planned. An unknown coöperator sends me a printed envelope for this event, however.Yakima, Wash., Legion Air Circus Aug. 16, 17, with the apple as central picture in the cachet—as was the bunch of grapes in the Dunkirk cover just listed.

San Diego American Legion Air Review cachet was different, utilizing stars to outline the cachet design—Aug. 17, purple, black, or red.Ogden, Utah, First Anniversary air mail, private cachet Aug. 1st—blue.Salem, Ore., dedication and Legion convention Aug. 8, 9, 10—2 different cachets, and lots of colors. Dedication cachet appears in 2 sizes, same wording.McCleary, Wash., dedicated Aug. 10th, magenta cachet.Coleraine, Minn., Water Carnival and Air Meet cachet Aug. 11, red—similar to dedication cachet, but substitutes a buffalo for the steam shovel.Wagner, S. D., Aug. 8-9, no cachet.Alliance, Ohio, covers also reported postmarked Youngstown.

Several earlier items I've missed up till now. Wallingford, Conn., dedication June 1, 2, 3—red map cachet. Frankfort, Ind., July 5, embossed seal of Giro Club. Long Beach, Calif., Pacific Coast Glider Contest—3 lines purple—May 4. St. Louis May 28, cachet "Carried on Fargo-St. Louis preliminary to Gardner Annual Trophy Races." Anybody know what happened at Breckenridge, Tex., Aug. 3rd?Montpelier, Vt., says nothing doing.Charleston, S. C., dedicated Aug. 10, but had no cachet and mailed

Liberian Stamps

By MAX SCHACHTER,

The location of a country can sometimes be told by the stamps it issues. Liberia, whose stamps are rich in color, and pictorial issues is one of these countries. Interesting bits of history and geography are portrayed on these fascinating pieces of paper. Liberia was founded by freed slaves of the U. S. in 1822. Stamps issued showing the map of Africa tells the geographical position of Liberia in Africa. Monrovia, Buchanan, Greenville, Harper and Robertsport are Liberia's main towns. Their names are printed on the registration stamps. A large menagerie of animals greets us when we open our album to this country. From them and the tropical plants and native scenery pictured we learn that Liberia is situated near the equator. Take your favorite country, and see how many educational facts you can name by studying its stamps.

Arranging a Stamp Collection

PAUL H. GINTHER, New Holland, Ill.

Every individual has at some time or another come into contact with certain experiences which have enabled him to improve his work. Stamp collecting is no exception to the rule, and, as a stamp collector, I have discovered some facts which have been of great help to me, and which I want to pass on to others of the great philatelic fraternity.

I started to collect stamps in my high school days and managed to gather together quite a fair sized collection in a Scott's International Junior album. I soon outgrew this album, as it were, because it did not provide spaces for the higher values and more rarer varieties of stamps. I also did not like the idea of mounting the stamps on both sides of the pages.

I next investigated the International albums and found that they provided spaces for all of the major varieties of stamps issued. But I preferred to use a linen-hinged loose-leaf blank album and to fill the pages with stamps as my collection grew. But I felt that I lacked the necessary skill to lay out the pages of the blank album for the stamps that I had to mount. I did not know just how much space to leave between certain issues that I wished to mount, as later I would probably acquire the issues to fill in between. So I hit upon the idea of laying out the blank pages similar to those of the International albums. I would combine the system of arrangement of the International album plus the loose-leaf plan.

I purchased the several sections of the International album, also a loose-leaf blank album with pages the same size as the International album. For the certain issues of stamps that I wished to mount, I laid off pages in most cases in the same order of arrangement as the International album. I bought a quantity of the cheaper grade of thin unruled paper and would place a sheet of it over the page that I wished to reproduce and mark on it the necessary outlines of the spaces and guide lines of the International page. On another small table I arranged a piece of plate glass about twelve by twenty-one inches in size on two boxes about six inches high. These supported the piece of glass at the ends, and under the center of it was placed a twenty-five watt electric lamp. The piece of glass was secured for a small sum at an automobile wrecking yard.

After having outlined on the sheet of paper the spaces for the stamps, etc., I next lay it on the glass and place a blank album page over it, carefully reproducing the spaces on the blank page lightly in pencil. After printing in the necessary titles and dates with pencil, I reproduce them with India drawing ink. I use a ruling pen to make lines and borders, and a lettering pen for the printing of titles and dates. After the ink is thoroughly dry I erase the traces of the pencil marks and clean the page of dirty spots with a soft eraser suitable for this kind of work. The page is now ready for mounting the stamps and placing it in the album.

In this way all of the pages in my album have stamps on them, and as I get new stamps I make new pages for them. A person with artistic ability can make a beautiful job of it. If any of the readers of this article wish to offer any criticism of my method and any suggestions for its improvement, I will certainly appreciate it.

Servicio Postal. — An inscription found on many of the stamps of Honduras which means "Postal service."

New Revenue Variety

Mr. David H. Burr has submitted for inspection a copy of the 10-cent Documentary issue of 1917-1929, Scott's No. 4231, with compound perforations 11x10. Not so far back, we discovered the current revenues coming perforated 10 instead of the original perforation 11, and now with the compound perforation at hand, I am led to believe that the perforating machines used at the Bureau for perforating revenues have at least one that perforates 10 and that a further machine perforates 11. Otherwise, how could we possibly account for the fact that most of the current stock is perforated 11, with new varieties perforated 10 turning up here and there? The one machine which was inspected a few weeks back, perforated 10 and we were informed that there had been no changes in the perforating machines which are used for perforating revenues, for a number of years. We are now investigating to learn as to whether they have two types of machines being used at the same time. If this is so, we can readily account for the compound perforated variety. Otherwise, this variety was made at the time the perforating wheels were changed over from one gauge to the other. We do not have the facilities for following the revenue stamps as carefully as we do the postage stamps, for the Treasury Department is not as accommodating and helpful in giving out information, as is the Post Office. Under the circumstances, if collectors will follow their collections carefully, no doubt, many new varieties will be discovered, for if one value exists, there is every likelihood of other denominations being in existence.

New Edison Coil

We announced in this column a number of months back that the Department had prepared special coils of three thousand stamps, coiled in such a manner that the gum is outward, for use in connection with special mailing machines. It was this type of coil which made it unnecessary for the Department to issue further imperforate stamps, in order to be cut up for special machines.

The Department now announces that the Edison coil consisting of 3,000 stamps is available. The individual stamp or strip from such a coil cannot be distinguished from those from the smaller coils, so that it does not make a new variety for the collector. The official announcement of the Department is as follows:

"Postmasters are notified that in addition to the issuance of the Edison commemorative stamps in coils of 500, sidewise perforated, as stated in the original notice, which appears on page 15 of the June guide, provision has now been made for the furnishing of a limited quantity of this stamp in coils of 3,000 as needed by patrons for use in special affixing machines.

Postmasters at direct and central accounting post offices who receive requests from local patrons for 2-cent Edison commemorative stamps in coils of 3,000 may submit requisition to the department for the quantity required, using Form 3201-a suitably indorsed.

In this connection postmasters are reminded that all requisitions for coils of 3,000 stamps should, if possible, be drawn for full boxes containing eight coils each to conform to stock packing. When there is good reason for it, a half box containing four coils can be furnished. Requisitions calling for an odd number of 3,000 stamp coils will be changed in the department to the nearest even amount to conform to standard packing."

Philadelphia Loses Air Mail Terminal

It is to be regretted that a city of the size of Philadelphia has not seen fit to set aside sufficient money to prepare a proper air mail terminal for the Department. As a result, Washington has granted the Pitcairn Aviation, Inc., permission to land the air mail at the central airport located near Camden, N. J. This new arrangement becomes effective September 15th.

During the last year, the condition of the Philadelphia terminal was such that planes could only land with difficulty and in certain weather landing was actually dangerous. Little towns with only a fraction of our size and population have first-class fields.

Mr. Glover gives the announcement of the change under date of August 15.

The following new issues have been received from our London correspondent, Mr. R. Roberts:

Brazil. — 5000 reis purple, head of Ruy Barbosa, type A85, but with different framework. The watermark is large star and CASA DA MOEDA. The paper is thin and the issue is line engraved.

Czechoslovakia. — The Kr.2.50 blue has appeared in a new type, a view of the city of Prague being the central view and perforated 9½, with no watermark.

Dutch Indies.—New colors have been issued on unwatermarked paper, perf. 12½. They are the 3c green, numeral type, 15c blue and 35c red-brown, design as Scott's A12.

Egypt.—The 15mm in a shade of very deep blue has made its appearance with watermark and perforation as before.

French Alexandria. — The 3mm orange and 20mm magenta have been placed on sale, the former being type A2 and the latter of A3, but with the figures smaller than previously and with "Mm" beneath.

Grenada. — The 2sh 6p value mentioned in our issue No. 2012 as having been despatched to the Colony has been placed on sale and copies are to hand. The colors are black and carmine on blue and the watermark is the script type.

Jamaica.—The current 4p has been printed in green and grey instead of the central part of the stamp being brown as formerly.

Norway.—The old types have been revived in two instances. The 7 ore green, type A10, watermarked Posthorn, perf. 14x13½ and the 2st orange, type A4, surcharged "14 ore 14" in black at the base of the stamp, no watermark, perf. 14x13½. Also the 5 ore magenta Official stamp, overprinted for use as 2 ore. Two sans serif figure "2" obliterate the original value.

Patiala. — The 1a brown and 2a purple, Nasik printing, with the small type of surcharge.

Trengganu.—The $1 blue and purple, on script watermarked paper, has been received.

Our Ipswich, England, correspondent, Whitfield King & Co., submit the following items for chronicle:

Czechoslovakia.—A 2k stamp in green has appeared.

Cuba.—The 8c red-brown of the current series has been issued on the new Star watermarked paper.

Egypt.—The 4m postage due stamp is now in dark green.

France.—A 10frs—ultramarine, with a view of Port De La Rochelle in oblong format, has been received. It is a most attractive stamp with "Postes" in the lower left corner and "10Fr." in the lower right and "Republique Francaise" between. Below the frame line beneath the name of the country is "Port De La Rochelle."

Lithuania. — In design A31, the 5c green and 15c red are now on paper watermarked honeycomb.

Netherlands.—A new set of Air Mail stamps has been issued in three values. The stamps are line engraved, perf. 11½ on unwatermarked paper and of the following values: 1½Gl sepia, 4½Gl carmine, and 7½Gl blue-green.

Mexico. — Copies of the Carranza commemorative issue of Air post stamps are at hand. All of the same type, there are six values, perf. 12, watermarked Correos Mexico. Denominations and colors are 5c olive-green and black, 10c black and brown-red, 15c violet and dark green, 20c brown and blue-black, 50c brown-red and blue-black, and 1p blue-black and brown.

Denmark.—The new Cancer set has been issued in three values, 10 ore green, 15 ore red, and 25 ore blue. Mr. A. E. Pade kindly sends the set and gives the following information: Each value is sold at a 5 ore premium which goes to the Danish Cancer committee. The number printed are 750,000 10 ore, 850,000 15 ore, 250,000 25 ore, of which 6,000 booklets will be made, each to contain 4 of the 10 ore, 4 of the 15 ore, and 2 of the 25 ore. The booklet sells for 2 kroner

SWISS 1929 PRO JUVENTUTE

The Philatelic Magazine announces the Pro Juventute 1929 designs. The annual series to be issued at the end of this year will be double the size of the normal stamps, and will be as under:

5c, designed by Francois Gos, of Geneva, representing in a violet surround, the setting sun on Lake Lugano, with San Salvatore in the background.

10c, by Edouard Boss, of Berne, representing the Engshlenese at the foot of the Titlis, in a green frame.

20c, by the same artist, showing Lyskamm as seen from Riffelberg, in a red frame.

A LITHUANIAN ERROR

A variety of the 15c carmine current issue double cross design has been found tete-beche, and it is a very interesting error. The stamps are printed in four panes of one hundred. The lower left pane in the left hand corner contains ten stamps inverted, providing either five horizontal and four vertical, or four horizontal and two vertical tete-beche pairs. The inverted stamps were nearly all removed before issue, but not before one hundred sheets had been sold.

A. P. S. STAMP SHOW AND AWARD

FORTUNE IN RARE STAMPS AND COLLECTIONS E HIBITED AT THE MINNEAPOLIS CONVENTION

(Clipping from the Minneapolis Journal, Aug. 22)

Minneapolis stamp collectors continued Wednesday to win honors as judging continued in the National Philatelic exhibition in the Hodgson building, Second Avenue south and Fourth Street, being held in conjunction with the forty-fourth annual convention of the American Philatelic society.

Gerald H. Burgess, president of the Twin Cities Philatelic society, took all prizes in the section devoted to United States nineteenth century used stamps; Mrs. William Dalrymple and Russell V. Carr shared all honors in group 4 of the foreign stamp exhibit, and B. D. Hedding took first place in the open and novice classes of the precancellation section.

Trading Lively

Trading on the stamp bourse was spirited all during Wednesday and at midnight the buying was unabated and indications were that more than 100 enthusiasts would continue to dicker for prized stamps all night.

Another celebrity of the stamp collecting world is scheduled to arrive at the convention and show late Thursday. He is Alfred Lichtenstein of New York City, who had previously shipped a collection valued at $250,000 to the exhibition. Lichtenstein is hurrying to Minneap from San Francisco.

He will join Arthur Hind, wea philatelic collector of Utica, N. Y., has been here all during the session. Hind has a collection valued at $550 up for sale at the exhibit, but he ref to break up the collection. So far, taker has appeared. He is also ow of the most valuable stamp in the wo and an envelope on which are pasted rare Mauritius post office stamps.

Another prized possession he brou to Minneapolis with him is a cover stamp with the inscription by K George of Great Britain—"This 9d, p 5, Great Britain stamp was taken fr my collection and given to the Natio Philatelic war funds auction in Sept ber, 1915—George R. I."

Mr. Hind said. "I knew nothing at all about stamps, but finally I weakened and bought a collection."

One of the most interesting of the exhibits at the show is "The Scotchman's Letter," owned by Herman Toaspern of New York City. It was mailed from Vienna, Ill., on May 3, 1881, to the circuit clerk of Alexander County, Ill. The postage was 99 cents, but only two three-cent, green stamps were affixed to it by the sender. The entire back of the envelope is covered with five-cent due stamps to make up the 93 cents deficit.

A meeting of collectors of precancelled stamps was held late Wednesday afternoon.

CATAPULT MAIL FROM THE BREMEN

By ARNS & SCHROTT.

Due to the fact that a regular trans-Atlantic air mail service cannot be established until aeroplanes of a much larger size and with more motors are built, the Deutsche Lufthansa together with the Nord Deutscher Lloyd are trying a ship-to-shore air service, and have begun with the steamship Bremen. A catapult has been installed so as to enable an airplane to take off from the ship. On the early trips the plane will start about 400 miles off the coast to New York, Cherbourg, or Amsterdam, and later the distance will be increased to 800 miles. The speed will be 100 sea miles per hour, the plane requiring only four hours for a distance covered by the Bremen in sixteen. Thus the catapult post will reach the harbor twelve hours earlier than the Bremen. An 800 mile start off the coast will be a saving of twenty-four hours in delivery of mail.

The catapult equipment was furnished by the firm of Ernst Heinkel of Warnemunde, who also furnishes the aeroplane. This firm has for the past two years been experimenting with the building of catapults for marine purposes, and the feasibility of the project was tested by many successful starts before the building of the one in use upon the Bremen. The Bremen catapult was set up on the 25 metre high sun-deck between the two large chimneys. The plane is mounted on rails and is tossed forward by means of an hydraulic press. The speed, which at first is slow, is increased sufficiently to keep the airplane in the air after a 20 metres start and to fly at a space of 110 kilometers. Airplanes up to 6,000 pounds can be catapulted from the deck of the Bremen. The present plane "New York" can carry 600 pounds of mail in addition to the two pilots. The first flight was piloted by von Studnitz of the Deutsche Lufthansa.

To shorten the time on the second trip an arrangement was made to forward air mail by an aeroplane from Cologne to Cherbourg. By this means 24 hours were gained on the trip to the United States. This is a first flight and of much interest as Cherbourg is a fortified city and the French Government has for the first time permitted a German airplane to enter the city.

and should be scarce. The stamps are copper printed and made up in sheets of 50 each. The design represents the serpent entwined rod of Esculapias, the Greek God of medicine, and was the result of competition among Danish artists.

Guatemala.—Only 50,000 of the 3c value of the recent air provisional set were printed, whereas there were 300,000 of the 5c, and 200,000 of each of the 15c and 20c.

As a result of this small printing of the lowest denomination, another first-class speculation has arisen. Only a few sheets were sold over the counter and the balance promptly bought up by Post Office employees.

It seems that this stamp was intentionally speculative from the beginning, since our correspondent tells us that it could not have been employed on the Air Mail since there is no use for such a low value on the service.—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

India.—A Nasik printing of the 2½a in a peculiar shade of pale orange bistre has been received from several of our correspondents.

Latvia.—A new set of five commemorative stamps has been issued bearing the picture of S. A. Meijerowitzs. This information reaches us through Geo. H. Jaeger, who states that they are issued in behalf of a monument fund. The values are 2+2, 6+6, 15+25, 20+35, 30+40 santimu, with a face value of 1.11 lats. 40,000 sets were printed.

Monaco.—Die Postmarke reports the appearance of the current 15 centimes stamp in violet instead of yellow-green.

Mozambique.—A new Charity stamp in aid of widows and orphans, the use of which upon letters for Portugal and its Colonies only was obligatory for a period of eight days from July 24, is illustrated by Die Postmarke. The vignette shows a group of two women and a child and the inscription reads: "Assistancia Publica—Mozambique—Correos". Fifty thousand copies were printed in two colors at the State Printing Works, Berlin. The value is 40 centavos, and the color blue and violet-brown.

Nicaragua. — Champion's Bulletin Mensuel reports the following changes in the types of 1914, ½c vermilion, 1c orange-yellow, 3c violet, 4c brown, 5c yellow, 6c bright blue, 15c carmine and 25c violet-brown.

Paraguay. — Writing in the Daily Telegraph, Mr. Fred J. Melville states that "Paraguay is preparing another set of air mail stamps, on which will appear the portraits of Pettirossi, the Paraguayian aviator, and of Captain Almonacid, Director of Aeroposta Argentina (Latecoere) in recognition of his services in establishing the local air mail service."

MINNEAPOLIS EXHIBITION, AUGUST 19-24, 1929

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

The Minneapolis Philatelic Exhibition, the first to be held under the auspices of the American Philatelic Society, was open to the public, complete, on August 19th, strictly in accordance with schedule. To one who has attended other exhibitions, it will be appreciated that this is unusual—in fact the whole exhibition was unusual and of outstanding merit.

As a result of civic coöperation and good feeling, publicity of the highest order was obtained generally. Each newspaper carried notices of the coming exhibition almost daily, and told stories to interest the non-collector. During the exhibition these stories related the daily happenings—stories about stamps—lists of awards—little news items about visiting collectors and their hobbies—a story of Mr. Hind's wonderful rarities being shown—philatelic notes about local collectors, and the like.

Streamers were to be found stretching across two of the main streets announcing the exhibition of stamps valued in excess of a million dollars. Several large windows throughout the city displayed stamps, and endeavored to arouse interest in the collecting of the little pieces of paper. Mr. Preston H. Thorp addressed the Rotary and Kiwanis, and spoke over the radio. Mr. Laurence Clark, in charge of publicity, is certainly to be congratulated on doing a difficult piece of work well.

The show itself, laid out similar to those held in New York and Cleveland, occupied an entire well lighted floor of one of Minneapolis' modern office buildings—the Hodgson Building, donated through the courtesy of the owner, another local collector, Mr. Welles G. Hodgson. The cases for display, made originally for Cleveland, housed some of our most interesting collections. The frames that attracted the most attention, especially the non-collector, were those exhibiting a few rarities from the collection of Mr. Arthur Hind, of Utica, New York. The unique one pence British Guiana, the world's best known stamp was to be seen. One of the finest items known to Philately—a cover showing a single of each of the one penny and two pence Post Office Mauritius tied together, two types of the two cent Hawaiian Missionary, rare early Spain, Switzerland, and New South Wales—all to be seen in two frames.

The wonderful collections of Cape of Good Hope, Mauritius, and Nova Scotia, belonging to Mr. Alfred F. Lichtenstein were on display, not for competition. These are so well known, and have been written up so many times that there is little new to be said. Each collection is an outstanding display containing most of the world's finest pieces in the country shown. Among the Capes is to be found the most magnificent item of all of the Lichtenstein holdings, namely, the wonderful block of four of the Woodblock one penny red showing the four pence error on entire cover. A further cover with two singles of the one pence post office Mauritius, and an additional cover with a two pence were among the outstanding Mauritius items. The Nova Scotia lot included several pairs of the scarce one shilling, including a pair of the cold violet on cover.

Among the United States, Mr. Lawrence B. Mason and Edward N. Knapp showed outstanding exhibits of early issues. Mr. Mason's lot included a number of superb New York postmasters showing numerous cancellations and signatures. Several St. Louis tied with red cancellations, New York carriers, Charleston Carriers, as well as several Eagle carriers used from different cities. Four additional frames were divided to New York carrier cancellations, including an outstanding cover used to Nova Scotia with an 1857 ten cent, in addition to a one cent paying a carrier's fee. The one and three cent in combination are quite common, but the one cent with ten cent is rather scarce.

A further exhibit of Mr. Mason's included one of the choicest lots of locals on entire covers now in the hands of any collector. There were several to be seen that are possibly unique, and throughout the condition was superb.

Mr. Knapp exhibited early western express covers, United States rates, combinations and cancellations, the issues of 1869 and an interesting lot of air mail covers signed by Colonel Lindbergh. In fact, in the entire frame, I failed to note a cover that did not bear his autograph. The 1869 covers, as happened to be the case with the other Knapp exhibits, were of outstanding importance. I particularly noticed three unusually fine twenty-four cent used on covers, one being in combination with a pair of two cent. Five of the thirty cent were present on covers, one being in combination with two fifteen cents, one with the twelve cents, and one was nicely tied to the cover with a red New York postmark. Single copies off covers with unusual cancellations added greatly to the collection.

Mr. John J. O'Donohue showed his pet favorites, the 1851 three cent issues. There were too many items to mention, but one piece which especially caught my eye was a wonderful copy nicely tied to the cover with green circular Randolph Macon College, Virginia, postmark. Mr. Olaf J. Olson exhibited what is perhaps the largest collection of mint United States held in Minneapolis. This included some very choice singles as well as blocks of both the 19th and 20th centuries.

The collection of Mr. Gerald H. Burgess of Minneapolis, another outstanding

NEWFOUNDLAND

As the present printers of Newfoundland stamps failed to renew their contract, and as they own the plates, it will be necessary to engrave new plates, which, of course, means a new issue. Now is the time to get the current set before it gets too high—the 9c and 12c values are already worth many times face value. We offer

I am breaking up a very fine collection of U. S. blocks from 1895 to date, including many shade varieties. Let me have your want list, please.

H. A. ROBINETTE
Successor to H. F. COLMAN

local collection, devoted to both the 19th and 20th century, was especially attractive because of its wonderful condition. One piece in the lot which caught my eye was a mint block of the three cent surface print, printed on back showing plate number. Mr. Burgess tells the little story that thirty sheets of these stamps showing the printing on the back were located in the Minneapolis post office, and that instead of buying them all he simply removed blocks of four from each of five sheets. The balance of the stamps being used on the mail.

The finest exhibition of revenues was made by Mr. Philip Little, Jr., also of Minneapolis. This included a number of choice pieces, such as a strip of three of the $20.00 third issue, a pair of the fifty cent proprietary, and one piece that I have never seen before, namely, an 1898 fifty cent, vertical pair imperforate. Throughout the collection Mr. Little has endeavored to obtain stamped cancellations and has succeeded wonderfully well. Mr. Frank L. Applegate showed a nice lot of State revenues.

The outstanding collection of United States proofs now in existence, belonging to Mr. Clarence W. Brazer, needs no comment as it covers everything from the earliest to the latest issues, and is not surpassed anywhere.

The Confederates were well represented by the general issues belonging to Mr. Thos. H. Pratt, and as these have been shown on numerous occasions before, no comment is necessary. The Scott Company showed several frames of choice reconstructed plates.

Mr. Alfred B. Cassell of Minneapolis had an attractive collection of the six cent bank note issues, and I particularly noted a copy with bright red cancellation. Mr. Beverly S. King devoted two frames to the postage due and special delivery stamps, showing the development of the issues from the original sketches through the proofs and down to the finished stamp.

Dr. N. P. McGay showed private coils, Mr. O. J. Olson departmental blocks and singles, and Mr. Thole Harrison unused blocks and covers, the latter being in the junior class.

Among the foreign, Mr. O. J. Olson was represented by an unusual lot taken from his general collection, and these included the German states, Sweden, Norway, and German colonies. A superb block of four and a strip of three of Norway number one were particularly attractive, and ten or twelve copies of the three skilling of the first issue of Sweden were in evidence, including the reprints. Mr. Paul MacGuffin showed Great Britain and German states, and he has been fortunate in picking up quite a few of the Saxony number one, represented by several singles and a pair. The exhibits of Mr. Theo. E. Steinway were important, and included New South Wales, Hamburg and Great Britain.

All of the fine things by no means belonged to the masculine end of philately, for the ladies were well represented. Mrs. Caroline Dayton Hayden showed one of the choicest small specialized collections in the exhibit, namely, a wonderful lot of St. Vincent. Each stamp is represented by several copies showing either odd shades or unusual cancellations. The 1866 one shilling slate gray compound perforated was present in addition to two choice copies of the 1880 five shillings, one showing sheet margins. All of the surcharges were on hand, including a mint copy of the four pence on one shilling. An outstanding cancellation item particularly noted was an 1871 small star four pence with red postmark. This is quite often found on the one pence and six pence, but I do not recall seeing it before on this denomination.

Mrs. Wm. Dalrymple of Minneapolis, showed an attractive collection of Hungary, including mint and used copies of the two first issues in magnificent condition, as well as a substantial representation of the later issues. Mrs. H. A. Diamant showed one frame of Cape triangles. Mrs. E. B. Wittmer exhibited fine collections of United States revenues, cancellations as well as patriotic and miscellaneous covers.

The Scott Company helped to make the exhibition a success by entering exhibits in no less than twenty-two classes, and these included the outstanding collection of Mr. Clark of patriotic covers. The frame of Lincoln items was particularly attractive, and is possibly one of the finest of its kind in existence.

The Nassau Stamp Company showed several collections, including an interesting one of Siam. This collection is possibly the finest specialized lot now in existence, starting with the first issue and coming forward to date, and includes blocks and singles, as well as reconstructed plates of possibly every variety known. Mr. Gustaf Mosler showed his pet Austrians, including what is without doubt the finest lot of early cancellations in the hands of an American collector. Mr. Mosler has been after these stamps for many years, and as a result, has gotten together a collection of real importance.

Mr. John S. Pillsbury of Minneapolis showed one frame of Cape of Good Hope, including several rare blocks. Mr. Stephen G. Rich exhibited Union of South Africa. Mr. E. S. Stebbins of Minneapolis, Georgian issues on script watermarked paper. Mr. Hans Lagerloef, Roman States and Heligoland. Mr. H. Konwiser, Denmark of 1851 to 1896. Mr. Karl Koslowski, Latvia. Mr. L. J. Rader, Crete and Argentine. Dr. Clarence Hennan, Suriname. Richard Hollinbeck, Chile. C. F. Heyerman, Hejaz.

There were numerous other collections well worthy of mention, including such exhibits as those made by Mr. Delf Norona, Mr. Herman Toaspern, Mr. W. H. Dole, and Mr. B. W. H. Poole, devoted to American and stamp history as shown by Philately.

ROUND THE WORLD IN THREE WEEKS

We offer the greatest souvenir of them all,—an envelope actually carried all the way around the world by the Graf Zeppelin. Could there be any better souvenir of the epochal achievement?

Officially recognized by the United States Government, this cover has an official cachet on its face and, in addition, for the first time on record, a special postmark on the back (in green ink) showing time of arrival at Lakehurst.

ALSO, we have covers carried from Los Angeles to Lakehurst on the round-the-world flight.

U. S. Plates and Plate Markings

R. A. BRYANT, Editor,
Essex St., Winter Hill, Mass.

Readers are requested to send in notes and data on errors, shifts, defects and all plate markings; also color varieties and new numbers for chronicle. The editor will gladly answer all questions on these subjects.

5c Air Mail Notes.—Since the announcement of the "blue moon" discovery as reported exclusively in our column by our West Coast correspondent, we have, through the further kindness of Mr. Hopkinson, had the pleasure of inspecting three specimens of this interesting oddity which occurs on No. 6 of the right pane from plate 19618. So far but three combinations are known, which show the "blue moon": center plates 19612-633-671 with the above border. Concerning these we quote our correspondent in part: ". . . and you will note 19618-671 is a deeper blue than 618-612, which is the common variety. 618-633 is almost a crescent moon, of which not one other has been seen. We are of the impression that the early printings do not show the moon, but have no block of ten available to substantiate this statement." All three specimens have been examined by our plate specialist, H. M. Southgate, who renders the following opinion: "It is undoubtedly due to a slight dent in the plate—possibly a scratch or defect has been removed, leaving a depression which catches the ink if not very carefully removed."

The moon or blot is very pronounced in all specimens and readily detected with the naked eye. It is quite possible that other combinations with this border plate exist showing the same characteristic, especially so when we consider that 34 center plates are known to have been used in conjunction with it to date. Readers are requested to observe closely nd report all plates number combinations they have with border 19618, with or without the "blue moon", and I am especially anxious to inspect copies for chronicle and also want copies for my own collection.

From George Wehlau, Jr., we have another note of interest pertaining to this issue. Mr. Wehlau sends for inspection two plate number strips 19666-626 and 675-626 on which the last "6" of the red center number is surrounded with a perfect oval of a reddish tint. Here again, we have evidence of a correction being made in the plate itself, due perhaps to a defect or possibly a wrong numeral. Please examine your copies and report findings. Center plate 19626 has been used with eighteen border plates to date.

Thanks to our Washington correspondent, H. M. Southgate, who is chairman of the Plate Number Committee of the P.P.N.A. we were able to present the advance information in the "Stop Press" coloumn of the WEEKLY for August 12, on the Wayne-Fallen Timbers plates. Mr. Southgate very kindly drew up a chart showing specifications of this issue and listing the twelve plates, numbered from 19824 to 19831 inclusive. The stamp is of standard size and printed in sheets of 400 subjects—standard makeup. Our correspondent also includes some interesting data and comment on the recent Edison specifications, which we will present at a later date.

We acknowledge with thanks a clipping from L. O. Dutcher pertaining to the late Sullivan issue and showing the subject used for the vignette; and for two covers sent during the two day celebration of the 150th anniversary of Sullivan's troops at Cooperstown, N. Y., August 9 and 10. Letters are also acknowledged from K. Wilcox and W. W. Hopkinson (air mail combinations), A. W. Wagner, George S. Chapman, Theodore H. Ames, Thomas Fitch Roach, Harry Wagner, George Wehlau, Joseph J. Brann, and Harold H. Shephard, with items on various topics.

The following note sent to a column reader may prove of interest to others. Subject: 170 subj. panes with straight edges. "These doubtless are from coil waste perforated 11x10. They may have had some 11x11, but I don't think so. There were a considerable number of sheets cut to save waste in the 1c, 2c and 3c denominations. They don't often, if ever, patch a coil, so if a defect occurs after 100 stamps in the strip show up they have to sacrifice, say 100 stamps. So they are cut into sheets of 170 and perforated horizontally." The above information was furnished by Mr. Southgate from his records.

Eight more combinations added to our list, making a grand total of 792 known combinations on the 5c air mail! I hope to be able to induce Mr. Hopkinson, who not only has the largest collection of this issue, but has devoted considerable time and study to the subject, to give us the benefit of his work in the form of a special article for our readers. Thanks to column readers, our list is very complete. Those desiring information concerning plates of this issue are welcome to send in their requests. If it isn't on file, I know where to get it!

OUR HONOR CLUB

A Special Drive to Carry the 1,000 Mark Is Now On

Numbers 970 and 971

Harry M. Bryan, Ft. Thomas, Ky.
F. F. Dodge, Stonington, Ct.

In connection with our Honor Club our representative at Minneapolis received two membership applications that are not to be recorded until we have attained the thousand mark. Numbers 999 and 1,000 have already been taken. When we print our instalment of new members which carries us over the top, we would like to have a large number who have indicated their desire to take numbers near the thousand mark even though we continue to publish week by week the names of those who come along in order. Are there those of our subscribers who would like to have their memberships in the honor roll recorded in that particular number when we have obtained the object towards which we have been working for the past five years.

Just send in your check for $5 and write, "hold for publication when the final instalment of names goes in."

Sessions were held on the mornings of Tuesday to Friday, inclusive, and in the aggregate, many questions of policy as affecting philately and the society were discussed. In fact, the ground that was covered was extensive and all were animated by a desire to render constructive service, even though opinions as to the course to be taken differed. At the first session, routine matters and the reports of officers and committees were in order, and in the afternoon the meeting of the Revenue Unit was held. On the afternoons of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, respectively, meetings of the Precancel, Air Mail and Stampless Cover Units were attended by interested members. Among the measures that received attention at the various sessions of the convention were some that were particularly deserving of consideration. The idea of a traveling stamp Bourse was suggested but no action was taken on it, but the plan to provide rotation of exhibits for cities on special occasions was submitted as one that was to be regulated on practical lines. The attention of the members was called to the work so well done by the Exhibition Committee and the members, Messrs. Mosler, Clark and Lichtenstein had to take two "bows." It was advised that a committee be appointed to select a date for the convention that will not conflict with other philatelic conventions, as far as possible, and with due consideration for local conditions. Mr. Lichtenstein suggested that the month of October be chosen for the time of the convention, and the discussion showed that August still had its partizans. No definite decision was reached, but it was evident that the innovation would be welcomed by many members.

The Publicity Committee is to be given sinews of war to the extent of $500, the amount that it is estimated will be saved by the publication of the convention report in abridged form as a supplement to the American Philatelist. One gathered that this sum would be provided for in the budget by lopping off the same amount for publishing purposes. At any rate, the action was a gesture favoring the idea of publicity, but the committee in prospect will have to submit any plans for expense to the Board of Directors, we assume, and receive its sanction for operation. The publicity question arises at each convention and is the subject of much argument. Theoretically, all of the members are in favor of the advancement of the pursuit by proper appeal to the public, but the lack of a definite plan to show just how the work will be done gives a vagueness to the subject. When some practical and specific proposal is submitted, we think that the society will react to it favorably, but as it now is, the difficulty is to originate such a plan. The American Philatelic Society is an old organization with fine traditions and a substantial financial foundation and its bookkeeping methods are hard and fast and allow of little elasticity in money-spending. The budget of "estimated receipts and authorized expenditures for the year" keeps the expenses in check and the special or emergency fund for the Board of Directors of five hundred dollars does not encourage prodigality.

The able editor of the American Philatelist was voted an increase in salary, and now has a stipend of $750 a year, plus the regular commission of 15% on all paid advertising, and here we want to say that Mr. Fennel is making a record for himself in an editorial capacity. We have no doubt but that his work for the society makes many an incursion into his time, which ordinarily would be devoted to more profitable enterprises.

In the report of the president, the suggestion was made that a Stamp Week be advertised throughout the country, but as we remember, nothing was done to further the plan, due to a misunderstanding, we believe, as to what committee it was assigned. At least, the question was not brought up on the floor. However, in an "aside" discussion, the remark was made that with the exhibition week, each year, effort could be made to give the stamp display national advertising.

Dr. N. P. McGay, Cleveland, the newly elected president of the Philatelic Sons of America addressed the convention upon invitation and he told of his desire to work shoulder to shoulder for the betterment of philately with the older organization. Further, he said that his society had an accepted place in philately of the day and indicated that in some respects it served as a preparatory school for not a few coming members of the A. P. S.

Captain B. B. Lipsner, Chicago, the first air mail superintendent complied with the request that he speak to the members, and he made an address that was of much interest although he disclaimed any standing as a philatelist. However, his interest in flown covers latterly has become marked and it is predicted that soon he will have a wider knowledge of stamp affairs. Captain Lipsner exhibited his famous Kitty Hawk frame that is both beautiful and historically significant.

The remarkable volume of publicity that the exhibition and the convention received in the newspapers of Minneapolis and St. Paul was made the subject of a resolution of praise for the telling activities of the local committee. This important feature of the meetings was one of the most gratifying of the many that made the week so satisfactory. In moving that the convention adjourn, Mr. MacLaren substituted for Mr. W. C. Stone of Springfield, Mass., whose presence was missed, and Mr. MacLaren remarked also that Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer of Philadelphia was absent, else the c would fall on him. In an effective l address, MacLaren sounded the knell one of the best conventions ever held.

The social program was adhered with a capable corps of men and wo in charge, and no ordinary phrases w do justice to the tact and cheer which they discharged their duties. convention picture was made of one the largest groups ever assembled for purpose, although there were some were not in it because of their attenda at the exhibition. The sight-seeing t of St. Paul and Minneapolis on two the afternoons were enjoyed as the pa ramas of the two cities were unrol Those who saw these thriving cities the first time have memory pictures will endure for many a day. Spe trips were taken on Friday afternoon, some of the delegates will well remem the courtesy of those local men who m them possible. A fitting climax to week of festivity was the Conventi Exhibition banquet on Friday when prizes were awarded under inspiring s roundings. Dr. C. W. Hennan presi and he curbed the fractious speakers w ready wit. Many of the members w asked to rise, after a brief introduct and speak their little piece, the sho the better. The name of the T Cities hereafter will be recognized those who attended the meeting th with a thrill of pleasure.

HERO OF "FALLEN TIMBERS"

neral "Mad Anthony" Wayne was of the greatest military heroes of the ed States, but one whose achieves many have forgotten.

the American Revolution he covre the retreat of the ill-fated army sent pture Canada, he was in command ort Ticonderoga and took part in the e of Brandywine, he was a power in Battle of Paola, he advised Washn to get out of Valley Forge, it was strategy which won the Battle of nouth, his bayonets won Stony Point, s a group of his men who captured dict Arnold, he was in at the surr of Cornwallis, aiding Lafayette.

ter he conducted a campaign in gia, and in 1792 George Washington him commander in chief of the ed States army. Then came his exin the vicinity of Toledo when he t Spanish, Indians and British in ing peace to this whole territory. ied at Presque Isle, now Erie, Pa., 96 soon after his brilliant stand at n Timbers.

rdly is there a famous event in the Revolutionary War in which Gen- Wayne did not figure. In many s he saved lost battles and never to carry out his mission.

neral Wayne was one who was a stu- of principles, bold, lonely, one who personal enemies and yet loved his one who took great care in prepara- cool under fire and a man of caution.

MORE PRECANCELLED ENVELOPES

By A. F. GAMBER, Editor, Valley City, No. Dakota.

My August 19th article on precancelled envelopes inspired Mr. P. R. Crooker, one of the foremost envelope collectors of the country, to send me several specimens that had never come my way before. With two exceptions, they are all recent, evidently inspired by the government contractors' type. I did not feel at liberty to keep Mr. Crooker's envelopes long enough to have cuts made for illustrations, so we'll try to get by without them. Besides, some of them could not be reproduced very well.

Beaver Dam, Wisconsin: three thin lines 63mm long and 8mm apart, town and city name squarely over Franklin's face in two lines of small serifed lower case type. In black ink, with no break in the middle line over the face.

Bluffton, Indiana, two types: type I, three thin lines 63mm long, 6mm apart, no break in middle line across the face. City and state name in serifed caps 1¾mm high at the extreme left end of the three lines. In blue ink. Type II: Bluffton, Ind., in two lines of plain caps 2¼mm high, no lines or bars, the two words 3mm apart. In blue.

Carrollton, Ohio, did stock and precancel the 1½c envelope, size 8, as I quoted Reverend Markham recently. The type is the same as that illustrated in the August 19th article, and the return card is the same.

Troy, Ohio: Three heavy lines 80mm long, 7mm apart, break across the face in middle line. Two lines of large serifed caps 3½mm high, each letter of OHIO exactly under a letter of TROY, and both to left of the impression. A very, very striking envelope, in black ink.

Glendora, Calif.: Glendora, Calif., in two lines of plain caps 2mm high, no lines or bars, words 2½mm apart. Bright black ink.

Boonville, N. Y.: This is an old one, but it will bear repeating, it's a handsome one. Two lines of serifed caps 4mm high between bars 19½mm apart and 20mm long. In black ink.

All the above are circular dies, of course.

Anyone who can supply additional information as to other typeset envelopes is urged to do so. The precancelling done by the contractors seems to have led several local postmasters to have similar jobs done at their local printeries. Probably in each case the one ordering envelopes was in a hurry for them, there was not time to have the work done by the contractors. Well, whatever the cause, we are lucky it happened as it did, as we're better off by several neat typeset types. And no doubt the future will bring forth several more. By the way, I just happened to think—Joplin, Mo., is said to have produced one of these locals, when, as and if I see it, it will be duly reported.

Send in samples of any locals seen by you and not yet reported here. Being typeset, they're always interesting. And this mandamus applies likewise to late precancelled stamps in new or extraordinary types. This is your department, the editor can't do it all, especially since he writes for so many other papers.

LESGOR TAKES 2,000 LINES

We are pleased to announce that Raoul Lesgor, 81 Nassau St., New York City, has taken out a contract for 2,000 lines to be used during the coming year. Mr. Lesgor is known to many of our readers by his advertising during the past year, and he proposes to be even more active during the coming season. His specialty is France and colonies at both wholesale and retail, including a new issues service that includes Belgium, Monaco and Luxemburg. Air mail is included in this service. The advertising of Mr. Lesgor shows, however, that his range of stock is a wide one, and we take great pleasure in commending him to our readers. In all his dealings with our subscribers, we have never had a single complaint lodged against him, and this is a good recommendation.

OUR REVIEW

We have received a review copy of Carroll's priced check list of "Government Precanceled Envelopes." It is published by Joseph J. Gloeb, 2758 Clarkson Ave., Omaha, Nebr. Price, 35c. We congratulate Mr. Carroll upon his accomplishment. It is well arranged and ample room is allowed for additions to the list. The book will thus have permanent value until a second edition is published. We are not warranted to judge the prices made by Mr. Carroll, but are positive that they have been in competent hands. The envelopes are listed alphabetically by states, and also by cities and towns, and this makes easy reference to the book. While less than a year has elapsed since the first Government precanceled envelope appeared, more than 600 varieties have been reported. To us it appears to be a good job well done, and any collector interested in U. S. precanceled envelopes will do well to procure a copy.

EDITORIAL

IN our opinion, the recent convention of the American Philatelic Society would not suffer by comparison with the annual meeting of almost any other organization devoted to the furtherance of study of a special object. In fact, if certain instances of rather pointless argument are ignored, the convention stands as a good example of mannerly and effective procedure. The time is coming when an improvement will be made on the present respectable showing since it is planned to publish an agenda of subjects that are slated for discussion before the convention is held. With due notice of what business is to come before the body, so that those who send in their proxies may instruct the holders as to their preferences, more definite and clearer expression of opinion will be made; and the debate is not so apt to become involved as it is when no preliminary announcement is made. In a legislative sense, the convention was a decided success and the members kept at their tasks until the close of the convention's meetings of four days.

THE first annual exhibition was a satisfactory one, gauged by any reasonable standard. The display was favored by many who liked the idea of being able to examine all the stamps and not be distracted by the thought that there was so much to see. While the volume was compact, yet there were variety and quality enough to satisfy all tastes. A touch of distinction was given to the occasion by the branch of the Postal Agency and the special cancellation. The management of the show was good and all of the booths had occupants. The attendance was not disappointing and that is saying much in view of the fact that any anticipations on this score are valueless. The advertising of the exhibit was well handled and streamers, placards and other means were used to bring it before the public mind. Coöperation was given by large stores and small ones that made displays as side-shows to the exhibition in the big tent. The second floor of the Hodgson Building was well adapted to the purpose, and Mr. Hodgson's generosity in placing the space at the disposal of the exhibitors was appreciated. At the banquet he was given several cards containing selected specimens of United States stamps that represented a free-will offering by those who recognized his kindness. He was greatly pleased to receive the unexpected testimonial and said that he would keep the stamps as a souvenir of a pleasant and interesting occasion.

THE old question of publicity to be sponsored by the American Philatelic Society had its inning, and Mr. H. A. Diamant was the chief exponent of the movement to commit the society to an undertaking under this head. At a previous convention an appropriation of one thousand dollars was made for the uses of a Publicity Committee and thereafter the committee had been appointed and started to work, it was found that the action of the convention was nullified by the by-laws since there was no fund available to provide the money. The problem in this instance was solved by a departure that seemed to meet with general approval. By resolution, the sum of five hundred dollars was voted for publicity purposes, all expenditures to be made under proper direction, after it was shown that at least this amount could be saved by curtailing the convention report, which is now given verbatim with its lengthy periods and irrevelant remarks at times. The intention is to give full attention to all the material text and dispense with only that which careful editing would reject. The estimate was that the saving as a consequence of this measure would be a fund for philatelic advertising. The convention report is to be published as a supplement to the Year Book, and the result of the experiment will be watched closely both by those who favor the plan as well as by those who opposed it. It is safe to say that this year, no money will be spent by the Publicity Committee until the amount is in hand. The debate on the question was spirited and the question was carried only after much argument.

ANOTHER subject on which there was a difference of opinion concerned the plan for renumbering the members every ten years. Sentimental and solid considerations were advanced against the proposal but it was countered by the proponents of it by citing the discrepancy that existed between the actual membership and that indicated by the present numbers, showing gaps that equalled the number of members. The decision was made to adopt the plan, even though it will entail some confusion. This motion, however, did not call for a proxy vote and it is not to be gainsaid that the avoidance of the demand for a vote by proxies on this occasion as well as on all others saved time that was put to much better uses. Speaking of proxies, there was a discussion that showed that some of the members were perturbed over the proxy power that could be wielded under present circumstances, and while the question was threshed out to some extent, no action of constructive kind was taken.

THE results of the election were a foregone conclusion and the new president, Mr. G. M. Mosler of Cincinnati made a splendid impression as he followed the progress of the sessions with an interest that was sincere, interposing views and opinions that showed that the society was close to his heart. He is intelligent, aggressive and alert, and the business of the corporation will be carried on with an inherent ability that by no means is common. However, it is of the retiring president, A. H. Wilhelm, that we have a word to say. As a speaker said, in presenting a resolution thanking Mr. Wilhelm in the name of the society for his four years of faithful service, he has accomplished his task in a manner to command the highest commendation. He has not sacrificed himself in building up the organization without a recognition on the part of the members of his labors long into the night to keep his desk clean of society correspondence. Problems confronted Mr. Wilhelm, who was comparatively unknown when he took the reins of leadership at Los Angeles in 1925, some of which involved a reluctance of some of the members to engage in society work. His home was far from the center of population, and he did not have close contact with a good many of the working members. Soon, no one could doubt the integrity of his intentions, and slowly the old ship began to go up-stream and he won the confidence of those who may have seemed aloof, at first. Real and unremitting work brought results and the man was made to feel at the 1929 convention that his name is imperishable in the annals of the A. P. S.

BOSTON was chosen as the seat of the 1930 convention, and the selection was anticipated in view of the added attractions of the great celebration that is to be held there next year, and again, history repeats itself as in 1905, Boston was voted for at Minneapolis as the place of the 1906 convention. Springfield, Illinois, made a name for itself by requesting the honor, but having entered the lists too late, it could not be expected that the current could be changed and Mr. Bahr graciously withdrew the nomination of Springfield, Illinois, and said that his city would keep 1931 in mind, the earning the applause of his fellows. Bloss entered his bid for Los Ang when the Olympic games are held t in 1932, and Chicago is the logical for the 1933 meeting. The competi for the privilege of entertaining the vention is a good augury and we pr that as the years increase and the m of our A. P. S. are better recogn the contests for preferment will be br ly fought.

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

College reopens here Sept. 16, and my campus book store business will keep me on the run for some days thereafter. I mention this simply because the correspondence will probably be more than usually delayed, and I shall need your patience till things come back to normal.A. J. Steinhardt and Charles de Lagneau have sent me other letters in German and French respectively. If those now published don't give results, we'll try these.A list of prices realized at Edgar C. Cantrell's July 25th auction gives further encouragement as to the financial stability of our hobby. Prices were somewhat uneven, but the general results must have been highly pleasing to the lot owners. A fine lot of pilot signed C. A. M.'s brought prices ranging from $1.10 to $7.60, with the average seeming to run between $3 and $4.

OFFICIAL FLIGHTS

Ile de France - Bremen - Graf-Zeppelin — these are the big noise this week. I have seen covers bearing Ile de France ship postmark of Aug. 19, and a 4 line rather crudely devised cachet in black; no backstamp. Only 847 letters, balance of mail being movie films, etc. Naturally, these covers are in demand at good prices.Bremen flight to Germany covers show a red box cachet similar to that used on the first westward trip, dated Aug. 2.Zeppelin round the world cachet is very fine indeed, and does credit to the designer. Mail from New York was postmarked Aug. 7, backstamped Friedrichshafen Aug. 10. Mail reaching Los Angeles was to be backstamped with a special cachet in red, and mail leaving Los Angeles will have a special steel die cancellation in green, in addition to the special cachet. Lakehurst will backstamp in green. Service!

Mr. F. Hambrock, Jr., shows me some interesting pieces from the last Germany-U. S. flights. He has various covers autographed by Dr. Eckener, his son Knut, and by Navigator Von Schiller. In addition, these covers are accompanied by pieces of the fabric from the torn fin of the first flight, and these in turn are signed by the officer in charge of the repair work. Not so bad! German ship Karlsruhe was to try a new variety of air service Aug. 26. Mail was to be taken from the ship at Galway in the regular way, but flown across Ireland and England in a special plane, arriving at London 2 days ahead of the steamer. Capt. Ahrenberg has decided not to complete his journey from Greenland, but mail is being sent on by steamer in charge of the radio operator of the damaged plane. Lot includes 1200 pieces from Sweden, and 50 from Iceland.

Newspaper reports state that the West Indian route extensions, mentioned several times here, will open Sept. 20, and that Lindbergh will fly the mail first trip. Still no official list of stops, but if you cover that given a week or so ago in the Stop Press section, you'll be fairly safe.The transcontinental non-stop mail flight by the Boeing Co. with coöperation of the P. O. Dept. has been postponed till early Sept. Newspaper reports will doubtless tell you whether it has yet taken place. If not, covers to P. M. at San Francisco or Oakland. Brownsville, Tex., began to use an Air Mail Field cancellation first on Aug. 12th.

Chicago - Evansville night service tentatively scheduled for Sept. 28.Varney Air Lines got the contract for the Seattle-Pasco, Portland-Pasco, and Spokane-Pasco extension at only 9c a lb. Operations will be twice daily and will start soon. First night service Portland-Seattle at the same time. C. A. M. 28 1st night flight soon. D. E. McPherson, 4111 Troost Ave., offers to care for covers from Kansas City, Mo. Cachet by contractors.Contractor's cachet from Ft. Worth for 1st daylight service Jul. 1, reported recently, was applied to but 150 letters.Charles de Lagneau sends me a cover sent on the last flight of the Miami-Nassau service Aug. 10, but says that very little collectors' mail made this flight due to the short notice. This answers my earlier question.

Two more Mexican flights. I have received covers from the Mexico-Tijuana flight July 29th, also from Hermosillo, Guadalajara, Guaymas, and Mexicali, in addition to the two above mentioned. Guaymas and Mexicali covers bear also cachet of Tejeria-Tapachula route May 15, but postmarks are all for the later flight. The Mexico-Jaurez service opened Aug. 17, and I have received covers from Mexico, Chihuahua, Nieves, Torreon, and Zacatecas. Three different cachets used, that from Torreon being a direct steal of the Oakland first night flight design.Service between Cusumel and Merida, Yucatan, is due to start anytime.

AIRPORT DEDICATIONS, UNOFFICIAL FLIGHTS AND CACHETS, ETC.

Some weeks ago I copied from an aeronautical weekly a list of cities which were getting ready to open new airports. Somebody seems to have been mistaken, for a number of you have reported several of the "No such P. O. in state named" variety. Sorry.

Coming dedications—Steubenville, Ohio, Sept. 14, 15, municipal; Placerville, Calif.—some time in Sept.—cachet by C. of C.; Big Springs, Tex.—Sept. 11, 12—cachet by C. of C.; Selma, Ala., ditto for Nov. 11; Carroll, Iowa, also, Sept. 10; Belleville, Kans., soon —C. of C.; Florence, Ariz.—Sept.—to C. of C.; Excelsior Springs, Mo.—all covers to be signed by the Mayor—to John N. McKenzie; Camden, N. J.—Sept. 21—cachet by C. of C. Oneida Airway and 10th Infantry Air Meet, Oneida, N. Y., Sept. 14—cachet, and covers to Leland C. Lewis, 132 Lenox Ave. In addition to cachet, there will be a special cancellation applied at the airport.Oklahoma City, Okla. Air Show some time this month. No word as to cachet.Austin, Tex., C. of C. will hold letters for first airmail from there.

It develops that the first flight Apr. 6, 1926, from Pasco, Wash., was also an airport dedication, as the city's first port was opened on that date.Graham, Tex., dedicated July 14—no cachet.Red Creek, N. Y., 1st anniversary, Aug. 19, green cachet similar to that of dedication, but without date. New London, Ohio, Aug. 17—no cachet—about 14 mailed, so far as I have heard. Big surprise the other day when covers from the Douglas, Ariz.—Agua Prieta, Mexico, international dedication finally rolled in, dated Aug. 20. Dedication was in connection with National Women's Air Derby. Marengo, Iowa, did it Aug. 19, and flew all mail to Cedar Rapids, where it is post-

Stamp News for the Juniors

This page is primarily for you, the Junior collector. We are interested in what interests you and we want you to take possession of it, if in any way it can serve you.

We also invite the Senior collector to extend words of advice, encouragement and stimulation and thus develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

Bear in mind that two short articles of from 50 to 75 words read better than one long one. Address all communications to the Beverly office.

DID YOU START THIS WAY?

A prominent stamp dealer doing thousands of dollars worth of business a year writes as follows:

"In regard to my advertisement in ST. NICHOLAS MAGAZINE, I must say that my first venture into the Stamp business was twelve years ago by placing a four line advertisement in your magazine. This brought me so many high-class customers that I believed there was money in the Stamp business which gave me confidence to continue same. I find that one reply from ST. NICHOLAS is worth ten of any other publication."

ST. NICHOLAS MAGAZINE subscription $4.00 per year or 35c per copy at newsstands—reaching 50,000 Quality homes, with 150,000 Boys and Girls 12 to 17 years of age.

The ST. NICHOLAS Stamp Section, besides a description of new issues, illustrated, and brief articles of interest to collectors, contains advertising announcements of reliable Stamp dealers.

The Stamp advertising rate is $1.00 per line, payable in advance, the minimum space accepted three lines. Forms go to press the 1st of each month preceding; that is, October 1st for the November number. [M2-Nov

Junior Dictionary

Hrzgl. Post Frm. — An inscription shown on the 1¼sch stamp of Holstein issued in 1864. It is an abbreviation for "Herzogliche Post Freimarke," which means "Ducal Postage Stamp." In the 1¼sch stamp of the succeeding series the last word was expressed as "FRMRK."

Huacho.—A port in the department of Lima, Peru, at which special 5c and 10c stamps were issued in the eighties during one of the many revolutions that periodically afflict this country.

Sheet.—A sheet of stamps is a term applied to a piece of paper upon which an impression has been printed from a stamp plate. Naturally, they vary greatly in size and in some cases—the stamps of the United States, for example—the large sheets are cut up into two or more portions before issue. These smaller sheets are sometimes known as post office sheets.

Sheet Numbers.—These are consecutive numbers struck on the margins of some sheets of stamps—usually in the upper right-hand corner. They refer to the number of sheets printed and included in a specific consignment, and therefore act as a check or control on the stamps despatched from the printers.

Shilling.—The value in which many of the stamps of the British Empire are expressed. A shilling is worth 24c in United States currency.

Ayacucho

By A. C. LeDuc.

In 1539 the explorer Pizarro founded the town of San Juan de la Victoria de Guamanga. Little did he suspect that many years later, on this same spot, would his fellow countrymen be decisively beaten in battle by Peruvians and other South American patriots. On Dec. 9, 1824, the Spaniards were defeated so badly that Peruvian independence was then assured and the backbone of Spanish domination in South America broken. Since 1825 the town has been called "Ayacucho" from the Indian term meaning "corner of death".

In 1924 Peru commemorated this battle by issuing eight varieties of stamps, all of which bear the dates 1824-1924 and inscription "Ayacucho" as well as pictures of the great South American leader General Bolivar.

During the same year Venezuela recognized the value of that battle of one hundred years previous by issuing a very attractive stamp showing pictures of General Sucre and General Bolivar, with dates 1824-1924 and inscription "Centenario de la Batalla de Ayacucho".

Bits of Information

Masaryk Issue.—The three high values issued in Czecho-Slovakia in 1920, bear a portrait of Pres. Thomas G. Masaryk, who was elected the first president on Nov. 13, 1918.

Ma Slask 2M. — This inscription on stamps of Central Lithuania means "For Silesia 2 marks." Its purpose was to obtain money to help finance the Upper Silesia plebiscite.

Re-Issue. — The resumption of the issue of a stamp or stamps that has gone out of use. The term is usually applied to fresh printings of such stamps, which can be distinguished in some way from those of the original issue. In other words, they are re-impressions intended for or admitted to regular issue and use.

Peru, 1907

By A. C. LeDuc.

The 1907 issue of Peru consists of nine stamps made up of values from one centavo to two soles. These stamps are all pictorial. The 1 centavo shows a picture of the Bolognesi monument. It is made very attractive by the colors which are black and green. The 2 centavos, printed in red and violet, shows a picture of Rear-Admiral Miguel L. Grau in a circle at the top of the stamp. The 4 centavos shows a picture of a llama, an animal which compares somewhat with a sheep. This stamp is printed in one color, that of olive-green. The 5 centavos shows a picture of an equestrian statue of San Martin. This is printed in two colors, black and blue. This picture reminds one of the many monuments scattered throughout the battlefield at Gettysburg.

The 10 centavos shows the exhibition buildings. This stamp is printed in black and brown. Next we come to the 20 centavos which shows the medical school located at Lima. This stamp is printed in black and green. The 50 centavos stamp is in black and shows a picture of the government's postal and telegraph office in Lima. On the 1 sol, printed in purple and green, is found a picture of another beautiful building, this one being the Hippodrome at Lima. We now come to the last member of this series, the 2 soles. It is printed in two colors, blue and black, and shows a picture of a monument. Who is it? It is none other than Columbus in whose memory monuments have been erected all over the world.

2-Cent Battle of Fallen Timbers

Under date of August 26th, the Postmaster General announced there would be issued on September 14, the new 2-cent red postage stamp issued as a memorial to General Anthony Wayne and to commemorate the one hundred and thirty-fifth anniversary of the Battle of Fallen Timbers. We are told that this resulted in peace with the Indians in Northwestern Ohio, evacuation of the last traces of British Soldiery in this section and put the young American nation in a position to expand westward. The official description and announcement taken from the Postal Bulletin of August 27, is as follows:

"Third Assistant Postmaster Gen.
WASHINGTON, August 26, 1929.

Postmasters and postal employees are notified that the department is preparing to issue a special 2-cent postage stamp as a memorial to General Anthony Wayne and to commemorate the One Hundred and Thirty-fifth anniversary of the Battle of Fallen Timbers. The new stamp is of the same size as the regular issue, 75/100 by 87/100 inch, and is printed in red ink.

The central design of the stamp represents the memorial group containing the statue of General Wayne in the center with the figure of an Indian on the left and a frontiersman on the right, printed in white on a dark background. A tablet below contains the legend, 'Gen. Anthony Wayne Memorial.' On the extreme upper edge of the stamp in a dark panel with white roman lettering appear the words, 'United States Postage.' Below in a semicircular panel with white edges and white roman lettering on a dark background are the words 'Battle of Fallen Timbers.' The ends of this panel are supported by uprights in the form of acanthus scrolls which end at the two lower corners in ovals having white edges and dark background. Within these ovals is the numeral '2.' The ovals are connected by a base panel in dark color with the word 'Cents' in white roman letters. Between the upper horizontal and semicircular panels are white ribbons with the dates '1794' at the left and '1929' at the right in dark lettering.

The new General Anthony Wayne Battle of Fallen Timbers stamp will first be placed on sale September 14, 1929, at the post offices of Maumee, Perrysburg, Toledo, and Waterville, Ohio, and Erie, Pa. Stamp collectors desiring first-day cancellations of the new stamp may send a limited number, not to exceed 25, of addressed covers to the postmasters at the above post offices with a remittance to cover the value of the stamps required for affixing to the covers. Covers will be accepted from bona fide subscribers only.

The stamp will be placed on sale at the Philatelic Agency Post Office Department, Washington, D. C., on September 16, 1929. The Philatelic Agency, however, will not accept first-day covers.

Postmasters at direct and central-accounting post offices may obtain a limited supply of the new commemorative stamp by requisition on the department, using Form 3201, indorsed 'Fallen Timbers.' Postmasters at third and fourth class offices desiring a small supply may obtain same on requisition to the central-accounting postmaster.

F. A. TILTON,
Third Assistant Postmaster General."

I am officially informed that the supply of stamps, namely—thirty million has been practically completed and that most of the larger cities will have a good supply immediately following their appearance on the first day, so that those wanting supplies will not find it necessary to write to the Agency, but in most cases will be able to obtain them from their own post office. This especially applies to cities such as Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and the like.

2-Cent Molly Pitcher

The sale of the 2-cent Molly Pitcher stamp at the Minneapolis Philatelic Convention caused quite a little commotion as it was discovered that on many sheets a complete horizontal row shows the surcharge elongated. It seems that in curving the plate for overprinting that in some way one row was stretched, so that the surcharge is possibly one millimeter or more taller. It is doubtful if the variety will be of any real importance, nevertheless, it was noted and mention is, therefore, made of the subject.

2-Cent Ohio Canalization

We had the pleasure of recently describing the 2-cent Ohio Canalization variety which was authorized by the Postmaster General during the summer. We learn from the committee in charge of this activity in Ohio, that they are endeavoring to have President Hoover present at part of the ceremony which will take place in October, so that there is every likelihood of the stamps being available early in that month. DEPARTMENT STAMPS URGED

enator Moses Believes That They Are Necessary for Accounting

Senator Moses' statement is in part as llows:—"I am strongly in favor of a okkeeping system which would show e actual cost of every mail service. or instance, we started to find out what e receipts would be from the parcel st by requiring a special parcel post mp. But this stamp was abolished by stmaster General Burleson, so that the esent time there is no way to show at returns come from the parcel post item.

'I think there should be individual mps for every classification as far as sible and this would show the receipts, l a system could easily be devised to ermine the cost of transportation of h class."

enator Moses added that in his opinion Post Office ought to be paid in some y for everything it does, if the gov- ment seeks to "balance its budget." Congress and the departments ought ave special stamps, which they would for the same as others. In other rds, the stamps used by members of ngress would be charged up to the ex- ses of the legislative branch and cutive stamps would be paid for out ppropriations for the respective execu- departments. This would help to rcome the deficit."

MEXICAN AIR MAIL

erewith please find two more copies Mexico's new air mails, the 10c and values. You will note that the design e same as the 35c, but the colors are ht violet and brown respectively. It ars now that the 35c is to be a part his new issue which I am advised will the following values: 10c, 20c, 35c, 1p, 2p, 5p and 10p as well as a p of either 5c or 25c. This has not decided upon according to my agent lexico. The design on all the stamps be the same, but the last two high es, it is said, will be bicolored.

GRAF MAIL

WASH., D. C., Aug. 27.

e Graf Zeppelin, which left Los les at 12.15 a. m. this morning, ac- ng to advices received by W. Irving r, Assistant Postmaster General in e of the Air Mail Service, carried 36,000 pieces of "round-the-world" nd was unloaded at Lakehurst, New y. This mail was carried in 13 es weighing about 540 pounds. In ion, the Graf had on board 2 un- l pouches of "round-the-world" mail spatch at Friedrichshafen, the home of the Zeppelin.

ides this, the Graf carried 2,522 s of mail for Los Angeles from richshafen; 443 pieces for Los les from Lakehurst, and 1,813 pieces os Angeles from Tokio.

REVISED UPWARD

il rates for the Graf Zeppelin's ward flight to Friedrichshafen have increased to $1.20 per letter not ding one ounce. The postcard rate cents was raised to 60 cents, the urg-American line, general agents e Zeppelin, announced today.

COLONIAL STAMP CHANGES

Collectors who acted upon our hint given some time ago as to the impending discarding of the 3/- stamp of the current Grenada set may congratulate themselves, for it has now been definitely replaced by a 2/6 denomination. We have received this from Mr. R. Roberts, printed in black and red on blue in the existing King's Head type, with Script CA watermark.

From the same source we have received a new printing of the 1 dollar stamp of Trengganu, which appears for the first time upon Script CA watermarked paper, but otherwise unchanged.

Kenya has discarded the 75c value of its present postage stamp series, as it is no longer required to meet any existing postal rate.—Bazaar.

A SECOND VATICAN ISSUE

It is reported on good authority that a second set of Papal stamps will be issued within a few months picturing Vatican history. They will be printed in the Vatican City by the Pontifical Press. The recent issue was gotten out at the Italian Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

NEW ISSUE ITEMS

—The parcel post stamps of Belgium, Scott's 872 to 875, with overprint of winged wheel, are to be replaced by the same values of the new type Scott's A63 as soon as the present overprints are used up.

—The French "Joan of Arc" stamp is to be retired.

—On Sept. 16, an entirely new set of stamps, 20 values, will be issued for French India. Also a set of dues, 7 values. The old set, 1914 type, with overprints in caches, fanons and roupies will become obsolete.

—Liechtenstein will immediately issue a new set of four values with design showing the new Prince. Values 10, 20, 30 and 70r.

mittee is making suggestions as to what cities should be designated as first-day points of issue and this information will no doubt be available in short order. A congressional committee will also be in attendance with President Hoover, and a gala occasion will be made of the affair. We are told that the stamp will be most attractive and it is only to be regretted that it cannot be printed in two colors.

11-Cent Green

Much interest has been taken here of late in the 11-cent current issue printed in green, which was recently listed as a main variety by the Scott people. Since making further investigations, I am led to believe that from the numbers being found here and there, that if two printings were not made, that the number printed far exceeded the 500 sheets which was originally mentioned by one of the papers. So far, I have seen three distinct shades that can be classified as green, none of which show any traces whatsoever of the bluish tinge. Upward of seven to eight outstanding shades of this variety are now known.

New Revenues

In examining the very interesting collection belonging to Mr. Philip Little, Jr., exhibited at the Minneapolis Exhibition, two unlisted, and as far as I am concerned, heretofore unknown varieties were noted. Mr. Little showed a vertical pair of the 1898 50-cent slate Documentary in imperforate condition, and also a copy of the $1 gray of 1900 Scott's No. 4048, without surcharge. Mr. Little informs me that possibly twenty-five or thirty of these were found, all cancelled in March of 1921 by the Cargill Elevator Company of Minneapolis. It is seldom that a new variety of the older issues other than plate varieties are found at this late date.

Philippines

Mr. Walter Bruggmann has submitted for inspection copies of the 2-cent Madrid-Manila Air Mail variety, one showing a rose-red overprint and the other what appears to be a vermilion. A close examination of the varieties leads me to believe that the difference is possibly due to an overinking of the plate.

We have received from our London correspondent, Mr. R. Roberts, the following new issues:

Brazil.—400 reis, orange, type A76, watermarked "EU BRASIL" in block capitals, all over.

Chile.—The bicolored typographed stamps of 1915-17 on this paper, watermarked with chain device and shield, etc., centres engraved in black, have appeared in the following values and colors: 15c violet, 20c orange, 25c blue, 30c brown, and 50c blue-green. Also the 20c orange-red, 40c violet, 2p orange, 5p olive, and 10p orange of the 1915-17 issue have been surcharged "CORREO AEREO" and flying eagle design for air mail use. The overprint on the 20c and 10p is in black, that of the 40c red, while the other two surcharges are in blue.

Czechoslovakia. — The 2kor blue-green, engraved, design A13, perf. 9½, has been placed on sale.

France.—Two surcharges on the D4 design postage due stamp have been received. The 1fr violet has been overprinted "5 f." in black, and the 2fr blue bears the new value "1 F. 20" in red. Two short parallel bars obliterate the original value.

Hungary.—Copies of a new issue of Air Mail stamps line-engraved, perf. 14, design as the 1927 issue, are at hand in the following values and colors: 12f green, 16f brown, 20f carmine, 32f brown-violet, 40f deep ultramarine, 50f claret, 72f olive, and 80f violet. The watermark is Double Cross on Pyramid.

Italy.—A set of six values issued to commemorate the fourteenth centenary of the foundation by St. Benedette of the Monastery at Monte Cassino has appeared. The stamps are oblong format, historical designs in photogravure process on chalky paper. They are watermarked crown, two crowns falling on each stamp, perf. 14. The values are 20c orange, 25c deep green, 50+10c sepia, 75+15c scarlet, L1.25+25c deep blue and 5L+1L purple.

Jind State.—Nasik print, multiple star watermark 2a purple Indian stamp with ordinary surcharge for use in this territory.

Vatican State.—The new series of stamps so long expected has arrived and is a very attractive set. The values and colors are 5c black on rose, 10c deep green on green, 20c purple on lilac, 25c deep blue and pale blue, 30c black on yellow, 50c black on flesh, 75c carmine on grey, 80c carmine lake, L1.25 blue, L2 sepia, L2.50 orange, L5 green and L10 slate-green. The cent values 5c-15c are similar in design to the old Roman State stamps, though lacking in their simplicity, the frame being a little more ornate and the colored background is covered in a minute repetition printing in white with words "Vatican Poste", similar to the background of a cheque. Between the keys, the year date in Roman figures is a prominent feature which also appears in the other designs. All these are of small long oblong shape. The 80c-L10 are small upright oblong, about the usual size bearing an excellent portrait of His Holiness Pope Pius XI. There are also two Express stamps, L2 carmine lake and L2.50 blue, large oblong format with portrait of the Pope in a circle to the left and the words "Poste Vaticane Expresso 2 Lire" (or Lire 2.50) and the date on the other side, at the right. The whole set is very attractive and beautiful and will no doubt have a wide appeal to collectors and philatelists generally throughout the world, as no doubt it is intended to do. The stamps are on unwatermarked paper, with white gum, which has a peculiar vertical grain on it, as if applied to the paper by some unusual method. The grain is vertical in all of the values, except the key pattern stamps, which are printed the other way of the paper. Perf. 14, comb machine.

Several new items have been received from Whitfield King & Co. which we list below:

Bahamas. — 5p Staircase design, watermarked script, in purple and gray.

Dominican Republic.—Treaty Commemorative stamps, ½c claret, 1c green, 5c blue, 10c pale blue.

Hungary.—St. Stephen type, 8f lake, 16f violet and 32f ochre.

Early U. S. Precancels

A LIST OF EARLY UNITED STATES STAMPS THAT EXIST PRECANCELLED

By STEPHEN G. RICH.

This list will be of use to the collector of nineteenth century United States as well as to the precancel collector. It originated as a card-index of early precancels, made in order to have the information needed when sorting through a batch of several thousand stamps, mostly of the Bank Note issues and those up to the Columbian. Mrs. Rich collects precancels and I did not wish to pass over by accident any that might be in the bunch. The original card-index was made from the 1928 precancel catalogue and included only such precancels as were not easily recognized. The present list has been made by going carefully through the 1929 precancel catalogue and entering every early precancel.

As it now stands, the list is a record of what stamps exist precancelled through the 1894-95 issue and the 1898 Trans-Mississippi issue. As the 1898 stamps (regular issue) come with the same precancellations as their immediate predecessors or else with ones that are easily recognizable as being similar to these or to later types, it was not deemed necessary to list the extensive precancels of this issue. While making this list, it proved convenient to list dues, envelopes, etc. Certain other material was not listed, but record was kept in a general way of what was noted: this information is also given here.

For the collector who is not familiar with the precancel catalogue, it must here be said that watermarks are entirely omitted in the classification of stamps therein. Accordingly, the 1894 and 1895 issues are treated as a unit; and likewise all the dues stamps perforated 12, from 1894 to 1913, form another unit without separation according to watermark. Likewise, color-varieties such as the claret, carmine and rose-red dues, are not considered. Strangely enough, the paper varieties of the Bank Note series are differentiated.

A few items not in the catalogue, but known to the writer from mention in philatelic journals, are included.

1847—5c. Wheeling, Va. (West Virginia was then still a part of Virginia). Red grid, oval, without border, on center of block of 4 stamps, with part grid showing on each stamp. (Not yet catalogued, but mentioned in Scott's Specialized Catalogue.)

1857—1c. Cumberland, Me. Type I. Precancelled with place-name and date printed across stamp after it was affixed to envelope. Illustrated in Precancel Catalogue.

1869—3c. Glastonbury, Conn., Type I. Large G printed on stamp.

1870—1c. (Catalogue does not say whether with or without grill.) Jefferson, Ohio, Type II. A typeset precancellation, with place-name and date in 1873.

1873—1c. Galesburg, Ill., Type I. 3 bars. Mohonk Lake, N. Y., Type I. 1 line. Glen Allen, Va., Type I. Large printed star, printed on stamp after it was affixed to envelope.

1875—2c, vermilion, hard paper. Milwaukee, Wis., Type I. 3 bars, more or less smudgy.

1879—1c. Glastonbury, Conn., Type I. Large G printed on stamp.

1879—2c, soft paper. Jefferson, Ohio, Type I. Printed precancellation, town and state.

1882—1c re-engraved. Yonkers, N. Y., Type I. Two rows of large squares. Hiram, Ohio, Type I. 1 line. Burlington, Vt., Type I. A precancellation of more or less ordinary type, usually poorly printed.

1883—2c brown. Glastonbury, Conn., Type I. Large G printed on stamp.

1887—1c. Burlington, Vt., Type I (described just above for 1c 1882). Yonkers, N. Y., Type I. Two rows of large squares. Lines and bars, without place-name, up to 5 lines and 3 bars, from: Bridgeport, Conn., Northford, Conn., Galesburg, Ill., Rochester, N. Y. Lancaster, N. Y., Type I. Printed; 2 quads or oblongs.

1890 issue.—With this issue the precancelling localities become fairly numerous. 1 to 5 bars or lines, horizontally or vertically are found. These precancellations without place-name may be located by the index in the front of the precancel catalogue. A number of places begin to use precancels recognizable by their likeness to precancels of today. Yonkers, N. Y., Type I, 2 rows of squares, continues in use. Types not described are to be taken as being recognized easily by likeness to ordinary precancels.

The following stamps of the 1890 issue are known precancelled: 1c, 2c (catalogue does not say which color), 3c. Only Akron, Ohio, Type I. 2 lines handstamped. 4c. 5c. St. Johnsbury Center, Vt., Type I, only case. 10c. Salem, Mass., Type I, only case.

1893 Columbian Issue.—A fair number of offices precancelled this issue. Except those specifically mentioned below, they all used lines or bars without name of the office. The following stamps were precancelled:

1c. Paris, Ill., Type I. Place-name in circle. Lancaster, N. Y., Type I. 2 quads or oblongs. Yonkers, N. Y., Type I. 2 rows of squares. Bars and lines, never more than 2, from 4 offices. 2c. Yonkers, N. Y., Type I. 2 rows of squares. 1 or 5 bars or lines, 3 bars, from 4 other offices. 3c. Milwaukee, Wis., Type I. No place-name; 3 vertical

NEWFOUNDLAND

As the present printers of Newfoundland stamps failed to renew their contract, and as they own the plates, it will be necessary to engrave new plates, which, of course, means a new issue. Now is the time to get the current set before it gets too high—the 9c and 12c values are already worth many times face value. We offer 1894-95 issue.—As the precancel catalogue does not differentiate the unwatermarked stamps of 1894 from the watermarked ones of 1895, it is advisable to watch lots of both issues for the precancels. In the case of the 3c stamp and probably also the 8c stamp, the precancels are listed with the 1898 issue, since these stamps were not altered in color in 1898. Few if any of these values are likely to be 1894 unwatermarked copies.

Many varieties of bars and lines, ranging from 1 to 8 of either and placed either vertically or horizontally, are listed. There are many precancels of more ordinary appearance. The following stamps of this issue exist precancelled:

1c. Special oddities are Yonkers, N. Y., Type I, 2 rows of squares; Hibernia, N. Y., Type I, vertical and diagonal lines forming N's; Manlius, N. Y., Type I, vertical and diagonal lines forming V's. 2c. Yonkers, N. Y., Type I, 2 rows of squares, is the only oddity. 3c. Marshall, Mich., Type I, a smudge, is the only oddity. 4c. Nearly all bars or lines without place-name. 5c. 6c. 8c. Mostly precancellations much like ordinary types, with place-names. Marshall, Mich., Type I, smudge, is the only oddity. 10c. 1 bar or 1 line only. (Orange, Conn., Type I, and Mohonk Lake, N. Y., Type I.) 50c. All with place-names and like ordinary types. Two offices only: Chicago, Ill., Cleveland, Ohio.

1898 Trans-Mississippi Issue.—1c. All with place-name. Lowell, Mass., Type I. No bars above and below place-name. Minneapolis, Minn., Type I, diagonal, printed, without name of state. Lincoln, Nebr., Type I. 2c. All with place-name. Des Moines, Iowa, Type I. Handstamped, no bars above and below place-name. Pittsburgh, Pa., Type II. Providence, R. I., Type I. 5c. St. Johnsbury Center, Vt., Type I. Handstamped, with bars above and below place-name. 10c. St. Johnsbury Center, Vt., Type II. Handstamped, without bars above and below place-name.

1898 Regular Issue.—All stamps of this issue were precancelled.

1901 Pan-American Issue.—The 1 cent and 2 cent of this issue were precancelled at many offices. I have not seen any record of higher values as precancels.

Postage Due Stamps, 1879-1893 issue. The precancel catalogue does not separate out the various colors of these. Thus far, all that I have seen as precancels have been brown. A monogram of the letters N and Y in a circle of dots was used at New York, N. Y., for precancelling these dues. This is New York, N. Y., Type I. The following values were precancelled with it; other precancel users are noted after each stamp.

1c. Also Akron, Ohio, Type V; St. Paul, Minn., Type I, bars only; St. Louis, Mo., Type I, bars only. 2c. Also Yonkers, N. Y., Type I, 2 rows of squares; bars alone from 4 other offices. 3c. Also Wichita, Kans., Type II; St. Louis, Mo., Type I, 3 vertical bars. 5c. 10c. 30c. 50c.

1894-1913 issue, perforated 12. All values come precancelled, with bars alone, lines alone, and precancellations of the more usual types. Menominee, Mich., has a large M on the 2c (Type II precancel).

In addition to what has been given in the list, I add various odds and ends of presumably interesting or useful information that cropped up in the making of this list:—

1. Revenues. I do not find any record of any postal precancelling of revenues prior to the 1917 documentary issue. That is the only issue mentioned at all in the precancel catalogue. It is known, however, that private precancelling of revenues was done as far back as the '60's, and that some revenues of nearly every issue exist thus precancelled. Furthermore, the current playing-card stamps are precancelled at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and hence are collected by some as part of a collection of Bureau Prints. This is not postal precancelling, however.

2. Envelopes. Prior to the recent general precancelling of envelopes, there had been a few cases. The earliest on record is the 1c 1874 on buff (die not stated in the catalogue) precancelled at Decatur, Ill., with Type I, place-name in an oval, during 1880. The next case is the 1907 oval die 1c on white, precancelled at 5 offices. This envelope exists with a curious precancelling of an oblong of curlicues, without place-name, done at Willmar, Minn., and known as Type IV of that place. The 1916 circular die 1c on white comes precancelled from two offices. Possibly it comes from a third also, as the description for a 1c circular die from Milwaukee, Wis., under Types XIII and XIV leaves it indeterminate as to whether the white or the manila envelope of this issue was used. At Carrollton, Ohio, the revalued envelope, 1½c on 1c, round die, was precancelled with Type V. The paper of the envelope is not stated.

3. Wrappers. Three wrappers have been precancelled. The 1c oval die of 1907 was precancelled at Tacoma, Wash., with Type V; the 1c oval die of 1916 on manila at Milwaukee, Wis., with Type IX; and the revalued 1½c on 1c oval die at Milwaukee, Wis., with Type IX.

4. Postcards. A postcard is recorded as precancelled with one line, no place-name, at Delavan, N. Y.; but the catalogue does not state what card.

5. Later Commemoratives. Apparently every commemorative issue o hesives has been precancelled. The lumbian, Trans-Mississippi, and American series have been ment above. The Louisiana Purchase has been precancelled fairly extensi the Jamestown, Seward, Lincoln Hudson-Fulton stamps are repres among precancels; and the Panam cific series, in both perforations, i uncommon in the lists. Post-war memoratives have been such a bar precancel collectors that I merely tion their existence.

6. Special Service Stamps. earliest special delivery stamp th find recorded as a precancel is the cle type, perforated 12. This ma course be either the 1902 or the stamp, since watermarks are not sidered. The green special delivery s of 1908 comes precancelled from a s number of places. The registration s of 1911 was precancelled at a small ber of offices. Strangely enough, of the old newspaper stamps were cancelled, though this procedure have been expected to be convenient the use made of these stamps. I only mention, for the sake of comp ness, that the whole parcel post serie 1912 and all the recent special deli and special handling stamps have precancelled.

ROUND THE WORLD IN THREE WEEKS

We offer the greatest souvenir of them all,—an envelope actually carried all the way around the world by the Graf Zeppelin. Could there be any better souvenir of the epochal achievement?

Officially recognized by the United States Government, this cover has an official cachet on its face and, in addition, for the first time on record, a special postmark on the back (in green ink) showing time of arrival at Lakehurst.

ALSO, we have covers carried from Los Angeles to Lakehurst on the round-the-world flight.

Some of the "Jumping Dollars"

Most sound stamps climb steadily in value but auction prices realized during the past season and the 1930 catalog quotation show that all of the dollar values of U. S. stamps, except only those still current, have left the class of steady climbers and joined that of the Leaping Lenas. Price advances range from 10% to about 30%.

Both the $1 Columbian and the $1 Omaha have bounced from $7 to $9; the $5 Columbian from $16 to $20; the $2 Omaha from $13.50 to $16.50; the $5 of 1894 from $60 to $75 (a jump of more than 300% in less than five years; and try to find them at any price!); the $2 orange and black up to $8.50. And it is a question if the present market is not already ahead of the advance sheets for 1930 on some of these stamps.

From stock bought before prices made the big advances we offer quotations on the popular favorites. Only a few copies of each in stock, so these are offered for cash with order, and our usual "money back if you want it" guarantee.

DOT AND DASH

An official notice, speaking of late mailings at air mail fields, says that "it is permissible for the pilot to accept such letter or package (after the mails have been closed at the post office or air mail transfer office) and turn it in at the office of address, or at the proper stop along with the regular pouches, where it should be canceled."

The Oakland Philatelic Society, California, will hold its second annual stamp exhibition, October 25, 26 and 27, 1929, at the Hotel Oakland, 13th and Alice Street. Well over a hundred frames have been subscribed for at an early date and there is a possibility that 300 frames will be needed. There are 25 classifications, including juvenile and some prominent exhibitors will be represented. Rules may be had from the secretary, Harry E. Gray, 1711 Webster St., Oakland, California.

Mr. Geo. R. McNeil, Huntington, Va., says that the local papers have been giving generous space to philately and that the Dam stamps particularly are objects of attention, as Dams No. 27 and No. 28 are located at Huntington. The Fallen Timbers issue is the subject of a long story in the Herald-Advertiser, in which interesting details are given of the career of General Wayne.

Mr. A. Hippchen, Chicago, has returned home after an extensive trip through the east and the south, and is again boosting philately at home through the organization that he heads and which boasts of its own club-room.

Cards have been received from Mr. T. R. Hungerford, Washington, from Stresa, Italy; Father Phillip N. McCabe, Stamboul; Captain B. H. Berth, Liverpool; Mr. Hugo Edelstein, Port Limon, Costa Rica; Mrs. G. Farringdon, Habana; Mr. L. K. Johnson, Copenhagen; and Mr. Darius G. Wise, Madrid.

The National Observer, Minneapolis, published as its leading article some time ago, a very able article on "Good Citizenship" by Mr. Harry S. Swensen, who has grown up with philately in Minneapolis. As early as 1896, he enjoyed fame as the most brilliant boy philatelic editor as the old News-Letter will testify.

Prof. Lowell Joseph Ragatz, Washington, D. C., one of our star contributors, is spending some weeks in Prince Edward Island. He sends a philatelic personal from the famous Agony Column of the London Times in which a Miss wants ordinary used Colonial stamps in exchange for magazines and papers.

The Scott Stamp & Coin Co. lists "krona" as the currency of Denmark and Norway, says Mr. R. S. Rynning, La-Crosse, Wis. He says: "Krone is singular of kroner in Denmark and Norway. Krona is singular of Kronor in Sweden." This elucidation is helpful now that we have got beyond the "shilling" for skilling stage in the first issue of Sweden.

Some months ago, Mr. Lawrence Souder, Norristown, Pa., sent a copy of Popular Science for July that pictures a Chinese artist at work "painting" with postage stamps. He lives in Formosa and is said to have evolved the art whereby fragments of stamps are used for colorful pictures, as may be seen on picture postal cards.

The Vatican stamps and Zepp covers have the call for newspaper illustration, and literally scores of cuts of them have been used in papers recently throughout the country.

Mr. E. M. Knauer, Pittsburgh, Pa., wants to know if there were other weekly stamp papers published in 1902, and our answer is that there were two others issued in that year. At the time, Ewen's Weekly Stamp News was appearing in England.

The Eleven Cent Shades
Possibly no U. S. stamp has varied so greatly in color as the 11c current design. First appearing as a peacock blue, it undergoes a series of changes until finally we find one containing no trace of blue—a bright yellow green. It has been said that this is almost identical with the current 13c. In fact, we have been asked if it is not a color error (like the 4c Columbian). Most emphatically not! Although a marked variation from the first few printings, it is utterly unlike the 13c. To liken the two requires imagination or a lack of color sense. There is a darker bluish green more nearly approaching the 13c, but still far from it. This we consider a current shade.
A short time ago we advertised the peacock blue, and received so many requests that we were soon sold out. We have managed to obtain another supply, and offer them in fine mint condition at 30c per single and $1.50 a block. There are a few perfection plus copies, for which we are asking 35c and $1.75. Those who ordered from our first adv. will find the one now offered a lighter peacock, and an interesting shade to place with that which we originally sold.
We can also supply the bright yellow green (fine mint) @ 45c a single and $1.80 a block. A few perfection copies @ 50c and $2.20. This color and the peacock form the greatest deviation to be found among the shades.
We also have some of the other shades in stock, and shall be pleased to know your wants.

BREHM WAS THERE

He Sizes up the Convention and Says "O. K."

Mr. Phil. A. Telic,
Everywhere, U. S. A.
My dear Phil—

Well, old socks, I'm back home from the convention, and brother, what an experience it has been! Hereafter, if anybody calls me a "stamp-nut" again, I'll thank him for the compliment—it should be very much of an honor to be classified with all the charm and wit and brains that comes under the heading of philatelist, as seen and heard at this great convention and exhibition in Minneapolis.

Boy, did you ever feel that you were simply surrounded with all the wisdom that is, on any one given subject, till it gives you that awesome feeling and a creeping up and down the spine, to say nothing of goose-pimples? Well, just imagine yourself in one room, like I was, with Mr. Severn, Mr. Ward, Elliott Perry, Himself, Mr. Bartels, Mr. Clark, Mr. Hind, etc., etc., etc. (those etc's. stand for so many more of them, whose names I do not even know), then try to recollect what little, what very little you and I know about stamps, and then tell me that you wouldn't shrink to your proper size! Yea, bo, we may be some philatelists to the boys at home, but in Minneapolis we would have stacked up about the size of my 5-year-old son, Jim. And that's that.

About the exhibition, Phil—where to begin—where to begin? I might tell you, first of all, about the pleasure and gratification it was to view the world's most valuable stamp—yes, you've guessed it—Arthur Hind's famous British Guiana, price $32,500.00, I believe; also his famous Mauritius cover, for which one dealer told me he'd pay spot-cash to the tune of $45,000.00 if he could get it; also his famous 9d British stamp, with inscription by the King of England: "Taken from my collection and given to the National Philatelic war funds auction." Yes, brother, they were all on display in little old Minneapolis.

Or I might tell you about the other marvelous displays — the remarkable blocks of U. S., and especially the surface-prints in every imaginable shade and smear displayed by Burgess of Minneapolis; or the wonderful exhibit of revenues by Phil. Little, Jr.; or the fine U. S. Battleship cancellations shown by Hornbeck; or the myriads of cancellations on the 3c of 1851-57 displayed by John J. O'Donohue; or the beautiful air mail covers, all autographed by the greatest of them all, our own Lindbergh, exhibited by Knapp of New York; or the famous 25th anniversary air mail cover owned by Capt. Lipsner and autographed by Orville Wright; or the clever display of Good Hope triangles by Mrs. Diamant and Alfred Lichtenstein; or, most interesting to me, the finest display of U. S. proofs and essays, property of C. W. Brazer.

Yes, Phil, I might tell you about all these remarkable collections, but I don't believe I will. You know me, I'm sort of a back-to-nature guy, and I always see the human and humane side of things, rather than the practical or material. I love to watch people rather than the thing they stand for or the article that they sell.

Take Mrs. Shaughnessy, for instance. Who hasn't heard of her?—why, she is the Philatelic Agency to most of us, isn't she? And boy, she's the sweetest little lady you ever saw—kinda reminds you of home and mother, somehow. And there she was, on the job every minute, dishing out Molly Pitchers and 8-cent air mails and green 11-centers to suit each customer, with the everlasting patience of Job himself—and believe me, she didn't hand out any straight-edges either. I'm for her, buddy, strong.

And then there's Charlie Severn. Officially he's Editor of the greatest Stamp Weekly in the country, but personally he's just a great big, good-natured gentleman, who has all the time in the world to listen to your troubles, to offer kindly advice, to help you, to guide you in this highway and byway of philatelism—you know, one of those old-fashioned gentlemen who would give you the shirt off his back anytime. You should have seen him, the night of the Bourse, sitting there till the wee small hours, lovingly handling and discussing old wartime patriotic covers—I do believe they're his weakness now.

Let's take a look at Gerald H. Burgess, President of the Twin City Philatelic Society, and undoubtedly greatly responsible for the eminent success of the show. He's a hustling, wide-awake young chap on his toes every minute, a philatelist to his finger-tips, just as happy in making a 25c sale at the Bourse as one for that many dollars; with a wonderful collection of his own on display, and trying to be in two places at once in his endeavor to serve the guests of the convention. He sure was on the job, brother.

And Arthur Hind was there—personally, himself. Yessir, he's the man, you know, Phil, that has that famous collection which is now up and for sale at something like a half-million dollars; I believe it contains more rarities and errors and inverts, and that class of misprints and misfits than any other collection in the world and it must therefore be absolutely unique. As to the man himself—he appealed to me as a kindly, benevolent gentleman who is living in all happiness in the bosom of his family—he certainly doesn't appeal to one as the man who owns one of the greatest stamp-collections in the world. All of which goes to show that you never can tell.

To get back to the exhibition, Phil—a good many dealers had booths there, where they conducted their business and sold stamps and albums and tongs and whatnot to the budding philatelists. It was hot in the exhibition rooms most of the time, boy; darn hot—and I couldn't help but admire the courtesy and patience of those that were on the job there. I heard one fond mother ask a clerk to show her just how a hinge should be properly applied to a stamp, so that she might explain it to her young son, who was just starting in to collect stamps and Mr. Clerk very obligingly demonstrated the operation, with the person rolling down the inside of his cuff. Yea, verily, philately teaches patience in more ways than one!

Well, Phil, I've just bought "The Philatelist", which I simply must read before I go to bed so I think I'll sign off now. You can see from the foregoing that the convention and the exhibition were absolutely a success, and that all we have to do now is lay away a few shekels monthly, so as to have funds on hand to travel when another year and another convention roll around. With all best wishes to yourself, and kindest regards to the Mrs. and the kiddies, I am.

Yours as ever,
H. M. BREHM

THE "WARNER BATES" COLLECTION
OF
UNITED STATES — "BANK NOTE" ISSUES

I have purchased this well known collection to improve my considerable stock of these issues, for which I see a great future.
I should appreciate offers of fine collections of this group of stamps, especially wanted are rare and fine cancellations, perfection copies with ordinary cancellations and good plate varieties, such as double entries, etc., etc.
I am arranging this great collection in my approval books, which are grouped as follows:—

I. Stamps on Covers.
II. Rare Cancellations.
III. Cheap and ordinary cancellations in perfection copies.
IV. Plate varieties, re-entries, double impressions, grill varieties, stitch watermark, etc., etc.

A large number of books of each group are now priced and can be sent to collectors if they will inform me which group they care to see. [18

METROPOLITAN STAMP CO.
1482 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

THE POPE'S OWN STAMPS

SET ISSUED WILL BE SUCCEEDED BY ONE PICTURING THE HISTORY OF VATICAN

By DOUGLAS ARMSTRONG.

After an interval of fifty-nine years the Vatican post office was reopened on August 1st under the provisions of the Lateran Treaty with the Italian Government. This Treaty restores to the Pope his temporal kingdom, and the Papacy once more takes its place amongst the stamp issuing nations of the world.

It is already embraced in the membership of the Universal Postal Union, to which it was admitted just a month previously.

The public demand for the new stamps proved phenomenal. Huge crowds besieged the post office long before it was open for business, so that the Pontifical Guards had to be called out to control them.

Out of a total face value of little more than £600,000 one purchaser alone is credited with having taken up stamps to the equivalent of £32,000, whilst several other advance orders ran into thousands of pounds each.

A Temporary Issue

These stamps will find their way quickly into the albums of collectors in every part of the globe, and, as they are merely a temporary issue, pending the preparation of some stamps printed in the Vatican State itself, may in course of time be expected to appreciate in value.

Besides those purchased in complete series, unused, numbers of people sought to secure the postmark of the first day of issue upon letters despatched by both ordinary and aerial post. The result was that the letter boxes were overflowing long before the regular hours for collection, and had to be specially cleared at frequent intervals.

The new stamps of the Vatican State come in three distinct types (illustrated herewith, by courtesy of Mr. R. Roberts) and fifteen denominations, comprising 5, 10, 20, 25, 30, 50 and 75 centesimi with the device of the Papal insignia (Mitre and crossed Keys), and 80 centesimi, 1.25, 2, 2.50, 5 and 10 lire bearing a portrait of His Holiness Pius XI for ordinary postage, plus stamps of 2 and 2.50 lire in large oblong format for Express Delivery of inland and foreign letters respectively, also showing the Pope's head.

All are inscribed "POSTE VATICANE," and dated MCMXXIX.

They have been printed on behalf of the new State at the Italian Bureau of Engraving and Printing, now transferred to Rome, by the roto-gravure process, and constitute a striking and interesting addition to the world's postage stamps. The paper is unwatermarked and the perforation gauges 14.

Later in the year a second issue of Papal stamps is due to make its debut in a series of picturesque vignettes by the eminent Italian stamp engraver, Professor Enrico Federici, illustrating the history of the Vatican. These are to be printed in the Pontifical Press upon paper watermarked with a special device and are intended to be of a permanent character.

Garibaldi's "Red Shirts"

Fifty-nine years ago, when Garibaldi's "Red Shirts" entered the Holy City, after a feeble defence, the stamps then in use were of similar design to that upon the lower values of the present series.

It shows the Papal Tiara with its triple crowns betokening the three-fold dominion of the Church, militant, purifying and triumphant, and streamers typifying the Literal and Mystical senses. The Keys of Heaven which appear beneath it are of gold for Power, and Silver for Knowledge.

These early stamps of the old Papal States had then been in service throughout the Pope's dominions for rather more than eighteen years, having been introduced on January 1, 1852. They bore, however, no indication of their origin, the sole inscription consisting of the words "Franco Bollo Postale" and the value.

They, too, were printed in the Printing Office of the Apostolical Chamber from dies engraved by two Roman engravers named Doublet and Decoppet.

Following the unification of the erstwhile Italian States into the Kingdom of Italy, the Vatican was deprived of its own postal service and its distinctive stamps were finally superseded by those of the Italian Kingdom in October, 1870. —Bazaar.

EDITORIAL

THE philatelic tide is rising and it will soon sweep over the land, if the lenses through which the philatelic fathers peer are not trick spectacles. There is too much testimony of the same tenor to doubt its truth, and despatches from the watchful sentinels from their scattered posts tell the same story with little variations. "We want to plan a stamp display for a week in October," says a big department store, "with a lecture on the opening day and one on the closing day." A reader says: "Two or more theaters out here are giving stamp albums and stamps away to the boys and girls." A community newspaper says: "The young folks are impatient to start their club and do not want to wait until next week." A high society note: "Your suggestion of a bridge prize of those stamps was a good one." (The award was a sheet of George Rogers Clark 2c.) A big business man: "I want to distribute packets of stamps with the booklet among boys and girls of my acquaintance." A man who has been asked to tell about stamps over the radio writes for a few pointers and the business men's noon-day clubs in several cities have booked collectors for their stories of the gladsome game of stamps.

THE following letter has come from Mr. Armin N. Rominski, Kansas City, Mo., and tells of a subject that has a fascination for collectors, i.e., the use of heavy postage. We quote: "In filming sound pictures at the United Artists studios and at Universal City, it suddenly became necessary to obtain at once eight amplifying panels, four for each studio. As further work on these productions could not proceed until the panels arrived, the electrical research products division was urged to do everything possible to get the apparatus to Hollywood quickly. Representatives of our subsidiary called Hawthorne by long distance and asked for the best possible service the Works could give. Our merchandise organization passed the request on to the shops and in a few hours the panels were ready. Investigation showed that the best means of getting them to Hollywood was by airplane. Each panel weighed approximately 45 pounds, but in view of the urgent need for the equipment, our service organization was glad to pay Uncle Sam close to $600 in postage stamps for air mail service. Each panel carried approximately 145 stamps." At that, it is evident that $5 stamps were not used.

THE Advance Sheets are in the M's or half way through the book, and already we have over a thousand pages. We predict that the volume will be ready as advertised, on October 28, 1929.

AN announcement, dated August 31st, at Washington, from E. B. Wadsworth, Superintendent of the Division of Air Mail Service, tells of the establishing of a new air mail route, CAM 32, on September 15th, between Pasco, Wash., via Portland, Ore., Tacoma, Wash., to Seattle, Wash., and return, and between Pasco, Wash., and Spokane, Wash. Following the schedule of the aerial movements, the following explanation is made: "A special first flight cachet will be furnished by this Department to the postmasters shown above for use on such air mail as may be dispatched from their office to this route on Sept. 15, 1929. Air mail covers to receive this cachet should be sent under cover to the post office or post offices involved so as to reach the same in advance of the opening day. It will not be practicable to place this special cachet on transit air mail destined to go over this new route on Sept. 15th, that did not originate and receive the regular cancellation of a post office on this route." We refer this explanation to the readers who are unceasing in their requests for information as to how to obtain first flight covers. However, we maintain that the interval between the date of issue of the circular, August 31st, and that of the flight, Sept. 15th, on the coast, is not great enough to allow of full philatelic use to be made of the flight. In fact, a month would be the minimum allowance for the maximum service, and we appeal to Mr. Wadsworth to take heed of our requirements. There is a significant "Note" that closes the statement: "This notice is issued from the Department at Washington and all future notices on matters of this kind will originate therefrom."

THE Postmaster-General has released the news that the special 2c stamp to commemorate the completion of the Ohio River Canalization will be issued on October 12, and placed on sale on that day at the post offices at Cairo, Ill., Evansville, Ind., Louisville, Kentucky, Cincinnati, Ohio, Homestead and Pittsburgh, Pa., and Wheeling, West Virginia. Collectors may send no more than 25 self-addressed envelopes to the postmasters of the offices enumerated, with the necessary remittances, for first day covers which "will be accepted from bona fide subscribers only." The stamp will not be on sale at the Philatelic Agency until October 14th. The stamp will be of the size of the current 2c and will be in red and show a section of the Ohio River with "a canal lock and portion of the stream." The dates "1875" and "1929" are in the upper corners.

SOME time ago, a reader who referred to the philatelic activities of John Milton Holt, M.D., which were interrupted by the World War, asked if we could tell him what had become of the Doctor. The inquiry brought vivid recollections of the fervency with which he espoused philately from the time that he served as a New York correspondent of stamp papers as a college boy in 1892 to the years when he published Everybody's Philatelist. However, we could give no information about the later career of our friend, and word to that effect in this column brought no revelations. Now, we hear from him from Owensmouth, California; and we do not hesitate to give place to the Open Letter to Philatelists that he sends, as follows: "Nearly twenty years ago, I undertook what I considered a service to philately, editing and publishing Everybody's Philatelist. The war put an end to that, as to many other things, when in September, 1917, I left Cleveland for war duty at Camp Logan, Texas. After the Armistice, I was appointed Supervisor of the 14th District, and organized Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma, to furnish medical and surgical relief under the now obsolete War Risk Bureau for discharged soldiers, sailors and marines. After two years of that the work became so permeated with politics that my services were no longer desired. I could not wear a political saddle. Returning to private life and private practice, I preferred southern California to any other spot in the United States, and eight years after leaving Cleveland, I settled down in Los Angeles County to end my days in peace. All this time my freight and private belongings had not been unpacked, and when they were, I found that I had lost some things. This applied to some of my records concerning Everybody's Philatelist, notably my list of Life Subscribers. To all such I guaranteed a pro rata refund if for any reason they received the journal for fewer than ten years. I desire to make good on that obligation and if any of my life subscribers who see this will write me, I will do the rest. In closing, it may not too early to remind your readers Christmas packets for Shut-Ins, wh it was my privilege to sponsor and or nate as an annual event, early in the of Everybody's. There are more Sh Ins now than then, and I have been covering them in the most unexpec ways and places. If anyone should s check to cover an unpaid advertising count, I'd have to call for smelling-sal Here is a characteristic letter from good doctor, and its human interest appeal to readers, and who knows that while the candle burns one of advertising debtors will see the light.

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

OFFICIAL FLIGHTS

H. A. Meyer shows me the 1st eastbound Bremen cover, which has the large red cachet similar to that used on the 1st westward trip, but without the mention of the "first trip." Second westbound trip sent about 2,000 letters and cards from the ship via the plane.  Major Pascual Lopez reports covers postmarked Guatemala Aug. 8, and backstamped the same date at Mexico City, and the inference is that this was the first regular trip.  The transcontinental refuelling mail plane left on short notice from Oakland, Aug. 25th. Only 1 letter from any one collector was accepted, and I haven't seen any at all of mine that I sent the San Francisco P. M. some weeks ago. Must have been other commercial mail on board—at least newspaper stories told of sacks being dropped overboard at Cleveland, etc. Pending further information on this however, we have these 36 covers, bearing a neat cachet in purple, and postmarked at Hempstead, N. Y., where they were thrown over.

Wonder if others had my experience on round the world Zeppelin mail. I'd addressed letters via each of the various terminals, as per instructions, but every single one went clear round the whole way to Lakehurst, whether prepaid with the full postage or not. Got lots for my postage money, but can't say so much as to the coverage. At any rate, I must offer congratulations on the very fitting Lakehurst backstamp. Came as a pleasant surprise.  S. Bayer informs me that the Zepp, on its trip to the U. S. dropped 17 letters and 30 cards at Basle, Switzerland. Frank H. Kreuter, also, shows me covers for the transatlantic flight, mailed in Danzig and Netherlands, and bearing the stamps of their respective countries, as well as the regular Zeppelin cachets.

Mr. S. Bayer sends me a specimen paper carried over the first regular Italian newspaper air service. "Il Popolo D'Italia", published in Milan in the morning, was carried by train to Venice, and thence by plane to Rome, arriving the same afternoon. All papers bear a large cachet in red, "Servizio Aereo della Transadriatica." First trip was Aug. 6th.  Allan M. Thatcher reports Managua cachet from FAM 5 in black as well as purple, and from Santiago on FAM 5 in purple, as well as the usual black.  Effective on the issuance of the notice Aug. 27, mail was accepted for Venezuela via FAM 5, by air to Curacao, and from there by the ordinary means. No cachet, or, in fact, official first trip.  P. M. at Belize states that on May 23rd he despatched 33 letters to Tela, and 25 to Managua, via the first trip air mail. Anybody have one he wants to get rid of? These look like about the rarest FAM yet.

First official non-stop drop and pickup of mail on a CAM route took place at Youngstown on Aug. 30th. 10,000 letters were picked up from Youngstown; 4,000 dropped. Colors of cachet, applied by CAM 11, are from Youngstown—black; to Youngstown from Cleveland—blue-green, from McKeesport, magenta and green. In addition to the 4-line cachet applied by the contractors, there was an elaborate pictorial cachet by the C. of C. on covers sent them.

AIRPORT DEDICATIONS, UNOFFICIAL FLIGHTS, ETC.

Guess this is one we'll have to mark off. Covers bearing a cachet "Airport Dedication, East Liverpool, Ohio, Sept. 12, 1928," have heretofore been listed, but Bradie Buchanan has checked up with the Postmaster, owner of the airport, and the C. of C., and all say there has been no dedication.  W. G. Fountaine shows me covers from the Lorain Dedication, bearing a cachet, supplied by the C. of C. on covers sent them, in addition to the one provided by the Airport management. Box type, "Lorain, Ohio, where coal and iron meet."  Rochester, Minn., did dedicate as part of their diamond jubilee celebration, on June 11, and 150 covers sent to the Commercial Club were mailed, bearing the rubber stamp "Rochester Commercial Club." Diamond Jubilee cachet—402 the 9th, 329—10th, 342—11th, 576—12th.

And here's the story on that Louis Proctor Memorial from Vancouver. Proctor won the national Model Airplane Contest, and won a trip to England to compete there. On his return, Vancouver had a big air circus and celebration in his honor—and that accounts for the cachet by the C. of C.  Just reported another Lindbergh Day cachet—this one from Ardmore, Pa.—great big affair covering half the envelope, "Ardmore Congratulates Lindy", etc. 16 mailed—don't know yet who was responsible.

Recent events: Richmond, Ind.—Legion Convention and Air Circus. Legion cachet on about 175 a day for 3 days; air circus cachet on 163 all told.  Port Arthur, Tex., dedicated Aug. 27, no cachet, but some covers are stamped "Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce and Shipping."  South Bend, Ind., Modern Transportation Show, Aug. 27-31—various colors.  Additional cachet for final stop Portland-Cleveland derby, Aug. 27th—Harry J. Morse thoughtfully mails me a cover from Mines Field on the arrival of the Graf Zeppelin.  Marblehead, Mass., 300th Anniversary and Air Mail Day Aug. 27th—neat cachet on 109 covers by C. of C.  Findlay, Ohio, Air Mail Day Aug. 29th—heart shaped cachet in black by C. of C.  Whitefield, N. H., dedication Aug. 23, 24, 25—especially printed sticker on back of covers.

St. Louis, Mo., Legion Convention, Sept. 1, 2, 3—an elaborate cachet honoring the endurance flight of Jackson and O'Brine.  Dudley, Mass., Air Meet and Exhibition, Aug. 29, 30—no cachet, but privately printed envelopes.  N. A. T. and CAM 17 Anniversary cachets Sept. 1, all same design and red color—in, so far, from Chicago, New York, Cleveland, Toledo, Kansas City, and Dallas.  Goshen, Ind., dedication Aug. 31, Sept. 1, 2—winged Legion design, different colors daily.  Special Memorial cachet on anniversary of Lieut. Bettis, used at Bettis Field, McKeesport, Pa., Sept. 1—by CAM 11.

Coming: Savannah, Ga., Airport opening and National Air Tour stop Oct. 11. Possible cachet by C. of C.  Bethlehem, Pa., dedicates Oct. 5 and 6—covers to A. H. Buck, Sec. of C. of C.  Camden, N. J., announced last week to receive air mail service Sept. 15, will dedicate its airport the 21st. Cachet—send covers to Mr. J. Hartley Bowen, Jr., P. O. Box 161, Haddon Heights, N. J.  Utica, N. Y., dedication Sept. 21—covers to C. of C.

And now for the figures: Sweetwater, Tex., dedication—50-75 covers, by Bd. of City Development.  Aurora, Ill., Expo. —500 covers handstamped, 150 printed.  Marietta, O., Mid-East Regatta—587 Aug. 23, 689 the 24th.  San Diego Aerial Review—2,750—by C. of C.  Kansas City, Kans., dedication numbers were too high. From 125-150 were mailed via the C. of C. each of the 2 days.  Salem, Ore., 5,050 for both Legion Convention and dedication.  Akron cachet for Ohio Good Will Tour—500—by C. of C.  Yakima, Wash., Air Derby and Legion Convention—3,394—applied to ALL air mail at P. O. About 2,200 pieces from collectors.  Colorado Springs Air Meet—1,112—by C. of C.

Stamp News for the Juniors

This page is primarily for you, the Junior collector. We are interested in what interests you and we want you to take possession of it, if in any way it can serve you.

We also invite the Senior collector to extend words of advice, encouragement and stimulation and thus develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

Bear in mind that two short articles of from 50 to 75 words read better than one long one. Address all communications to the Beverly office.

Danish West Indies

By A. C. LeDuc.

The Danish West Indies is a group of three islands lying to the east of Porto Rico and consists of Saint Croix, Saint Thomas and Saint John. Their combined area is about 140 square miles. About 80% of the population are negroes, 13% mixed and only 7% whites. The chief industry in the islands is sugar raising. The value of these islands lies in their geographical location and their harbor facilities.

They existed as a colony of Denmark until March 31, 1917, when the United States took possession of them following their purchase for the sum of $25,000,000. This purchase made it necessary to change the name. They were therefore renamed the "Virgin Islands of the United States," but are commonly called simply "Virgin Islands" even though Great Britain has a colony nearby that has the same name.

The first postage stamp for this colony was issued in November, 1855, and was a 3-cent stamp of a design similar to the current stamps of Denmark. Twelve years later, the color of this stamp was changed and then 5 years later stamps were issued perforated. With the addition of a 4-cent value in 1873 there are only 4 major varieties for this colony for the first 18 years of its stamp issuing history.

The next design was also similar to those for Denmark with a numeral in the center for each value, with inscription and value in oval. For the first time the name of the colony appears on its stamps in the issues of 1873-93, worded "Dansk-Vestindiske." In 1887 and 1895 surcharged values were put out as well as in 1902. In 1900 the design was changed to conform to the current one for Denmark having large circles at each side containing figures of value.

The year 1905 shows a change in currency from dollars and cents to francs and bits, and a strikingly attractive set of stamps for that year. The bit values show a dark silhouette design of the King of Denmark, Christian IX, and the franc values (all in two colors) show a harbor scene with a two-masted sailing vessel. During that same year, some of the old "cent" values were each surcharged "5 bit 1905" to conform to the new currency.

In 1908 the design was again changed and no franc values issued. These stamps all show full faced pictures of the new King of Denmark, Frederick VIII. The last regular issue for this colony appeared in 1915 and show a side view picture of King Christian X who is still King of Denmark. As these stamps were in use only a short time before the United States purchased the colony, used stamps of this issue are quite high in price, as compared with the unused ones which were left over.

Besides the regular issues of postage stamps, there were two issues of postage due stamps; the first set in 1902 consisted of four value all in cents, and the 1905 set of four values but in bits.

Stamps of this former Danish colony have always been quite popular with collectors, altho there is some difficulty in picking them up readily due to the fact that, aside from a few common values, there are many, including the minor varieties, that are very elusive. On the whole, the issues of 1905-1917 are the most attractive on account of their designs and color combinations.

Sonora-Soudan Francais

Sonora.—An important state in the north-western portion of Mexico at which the now well-known "white and green seal" provisional stamps were issued in 1913.

Songpy.—The value shown on one of the stamps issued in Siam in 1883. A songpy, 16 of which were equal to a tical, was worth about 2c in American money.

Soruth.—An Indian state in the peninsula of Kathiawar more generally known to geographers as Junaghar or Junagarh. Its first postage stamps were issued in 1864.

Soudan.—An overprint shown on certain stamps of Egypt, in conjunction with Arabic characters, used in the Sudan in 1897. The Arabic characters read "Assudan", or "the blacks", signifying the "land of the negroes".

Soudan Fais.—An overprint found on certain French Colonial stamps of the "Peace and Commerce" type used in French Soudan in 1894. The second word is an abbreviation for "Francais."

Soudan Francais.—The inscription shown on the stamps of French Soudan.

Netherlands Air Post

By Percy C. Smith.

Above is the design of the recently issued air post stamps of which three values were placed on sale. According to information there were 500,000 of the 1½ gulden printed and 300,000 of the 4½ gulden, and 200,000 of the 7½ gulden.

H. P.—These letters are represented by characters found on certain Russian adhesives used in Armenia. They stand for "Hagagan Post," meaning Armenian Post.

H. P. N.—A surcharge found upon various stamps of Spain used in the Canary Islands and Murcia after the revolution in Madrid in 1868. The letters are an abbreviation for "Habilitado por la Nacion."

Hrv. — This abbreviation occurs on some of the crown values of the Jugo Slav stamps and stands for "Hrvatska," the native term for Croatia.

Hrvatska. — A former province of Hungary, and one of the three principal members of the state of Jugo-Slavia. Population about 2,000,000 and capital city Gazreb (Agram).

Hrvatska—Shs.—A surcharge applied to the Hungarian stamps previously used in the Province of Croatia. The word is the local name for Croatia and the initials stand for the new Serbo-Croat-Slavonian kingdom also known as "Jugo-Slavia."

Choice United States Items

While in attendance at the Minneapolis Convention, I had the opportunity of picking up some unusually choice items in the way of United States issues, such as the 1851—1c Type I (7R1), the Type III (99R2), a single of the broken plate, a Type III-a, all in the very finest of condition, lightly cancelled, with four substantial margins. Also acquired several of the 10c 1851, Type I, equally as fine, including one recut at top and bottom, in addition to a superb horizontal strip of three, showing two cuts. There were also several 1847 5c and 10c, in addition to a copy of the 1851—3 imperforate. One dealer brought from the West some very nice Local covers with U. S. stamps nicely tied, in addition to covers of early vintage, showing advertisements. We had quite a few Newspaper blocks, which I was most pleased to pick up, as it is getting difficult to fill want lists for such items.

I simply mention these few outstanding pieces to show that I am constantly buying collections and individual items and if you will let me know what you desire, I will be on the look-out for pieces that are likely to prove of interest.

Practically all of the above rarer items were sold immediately to those who had their want lists in my possession.

I am always in the market to buy such items and selections are solicited. I, however, would impress upon our many readers that I am not interested in acquiring common stamps listing under $1, even in quantities, and only take such varieties in collections where rarer varieties are present.

New 2-Cent Canalization

The new 2-cent stamp recently described in this column in commemoration of the Ohio River Canalization and depicting a scene of Canal interest, will be placed on sale on Saturday, October 12th. The stamp will be available in one city of each of the five states interested, together with one additional city, which is on a feeder stream of the Ohio River. Pennsylvania will be represented by first-day sales at Pittsburgh, West Virginia at Wheeling, Indiana at Evansville, Ohio at Cincinnati, and Illinois at Cairo. The additional city on the feeder stream is Homestead, Pennsylvania. A good supply will be on hand at all of these offices and a general distribution will take place immediately after. The supply at the Philatelic Agency will not be available until the following Monday, October 14th. Thirty million of the variety will be printed, all from the flat bed press, perforated 11. There will be no rotaries, nor will there be any imperforates especially issued, although there is always the possibility of a sheet creeping in as an error. However, our recent commemoratives of the last several years have been generally free of errors so that nothing in this line is really expected.

Special Delivery for Air Mails

The Post Office Department is planning for a new Air Mail Special Delivery service, which will go far in making the carrying of mail via air more popular and more efficient. Heretofore when an air mail letter reached destination, it has simply been taken to the post office and delivered by carrier in the usual way. The new service will provide for the carrying of mail via air and special delivery or special handling at destination without the payment of the special delivery fee. The extra fee will be charged in the nature of five cents for air mail and a few cents additional for the special delivery service, and quite possibly a new stamp will be issued to take care of this special delivery air mail, where the charge on a letter will be less than fifteen cents, which would be the air mail special delivery rate today. The new combination stamp which will cover all charges for special handling at the highest possible speed, has not definitely been decided upon, nor has the rate been fixed. The new scheme holds great promise of additional use of the service.

Hawaiian Surcharges

There has been considerable discussion as to the listing of the recently issued Hawaiian surcharges, as to whether they should go into the catalog as "United States" issues, or "Hawaiian" issues. The decision is almost unanimous that Hawaii being an integral part of the United States that its stamps used while part of the United States are just as much United States issues as those surcharged for Kansas and Nebraska. It would be just as logical to list the Kansas stamps under "Kansas" and make a new stamp issuing country, as it would be to list stamps issued for use in Hawaii as well as the United States, under "Hawaii." A letter addressed to the Postmaster General upon the subject, has received the following reply from the Third Assistant Postmaster General, to whom it was referred:

"My dear Sir:

Your letter of August 13, to the Postmaster General, in regard to the special overprinted issue of postage stamps for Hawaii, has been referred to this Office.

According to the understanding of this Office, it is proper to classify these stamps as an United States not a Hawaiian issue. A ruling to this effect has previously been made due to the fact that "The best place to sell your stamps"

Our last sale in April, 1929, was a record sale. Stamps were sold for about $160,000—Many items fetched the highest prices ever paid. These are some examples (incl. 10% addition):

Lombardy Lot 1144	15,400
Greece Lot 5050	19,250
Greece Lot 5104	9,460
France Lot 7574	9,020
Canada Lot 2789	8,800

(Prices in Swiss francs.)

It is well known that most European stamps fetch much higher prices here than in America—a comparison between our lists of prices and others will certainly convince you.

Owners of valuable properties for sale are invited to communicate with us.

Our next sales are: 4-11 NOV., 1929, 6-11 JAN., 1930, and in February, May.

Large collections and single rarities are most suitable for sale. Prompt settlement guaranteed.

A ROYAL GIFT

King George Presents Toronto Museum With Colonial Stamps

Through the Canadian high commissioner, Hon. P. C. Larkin, King George has presented to the Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology, Toronto, a collection of 112 postage stamps representing 55 British colonies and protectorates.

Recently a mysterious parcel came to the museum. After the top paper had been removed, a black oil-cloth covering came to view. Underneath that was another layer of brown paper, then cardboard, and inside were five mats of stamps, including two stamps from every British colony and protectorate. On the next mail there arrived an explanatory letter from Lord Stamfordham, the King's secretary.

In no way does the gift consist of rare stamps of great value. Its interest is largely informative, tinged with sentiment, and is attracting great attention from Exhibition visitors and stamp collectors.

PERIDROMOPHILY

By W. J. SIDIS.

The Peridromophile, the bulletin of the new collection line—peridromophily, or the collection of transfers—is now reaching its third anniversary, the first copies having been sent out on August 30, 1926. It is therefore appropriate, on this occasion, that the collectors of transfers should greet the followers of the older art of philately, some of whom have helped the new line of collection to reach its present stage of development. Enough stamp collectors have taken up transfer collecting to make it possible now to have an exchange of transfers for stamps or covers.

It has also been developing into numerous side-lines and specialties recently, and exchanges transfers on a "permanent loan" basis or arranges their exchange for transfers, car-tokens, strip tickets, railroad emblems, and city maps and guides, as well as other collection material. Some of the transfer collections now contain old transfers, some dating as far back as 1887. Foreign transfers and fare receipts are also being added to the collections, as connections with foreign countries are being established.

All this has gone to make transfer collecting a matter of more interest than ever, even though it is as yet taken up by very few people. Philatelists particularly find it an interesting side-line to maintain. Anyone interested in further information may obtain it by writing 112 West 119th St., New York.

PRECANCELLED BELGIAN STAMPS

Translated and altered from the article by Dr. Goldberg of Brussels in Die Postmarke

By STEPHEN G. RICH.

(In addition to translation, much has been done to this article in the way of extending the article and correcting incomplete statements. The responsibility for all statements is therefore mine.—S. G. R.)

In recent years the pursuit of precancelled stamps has developed into an independent field within philately. Of late, many articles have appeared in this field, many journals have established departments dealing with it, and journals exclusively within the field have appeared. The number of precancel collectors has steadily grown and precancelled stamps have been in demand. Only a few years previously these very stamps were entirely refused by collectors, on the ground that the cancellations were not of full standing. The stamps vanished, and many of them are now both scarce and much sought for.

Precancelling started in Belgium in 1894, at first in an experimental manner. A general parliamentary election was slated for October 14, 1894, and the postal authorities expected a large increase of work because of large mailings of printed matter. Precancelling was undertaken experimentally to make this service less difficult. A departmental order dated June 21, 1894, authorizing precancelling (See Poole, The Postage Stamps of Belgium, p. 40.). The postal authorities required a purchase of at least 1,000 stamps for the use of precancelling, and that the stamps be used on printed items all alike, brought to the post-office by the sender instead of being mailed at street boxes. The stamps were and are not valid for material mailed in letter-boxes.

The regulations of the Belgian post-office require that precancelled stamps bear the year of cancellation. Stamps of one year are valid until the end of February in the following year, and unused precancels can be exchanged for valid ones after that date. This will explain why Belgian precancels of any year do not appear until well along into the spring.

The first precancelling, in 1894, was done with an oval handstamp, with complete date between place-name and the word "Journaux" (Fig. 1). This type was used in Brussels only. The roller handstamp used for the experimental precancelling is shown in Fig. 2. There are 5 subjects (shown by the arrows in the figure) and not all alike. Hence five varieties exist.

There is good reason to think that this roller was used for other than precancelling purposes. In Rich's collection is the 1 centime, Scott No. 60, with this cancellation, reading up, and dated 21 April, 1894, and also the same stamp with it reading down and no date. The specimen first mentioned is clearly before the time of precancelling, and the dateless one is either an error or not a precancel at all. Rich has not yet seen any other specimens with the oval cancellation.

At the beginning, precancelling was done only on definite order. Later, offices were allowed to hold advance stocks of precancels; but only the larger ones have this privilege. The smaller ones supply precancels on order only. At first precancels were issued at Brussels only; next in Antwerp; and in November and December, 1894, at Ghent and Liege.

Goldberg states that a general order of the postal service, dated June 21, 1895, made precancelling a permanent practice, and limited it to 1 and 2 centime stamps. Poole (loc. cit.) quotes the order of June 21, 1894, in full, and includes this very statement, in the actual official wording. The order cited by Goldberg is either confirmatory of this, or there is a typographical error in the article as printed. The 2 centime stamps were used only rarely and in small numbers.

Precancelling brought, as used in Belgium, the advantages to the postal administration of delivering late editions and ends of runs of newspapers direct to the sorting tables and to dispatch, without the delay of cancelling the stamps. This elimination of the tiresome delay of cancelling stamps benefitted the public even more, in that subscribers received

A Weekly Service

Due to the fact that it seems a long way out here, I am sending approval selections to many of my Eastern customers on a weekly basis. The second lot is dispatched a week after the first one and will be received just about the time the first one is due to be returned. In this way there is no wait in between.

during the next thirty days. I have 20 of these covers on hand, half of which will be reserved for orders from west of the Mississippi.

Here is the chance to pick up the first United States issue on the original envelope on which it was used prior to 1850. The stamps are in fair condition, being pen cancelled or cut close on one or more sides, but the covers are clean, whole and attractive.

They are no gamble, for they are returnable within five days after receipt, if unsatisfactory.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENTS

On page 570 will be found a very complete listing of all the U. S. Departmental issues. We are offering these with a special discount of 5% on purchases of $2.00 or more and 10% on purchases of $50.00 or more.

As usual, our guarantee of money back if anything is not entirely satisfactory.

We can offer an interesting little set of 13 different Department stamps each surcharged "Specimen." This set includes two of the scarce varieties on soft paper and makes an interesting start on these scarce re-issues.

Set of 13 varieties of U. S. Departments "Specimens" $7.50

Other Department sets surcharged "specimen" will be found listed with the balance on page 570.

HUGUENOT-WALLOON ISSUE

We have just purchased a few complete sheets of this set. In the new catalogue the set will be priced at 48c. For those who like complete sheets, we offer a set of the three complete sheets, mailed flat for $21.25, post free.

their papers much sooner. There is no record of precancelled stamps being used for parcel-post or for letter-mail in quantity, in Belgium. Without exception, Belgian precancels on pieces of cover are on pieces of newspaper wrappers.

Precancelling grew slowly, as shown in the following list:

In 1894 at 4 offices
" 1895 " 7 "
" 1896 " 14 "
" 1897 " 23 "
" 1898 " 27 "
" 1899 " 29 "
" 1900 " 31 "
" 1901 " 37 "

and so on, rising to:

In 1908 at 64 offices
" 1909 " 66 "

staying between 64 and 67 until 1914.

There was no precancelling during the German occupation.

In 1918 1 office (Brussels) precancelled; the number again rises:

In 1919 at 16 offices
" 1920 " 82 according to Goldberg, probably an error for 62. Rich knows of 31 only.

From 1921 to 1929, the number of offices doing precancelling is not over 64 or 65.

In all, 109 offices have had precancels at one time or another. The excess of total number over that of any one year is due in good part to the introduction and passing of branch-office precancels, for such offices at Namur Station, Bruxelles Midi, Liege 1, Anvers R. de Jesus.

The first stamp to appear precancelled was the 1c gray of 1893, with the roller handstamp of Fig. 1. In that year appeared, with the familiar rectangular handstamp of date and year, the following: Anvers 1c, 2c brown 1886, Scott No. 55. Bruxelles 1c, 2c brown, 2c yellow. Liege 1c, 2c yellow. From Gand there is reported some precancelling in this year, but there is much doubt whether it took place. The 1c and the 2c both brown and yellow are reported as existing with Gand 1894 precancels. Rich believes that probably only the 1c exists. The 2c brown of 1886, miscalled 2c brown of 1869 by Goldberg (there is no 2c brown of 1869) is the great rarity among these precancels, and in fact among all Belgian precancels. It is rivalled closely by the 2c yellow with any precancellation, by the Charity stamps precancelled in 1911, and by the wrong position of several later printed precancels.

The various positions of precancellation rank as varieties. Some collectors separate them in addition according to whether or not the precancellation runs onto the Sunday tag. Usually positions alone (up, down, erect and invert) are bothered with. Double and even triple cancellations occur. A warning is here in place: a false appearance of double precancelling is often found where the imprints of successive applications of the rollers overlap in part.

At the start the name of the main office alone was used on precancels. In 1896 Charleroi Station and Malines Station, branch offices, issued precancels; but the main offices for these did not precancel until many years later. With 1901 Bruxelles adds a branch office precancellation, Bruxelles R. Chancellerie; and within the next few years several other branch-offices supplement the main office, in various cities. Charleroy had two different branch office precancels, both in use in 1905, but did not issue main office precancels till many years later. In 1912 numbered branch stations, Gand 1 and Liege 1 appear, with almost entire cessation of main office precancelling at these cities. Since the war, these numbered branch offices no longer precancel; but Brasschaet 1 in 1919 only, and La Louviere 1 in later years, replaced their respective main offices.

Up to 1906 all precancels were handstamped, with a roller or rocker handstamp. In 1896 printed precancelling began. For Brussels it has been done at the government printery in Malines, where the stamps are printed. We therefore must call all Brussels printed precancel Bureau Prints. Handstamps for Brussels continue, but are not found in all years. The Brussels main-office handstamp is as yet unknown from 1907 and 1908; but the branch-office handstamps occur through these years and into 1910.

Printed precancellations were extended to Antwerp also—in 1906 according to Goldberg, but Rich has not seen them earlier than 1909.

In 1910 all Antwerp and Brussels precancels made on order were printed at the Malines factory, but handstamps were used locally, towards the end of the year, to supply deficiencies in precancelled stock required. It is highly probable that all Belgian printed precancels are Bureau Prints, made at Malines.

Until the end of 1899 all dates are given in four figures. From 1900 through 1909 all dates are in two figures: 00, 01, 02, etc. From 1910 onwards, both full and short dates occur, but not interchangeably. Certain places use full dates entirely; certain places use short dates entirely; and some places use different kinds of date in different years. There are particular years of short dates and of full dates in the printed precancellations. Except for 1923, printed precancellations have one definite position for each year. Most frequently they read downwards. Wrong positions of printed precancels are among the great rarities; but the novice need be warned again that, except for the 5 centimes from Brussels in this year, both positions occur fairly regularly in all 1923 printed precancellations.

Since 1910 precancelling has been bilingual, as a rule. Some smaller places, such as Brasschaet and Verviers continue monolingual precancelling to this day. Charleroy is the only place with monolingual printed precancellations since 1910.

During the World War, precancelling ceased in Belgium; but the precancelling

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY

NEWFOUNDLAND DICKINSON, 1929
By HARRY E. HUBER.

During July, 1929, supplies of 2c and 3c stamps of the Publicity series were received at St. John's, from the new contractors, Messrs. John Dickinson & Co., Ltd., Old Bailey, London, E. C. 4. As the former printers of this series, Messrs. Whitehead, Morris, Ltd., naturally refused to hand over the dies and printing plates which they had made for the production of the Publicity series, 1c to 30c, as issued Jan. 3, 1928, it became necessary for Messrs. Dickinson & Co., Ltd., to engrave new dies, and manufacture the necessary printing plates, before they could start producing the much needed stamp supplies to Newfoundland.

They naturally directed their attention to the three lower denominations, 1c, 2c and 3c, seeing that these are in greatest local demand. The letter rate on town letters is 2c, and to the outports and the Labrador, 3c.

The stock of the 2c and 3c stamps of the Whitehead, Morris printing having exhausted, stamps of the Dickinson printing were issued on Saturday, August 10, 1929.

The stamps were line engraved and recess printed on unwatermarked paper, in sheets of 100 (10 x 10), and perforated comb 13½ x 13½. In the Whitehead, Morris printing the 2c and 3c were comb perforated 14, and the 3c in addition, single line 13½ x 13. The Dickinson colors are also very much brighter, the 2c being red instead of deep carmine, and the 3c red-brown, instead of a dull brown.

The Whitehead, Morris designs were faithfully copied, and while the appearance of the stamps is changed, it is difficult to pick upon the differences to enable ready identification of the Dickinson productions.

In the 2c there are minor differences in the scrolls in the upper and lower corners. At the right of the vignette, two berries are shown in the foliage in the Whitehead, Morris engraving, whereas in the Dickinson printing there is but one. The smoke from the steamer is more dense on the Dickinson production. The final "D" of "Newfoundland" is much nearer the upper right scroll than in the Whitehead, Morris printing.

The appearance of the 3c Dickinson is greatly improved; much shading has been eliminated from Their Majesties' faces, and King George V no longer has the ghastly countenance which Whitehead, Morris gave him. The pillars at the side, which were plain in the Whitehead, Morris printing, are now vertically lined; and the upper thistle in the lower left corner is much better drawn, and larger, than previously. The horizontal label at the top of the stamp is now horizontally lined only, instead of cross hatched.

August 10, 1929. Publicity series. Reengraved and recess printed by Messrs. John Dickinson & Co., Ltd., London. Unwatermarked. Perforated comb 13½ x 13½.

2c red (s. s. Caribou).

Surcharged THREE CENTS on 6c Pictorial 1929

The first consignment (received in July and issued Aug. 10) of the 2c and 3c Publicity series, from Messrs. Dickinson & Co., Ltd., was so small, that the 3c exhausted in three days, and the 2c in the following week, and to conserve the stock of the 1c stamps, it became necessary for the postal authorities to consider means for supplying the much needed 3c denomination.

Accordingly, in the following week, practically the whole of the remainder stock (100,000) of the 6c slate, Upper Steadies, Humber River, of the pictorial series of July 9, 1923, was sent to the King's Printer at St. John's, D. R.

Thistle, who proceeded to reduce them by surcharging to THREE CENTS.

The setting of the overprint was of 25 subjects (5 x 5), and consisted of "THREE—CENTS", in two lines of caps (measuring 13 and 12½mm respectively), with a horizontal bar (the width of the stamp, 22mm) cancelling the original denomination at the foot of the stamp. The vertical overall measurement of the overprint is 12mm.

The margins were removed from sheets of 100 of the 6c pictorial, and divided into panes of 25, before the overprint in red was applied.

On some stamps of the pane the letters H and R of THREE are considerably out of alignment, and on No. 7 of the setting there is a partially raised space bar in front of CENTS. This is constant, as I have seen it on three panes, and on several blocks.

The surcharged THREE CENTS on 6c unexpectedly appeared on sale at the G. P. O., St. John's, on Friday morning, at 10 o'clock, August 23rd, and as urgent outport requisitions, were cared for partially, over 60,000 were disposed of the first day. Sales were limited to 100 to a person.

On Saturday morning, August 24th, to further conserve stock, letters were taken in with cash, and the stamps affixed by the postal clerks. No 3c stamps were sold unless the purchaser produced the letters for which they were intended. This naturally brought forth complaints from those who had failed to secure supplies of the surcharged stamp on the first day of sale.

Fresh supplies of 3c stamps were expected on Monday, August 26th, by the cross country express from Port aux Basques. However, unless substantial lots are received, it may be necessary for the authorities to resort again to surcharging.

Of the 6c slate, two consignments were received between 1923 and 1927, from Messrs. Whitehead, Morris, Ltd., totalling 250,000; in addition, 6,111 were sold to stamp dealers by the office of the High Commissioner for Newfoundland in London. On June 30, 1927, there were 166,000 of the 6c pictorial in the G. P. O. vaults at St. John's, and 1,309 in the Wholesale Dept.

At the end of March, 1929, only the 6c, 8c and 15c of the pictorial series of 1923 were to be had at the G. P. O., St. John's, and the 15c it was expected would exhaust about July or August, 1929.

August 23, 1929. Provisional. Pictorial series of 1923, line engraved and recess printed by Messrs. Whitehead, Morris, Ltd., London. Unwatermarked. Comb perforated 14 x 13½, Overprinted in red, by the King's Printer, D. R. Thistle, St. John's, "THREE—CENTS" in two lines, with horizontal bar cancelling the original denomination.
THREE CENTS on 6c slate (100,000).

BUSH OF BELLEFONTE

Mr. George T. Bush of Bellefonte, Pa., was in attendance at the recent convention at Minneapolis, and it seemed as though it was yesterday since we saw him last, although in reality nearly forty years have elapsed since last we met. With the years, his responsibilities have grown but his crowded hours have not dispossessed stamps from his mind, by any means. On the contrary, he is the personification of philatelic zeal; and, too, he is constantly on the alert to tell of the attractions of his pursuit. Mr. Bush has obtained much publicity for stamps in newspapers and otherwise, and he tunes in well with the swelling chorus that is being heard by unphilatelic ears, with results that are encouraging. Among his activities, authorship is one and we have just received from him a bound book of 190 pages that he published in 1911, entitled, "40,000 Miles Around the World." It is "a personal narrative of the experiences and impressions of an energetic traveler who crossed the equator and the Arctic Circle in the tour" and is written in a characteristic style.

We find in the Centre Democrat, Bellefonte, Pa., Sept. 5th, an article that recounts some of his observations on his recent convention trip and from it we take the following story:

"He was gone a little over three weeks, leaving here by train to Pittsburgh, thence by bus to Cleveland, where he attended a national convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans, in which convention he was honored by being made chairman of the Finance Committee for the convention and also a member of the Committee on Resolutions, and afterwards appointed by the new president one of a committee of three as a pe nent budget and finance committee.

OF
UNITED STATES — "BANK NOTE" ISSUES
I have purchased this well known collection to improve my considerable stock of these issues, for which I see a great future.
I should appreciate offers of fine collections of this group of stamps, especially wanted are rare and fine cancellations, perfection copies with ordinary cancellations and good plate varieties, such as double entries, etc., etc.
I am arranging this great collection in my approval books, which are grouped as follows:—
I. Stamps on Covers.
II. Rare Cancellations.
III. Cheap and ordinary cancellations in perfection copies.
IV. Plate varieties, re-entries, double impressions, grill varieties, stitch watermark, etc., etc.
A large number of books of each group are now priced and can be sent to collectors if they will inform me which group they care to see. [18

STOLEN PHILIPPINES STAMPS

By PERCY A. HILL.

MANILA, August 9, 1929.

"Owing to the recent abstraction from the Bureau of Posts of big quantities of two-peso postage stamps, the use of such stamps effective today is hereby prohibited throughout the Philippine Islands. All persons who have purchased two-peso stamps from any post office have the right to have them exchanged at any post office with stamps of other denominations within eight (8) days in Manila, twelve (12) days in place along the railroad line, and twenty-five (25) days in all other places."—RUIZ.

The above telegram sent by the acting Director of Posts, Mr. Juan Ruiz, to all postmasters, is due to the abstraction or theft of some P217,800 pesos worth of postage stamps by the employees of the Bureau of Posts, all due to an utter lack of auditing and a general carelessness pervading not only the Bureau of Posts but many others.

The telegram states that owing to abstraction of large quantities of the P2 stamps their use on mail is to be prohibited, and that anyone possessing them can turn them in for other denominations within 8 days in Manila, 12 days along the railroad line and 25 days in other places. This is being done with a view of locating the thieves as the box containing the P2 was found to have 2 centavo stamps as substitutes, and the press states that this systematic stealing has been going on since 1924, due to general laxity.

In fact the careless way the post office has been run for some time is not only detrimental to the government but highly unethical as regards philately. We have the famous imperforates printed for a gentleman who paid P10,000 for the purpose, then the limited and cornered air mail commemorative set of 1926, and lastly those overprinted for the London-Orient Flight.

Of the latter there should have been 6,000 full sets. At least about 1,000 were sold to the public, it is said. 200 were sent to the Washington Agency, a large number fell into the hands of the committee who were in charge of detecting errors, and we understand that the Director of Posts took a large number to London, where he attended the Postal Congress, and later cabled the Secretary of Commerce and Communications for authority to dispose of same. Why he took them first and asked for permission afterwards is not known.

Many of our philatelists had money deposited with the P. O. before issuance for these sets, but it was returned with the information, "No stamps available." Personally I was unable to purchase a single set from any post office. Very naturally everyone would like to find out the exact disposal of this issue but we are afraid they will be disappointed. That the stamps were issued for legitimate purposes nobody can deny, but it is the manner in which they are disposed of, which irritates and in view of the wholesale discoveries of stamp peculations by employees and other shady deals which discredits the whole transaction. In relation to the loss of the P2 stamps, dealers should be on the alert if these are offered for sale to them.

For arranging and writing-up Collections

In claiming the above our record of the last five years is testimony

At the International Exhibitions held in England, Belgium, Holland, Norway, France, United States, Strasbourg, Luxembourg

Collections written-up and arranged by us have secured the following

AWARDS

Highest Awards and Trophies	Eighteen
Gold Medals	Fifty-eight
Silver Gilt Medals	Forty
Silver Medals	Eight
Bronze Medals	Six

In addition to the above a special Gold Medal offered at the Brussels Exhibition for the best arranged and written-up Collection exhibited was awarded to one which was entirely our work.

A Record which cannot be approached by any other Firm

We have mentioned only the Collections which have been placed in open Competitions but there are also a large number of others such as the "Harold Row" Collection of Siam in the British Museum (22 volumes).
Indian Government Collection in the Calcutta Museum (17 volumes).
United States, owned by a leading American Collector (40 volumes).
And others too numerous to mention.

Ninety per cent of the above Collections were written-up in our famous "Copper-plate" style, but we are able to offer the choice of three distinct types which we consider equally unapproachable.

EDITORIALS

AT a time that is opportune, the beginning of the stamp season, the idea of stamp clubs for boys and girls is spreading like wild-fire in several cities and we must do everything in our power to encourage its practical application. In Chicago, there has been for years, collectors' clubs in the high schools and similar institutions, as well as a few churches. Not long ago, Carson, Pirie, Scott & Company, started its stamp society as a consequence of the visit of Mr. Rothschild, and then, the Myers Publishing Company, with its string of nearly a dozen community newspapers, came forth as the sponsor of a strong club. Now, some of the big movie houses are doing effective work as is shown by the text of the following circular with the picture of a girl and two boys poring over a stamp album that makes an effective graphic display: "Boys and Girls, Free Stamps and Albums every Saturday Matinee at the Belmont Theatre, 1635 Belmont Avenue. Every boy and girl will receive a package of genuine foreign stamps free every Saturday afternoon. 50 stamp albums will also be given away free every Saturday. Parents will find it advisable to encourage their children to attend these Matinees and take advantage of this exceptional offer—stamp collecting is educational and profitable. Join our stamp club. No extra charge at these Matinees. Come every Saturday." The cut of an open stamp album is shown to loan point to the words.

A SOURCE of gratification to collectors is the volume of publicity that is an aftermath of the recent stamp conventions. Too, the tone of the notices is friendly as a rule and the comments exhibit a degree of intelligence that is of an improved order. That discerning publication, Time, in its issue of September 2, 1929, with "Philatelists" as its theme gives over a column based on the recent convention of the American Philatelic Society. The story is well told and gives a list of the ten most valuable stamps in the world and quotes Mr. Hind as saying: "I had collected stamps for about 30 years without ever being in any way connected with any stamp organization or club . . . which entitles me to the claim of being fairly modest as a stamp collector—up to April, 1922, when I became the owner of the world's rarest stamp. . . . The outcome of all this notoriety is that I have had thousands of letters offering stamps of all kinds. . . ." There is no doubt that the presence of Mr. Hind and his stamps loaned a handle to the exhibition that the publicists found it easy to grasp.

A CARD from Mr. LeRoy Berger, Paris, advises us that the French Colonial Stamp Agency has removed to 80 Rue de Faubourg, Sant Denis, Paris (X). However, we have had this address of the Agence Compatable des Timbre-postes Coloniaux for some time; and it is distinct and apart from that of 52, rue du Louvre, Paris, where the French issues and those of Algeria, Morocco, Tunis, and other offices in Africa may be bought, although we know that there is an Agency at Algiers. We wish to compile a list of the Agencies of the world from information that is such as to be wholly dependable, and any assistance in this task will be appreciated. Information that is suggested by the following remarks that we have made previously will be acceptable: if satisfactory relations are to be a consequence of patronizing philatelic agencies, it is necessary, it seems, that prospective customers understand the regulations that govern their workings.

SOON after the current eleven cent stamp, U. S., appeared in light blue, correspondents occasionally submitted variants of the color in greenish-blue that fairly could be dismissed as decided shades such as may have resulted from any one of a variety of causes. Some time ago, a lot of the stamps were found in a green that was so definite as to call for consideration, and the opinion of competent observers was that the color deserved recognition as a real variety. We have been informed that in various sections of the country, the green eleven cent stamp has been found, but we are told that while when seen alone, it is convincing, in comparison with the "real" green, it is not the true example. At best, the question of which is the accepted "error" is somewhat complicated, and it is likely that a good many arrows will be shot before the bull's-eye is hit.

AT a recent meeting of the Chicago Philatelic Society, Mrs. M. C. Shaughnessy, the assistant philatelic agent, was a guest and was prevailed upon to make a few general remarks on the subject of the work of her department and to answer questions asked by members. The improvement in handling orders recently has been noticed by patrons; and the time is anticipated when orders may be filled with promptness, although when new stamps come in number, some difficulty in caring for a sudden access of business may be found. Much work was entailed by the demand for the George Rogers Clark stamp, and it had a tendency to slow down the operations of the agency, since this stamp was singularly popular and it is possible that market-wise it will give a good account of itself. Mrs. Shaughnessy, who was in Chicago en route from Minneapolis, was directed to proceed to Ohio to have a directing hand in the distribution of the Fallen Timbers stamps.

THE following letter was received some time ago from Mr. L. L. McMahon, Detroit, Michigan: "I notice with approval that you do not spend much time in boosting stamps because of their investment possibilities. The wisdom of your course is unquestioned and loose talk of money-making as an incentive to collecting may result in disastrous experiences by those who have no idea of marketing. However, I have sold stamps at different times because of changes in collecting courses with results that were not unhappy, especially when my last experience is taken into consideration. I have made it a practice for a good many years to buy the newly-issued U. S. at face, and wishing to dispose of my sheets because of my frequent changes of base and the unhandiness of carrying them with me, I sold them at a profit that was forty per cent. of their cost price." While no list of the stamps is submitted yet it is easy to believe in view of the demand for U. S. 20th century that the story is no exceptional one.

IF the correspondent whose letter referring to Dr. John Milton Holt, once publisher of Everybody's Philatelist, was published in our issue dated January 16, 1928, will address us, he will receive information of interest to him. We recently received a request for news of Mr. S. B. Bradt, one of the organizers and the first secretary of the American Philatelic Society, which we are unable to furnish. An effort has been made to find Mr. Bradt in Chicago without result.

SEVERAL weeks ago, Stamp Collecting says that it rubbed the editorial eye when on a wireless programme, the announcement was made that the Rev. Mr. Earee was to give a talk on "How to detect forged stamps," since the late-lamented author of the classic, "All Weeds," had died some time ago. transpires that it was the Rev. Wyndl Earee who was to make the broadc and it is reasonable to assume that speaker was a relative of the reve author whose name and fame were well known in the days that are past.

A. P. S. CONVENTION AUCTI

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

On August 22, 1929, the Rotnem Sta Company sold at the Hodgson Build Minneapolis, a collection of asso United States and Foreign stamps and off cover. This was the Convent and Exhibition auction, and as a res nearly a hundred people were in atte ance, in fact, few stamp auctions h had more. This year, the auction p ceeded smoothly and in fast order, the auctioneer was not an amateur. H ever, the sale was long drawn out should be an indication to those hold future sales to make up the auction about 300 choice lots instead of which was the case in Minneapolis. a result, many of the lots were scan over quickly and a number of pieces importance were hardly appreciated.

There were 46 lots of Patriotic cov which sold from 60c up to $45, the la price being paid for a Lincoln w Richey Mallory & Co., purple stic with label, "No Extension of Slaver The cover was franked and addressed the Third Assistant Postmaster Gene A 3c pink on colored shield cover s at $10, an Indian Head in colors fancy borders with inscriptions at $15. a Rhoads' Battery, with four moun horses drawing cannon at $15.25, an Flag on stampless cover with green Bi ingham, Pa., "Paid" and "3" sold at $

Among the stampless covers, pri from 30c to $7.50 prevailed for individ pieces, the higher prices being paid fancy designs in odd colors. A Colu bus, Miss., in saw tooth star, described a rarity, brought $4, a Port Gibson, Mi in large egg-shaped circle sold at $3. a City Despatch in red brought $1, a a Franklin, Tenn., in greenish blue fancy double line circle sold at $3.25.

In the case of stamps on covers, t singles of the 5c New York sold at $

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

Announcement recently from Washington that P. O. Dept. plans combined airmail-special delivery service, by which letters would be transported by shortest possible schedule, whether by air, rail or both, depending on route, time mailed, and other factors. Single charge to cover the entire service, and a special stamp to be issued. Details later.Anyone interested in Italian air mail should obtain the complete and beautifully illustrated catalog of Italian flights just published by Giulio Landman, Corse Vittorio Emanuele, 22, Milan, Italy—published at 15 Lire.Henry O. Meisel asks me to call attention to the first convention of the American Flying Mail Ass'n at Milwaukee, Oct. 7th. Details may be had from Mr. Meisel at Clintonville, Wis.

OFFICIAL FLIGHTS

Zeppelin covers addressed to Japan just received. Some backstamped Tokio Aug. 19, some not backstamped, but having the cachet "Friedrichshafen (Bodensee)-Tokio." Covers mailed from Tokio are postmarked Aug. 21, and bear a round rose cachet in English.Newspaper reports are conflicting as to another trans-Atlantic trip in October.

Recent shuttle transcontinental refueling flight did not carry mail officially, reports that it would, notwithstanding. The Boeing Co. individually accepted 1 letter per collector which they cacheted, carried, and mailed at Hempstead, N. Y. Mail sent to their office, or to the Oakland P. M. was so handled, but all mail sent to San Francisco was returned to senders.Allan M. Thatcher shows me a cover mailed at Atlanta Mar. 1st, date of the C. A. M. 25 extension, which was in the river-soaked lot, and which was received bearing a typed statement to that effect, signed by P. O. Inspector Ward. St. Joseph, Mo., may already have been placed on route 28, according to last week's stop press item—but if not, get busy, as it soon will happen.

Barend Beek, Jr., confirms a former statement that but 534 letters arrived in Miami via the first flight from Santiago. Figures for Cristobal are not reported.First mail from Brownsville direct to Guatemala on F. A. M. 8 left at 7.30 A. M. Sept. 1. Vera Cruz backstamped Sept. 2, and covers via Vera Cruz for Mexico City were backstamped there the 3rd. Leslie A. Boone reports that very few letters made the first trip, due to the very short notice. No cachet.If you are interested in a list of existing Mexican contract routes, ask your postmaster to show you the Postal Bulletin of Sept. 5.

Plans are working out for two new F. A. M's. No. 9 is to be extended from Santiago Chile, across the Andes to Buenos Aires, Argentina. Present reports name Oct. 14 for the first flight. Ask your P. M. if the Bulletin has published the rates yet—if not, send some covers and a money order to the respective Postmasters and ask them to mail as many as possible for your money. First mail will doubtless leave Miami and Cristobal, as well as Santiago and Buenos Aires. The New York, Rio, and Buenos Aires Air lines expect to open an east coast service about Dec. 1, via Tampa, Cuba, Haiti, Sto.-Domingo, Porto Rico, Guadeloupe, Martinique, Trinidad, Dutch Guiana, Venezuela, Uruguay, Brazil, and Argentina. Nothing more definite yet, but keep your eyes open! If any of you get more details, please let us have them at once.

UNOFFICIAL FLIGHTS, CACHETS, DEDICATIONS

Well, here's the record to date. Dedications first. Stockton, Calif., July 4-6, no cachet; Logan, Utah, typed statement signed by C. of C. Sec.; Cedar Lawn Airport, Kenton, Ohio, Sept. 4th—red square cachet by C. of C.; Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 2—red 5 line cachet by Scenic Airways, Inc., in coöperation with the postmaster; Danville, Ill.—no cachet so far as I know for Sept. 7 and 8; Salinas, Calif., Sept. 2—big red one signed by Mayor, Legion Commander, and Pres. of C. of C. (who can clear up the earlier cachet mentioned a couple of weeks ago?); Excelsior Springs, Mo., Sept. 2—picture of "The World's Best Mineral Baths"—1500 in green, 500 purple, 800 red—different colors used as the C. of C. rubber stamps ran out of ink—all mail carried by an N. A. T. plane to Kansas City, and there mailed.—1900 signed by the Mayor, 125 by the P. M., 15 by the pilot, and John McKenzie sends me one with Postmaster, Mayor, Pres. Flying Club, Sec. C. of C., and Pilot. Thanks!

Wagner, S. D., Aug. 8—no cachet; Newark, N. Y., Sept. 2-3, lines in purple; Chanute, Kans., Sept. 7, 8—reddish purple in 4 lines, signed by Mayor and Pres. of C. of C.; Amarillo, Tex., Sept. 7—a very neat blue pictorial; Ames Field, Philipsburg, Pa., big, round cachet in purple, flown to Cleveland and there cancelled.Iowa City, Iowa, cachet mentioned before was for an aircraft expo.The Ardmore Lindy cachet was privately applied.Harry Peterson mailed an N. A. T. anniversary cover in New York addressed to Jersey City, and somebody kindly routed it all the way to Chicago and back; Huntington, W. Va., opened a new port Sept. 2, but I know of no covers for the event.Dunkirk and Fredonia dedication covers were not all cancelled in Buffalo, but some were mailed through the local offices as well.Syracuse, N. Y., C. of C. received a lot of covers for "Air Races" that were really only auto races, but they fixed it up by making a cachet for the stop of the Phila.-Cleveland Derby—350 mailed.

The cachet from St. Louis Sept. 1, 2, 3 is a masterpiece of its class—shows the refuelling planes in action, and gives the whole story of the event without crowding the cachet. Very pretty.Craterville Park, Okla., cancelled in blue ink for the State Indian Fair Aug. 29-31.Leland C. Lewis, 132 Lenox Ave., Oneida, N. Y., asks that all who sent covers for the Air Circus cachet send return envelopes, as the cachet will only be applied on special envelopes for which a 20c fee is charged.German Cruiser Emden on a round-the-world cruise is using a special cancellation so stating, and Lt. Johnson mails me one from Honolulu. It yill make a nice companion for the Zepp. cover—wartime and peacetime fame, etc. J. P. Penning says the special flight Cleveland-Washington covers have been lost, strayed, or stolen, and anyone getting offers of these is urgently requested to report at once.Ohio River stamp will receive a special 1st day cachet by Homestead, Pa., C. of C., and C.A.M. 11 applies another to airmail from Pittsburgh or Homestead. Send cash or M. O. with addressed covers, to C. of C. or J. P. Penning, 124 E. Eugene, respectively. Homestead signed by Pilot, P. M. and Sec. C. of C. for 30c, including postage — Pittsburgh Pilots 10c extra as usual.

On the way: Bethlehem, Pa.—dedication Oct. 5, 6—to C. of C. or to Chas. W. Eckert, 713 High St.Saginaw, Mich., not till next year, but C. of C. holds covers.Savannah,

The Standard Airpost Catalogue
1930 (World) Edition—4th Year
(Formerly "The American Airmail Catalogue")

This edition is many times the size of previous editions, for it includes Airpost stamps and covers of the entire world to date. It will be printed on a fine grade of paper, pocket size, attractively bound, and is unquestionably the finest Airpost Catalogue ever put on the market. It is the result of four years experience and study, for a catalogue—worthy of the name—cannot be produced in a day.

Our staff, aided by contributing experts from all parts of the world, has been at work on this World Edition since November, 1928, and it is a catalogue worthy of any Hobby. It is profusely illustrated from cover to cover. [tf

This page is primarily for you, the Junior collector. We are interested in what interests you and we want you to take possession of it, if in any way it can serve you.

We also invite the Senior collector to extend words of advice, encouragement and stimulation and thus develop in the Junior a real passion for Philately.

Bear in mind that two short articles of from 50 to 75 words read better than one long one. Address all communications to the Beverly office.

Pacchi Postale. — This inscription upon the parcel post stamps of Italy means "Postal Packets."

Pacific Steam Navigation Company.—An important English shipping company which was incorporated by Royal Charter in 1840. It began business with Chili and Peru and received a small subsidy for carrying the mails. When the Peruvian government first decided to issue stamps they were so skeptical as to the success of the innovation that, not wishing to incur a greater expense than absolutely necessary, they borrowed a supply of this Company's stamps and these thus formed the first governmental issue for Peru.

Packenmarke. — The inscription shown upon the 4 kop. stamp of Wenden issued in 1863 which was intended for use upon parcels only. The word means "Parcel stamp."

Packhoi.—A treaty port in the south of the province of Kwang-tung, China. A French postal agency has long been established at this port and since April, 1903, the Indo-China stamps used there have all been overprinted "Packhoi" or "Pakhoi."

Perce en Croix.—Another form of rouletting in which the cuts cross one another thus "xxxx". The only stamps we can call to mind as having been rouletted in this manner are some of the values of the 1866 issue of Portugal.

Perce en Lignes.—This is rouletting in lines, i.e., the style of rouletting most frequently met with in connection with postage stamps. In this form the roulettes are short straight cuts appearing with the same regularity as the holes in machine perforation.

Perce en Losanges.—In this form the roulettes form a series of diagonal cuts which have a diamond shaped appearance, or look like a number of lozenges placed end to end.

Perce en Scie.—This is zig-zag roulette — sometimes known to English speaking philatelists as saw-tooth roulette.

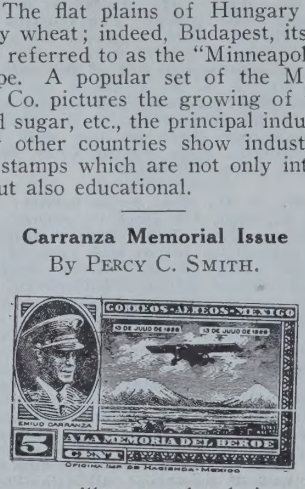
Industry Shown on Stamps

By MAX SCHACHTER.

The only Colonial possessions of France in North America, the two small islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, give us a striking example of how industry is portrayed on stamps. Opening our albums to this country, we see pictures of a fisherman, a seagull, and a fishing schooner, which clearly indicate this colony's main industry. The picturing of a pepper plant on one of Liberia's stamps tends to show that pepper growing is an industry in Liberia. The common Hungarian stamp showing the cutting of wheat reveals that country's main industry. The flat plains of Hungary grow mostly wheat; indeed, Budapest, its capitol, is referred to as the "Minneapolis" of Europe. A popular set of the Mozambique Co. pictures the growing of tobacco and sugar, etc., the principal industries. Many other countries show industry on their stamps which are not only interesting but also educational.

Carranza Memorial Issue

By PERCY C. SMITH.



Above we illustrate the design of the set issued as a memorial to that valiant aviator Emilio Carranza. The stamps are the same size as the Mexican air stamps and picture the plane used by Hero of the set. We understand that 100,000 sets were issued and contain the following values: 5c olive-green and dark brown, 10c dark brown and red, 15c violet and myrtle green, 20c brown and black, 50c chestnut and black, and 1 peso black and brown.

Bits of Information

Malmedy.—A German town awarded Belgium as a result of the World War. During the first six months of tenure, Belgium stamps were used overprinted "Eupen and Malmedy" in recognition of the award.

Recomendada. — An inscription shown on the 1881 registration stamps of the United States of Colombia, meaning, literally, "recommended."

Study Your Stamps

Deutsch Ostafrika. — German East Africa.

Deutsch Sudwestafrika. — German South-west Africa.

Diligencia. — The only inscription, apart from the value, shown upon the stamps forming the first issue for Uruguay.

D. J. — These letters overprinted upon the 5c stamps of the 1892 issue for Obock signify they were intended for use in Djibouti.

Dragons.—These, with a few Oriental characters, form the chief portion of the design of the early stamps of Japan.

Duc. di Parma.—Duchy of Parma.

Eagle.—A double-headed eagle forms the main design on many of the stamps of Austria, Austrian Italy, and Bosnia. In the case of the latter only the numerals of value are given; the stamps for Austria have values in "kreuzer" or "kr"; while those for Austrian Italy have value in "centes" or "soldi." A set for use in the Austrian Post Offices in the Levant can be distinguished by the value which is expressed as "sld" instead of "kr."

Egyptiennes.—Egypt.

Emp. Ottoman.—"Ottoman Empire" or Turkey.

Escuelas. — The only inscription shown on many of the stamps of Venezuela.

Espana.—Spain.

Estero.—This overprint on Italian stamps shows they were for use in the Post Offices maintained in the Turkish Empire.

Estensi.—The inscription identifying the stamps of Modena.

Figures. — None of the stamps of Brazil issued prior to 1866 bear any indication of their origin. The designs consist of large figures only (denoting the facial values) on an engraved background.

Franco.—This word, meaning "free", is the only inscription (other than the value) shown on some of the stamps of Switzerland.

Franco-Scrisorei. — An inscription shown on the early stamps of Roumania.

G.—This letter, overprinted on certain stamps of the Cape of Good Hope, signifies they were for use in Griqualand.

G. & D.—These letters, overprinted on certain French Colonial postage due stamps, show they were for use in Guadeloupe and Dependencies.

G. F. B.—These letters were overprinted on some of the stamps of Tonga to convert them into Official labels.

United States

Washington Notes

I am officially informed that after the appearance of the 2-cent Battle of Fallen Timbers stamp scheduled for September 14, and the 2-cent Ohio Canalization, to be issued October 12, that no further commemoratives of any type are contemplated between this time and the end of the year.

The Postal Bulletin of August 31, 1929, gives an official description of the 2-cent Canalization stamp from which we quote:

"The new stamp is the same size as the regular issue, 75/100 by 87/100 inch, but with horizontal design, and is printed in red ink. The central design represents an Ohio River lock with surrounding scenery. At the top of the stamp within a dark panel in white roman letters appear the words 'United States Postage.' Below on a ribbon scroll are the words 'Ohio River Canalization.' In both upper corners on extensions of the ribbon scroll are the dates '1875' at the left and '1929' at the right. At the bottom of the stamp in a dark panel with white edges is the word 'Cents' in white roman letters, and in both lower corners within circles with dark backgrounds appears the white numeral '2'. The entire stamp is enclosed in a narrow white border."

The only commemorative which is being given serious consideration for appearance next year is the Massachusetts tercentenary variety which will possibly appear in the spring. Demand from this state for such a variety has been made and will no doubt receive strong support from the Congressional delegation of Massachusetts.

It is also expected that after the first of the year, the new general series will begin to appear. One of our contemporaries mentions that under the present law the Postmaster General is authorized to issue commemorative stamps not to exceed four in any one year. This subject was taken up with the Post Office Department and we are informed that no such law exists. As a matter of fact, three commemoratives have already appeared, namely, the Clark, Edison and Sullivan, and two more are about to make their appearance, namely, the Fallen Timbers and Ohio Canalization, making five in this year alone. The Department is under the opinion that Mr. Brown in one of his announcements may have stated that he would limit his recommendations to four commemoratives a year, but that at present, there is no law limiting the actions of the Postmaster General.

The daily papers are carrying articles and editorials regarding the Post Office deficit, and several means are suggested to cut this deficit, such as the raising of first class postal rate from 2c to 2½c or 3c, the issuing of Department stamps, so that each Department will pay for its postal uses, the limiting of the Congressional frank, etc. No mention has been made of the raising of the rates on magazines and periodicals, which helps to cause the largest deficit of the several classes of mail. A survey is now being made by the Third Assistant Postmaster General, and no doubt, his report will be available sometime after the new session of Congress starts in December. The Postmaster General will make recommendations based upon this survey which will possibly result in a bill that will give us something new and of interest to philately.

Minor Varieties—Current Series

Mr. H. Markham submits for inspection a copy of the current 7c McKinley rotary, showing a scratch in the center oval to the left of the portrait.

Mr. Malcolm H. Ganser submits a block of the ½c flat plate variety, showing a small white cap on the fraction bar of the left figure "½." As the variety is found on every stamp in a large block, it is no doubt due to a defect in one of the transfer rolls. The block submitted for inspection bore no plate number, and Mr. Ganser does not mention from what plate the variety was taken.

New Envelopes

Mr. P. R. Crooker submits for inspection a copy of the new 2-cent red on amber die A2, size 13. So far, this new die has now been seen on all papers, namely —white, blue and amber. The envelope in question bears the return card of an individual of Worcester, Mass.

Philippines

Clippings from the Manila Bulletin of August 8 and August 9 have been submitted, wherein statement is made that the Bureau of Posts has just discovered that 50,000 2 peso stamps have been stolen and that an equal number of 2 centavos stamps have been substituted in their place. As a result of this action, the Acting Director of Posts has issued a notice which has been telegraphed to all post offices in the Island, stating that the 2 peso stamp is obsolete as of August 9th, and that they will not be recognized for postage hereafter. Sales are stopped in all offices and an effort is being made to trace the stolen stamps, which, it is believed, have not as yet been placed upon the market.

At first, it was thought that the Bureau may have wrapped the wrong stamps in is, without doubt, going to be a very active one in stamps. There will be those who chase the elusive Air Mail—others who chase the Twentieth Century Sleeper—and still others, of the older school, who browse serenely in the fields of the fine old, staple classics — Ceres, Donna Marias, Cantonals, and pence issues. ITEMS—

WE are advised by Michael Miller, Baltimore, Md., that he has just recovered from a serious automobile accident, and his correspondence has necessarily been neglected. Matters will be adjusted shortly. Mr. Miller will have the sympathy of his many friends in the serious accident that he sustained.

WE are indebted to Dave Goodfriend, Salinas, Calif., for a local American Legion airport dedication cover. It is dated Sept. 2 and bears the autographs of the Mayor, Commander of the American Legion and the President of the Chamber of Commerce.

PERCY C. DAVENPORT of the Metropolitan Stamp Co., who was in Portland at the 63rd National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic during the week of Sept. 8-13, as a representative of the Sons of Union Veterans, paid the WEEKLY office a couple of pleasant calls. Our Business Manager, Mr. Jewett, regrets the lack of time he had to spend at the office and attention he could give to stamp visitors, as he was busy from "early morning till early the next morning" with duties devolving upon him as chairman of the committee on program and transportation as well as member of several other active committees.

AS TO BUSINESS REFERENCES

No collector or dealer is permitted to use the WEEKLY as a reference. If the name of one of the firm is used as a reference be sure and follow up the matter. BE SUSPICIOUS.

A NEW 4c NEWFOUNDLAND

N. Y. C., Sept. 14.

In my domestic mail, which generally consists of bills, advertisements, invitations to policemen's and bricklayers' balls, etc., I discovered last night a letter from Newfoundland. Thanks to my well cultivated philatelic "complex" I at once stated to my audience, consisting of my daughter, that the 4c stamp on the letter looked strange to me. Before even diving into the soup plate, I dashed upstairs, got out my album of 20th Century British Colonials and saw that in spite of my not-all-too-good eyesight, my impression had been correct, because the stamp has been reduced in almost every detail.

To the inexperienced eye, the most striking feature is the much smaller head of the Prince, the new stamp making him appear older and noticeably thinner than the original stamp on which he has too much of a boyish appearance. On closer examination, one will discover a change in almost every detail, aside from the color which is practically the same as before, called in the good old days claret or wine red, both terms now being obsolete, so far as the U. S. is concerned.

The three feathers at top are shorter and no longer infringe on the value above, the fruit to the right and left of the feathers, which on the old stamp looked like apples, are on the new stamp more like peaches, and the rosettes at either margin have been changed into circles, while all the scrolls are very much altered, those emerging into the lower two corners having been turned upward into a double circle, and so on.

The engraver certainly made a perfectly new design of the stamp, and still, in view of the same color and general appearance, it will require more than one look to ascertain which is which.

DEATH OF C. A. CARROLL

A letter from C. C. Cole, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., advises us of the sudden death of Chas. A. Carroll, our Bureau Print editor. It is with great regret that this announcement is made, and in our next issue we shall give more details.

GREETINGS FROM ACKERMAN

Greetings are at hand from Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, member of congress, Plainfield, N. J. Mr. Ackerman is on an extended tour of Europe, and the cover before us is handsomely decorated with the 10c, 15c, and one lire San Marino stamps, indicating Mr. Ackerman's visit to that little republic. These stamps are all bi-colored and make a pretty combination.

SWISS AIR MAIL STAMPS

By PERCY C. SMITH.

wo handsome air mail stamps of the re type have been placed on sale. The es are 35c red and buff, and 40c ow-green and blue. The issue is un- ermarked and perf. 11½, and are ted in sheets of 25 (5 x 5).

the packages, but it was found that the packages had been tampered with.

The stamp to which reference is made is the Perf. 11, unwatermarked, Scott's No. 301. No doubt, a stamp of new design will be ordered immediately from the Bureau, and in the meantime, it would not be surprising to find that a provisional issue is made to take care of immediate requirements.

The clipping states that four Manila Post Office chiefs face serious charges and tells the story of other irregularities that have been occurring in connection with the Post Office Department.

No doubt, arrangements will be made whereby those who have acquired their stamps in a legitimate way will be given new stamps in exchange for the old ones.

New issues from Mr. R. Roberts, our London correspondent, are reported as follows:

Brazil.—200 reis, olive-grey, design A75, watermarked CASA DA MOEDA in large block capitals, 700 reis, reddish mauve, and 1,000 reis, sky blue, both type A76, watermarked E U BRASIL in block capitals all over. Both types are perf. 13 x 12½.

Iceland.—The 50 aur, air mail stamp noted in our issue of last week as in grey and claret, has also been received in grey and reddish mauve.

Portugal.—A private stamp for the Geographical Society of Lisbon of the same type as the 1927 issue but in blue-yellow and carmine, perf. 11½, no watermark has been received.

Uruguay.—New Parcel Post stamps, Grange Service, of the 1c violet (rectangular), 10c orange, 15c blue, 20c bistre brown, 25c carmine, 50c lilac grey, 75c purple and 1P pea green (all triangular) values are at hand. They are lithographed, perf. 11 on unwatermarked paper. The 1c is printed in sheets of 100, while the other values (which are triangular) are in sheets of 50 (5 rows 10), each stamp of course being tete-beche. Two values of postage due stamps in type D1, are also reported. They are the 1c blue-green and 10c grey-green, lithographed, and printed by the National Printing Works, with "Imprenta Nacional" at the foot. The perforation is 11, and the paper is unwatermarked. There are many little transfer varieties, which appear to be constant, especially in the word "CENTESIMOS."

Whitfield King & Co. of Ipswich, England, call our attention to these new items:

Eritrea.—The 20c claret, design A49, and 50c violet, A86, stamps of Italy have been surcharged "Colonia Eritrea" in black.

Russia. — Two stamps picturing a trumpeter have been issued as an Assembly Commemorative set. The design is an upright oblong format and the values are 10k brown and 14k slate. They bear the year date and figures of value at the foot.

The Economist Stamp Co. of New York report that they have received from Ecuador the 5c type A74, in pale bistre brown and 10c, type A75, in grey-black.

Paraguay.—7c lilac, type A47, surcharged "Correo Aereo Habilitado en $0:95" in three lines in black.

China. — According to information noted in the Swedish International Press Bureau the Nanking government has granted the request of the well-known Swedish explorer, Dr. Sven Hedin, to be allowed to issue special stamps at a nominal value of 5,000 Mexican dollars as a contribution to the cost of the largest scientific expedition which has ever entered Northern China, and is now being conducted under his direction. It is further reported that Dr. Hedin has been authorised to make an agreement with a European or American firm of philatelists to take over the issue with exception of a certain number of series, which is to be sold to the public of China.

Hayti.—The following is printed in the Port au Prince newspaper Le Matin: "Monsieur Andre Chevallier, the energetic Administrator of Posts, has shown us proofs of two new stamps which will shortly be put in circulation. One of them, that which commemorates the settlement of the boundary affair, bears a photograph of the President of the Republic, together with the dates of the ratification of the Treaty. The other is a stamp for aerial correspondence. In the foreground is a view of Port Haitien from the air, with blue mountains and coconut palms and a large aeroplane flying overhead. It is a most artistic conception on which the postal administration is to be felicitated."

Switzerland.—The Philatelic Magazine learns from Mr. E. W. Holland of Geneva that the annual series of Pro Juventute stamps will this year be double the size of the normal stamps and will be as noted below:

5c, designed by Francois Gos, of Geneva, representing in a violet surround, the setting sun on Lake Lugano, with San Salvatore in the background.

10c, by Edouard Boss, of Berne, representing the Engshlenese at the foot of the Titlis, in a green frame.

20c, by the same artist, showing Lyskamm as seen from Riffelberg, in a red frame.

30c, by Antoine Stockmann, of Stans. Figure of Nicolas de Flue, the colors of this value not being stated.

rollers were occasionally used on parcel post, not for precancelling, during this period. With the expulsion of the invaders, precancelling was resumed. We find Brussels precancels of 1918 date, on the 1 centime stamp, and it is probable that certain reported precancels dated 1914 on this 1c of 1915 are also December, 1918 products. With 1919 the 2c also enters into precancellation. In this year we find two handstamps used at Brussels: the pre-war one with Flemish name above date, and a new one with French name above. Curiously enough, the date is in different sizes and faces of type in the two handstamps. The old handstamp is not used after 1920. With 1921 and the flight of the franc, the 3c stamp is extensively precancelled; and with 1922 the 5c also enters the field. With 1922 printed precancelling is resumed. In this same year the Tin Hat 2c was precancelled with handstamp at Brussels. Goldberg reports the 1c Tin Hat as a scarce 1922 item. With 1927 the 10c is added to the range of precancels. In this same year surcharged stamps, 3c on 2c, and 10c on 15c begin to be precancelled. 1927 surcharge precancels are rather scarce; but in 1928 they are plentiful; they are not scarce in 1929. The 10c, whether the regular green stamp or the surcharged one, is plentiful as a precancel in 1928. This is in contrast to the condition in 1927, when only Antwerp and Brussels used the 10c.

The edges of the sheets of printed precancels have an interesting inscription. In French it reads: "Timbresposte valables jusqu'au fin Fevrier—" and year after that of precancellation; the Flemish equivalent is also given. Handstamped precancels lack this marginal imprint.

In roller precancels the ink is gray-black, black and purple. The early years, up to about 1905, are entirely in black or gray-black; after that purple ink is introduced gradually. From 1923 onwards it is the dominant ink. The ink is often fatty and strikes through the stamp. Purple imprints are often most easily recognized by the back of the stamp, as the purple ink often appears black when the precancellation is heavy. Handstamped precancels are most erratic: the cancellation is often split across two stamps, often is doubled, and fairly often is crookedly placed.

At Brussels two sizes of date were used, from the very start. Short and tall figures exists in each year up through 1906. Goldberg reports tall figures in two varieties in 1904: narrow and wide. Rich has not been able to find this difference. Antwerp has a variety in 1897, with large 97 and small 18 in the date, and this same city produced a scarce variety in 1898, dated 1888.

(The original Goldberg article ends with a year-by-year list of the offices beginning precancelling, up through 1913, and a list of the stamps precancelled with the years in which they were so used. These lists are conspicuously incomplete. As Rich's information would only partially remedy the defects, it is thought wiser to omit these lists entirely.)

Notes On The U. S. 1c 1857, Type V

By LAMONT A. HALL.

Shades—The many beautiful shades of this stamp make it an interesting study, pale blue in many variations, dark blue widely varied, and deep blue of hues so rich that the philatelic eye is constantly delighted.

The above color characteristics are especially brought out when viewing this stamp in pairs, strips on or off cover or blocks, for Franklin's profile, while usually white varies often to a grayish white, sometimes slightly touched with color against the blue background of the stamp.

Then we have the dull blue, which is distinct from the shades noted above—and the bright blue, which is particularly striking with Franklin's white head and shoulders.

Cancellations—Black, blue and red town cancellations are found in plenty on this stamp. The red town cancellations are strikingly attractive against the blue foundation—this is especially true of the red cancellation of Providence, R. I., and Chelsea, Mass. Green town cancellations are somewhat more rare, and magenta quite scarce.

Another type of cancellation often found are the black, blue and red grids.

Among the year dates, 1857 is a rarity. 1858, 1859, 1860 and 1861, while not too common, are found in enough abundance to stimulate the collector.

Both types of "Paid" occur, with and without circle. Railroad cancellations are rare, as are "Steamboats." Now and then a red "Carrier" or a black "Carrier" cancellation is found—these, of course, were used in two or three of the largest centers, especially New York and Philadelphia.

A Packet boat cancellation on this stamp is rare enough to be greatly desired. Unusual, of course, to be found today are territorial cancellations, I note a Kansas territorial to England, a cover with a 1 cent, pair of 10 cent, together with a 3 cent, making 24 cent rate.

The Philadelphia octagonal cancellation is always attractive.

Foreign postmarks occasionally occur on these 1857 ones, usually a large "1" or "2", etc.

Washington "Free" is interesting always and some of these 1857 covers are thus cancelled, for which we, in 1929, seventy-two years later, are truly thankful. Of the great and colorful figures who resided in Washington at that time, our imagination of this cancellation may run to a high degree.

Patriotic covers bearing this stamp are rarer than is generally realized. Of course, unused blocks of four are more common than used ones—a good used block is hard to find. However, it is the writer's good fortune to possess an unused block of twelve.

From a study of Dr. Ashbrook's masterful work on this stamp it is easy for the student to discover a stamp from Plate VI of this issue, with the side ornaments almost complete instead of being cut away as in the type from the other eleven plates, but there is one stamp in my possession which I am unable to classify. Whether it is Type V or some other type of the one cent I do not know. The left side ornaments are cut away, while the right side ornaments are complete.

Use—Covers come to light which show this stamp in many interesting and fine combinations—both domestic use and foreign. A single stamp on cover shows the regular drop-letter rate, while we meet often with 3 singles or a strip of three on cover, the common rate. In speaking of strips, a vertical strip seems to be much rarer than a horizontal strip.

A pair, or two singles on cover is uncommon, although a few thus are found.

A common use—4 cent rate was the one cent in combination with the 3 cent of the period, either adhesive or Nesbitt, but a strip of four of the one cent on cover to meet the same rate is quite rare.

Occasionally two issues on one cover were used, one cent 1857 with 1851 issue (early use of the '57), and one cent 1857 with the 1861 issue (late use of the '57). This is uncommon.

An interesting cover is the use of this stamp with the 5 cent 1847 with 1851's and '57's to make a high-rate from California to the East.

An uncommon combination is the one cent 1857 with 3 cent 1851 on a six cent envelope. One of the rarest combinations I have is the 5 cent 1857 with the one cent making the 6 cent rate on a cover addressed to the Governor of Wisconsin tied by Friendship, Wis., postmark.

The rate to Canada at this period was ten cents, and many beautiful covers bearing this stamp to the Dominion are found in fine combinations, as are covers to Cuba, which also bore this rate. The rate to Canada—West, was generally 15 cents. Covers to Panama carried usually a ten cent rate.

A fourteen cent rate to France was the custom—usually bearing the one cent, 3 cent and 10 cent stamps.

Some high domestic rates are apparent at that time—one which we occasionally see is the thirty-six cent rate with the 12 cent black, two of the 10 cent, a 3 cent and a one cent. An odd rate from New York to the Middle West was the six cent rate—one cover I may note carried three pairs of the one cent.

Kingdom of Holland and Germany rates are found, as a rule, twenty-one cents, two 10 cent stamps with a one cent, although I note a rare combination to Germany—a cover bearing a 30 cent 1861,

UNITED STATES CUT SQUARE ENVELOPES

On page 578 will be found a very complete listing of U. S. cut square envelopes, both used and unused. Whilst there are still many collectors who neglect these handsome issues, the number of collectors who are taking them is increasing, and it is becoming more and more difficult to keep a stock of the more scarce items. We advise collectors to fill up their spaces of these issues at present prices as there is bound to be an advance soon on many of these stamps.

As a special offer we will allow a discount of 5% on orders of $5.00 or more, and 10% on orders amounting to $25.00 or more taken from this list.

We are always anxious to replenish our supply of U. S. Envelopes as well as all regular U. S. issues and would be glad to receive offers of anything you may have for disposal in this line.

Volumes I, II and III of our U. S. Library dealing with U. S. Nineteenth Century Issues now ready. Price 50c each, the set for $1.50.

POONCH

The interesting specialized collection mounted and written up by the late Sir D. P. Masson, NOTHING HAVING BEEN ALTERED. It is in many ways unique, many of the stamps being on original covers, including that great rarity Stanley Gibbons' No. 2, of which there are 2 on cover and 2 on part cover. This is the stamp which the late Mr. T. K. Tapling (whose collection is now in the British Museum) exchanged with the great collector, Ferrari, for a 2d Post Office Mauritius! Nuff Said.

The Collection is unique and of high philatelic interest for a student.

a pair of 3 cent and a one cent—thirty-seven cent rate. Twelve cents was a common rate to Mexico, usually a 10 cent with a pair or 2 singles of the one cent.

Of course we meet with covers bearing the one cent which were mailed to the South during and just before the Civil War period, and these covers were often turned inside out and re-used, as paper was so very scarce in the southern states. These one cent covers with Confederate stamps on them after re-use, all on same envelope, are most interesting, and a tearful and living evidence of those dark days.

Some wonderful combinations of the one cent with other values are seen on covers of the period to England, Spain, Austria and Italy, and also the rarer use to South America.

I note also a five cent rate to China, a cover bearing a 3 cent with a pair of the one cent.

An interesting cover is one which carries this one cent stamp in a fifty cent rate to the Kingdom of Prussia. This very rare frank is all on a Wells-Fargo entire from California, and bears two pairs of 10 cent, 1 pair of 3 cent, the one cent on 3 cent entire.

Another unusual cover which shows a rare use is a letter mailed from London to the Boston Athenæum. The one cent 1857 is uncancelled and affixed over the London postmark, indicating that it was applied in Boston to insure delivery at the street address.

This may possibly be unique.

KOHL'S HANDBUCH, GREECE

By P. J. DROSSOS, Athens.

With booklet No. 19 just issued, the work on Greece is now complete. It is the most thorough work ever printed up to now, as it contains in all detail everything, from the early issues to all the special issues of the divers Wars; whereas, up to now only individual issues have been handled in such a way, from time to time.

Mr. Alexander Argyropulos who undertook the most of this big work, was the only competent person to carry it out to a full success, as it is through his hands that so much of the early issues has passed and everything since 1910 which relates to stamps of Greece, and he still possesses his wonderful collection of Greece. Thus he vividly has before him everything that he has known and has seen, without being obliged to refer to notes or to have recourse to his memory. Mr. Argyropulos was also lucky enough as to attentively study the Lavatir, Garas and Ferrari collections, before they were broken up, and was present at the auctions when they were disposed of. A few months ago he also added some interesting notes from a fine Greek collection he examined at Vienna.

I fancy that this work will soon be translated into English and I can see with what joy specialists and collectors of the Hermes Heads (large and small) will revel, imbibing the information contained.

There are two small facts, however, to be regretted. First, the fairly numerous typographical misprints (mostly in prices), and a certain number of misinformation, errors, and mistakes (this from 1902 and downwards). Second, that the editor did not fully heed the price quotations given him from Athens, from where only accurate information can be given.

The first part of Greece was prepared by Mr. Argyropulos, at his ease during last summer, and having been corrected and recorrected, it at least as far as I can judge, with my knowledge (which of course is limited, not having had the chance to handle the necessary quantities of old issue stamps, the last 15 years, that I am in the trade) is faultless.

From the 1902 issue, Mr. Argyropulos was continuously pressed to finish his work, telegraphic messages being even sent, as corrections had to be sent backwards and forwards between Berlin and Athens. If Mr. Argyropulos had had time this summer to work at it, there would have been no misinformation, as in some cases; he could have referred more at his ease to other collections here, and thus cleared some points on the War issues, persuading himself that it is necessary to change some information given by him.

The editor, in several cases had not the courage to detach himself from the Michel & Senf catalogue prices, on which in some cases over 500% increase was necessary, and therefore cut the price down. At least, after much pressure, Thrace (Greek Occupation), Samos & Icaria were included in Greece,—which is the correct thing—and which is the case with the German catalogues.

As the editor in some cases (Mitylene) compiled information from several sources, the history related has not got the clarity needed to explain such difficult domains, and has been the cause of some vital passages being neither clear nor correct.

Further, some prices given are misleading.

A large errata is being prepared, and I suppose that the English edition will appear, only then.

The above remarks stated by me, are so relatively trivial compared to the work, for which both Dr. Munck and Mr. Argyropulos are warmly to be congratulated, that any critic whatever is drowned by the great success of the whole work.

MADRID-MANILA BROKEN-WINGS

By JOSE CASTENER,
Pres. Philippine Phil. Assn.

Inasmuch as there seems to be conflicting data being published in not only the daily newspapers, but in several philatelic journals and catalogs in reference to the actual number of the variety of the Madrid-Manila Philippine issue, known as the broken-wing, the following may be of interest to philatelists in general.

This error was due in part to fa printing as speed was necessary to c plete the overprint on the current stan Some of the American and French Mail catalogs state that these were stroyed, but this was not so. In the rors the left wing of the propeller missing and not the right, the 2 an centavos of which are cataloged by Y at 4,000 and 5,000 francs respectively.

The actual number of those printe as follows: 2c, 50; 4c, 40; 6c, 20; 8c, 10c, 20; 12c, 10; 16c, 10; 20c, 10; 10; 30c, 10; 1p, 10; 2p, 4; 4p, 10p, 3; 221 varieties in all.

Two of the complete sets to the P1 were acquired by a rich collector of M nila, an American, and the other by official of the Philatelic Association Manila, the three complete sets being in the Islands, the last one being bou for P2,500.00.

The latest error reported is that of 26 cts. of the issue perf. 12 and wm single line, a sheet of which was in vertently included in the stock for pri ing, and only discovered recently be dispersed amongst collectors, about of which have been found.

PRECANCEL ERRORS AND ODDITIES

By A. F. GAMBER, Editor, Valley City, N. D.

Mr. H. Markham kindly calls my attention to a hitherto unnoted precancel error, and in so doing suggests the material for an article. This is what might be termed killing two birds with one stone. So far as the suggestion is concerned, it is a very valuable bird, for the writer is busy getting everything cleared away for a month's vacation in the old home state, Ohio, minus his collection.

Mr. Markham's error is found on the current U-75 type in use at Lansdale, Pa., reading LANRDALE, as plainly as can be. No information at hand as to frequency, perhaps some MEKEEL'S reader will do this for us.

These errors crop up in the most unexpected places. Michigan City, Indiana, has a U-59 handstamp, on the second vertical row of five (from the left) of which the second "n" of state name is inverted to form a "u". Since 20% of the stamps precancelled with this handstamp are errors, it has probably been quite widely noted, possibly you have one or more that never caught your eye. Another, probably even more widely noted, and also of 20% frequency, is on the U-60 handstamp from Cloquet, Minn., whereon the "u" in city name is reversed to form an "n". Stoughton, Mass., is using a U-63 handstamp, on which MASS reads MARS at least once per 25. This error is akin to the above Lansdale, in that in both cases an "R" has been substituted for an "S". South River, N. J., uses a U-53 handstamp on number 16 of which the "J" of abbreviated state name is reversed and inverted. On Colorado Springs's type II handstamp the error "Colorrdo" has been recently noted. The POMOMA for POMONA (Calif.) error is probably the best known of all the handstamp errors, also of 20% frequency. Another California error is MADEDA for MADERA. Still another is CALIE for CALIF on the U-75 handstamp in use at Chico. One of the two handstamps so far known to sport two different errors is the U-75 recently in use at Aurora, Ills. The 10th subject reads ATRORA and the 18th, AUROA. None of the above errors can be laid to difficulty in spelling the names of the towns in question. But here is a case where the handstamp maker couldn't be blamed if he did make an error or two—Albuquerque, N. M., type I. Just try that name over on your mill, and see how easy it is to reproduce, then don't blame the maker if he stumbled twice too. He did —ABUQUERQUE, and ALBURQUERQUE. I understand that town is usually called Albukirk down that way, can't they shorten it up a little more than that? But the town that holds the prize for an erroriul handstamp is Tucson, Arizona. They used to have one that was all errors! On their old type I, every one of the 25 subjects was misspelled TUSCON. Since they pronounce it as if it were spelled TOOSON, with accent on the last syllable, the maker can't be blamed too much.

There is no logical way of accounting for these slips, they just seem to happen, that's all. If the handstamp makers (a firm at Waterloo, Iowa, I believe) first pound out on a typewriter a working model of 25 subjects for the artisan to be guided by, errors in model making might account for it. But I am not sure this is done, probably it is not. The most nearly reasonable explanation for these errors is, that the handstamp makers are human beings. I saw a squirrel fall out of a 60 foot tree the other day.

Electros contribute their quota of errors too, though not usually quite so glaring. On Ft. Wayne's U-10 now in use, No. 81 (nearly all electros are 100 subjects) lacks the period after IND. The bottom row on Richmond, Ind.'s badly worn U-1 is gone, this may be an error or due to hard usage, tho it appears to be the former. Part of the bottom row of Owensboro, Kentucky's, U-10 is also gone, but this would appear to be due to breakage. The same holds true of that part of Worcester, Mass.'s U-10, which shows no bottom bar and no MASS. Akron, Ohio, used to have an electro on one vertical row of 10, of which OHIO was spelled OH1O, the O H Ten of Black Crow report. The period after WIS on Oshkosh's U-10 is missing at least once per 100, as it is also on the same type used at Hartford, Wis. Here is an unusual one: on Youngstown, Ohio's U-10 there is a period after

ABEL ERROR
We have just secured a few blocks of four of Norway #165. The error is "1302" instead of "1802" and appears only once in every 400 stamps. As soon as this error was discovered the post office withdrew all stamps of this value and it is unknown how many exist. We offer you a block of four mint with one stamp being the error for $5.00. Blocks are a little off center but not centered into design of stamp. On approval against reference. Scandinavian price list free.

OHIO on every subject except one (probably), whereas there ought not to be any at all. On Berkeley, Calif.'s U-10 there is a comma instead of a period after every CALIF. The same error is found on every subject of Delavan, Wis.'s, present U-1. Salem, Ohio, has a U-2 electro that is unusual, the 9th horizontal row is inverted, thus we can find tete beche pairs from that town. I have a block of six of the current 20c from there, the middle pair reading up, the outside pairs reading down.

Even the makers of the plates from which the Bureau Prints are printed, fall into mental lapses. A year ago appeared the famous MIKWAUKEE on the 1½ and 8 in the B-11 type. On the B-4 type in use at Grand Rapids, there exist no period varieties, as also on the Indianapolis old (B-6) type. The small or B-11 type from San Francisco comes once in 100 with no period after CALIF.

Some reported errors turn out not to be errors at all, but spots of foreign matter on the plate. Year after year the Catalog carried Cleveland 12d, the 6c 1902 with inverted A for V. A moments reflection would show that no such error really exists. Why should it appear only on the 6c and on none other value, over a period of more or less constant use covering at least ten years? You tell me. South Whitley, Indiana, 2e clearly can't be an error. If it is, why has it never been found on the 1c 1902, which preceded it by several years? It might be a broken plate, but certainly not an error. Don't let your imagination run rings around your good sense!

Addenda.—In my August 19th, article on precancelled envelopes I stated that Carrollton, Ohio, has never stocked the 1½c envelope. I said this on what might be regarded as good authority, the word of the postmaster there. But Reverend Markham assures me that they did stock this envelope and did precancel it, he has one to prove it, type not stated. This inspires a word of caution as to the amount of credibility to place on the average postmaster's statements. If the office in question is large enough to have an assistant who shares the duties, the postmaster very often doesn't know what he is talking about when he gives information on matters outside his own ken. And in the smaller offices postmasters' memories, like others, are faulty, and often they don't try to give accurate information; they seem to mistrust collectors and queries. The wonderful and unfath able official mind!

Reverend Markham has very ki made it possible for me to add a precancelled envelope to those liste August 19th—New Philadelphia, "New Phila—delphia, Ohio", in lines of small serifed lower case le between bars 13mm apart, on a 1c si white envelope. Above the precanc tion, "Sec. 435 ½, P. L. & R." in caps.

I understand that at least one typ the Washington, Indiana, precanc wrappers exists, other than those li in August, but am not able to give fuller information at present.

Another interesting type of pre celled envelope, not known to me w I penned the August article, is the er ope contractors' type reproduced by l offices. There may be, probably others, but the only one known to comes from Fargo. It is the 1c siz white, with the contractors' type very curately reproduced in green ink. In upper left hand corner are two heavy agonal green bars 9mm wide, with " vet" between them, also in green. S a green velvet envelope and a green production of the official contract type, all in one. Not half bad!

What can you contribute to inspire editorial mind rapidly going to seed?

NEW SEASON APPROVAL BOOKS

During the summer I have remade all my approval books, and have combined in them many important purchases made during the past year.

The following is a list of New Books that are now ready. In general these contain stamps from a few cents to some twenty dollars each. A list of my books of rare stamps will be issued later on.

Prices will be found very moderate, as a rule 35 to 50 per cent below catalogue quotations, and all these priced on this basis of the 1929 catalogue.

AGAIN—THE PENNY BLACK

By F. L. Coes.

Admiring the spirit of your correspondent (August 12 issue) in his sweeping condemnation of the "Penny Black", I still have difficulty in smothering what O. O. McIntyre and I call "raucous and derisive cachinnation" over the sudden and timely (this is the English "silly season") endeavor to tip over the accepted opinion regarding the first adhesive.

Granted, for purposes of argument, that the design has elements of unsuitability as viewed by present knowledge and practice, it is still far and away more attractive than 99% of the issues that we see today, and because of some other things the criticism seems "kinder flat."

Granted that mayhap the profile does not look like Victoria at the moment of issue, just why should it? It looks like the portrait from which it was taken, which portrait was a more or less flattering oil painting. Who ever saw an oil portrait (especially of a Queen or King) that was not flattering more or less? Again what of it? Human portrait painters are not so single eyed even now, and we have recollections of the last George portrait.

Granted that the background has lots of things that might be improved now. Just where could the designers have acquired this artistic comparison in 1841. Who could have foreseen that the details of frame, background, size of head, color (?) and what you will, would offend the artistic (?) taste of a member of an American Society ninety years later. Possibly nobody cared a hoot in Hingham.

Possibly, because Anglo-phobia had not been finally named, the designer really felt foot free and untrammeled in his selection.

Of course the "Black Jack" looks like Andy did when sober, but no matter, he looks as some person "thought" he looked, which thought may be coupled with a modicum of hero worship, artistic license, and what not.

This adjectival upheaval came just at the moment when I was fixing to unload some criticisms on the George Postal Union Congress "Pound." I suppose that "looks like George"? Mebbe so. But any way this effort of the British P. O. and our own No. 292 of the St. Louis issue series, each have points of super excellence, which are based on "hindsight" and not previous experience.

Just why any stamp portrait should of necessity "look like" the ruler represented is beyond me. I'll bet that Mr. Rich has at one time had a photograph that did not look "like him" even before the artist (?) retouched out the crow feet, freckles and double chins.

Why should the "Penny Black" have had either a picture that looked like her Majesty, or flattered her? To the multitude of British inhabitants it was "our queen". Reservations may have been made in the family, but "what of it?"

I applauded the effort of Major Tulleken which was good stamp stuff from every angle. It seems as if more people might well study the British efforts toward stabilizing the items of design, fitness, balance, color and all that; always remembering that "experience teaches" and that the First adhesive was "first" in everything. If Mr. Rich feels that he is competent to design a fitting successor to the "Black", let him go to it. In the mean time he should look a little at some efforts produced in the monthly edited by the Dean of Typography, Aug. Dietz in Richmond, Va.

The man whose tooling produced the "Penny Black" did a little work for these United States. His effort on the three cent does not seem far different from the Black, in any item of balance, likeness, grounding, or execution, but none of our enthusiasts have criticized it as "not look-like Washington" and probably for the same reason as the "Black" did not look like Victoria.

The only portrait of the Queen that ever approximated the lady as she was at the moment, is the one on the Canada Jubilee series. And that was flattering, as well as other things.

But why fuss over it?

Many of us have plated the Black, enjoyed the "effect" of a complete page of this inimitable item, and we have not felt much fussed over any of the "artistic" deficiencies listed.

Comparisons being always "odorous" why not compare it with some of the efforts of our own enlightened P. O. D. (I mentioned the two outstanding portrait "blacks") and tell us how much better the Black Jack, or the Black Wilson is, than the maligned Victorian effort.

Do a little shooting at something all the boys can have a hand in.

But before sweepingly condemning the original adhesive, have a look at some other issues of Great Britain,—Gambia, Ceylon, B. N. A., some of the Australians, etc. Slap the right items in the face, and talk about something you can correct or at least which is modern enough to be within reach.

The "Penny Black" has been "open to serious criticism" for a long time, and seemingly the critics have not especially worn away the love, interest and intrinsic value of the item a cent's worth. In fact, those of us who collect "Blacks" find the reverse.

Before the war it was possible to buy them for $22.00 per 100 in some parts of Europe. The current price is about five times that, and up.

Maybe our friend wants to plate them? Well, the quotation won't be any less because of the adjectives.

United States Cut Square Envelopes

We list below the majority of these issues, all of which are in stock at the present time, although our supply of some is limited, hence, a prompt order is advisable. the later issues we can supply entires in many instances at the same prices, if so desired. Full refund, of course, on anything not entirely satisfactory.

Note—We are listing these stamps in the order in which they appear in the National album and disregarding the catalogue order.

In order to facilitate the arrangement for these envelope stamps in our stock, we have found it necessary to give them distinct numbers from those in the Scott Standard catalogue. The numbers we have given them run consecutively from 1 on. Where the stamp is an envelope stamp, the letter "E" is prefixed, and where the stamp is a wrapper stamp the letter "W" is prefixed. This will help considerably in placing the wrapper stamps in their correct positions in the issues to which they belong.

The first number is our new number to be used when ordering. The second number is Scott's catalogue number for your reference and information.

Where no paper is mentioned, stamps are to be considered as being on white paper.

Note—Stamps of the earlier issues to about the end of the Reay printing are usually found with margins somewhat smaller than those of subsequent issues.

here will soon be placed on the mar- by Natalie Newell, Coconut Grove, , a new color chart. The promoter , of it:—

As far as I know there is nothing like n the market, and in the six months it taken me to get it up I can see several ons why it has not been done before. main reason is that a chart like this ıot be printed and be accurate in the ate variations of color so necessary deciding the valuation of certain ıps, and if it is not accurate it is of alue whatsoever. Another reason is range of colors necessary to be a plete chart. The range of my chart s follows: 12 shades and tints of ows, 35 of reds, 19 of blues, 5 of s, 2 of slates, 3 of blacks, 6 of pur- and lilacs, 14 of brown, 14 of green, f violet; Total, 123.

have run all these colors by hand and used a combination of paints and with a result that a stamp can be hed to the color shown on the chart immediately identified as to color."

AIR MAIL LANDED AT BOSTON

BOSTON, Sept. 24.

The port of Boston as a terminal for air mail planes catapulted from liners far at sea became a fact yesterday when a seaplane piloted by Lt. Leon Domergue left her mother ship, the French liner Ile de France, and landed here 1 hour and 45 minutes later with three sacks of mail.

Officials of the French line aboard the float off the Boston airport announced after the landing of the plane that in the future all air mail would be catapulted from the Ile de France as it neared the shores of this continent, as a regular service.

This far-reaching and important departure in the speedy transmission of mails from the old world to the new world is appreciated when it is realized that such ship-to-shore service means the saving of upward of 24 hours in the delivery of mail matter in New York, and in Boston the saving will amount to almost 48 hours.

The Ile de France was about 150 miles off-shore when the plane was catapulted. The liner will not reach New York until 10 o'clock this morning. The saving thus effected is 12 hours on mail destined for New York, while the saving on Boston mail is considerably greater.

VATICAN AIR MAIL

PHILADA., Sept. 21.

Dr. E. J. Gittleson has just telephoned me that he has received a letter from Dr. Emilio Diena, dated "Rome, September 9", stating that the air mail covers which are being advertised as flown from the Vatican "are not as represented." Dr. Diena states that the arrangement between the Vatican and the Italian Government contains no paragraph regarding an air mail service, and that any covers of the recent issue purporting to have been carried "via air mail" are not what they are supposed to be.

TREASURE HUNTING

By CAPT. A. C. TOWNSEND.

ell, these rambling tales must be ght to an end, and I only hope that have proved interesting to some and stimulated others to more persistent sure hunting, for it will bring its ard sooner or later. Since starting e tales I have gotten another nice lot 1857-1861 covers, and from another ·ce a lovely block of three 10c 1851, with s of two other stamps showing, and ne Vancouver, Washington, postmark arely on the block. "While there is there is hope." I have never found thing great outside of that first 10c timore, but every new mine I dig in s a thrill.

have kept for the last, two stories are worth telling. You know how prices are on the $2 and $5 1924 atermarked? Here is the "why" of Colman and I heard that they were ing out on watermarked paper and the first issue were to be called in destroyed at the Bureau. Having fied this officially, I went to a friend borrowed $5,000 from him, taking in on the deal. Colman flew one and I another, visiting all offices that any of the stamps and buying the re stock. Back in Washington we t to see Mr. Tulloch, cachier of the t Office, and offered to buy all the fect stamps the Bureau had on d, provided the balance we rejected e absolutely destroyed, to which he eed, and had them all sent over to office.

olman and I meant to be sure there was no slip-up in that destruction. It was a hot summer day. We sat down at a big table in Tulloch's office and began to go over the stamps. I would reject a sheet as not being well centered, lay it aside and drop my sweaty arm on it, reject another and lay it on the first one. Colman did the same thing, of course. After we got through and paid for what we took, Mr. Tulloch started to pick up some of the rejected ones, and they were practically a solid mass!! No one got any of those stamps, you can bet your bottom dollar.

We began advertising them, and as their scarcity became known the price mounted and Scott put a very high price on them. Pretty soon we had a letter from a well-known New York man, now dead, asking if we could let him have a full sheet of each and at what price, if so. We answered, and down he came with the money. A bit later he wanted another sheet of each. He came down and bought those and hinted to know how many we had, but we were mum. Then he asked for a third sheet and was told he could have them. After buying them he asked flatly if we had more to sell, and being told that we had, he exploded. "Say," he said, "this is just like bailing out the ocean with a tin dipper! How many of these things have you got?" That was our business, we replied. He said that he had a friend in a large financial office in New York for whom he was buying, and this man would take them all if we would sell them all.

EDITORIAL

THE Fallen Timbers commemorative has been distributed and the Philatelic Agency filled orders promptly for the new stamps. From an artistic viewpoint, it must be admitted that the art of the engraver is taxed to accommodate the three figures of the memorial that serve as the central design, in the restricted space at his disposal. First day covers from the cities in which the stamps were on sale on the 14th of September are at hand, and there is the Fallen Timber, Pa., postmark on early mailings due to the enterprise of a dealer. The spot-light will be on the new arrivals until the Dam stamp makes its bow, and we do not begrudge its occupancy of the seat of distinction.

SOME time ago, the United States Daily published an article on the alien property seized during the war in which it was announced that the property was being returned under the Act of 1928 as rapidly as the ownership of it could be legally established. Probably, it was no secret that among the contraband, as alleged at the time, were a number of stamp collections or accumulations of stamps. There would be a story in the history of any such stamps, particularly if they were returned to the owners who, with many a pang, must have seen their stamps sequestered during the distracting times that called forth the law which became effective on October 6, 1917.

IT is time that we speak of the leading article in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of August 24, 1929, "Bull Market in Air Stamps." Here we have the opening paragraph: "Captain B. B. Lipsner of Chicago, in an address before the National Philatelic Society at Minneapolis, reveals the fact that the envelopes of the first air mail letters are much in demand among stamp collectors." The editor then proceeds to say that what Captain Lipsner regarded as unconsidered trifles and tossed aside at the time are now eagerly sought for and have a monetary value that is appreciated by those who collect the envelopes. We are struck by the statement: "How frequently opportunity passes by unnoticed!" and unqualifiedly subscribe to it. We remember years ago, when one of the great collectors of U. S. showed his stamps, he was asked by one of his adulators what stamps he would buy for the best financial returns. He answered: "If I knew I'd be a rich man." When it comes to the material consideration of philately, those who are in the best position to be prophets, seem most averse to advising, not because they are unwilling to give their views but because they are aware that time may not prove their soundness.

A VERY interesting cover has been shown us by Mr. K. A. Wallquist, Chicago, that is a striking memento of the Sweden-New York air mail attempt. He says: "The different attempts that have been made at flying the northern route via Greenland have not been very successful as we know from the daily press. Natural conditions rather than any fault of the flyers are to blame. I have a letter that was sent from Sweden with Captain Ahrenberg and his ship Swerige. Captain Ahrenberg is now back in Sweden after his return from Ovigtut on Greenland. The stamps on the cover have all been washed off as the mail pouch evidently had been in the water. The blurred address and general appearance of the envelope show as much. It was sent from the firm, 'Fabriken Tomten' of Gothenburg, Sweden, to the firm 'Dalkullan,' Chicago, and date-stamped Stockholm, June 7, 1929, and was delivered to the addressee in Chicago on Sept. 14. The sender writes in his letter ' . . . and hope that our business connections with your valued firm are going to increase, according to the same speed, as modern means of communication now reduce the distance between our countries.' Fate interposed ironically and I trust that the sender will not have the same poor luck with his customer as the flyers had with their ship." The envelope has the Swedish Philatelic Agency cancellation and it bore postage stamps at the rate of 20kr and 25 ore or about $5.50.

THE news of the death of Reginald F. Robinson, editor of the Comet, a south side newspaper of Chicago, will recall the days of his philatelic activity to the older readers. He was a dealer in Chicago for a number of years, and in 1902 published a stamp monthly, Robinson's Review, that attracted attention by reason of its decided stand on questions of philatelic policy. Shortly after this time, Mr. Robinson returned to Winnipeg where he re-entered the newspaper field and again made a name for himself as a trained worker on the Tribune. Mr. Robinson was of English parentage and lived much of the time in Canada, but finally he returned to Chicago, several years ago. He was a thorough stamp man, and while at one time, he had a superb collection of Persia, he played no favorites, although latterly, he gave attention to Norway. As a recreation, he assorted huge numbers of the commoner stamps. His illness was not of long duration, and he passed on at the age of about 55, leaving a wife, to whom our sympathy is extended.

IN the issue of August 26, 1929, there was a story by Captain A. C. Townsend, called the Coded Approval Book, and although we did not offer a prize, based on what's wrong with this picture, a good many readers wrote in to cite a glaring mistake that the Captain perpetrated. Professor A. F. Gamber was the first to score and he predicted that we would hear from many a lynx-eyed reader before we would cry, quits. He was right, and many of the letters were clever productions, and we think that we may run a string of them for the amusement of our readers. However, we must give Captain Townsend a chance to speak a little piece, and here is how he does it: "As stated in your note, that crying inconsistency of the 2 cent Harding used in 1918 in the Coded Approval Book, has brought so many letters of criticism (more than we expected) that perhaps a word of explanation is due your readers. In the first paragraph of that story, I said that the doings of the Secret Service are never revealed and that I was telling what I could of the happening that I got mixed up in. Just as in a story, the hero is made to call a telephone number which obviously does not exist, so the 20c Franklin and the 2c Harding were substituted for other stamps. I regret that the explanation can go no further. The error was obvious—also obvious to people whose confidence could not be violated."

SOMEWHAT as a coincidence, Liberty, the popular weekly published an article, "The Spies of the Tower," anticipatory of a work on the subject of espionage during the World War, in a recent issue. In telling of the codes used by German spies, mention is made of Joseph Marks who was arrested in Tilbury Docks, in possession of a Dutch passport, and his plan to reveal secret information of the movements of the British fleet and merchant marine was a purely philatelic invention. It is said that if he wished to convey news of the departure of British warships to the German Admiralty, he sent to an address in Switzerland, say ten stamps of a certain country. We remember that during the war the British stamp press told of or two instances where stamp handler England were arrested on the charge aiding and abetting the enemy; and have no doubt but that the instance ferred to has an authentic foundation sending the clipping from Liberty, George Parry of Grenada, Miss., rema upon the suggestions of Captain To send's story in the light of the Lib article.

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

I write these notes for this issue just as the busiest week of the year in my business is about to open. To get it done at all, I have to get this write-up off three days ahead of the usual schedule. All of which explains the abbreviated form of the department.

Notices have been received of the imminent publication of a new monthly, The Air Mail and Precancel Journal, to be gotten out by L. S. Clark of Minneapolis. The first issue will be awaited with interest.

Official Flights

Covers have been received from Vera Cruz, Mexico, which were mailed on the opening date of the Brownsville-Guatemala extension on FAM 9. No cachet, but the "Servicio Aereo" cancellation of Sept. 1.

Received back this week my covers on the first eastbound Ile de France ship-to-shore of the renewed service. No cachet. New York postmark of July 19, Le Havre and Paris, July 27. Not so fast! The same day's mail brought in the latest westbound Bremens. Ship cancellation handstamped Sept. 4, machine stamped Sept. 5; Cachet—a new style again, by the way—"Bremen-New York, 10 Septbr." Received here the 11th. This was an exciting day, for again in the same mail were the Bremen covers leaving New York by the first eastward trip July 26, and the later trip of Aug. 22. An interesting point on the July 26th cover is that the special cachet reads Sept. 2, while the mail actually was backstamped at Bremerhaven on the 1st. A different cachet seems to be supplied for each trip, and the covers are extremely attractive.

John S. Davis sends me one of the covers mailed in Ireland, and sent by the special flight to London from Galway, arranged for the mail of the steamer Kahrlsrue, heretofore mentioned Irish mail, numbered about 2,000 pieces. An official oval cachet dated Aug. 26 was ap-

DEATH OF CHAS. A. CARROLL

It is with great regret that we are compelled to announce the death of our Bureau Print Editor, Chas. A. Carroll, which occurred Sunday, Sept. 8, at his home in Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Carroll had been ill for some days, but no indication of the seriousness of his condition came until a few hours before his death.

Mr. Carroll has become widely known among precancel collectors because of his interest in that particular branch of stamp collecting. He was considered an authority on Bureau Prints, and his death will be mourned by many. He was the author of several volumes of poetry and a number of short stories, and was known to be a successful advertising man. He was well-known in musical circles, and in 1916 wrote and directed a pageant commemorating the 300th anniversary of Shakespeare's death. He received his early education in Pennsylvania, and later attended Yale University, after which he located in Atlanta. C. C. Cole, Jr., of Atlanta, who sends us this information, advises us that he was a tower of strength to the philatelists of Atlanta, and was president of the local Collectors Club. A great many readers of the WEEKLY will join with us in extending our sincere sympathy to the widow and son who survive him.

The Standard Airpost Catalogue

1930 (World) Edition—4th Year
(Formerly "The American Airmail Catalogue")

This edition is many times the size of previous editions, for it includes Airpost stamps and covers of the entire world to date. It will be printed on a fine grade of paper, pocket size, attractively bound, and is unquestionably the finest Airpost Catalogue ever put on the market. It is the result of four years experience and study, for a catalogue—worthy of the name—cannot be produced in a day.

Our staff, aided by contributing experts from all parts of the world, has been at work on this World Edition since November, 1928, and it is a catalogue worthy of any Hobby. It is profusely illustrated from cover to cover. [tf

OUR Oriel quality of album is very popular and has a large and in- sing sale in the U. S. The feature his book, which is so much liked, is choice quality of hand-made paper hich the leaves are made. We have photographed from the mill the im- ant parts of the process of manufac- , and a reproduction of this will be as a title page for every album. A of this reproduction is enclosed and hope you will find it of interest. The antage, of course, of hand-made pa- as against any other machine made ity is that erasing can be done easily without leaving a mark; more im- ant still, finger marks or hinge marks be removed from the paper by the ple process of a damp sponge wiped the surface."—G. F. RAPKIN.

Mr. A. E. Pade, the Danish Specialist, submits the set of three values for our inspection. There were issued 750,- 000 of the 10 ore green, 850,000 15 ore red, and 250,000 25 ore blue. They are to be sold at an additional charge of 5 ore, which goes to the Danish Cancer Committee.

He went home and came back with certified checks and we cleaned up the entire lot at a fine profit. The queer part of it is that Colman tells me these stamps have never come on the market—and neither of us has ever been able to think of the name of the man for whom they were bought. They may be tied up in an estate or still hidden away in a deposit box, or what have you! Some- one may yet find a pot of gold by lo- cating them.

This last story is "not so good." It still leaves a bad taste in my mouth, but Oh, Boy! How near I was to a fortune! Here goes. You know the story of the 24c inverted Airplane, how the sheet was picked up at the Washington post office, and eventually went to Colonel Green.

I was on duty at Hoboken and was sent to Washington on official business. Dropped in on Colman as usual for a chat between trains. He asked if I knew the N. Y. Postmaster well and could get a favor from him. As that gentleman received all the A. E. F. mail from all over the U. S. and turned it over to me for shipment our relations were pretty close and I felt I could get a favor.

Colman told me of the Inverts. He also said that Colonel Green was strong enough politically to go to the Secretary of the Treasury, tell him of the sheet he had gotten, and ask that the entire Bu- reau stock be gone over to see if there were more of them, and to have them destroyed if so. Colman said this was done and that several sheets were found and taken to the Treasury to be de- stroyed. Mr. Leavy, the government philatelist, heard of it and galloped up there to get one stamp for the government collection, but was turned down and the stamps destroyed.

Well, Colman said there was a large stock of them in the N. Y. post office that had been sent there before the search at the Bureau, and more Inverts might be found there. They would have the plate numbers printed in both blue and red. If I could get permission to go over the stamps, he would get Leavy to go up and help and we would all get wealthy on what we found. As soon as possible after my return to duty I saw the Postmaster, told him what I wanted, and he took me in to the Cashier and told him to let me look over the stamps when I was ready. I wired Colman, and Leavy met me the next day.

The Cashier took us into the vault, and there we found he had 650,000 of the 24c Airplane, still in original packages and the seals intact. We opened every one of those packages and went through them. Somewhere towards the end I struck a package with the double imprint and a cold sweat broke out on me. Showed it to Leavy and he started perspiring! We laid it aside and went on. Then Leavy found another, just before we finished.

We opened those two packages fully and with drumming hearts and wet fore- heads went over them sheet by sheet. Not an invert. Quite a number of sheets with the double imprint, but not one of the treasures. By some bad luck every inverted sheet had just happened to be kept in the Bureau. The ones we went over were shipped to New York long before the Invert was heard of, so our chances were 50-50 for finding some, but not a dadgummed one was there. Explain that bit of hard luck if you can!

Oh, well! I have made other finds and am still hunting. Keep in mind the little story of the two frogs that fell in the pail of milk after the pail was set in the spring for the night. They swam around, unable to jump out, and one gave up in despair and sank to the bottom and died. The other had the never-say-die spirit, and he kicked about manfully un- til he finally kicked out a nice little pat of butter, took a nap on it until he was rested and then hopped out and went home!

THE SEASON OF 1930

is, without doubt, going to be a very active one in stamps. There will be those who chase the elusive Air Mail—others who chase the Twentieth Century Sleeper—and still others, of the older school, who browse serenely in the fields of the fine old, staple classics — Ceres, Donna Marias, Cantonals, and pence issues. It is to this latter class of collectors that we offer our unsurpassed facilities for obtain- ing the pieces they desire.

Natural History on Stamps

By MAX SCHACHTER.

Quite a bit of natural history is pictured on stamps. We have the kangaroo of Australia which is pictured on some of the issues of this interesting country. Another unusual animal is the cassowary, a relative of the ostrich, shown also on the stamps of Australia. Everybody is familiar with the buffalo on the 30c of the current set of U. S. These animals once numbered thousands on the western plains. Canada gets into the stamp zoo with its beaver. The favorite quetzal of Guatemala is portrayed a number of times on the stamps of that country. French Guiana gives us on one of its stamps a picture of an ant eater. The Straits Settlements issues show a tiger in many different poses. Many other stamps picture animals and birds, etc., which show how interesting an educational collection of animal and bird stamps can be.

Perce en Points.—This is simply the French term for pin-perforation.

Penny Black.—The popular name by which the first postage stamp ever issued—the 1d of 1840 of Great Britain—is known.

Penny Posts. — The forerunners of the modern systems of cheap postage. The date the first of these was established is not known but as early as 1680 William Dockwra had one in successful operation in London.

Penrhyn Island. — A famous pearl atoll in the South Pacific Ocean forming one of the Manhiki group. Postage stamps were first issued in 1902 and consisted of N. Z. stamps surcharged PENRHYN ISLAND.

Perak.—A British protected state in the Malay Peninsula. Postage stamps were first issued in 1878 and in 1900 the separate series was superseded by the general issue for the Federated Malay States. Straits stamps were first used surcharged with the name "Perak."

Some Stampic Notes

By A. C. LEDUC.

—The postmark of the Vatican City is "Poste Vaticane." This is the same as the wording on the stamps. Look for postmarks on the Vatican City stamps that are dated thus 1.8.29. This is the first day of issue, namely, August 1, 1929.

—The postmarks of foreign countries show the day first and then the month second. In the United States the dates are written the other way, with the numeral for the month first, thus 9.30.29 means Sept. 30, 1929. In foreign countries it would be written 30.9.29.

—With the issue of the Fallen Timbers stamp, the United States has issued six commemorative stamps this year, namely, the Clark, the Edisons in three varieties, flat press, rotary press and coil form, General Sullivan, and now the General Wayne, or commonly called Fallen Timbers issue. There have been plenty to go around, and no one should criticize the Government for its action. If the U. S. issued about 25 varieties to every set and put in a few $5 ones for good measure, there would be grounds for kicking. As it is, a person could buy the entire lot of commemoratives at the Post Office for the small sum of 12c.

—Collectors are taking considerable interest in precancelled envelopes from all towns and cities. They are collecting the envelopes in their various shapes, sizes and colors. For the present, the envelopes should be collected entire. If the custom changes, it will be easy enough to cut them down. So keep them entire.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) LEXINGTON, MASS.

A THING OF BEAUTY

One of the most appealing stamps of the late United States issues is the $5 red and blue showing portrait of America, the engraving having been taken from the statue on the Capitol at Washington. When the variety first appeared, many thought that it was an excellent likeness of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and that the engraver may have intentionally designed the stamp accordingly. The high denominations of all of our issues are desirable and as the issue is discontinued, become excellent property. The Department has already announced that they contemplate issuing a new series of stamps, possibly shortly after the beginning of the new year, and under the circumstances, the $5 red and blue will soon be a "past issue." I have recently been fortunate in acquiring a little lot of these stamps, Scott's $573, in singles and blocks, lightly cancelled, and while the small supply is available, they may be had at $1.50 per stamp, or blocks of four at $6.00. These are all well centered, fresh in color, without straight edges and lightly cancelled.

Those desiring unused copies may have them at $5.50 per stamp.

If you are looking for anything else in the way of United States issues, your want list is solicited.

2-Cent Battle of Fallen Timbers

The new 2-cent stamp issued in commemoration of the Battle of Fallen Timbers was placed on sale in accordance with previous announcement on September 14, 1929, at Maumee, Perrysburg, Toledo, Waterville, Ohio and Erie, Pa. To say that the stamp is attractive would possibly be exaggerating, and it is believed that had the background been in white, the figures would have stood out more clearly and the stamps would have been more attractive. Unfortunately, the four stamps that have been issued during the Administration of Postmaster General Brown, are not outstanding as to beauty.

This time, the Post Office Department must have given special instructions to the postmasters, for I note in every instance, the stamps on first-day covers are without straight edges and are usually placed neatly upon the cover.

In order to aid the postmaster at the smaller office of Waterville, Mrs. M. C. Shaughnessy, Assistant Philatelic Agent, was on hand. This office also used a special circular marking with a saw-tooth design around the edge and within reading, "Anthony Wayne Commemorative Stamp —Battle of Fallen Timbers—Waterville, O. 9-14-29." On the covers noted, this marking was applied in black ink, by a rubber stamp that had evidently been previously used on the red ink pad, as the shade is what might be described as reddish black.

Thanks are extended to Mr. W. Austin Amory for a first-day cover from Waterville. Mr. Harry Ioor sends one from the same point showing an illustration of the battle with a little history of the occasion. Mr. E. G. Emerson sends a cover from Perrysburg, bearing a label appropriate of the occasion, while the Reverend E. M. Gearhart favors us with one from Erie, illustrating the Anthony Wayne Block House at that point, the cover being signed by the postmaster, Joseph A. Hanley.

Molly Pitcher Varieties

We recently mentioned that sheets of the "Molly Pitcher" overprinted varieties had been located wherein an entire horizontal row showed the letters about ½mm taller than normal. Mr. H. M. Southgate has investigated the matter at the Bureau and writes that this lengthening comes from the hand adjustment of the surcharging roll, which permits the locating of the overprint up or down on the stamp while the press is running. He remarks that it is certainly not a defect in the stereotype or it would be repeated on each sheet of one hundred as long as the stereotype was used. He further states that it possibly could occur from a change in tension of the paper. The tension increases as the roll grows in diameter. If such lessening of tension occurred at the moment the letters were being printed, they would be lengthened. Again, if the press was stopped and the type was in contact with the paper, a back lash might allow the roll to slip back and give the lengthening. Mr. Southgate feels that the first mentioned reason is the one that resulted in the tall surcharged stamps.

8-Cent Rotary Showing Gutter

Mr. H. M. Southgate reports that he has received a block of the current 8-cent rotary precanceled "St. Paul", wherein the horizontal gutter with part of the two stamps above are showing in the block. So far, several denominations and varieties have been found in this condition.

Smithsonian Institution Desires "Zeppelin" Cover

A communication has just been received from Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, stating that the first "Round-the-World" "letter bill" which was carried on the Graf Zeppelin, has been presented by the Post Office Department to the Smithsonian Institution, and will be among the permanent exhibits of the Post Office Department in the National Museum. Mr. Glover writes that Secretary Abbot in acknowledging receipt of this curiosity, states that he would like a letter carried on the Graf Zeppelin if some public-spirited philatelist might care to present one to the National Museum.

If such a cover is presented, it will become a permanent exhibit of the Institution and will be marked with a little card—"Presented by, etc."

If any of our readers have an extra cover that they would care to present, it is suggested that it be sent to Mr. Glover, who will see that the cover in question reaches the proper destination and an acknowledgment is received by donor.

Hawaiian Surcharges

In view of the fact that the new S Catalogue will show the recent Haw surcharges listed under the "Haw Islands," one of our readers write ask if it would not be logical to ch the Shanghai surcharges from their ent place under "United States" and them appear in the future under "Sh hai." We still maintain that a k born in the oven is still a kitten, alth some may designate it as a biscuit.

We wish to thank Mr. Robert Briggs for first-day air mail covers the Orange and Athol Airport Dedic on September 13th, 14th and 15th. Briggs mailed a cover each day, si by the postmaster, C. E. Deane, an addition to elliptical postmarks, the ers bear a seven-line marking indic that the first air mail flight from ce Massachusetts was sponsored by Athol Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. R. Roberts, our London cc spondent, submits for note the follo new arrivals:

Chile. — Overprinted "CORR AEREO" and flying eagle design on 25c blue and black, in red; 30c brown black, in red; 50c blue-green and bl in red; and 1 peso green and black blue, designs of the 1917-25, typogra issue on thin paper, watermarked chain device of star and shield, 13½ x 14, centres engraved in black, inscribed, "Correos De Chile."

Falkland Islands. — New design green, 1p red, 2p grey, 2½p blue, mauve, 1sh black on green, 2sh6p carr on blue, 5sh green on yellow, 10sh mine on green, and 1 pound black on

These stamps are line engraved and of the same type and size, perf. 14, script watermark paper, except th pound, which is on the old multiple red paper. Mr. Roberts writes that new design is hardly an improvem upon the old, naturally having a rat cramped appearance, getting a whale so small an area as is available on a stamp of small format like this one. The most prominent feature on the stamp is the penguin which is almost as big as the whale, and the King's head is insignificantly small.

Monaco.—The 15c violet, type of A13, mentioned two weeks ago, is perf. 14 x 13½.

Northern Rhodesia.—In the universal postage due type, the 1p, 2p, 3p and 4p, all in black have been issued.

Straits Settlements, Malay States.—25c purple and red lilac, and 30c purple and orange, same design as previously, perf. 14, on script watermarked paper.

Whitfield King & Co. report the new issues noted below:

Egypt.—27m, air post, in chestnut shade.

San Marino.—Express stamps in two values completing the series mentioned some time ago, L1.25 green and L2.50 blue and red. The stamps are in an elongated design showing a panorama of the Republic, with the figure of Liberty at the left. The L2.50 stamp for external use has the inscription "Union Postale Universelle" in red.

Sweden.—115 ore red-brown, design A18.

Abyssinia.—Champion's Bulletin Mensuel reports that pending preparation of the new issue two new surcharges upon the remainders of the obsolete 1919 series have appeared. They are 1 guerche on 6g blue and orange, and 2 guerche on 1g lilac brown and grey.

Australian Commonwealth.—One of the chief attractions at an exhibition of postage stamps under the auspices of the Philatelic Society of West Australia held at Perth in July last was an advance sheet of the forthcoming 1½p centenary stamp, which will be on sale to the public on Sept. 29th states Stamp Collecting in a recent issue. It is printed in an unusual shade of red with the Swan as a central design. The whole effect is pleasing and reflects credit on the designer and engraver. The exhibit was made by courtesy of the Director of Posts and Telegraphs (Mr. S. R. Roberts).

New Zealand. — Stamp Collecting learns from an authoritative source that an entire new issue of postage stamps for the Dominions is at present under consideration of the Minister of Posts.

South West Africa.—Mr. J. Robertson informs of a new type Official surcharge, copies of which he submits for chronicle. The ½p, 1p and 6p with "OFFICIAL" or "OFFISIEEL" at left, and "S. W. A." at right, overprinted vertically reading upwards. No stop after words "OFFICIAL" or "OFFISIEEL." The 2p with "OFFICIAL" or "OFFISIEEL" and "S. W. A." horizontally overprinted in two lines close together. This stamp has the same "no stop" varieties as the previous printing. All these stamps are printed in English and Afrikaans alternately.

EARLY PRECANCELLED WRAPPER

By LEWIS A. MCARTHUR.

The writer has in his collection what was possibly the earliest type of U. S. precancelled wrapper or envelope. This is the 2-cent black wrapper of 1863-64, Scott 3008, and it is of great interest because of the cancellation imprint, applied in advance with the printing press. This imprint reads:

WADE'S DOUBLE INDEX
DEC. 11,
1869
POST OFFICE BOOK.

This cancellation, in black printing ink, is the only one appearing on the used wrapper. The second and fifth lines are slightly curved up and down, the others being straight. The two curved lines form a sort of frame for the stamp, while the date falls in the center of the portrait.

The wrappers were obviously cancelled in advance and then wrapped about the post office book, which was used for some sort of office record. The cover in my possession was mailed to a postmaster in Oregon, and part of the address, that is, the words "Postmaster At ....., County ....., State of ....." was apparently applied to the wrapper at the time the stamp was precancelled. There is nothing to indicate the point of mailing. Wade probably had sufficient influence with the authorities to enable him to secure special dispensation for this method of cancellation. It has been suggested that the wrapper was actually used on an advertisement or prospectus for the book rather than the book itself. Perhaps other readers have this item.

THE INDEX OF PHILATELY

(We are receiving constantly clippings from various daily papers dealing with stamp collecting. They are all interesting and helpful to philately, but not sufficiently valuable for us to reprint. We have, however, at hand an editorial from the "Portland Oregonian" that is well worth reprinting. It is sent to us by A. H. Lomax.—W. O. W.)

"Philately," of which we are again reminded by certain statistical aspects of the voyage of the Graf Zeppelin, has a curious background which may or may not account for its practice as an avocation. The first half, from the Greek "philos"—"fond"—is familiar enough to those who are casually interested in etymology. Not so obvious is the source of the rest of the word, which we have just looked up in the dictionary. It is a union of the privative "a"—with "telos," a tax. In other terms, "fondness for exemption from taxation" would seem in a most literal sense to cover the ground. And by this standard, who among us is not a philatelist?

Yet modern philately above all the pursuits we can now think of imposes on its devotees a tax for willingness—nay, eagerness—to pay which there can be no sober economic explanation. You have a bit of paper on which there is printed, or written, or superimposed or what not the promise of a mail-carrying institution that it will undertake to deliver a certain piece of mail at a certain destination for a certain sum. With the promise as yet unfilled, it is worth a few cents. Yet you send it on its mission, and cancel it, and deprive it of every element of material utility, and its "value" immediately soars, provided an intangible factor—usually rarity—is retained. The point is illustrated by the mail which is carried by the Graf Zeppelin, the total postage on which was said prior to the departure from Lakehurst to amount then to some $108,000. So far so good, if correspondents wished to take advantage of opportunity to communicate speedily with, say, the far east. But more than half the sum, or $56,500, was derived from the dispatch of letters, at $3.50 a letter, which in nearly every instance the writers had addressed to themselves. The sole ingredient of cost, which is not the same as value, will consist in the association of the stamp or its equivalent with the first zeppelin voyage around the world.

What an opportunity Robert Gray missed when in 1789, being then in training for his discovery of the Columbia River, he failed to connect with the philatelists and so immensely enhanced the importance of the first circumnavigation of the globe by a ship carrying the American flag! That the postal system has then been devised is but another of the ironies of fate of which we are constantly being reminded. A fraction of the return to the Graf Zeppelin from mail perquisites would have been a fortune unheard of to the sponsors for ship Columbia. Yet the stamp collector is perhaps as explicable as is one another with a hobby, and the fact that there are millions of him would seem to indicate that wide-spread interest in the subject is based on a fairly common instinct. Who are we to say that the business is wholly inept?

Philately is, however, a fair index of general prosperity. People in large numbers do not pay $3.50 for "first covers" addressed to themselves by themselves while the pinch of famine is felt. The volume of the traffic challenges the imagination. Governments have found it worthwhile to capitalize the collector spirit as a practical source of revenue apart from the normal postal service. Commemorative issues, of which there is no shortage in this country, are part of philatelic statesmanship. The World War stimulated and at the same time complicated the matter of millions. It is incidentally interesting to note that the forthcoming stamps of the Vatican state are already being eagerly sought, though the stamp issues of the Papal States prior to 1870 are less celebrated. We have here an illustration of the imponderability of philatelic value. Is it possible that this furnishes a parallel to the universal popularity of stamp collecting?

The Head of Liberty

THE VICISSITUDES THAT HAVE FOLLOWED ITS USE ON CERTAIN STAMPS

By H. Bedford-Jones.

In 1849 France became a republic for the second time. She immediately followed the example of other nations and began to use postage stamps, but since everyone was tremendously excited at the moment, the qualities of human nature were forgotten and M. Barre, the engraver, was ordered to design stamps bearing the head of Liberty. So it was done. As you will certainly disagree with this statement, I beg leave to refer you to the official decree, which you will find in Marconnet and other authors.

Liberty being an ideal, and passionately pursued by all humankind, meets with the fate of all ideals. No sooner do we touch her, attain her, realize her as a fact, than we put her to flight; when Psyche looks upon the face of Cupid, he vanishes. Usually we go much farther than this, in the matter of Liberty; no sooner do we grasp her, than we assassinate her. Were one tempted to be unpleasant, I might say: "If you seek my proofs, look around you." But I shall not say this, for we are dealing with philately and its romance, so let us see the extraordinary things that happened to Liberty in this case.

M. Barre designed a very beautiful stamp, as was to be expected of M. Barre. To typify Liberty as being of the very soil of France, he decorated her head with fruits of the earth, and his handiwork was admittedly unrivaled. The French people had attained Liberty, and hence were now interested in other things, while the peoples roundabout knew more of the classics than they did of Liberty; so in no time at all his precious design became embedded in legend as the head of Ceres, and legend has persisted. Even so late as the Cleveland Exhibition of 1928, a learned member of the jury gently chided me for referring to this stamp as bearing the head of Liberty; but since he did me the honor of awarding me a gold certificate, I did not venture to correct him. It is very pleasant to vindicate a point of erudition, but not at the expense of a gold medal, which is much more rarely come by.

In any case, France soon put Louis Napoleon in power, and M. Barre engraved new plates, and the old ones were laid by, just in case anything should happen. One never knows, in politics; moreover, thrift has ever been considered an excellent policy in France. So Napoleon the Little replaced Liberty, and everyone agreed that the new stamps were a vast improvement over the old.

Meanwhile, in the Argentine province of Corrientes, the currency was in very sad confusion. The matter did not vitally affect the upper classes, since the province had its own paper money ranging from one dollar upwards; but for this identical reason it did affect the lower classes, who had serious use for smaller sums upon occasion. Since the welfare of a republican state depends upon keeping the hoi polloi contented, as cheaply as possible, a reform of the monetary system was proposed. Unhappily, no one knew just how to go about the matter, for Corrientes was not overburdened with financial experts.

At length the happy issue of philately was suggested, and the governor graciously approved; one imagines his relief at the very simple and inexpensive idea of giving his beloved people stamps wherewith to buy bread. So the director of the state printery—I think the word advisable here, imagining a little midwestern town making use of the term to inflate the value of its old flat-bed and single foot-power job press—was ordered to issue stamps, and the financial difficulties of Corrientes were solved.

The director set about issuing stamps, but soon discovered they should be engraved, and how was anyone to engrave anything in Corrientes? Letters had come from France bearing copies of M. Barre's Liberty stamp, and its artistic beauty quite satisfied the director; but there was no engraver to satisfy the governor and the unhappy people.

Successor to H. F. COLMAN

One day, in the house of a friend, the director was lamenting the lack of an engraver, when the baker's boy brought in the daily portion of bread and overheard the conversation. He was an Italian emigrant, and he doffed his apron and introduced himself to the gentlemen with a flourish.

"Signores, I am at your service! Ecco —back in Italy I was apprenticed to an engraver, and I have the soul of an artist, I assure you! Give me but a copper plate, a subject, a day or two—and I will prove to you that Casanova yet lives!"

He was a trifle mistaken in his artistic estimates, but he did engrave eight stamps of one real each on the copper plate, and if one is not too prejudiced it is even possible to recognize that he copied the design of M. Barre. Less fortunate than the engraver of Paris, his name was not preserved to posterity, though he had reared a monument more lasting than bronze, which the long flight of years has not worn away.

It is, I must confess, an extremely ugly monument.

Napoleon III went the way of his uncle; and France being at war, Paris besieged, the government far afield, how could France be provided with stamps? Only by a new issue, for all the old plates were in Paris. So a new stamp was designed, following the plan laid down by M. Barre, but not following his execution. It was, admittedly, not a success. M. Yon took over the work, and the famous Bordeaux issue resulted.

To the eye of an expert, the difference between the stamps of M. Yon and those of M. Barre is obvious; I regret to say that some auction dealers do not have the eye of an expert, or perhaps they are merely hurried in their work. At least, there is quite a difference in price as well as in stamps.

One should note that M. Yon merely copied the older issue. He did not insist upon a head of Liberty; being rid of their emperor, the French once more had Liberty with them, and as usual turned their backs upon her. I am tempted to remark that too great intimacy with a lady, however charming, will sometimes have this effect, and it is conceivable that St. Anthony was far too wise a man to risk any loss of regard for his unearthly visitant—but I am digressing from the subject, I fear.

Napoleon settled, the war settled, everything settled, France took out the plates of M. Barre and issued perforated stamps from them. The French hooted at these stamps, called them names—Marianne was not a polite name then—and kicked up so much fuss about it that the government held a competition for a new stamp design. From this, the "Peace and Commerce" type, which lasted until 1900, was evolved, and Liberty was laid away in the Mint once more.

She still reposes there; but the government is thrifty and now threatens to bring her out again, and sell to collectors all the remaining sheets of old stamps which have been so carefully guarded through the years. It is an excellent idea, this of selling Liberty, but I am not so sure that collectors will like it. For one thing, it will certainly affect stamp values.

One last phase of Liberty's head must be mentioned, and it brings to mind that marvelous and superb church on the mountain-flank, above Algiers, where the Black Virgin of Africa is worshipped. Haiti, in 1881, decided to issue stamps, and President Solomon, who was not of Jesse's seed, ordered that the head of Liberty should appear upon the new vignettes.

The stamps duly appeared, and from the Haitian point of view the head of Liberty was a distinct success. In course of time, however, curious observations began to be bandied about the Dark Republic. One imagines that the husband was the last to hear of the matter, for this is the usual rule of life; but eventually what had been talked by word of mouth, now became printed in the newspapers. Conceive of the feelings of President Solomon, when he picked up his favorite journal and there read the charges direct—to wit, that he had placed the image of his wife upon the stamps of Haiti!

He called straightway for stamps, for photographs, for his wife herself. There in the palace of Cristophe, the comparison was made. President Solomon stood aghast; the charges were certainly justified. The resemblance was striking—indeed, it was more than striking.

And what did President Solomon do about it? He did a marvelous thing, which few other living men would have dared do. He removed his wife's picture from the stamps of Haiti and replaced it with his own.

HONOR CLUB

Number 981

G. B. Davies, Los Angeles, Calif.

Who will help us to go over the top with a total of 1,000 members of the Honor Club? We are nearing the goal, but we want to go over with a bang.

Here is our suggestion. Send us $5 for a five year renewal of your subscription and say: "Hold my name for the final instalment."

The Victory Number is near at hand and it will be some achievement.

WHITE PLAINS

One of the most interesting stamp issues ever put out by the United States was the sheet of 25 of the White Plains commemorative which the government produced for and sold at the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York in 1926.

This sheet of 25 should be in every collection as it is the finest kind of a demonstration of the importance which Uncle Sam accords the hobby. Inscribed at the top "International Philatelic Exhibition, Oct. 16th to 23rd, 1926" and at the bottom "New York, N. Y., U. S. A." and having a plate number on each of the four sides, it shows that it was strictly a philatelic product.

We offer one of these sheets for $1.25.

If you are interested in varieties we will supply you with a sheet from plate 18773, with the dot on the 11th stamp, and a sheet from plate 18774, with the dot on the 9th stamp, the two sheets for $5.00.

SWEDEN

By K. A. WALLQUIST.

The Swedish post office department, the suggestion of Baron Joh. Rudbe has published a very interesting han book of the Swedish Postage Stamps, sued 1920-28; and also of the stamp envelopes, post-cards and letter-car 1921-28.

The work presents all the details stamp manufacture, comprising en lopes and cards in an understanda manner, as the clear explanations in gard to plates, paper, colors, gum a perforations are systematically arrang and moreover largely illustrated.

The book, which contains 84 pages, a scientific piece of work and will be great help to the specialist in the stamps. Great credit is due to Mr. E Olson, a member of the Swedish Phi telic Society, for the careful manner which he has arranged the descriptions all their details.

The work is printed in Swedish and t cost is 2 kroner (54 cents); it is f sale by Postverkets Frankoteckensexpe tion, Vasagatan 28, Stockholm, Sweden

The U S Monograms, Nos. 1 and 5, are nice cancellations when clearly hit, which is seldom. You probably also have the similar cancel, where the word MAIL appears in the central band of the S, and which come on stamps of 1890, and the Columbians.

This No. 2 is a very cleanly hit cancel, and is quite an odd cancel to hit on a 5c stamp. Of No. 3 more might be said, for there are perhaps two other combinations of letters used in same manner in a circle from N. Y. City. One of the others is "U. S.," the other is "O. K." The colorless letters cut into the cork are nice cancellations, this No. 8 covered the entire stamp, and at first glance one could scarcely tell what the stamp was, as the cancel covered so much of it. It was not a very pretty cancel after all.

These double letters are nice when neatly struck, otherwise they are just cancels.

Did you ever want to start collecting something nobody had ever started? I had that idea a while ago, and having a mess of covers before 1870, thought I'd take a run through some of them, and see what had been neglected, and if interesting, try to amass a goodly collection. So I hit on the idea of collecting "Fort" postmarks on covers. They looked easy to find, and I gathered in ten or a dozen to begin with.

Then I had access to some dealers' stocks of covers, and added a very few from the lots they had, and later on I commenced advertising for the things, and I want to state that they are exceedingly hard to gather in. Also finding data is difficult, too. Dates of their establishment, their duties, size, etc., etc., seem to be a lost history as far as I have gone in a rather haphazard effort at finding out something about individual forts. Some of you all may have a ready reference as to certain forts, if so, the data would be appreciated very much.

Much of this history is to be found in the letters themselves, and if you are so fortunate as to run into a "find" of covers from Forts, it would be very well to retain the communications if they have anything to do with the detail of the life of the various posts.

In one series of letters to and from a roving Lieutenant, I gathered the following postmarks on stamps of the '61 issue: Forts, — Abercrombie, Craig, Dodge, Harker, Larned, Ridgley and Union. This is quite a range of forts for a young man to be stationed at in a couple of years duty. Several of the Fort postmarks were used in forwarding to him, after he had left the Fort to which the letter was originally addressed. This poor chap was so unfortunate as to be shot in the leg by an Indian arrow, and his leg was amputated close to the body finally, at Fort Dodge.

In one of his letters home he asks that a big window be installed in his library, as all the light he gets in this fort is from very small windows high up in the wall near the ceiling, as the fort is built mostly underground.

Then another soldier of that same period writing home dates his letter "Camp 6th Iowa Cav., Fort Antietam, Oct. 4th, '63." He tells briefly, "After following the trail of the Indians for about four weeks, we came upon a band of them of various tribes and had an engagement with them, killing about two hundred of them and taking possession of everything they possessed and routing them effectively. Their provisions were destroyed and left them in a destitute condition; but on account of the rations of the expedition giving out we could not follow them further, and so the expedition returned to this point, which is ten miles below the site of Fort Pierce and on the east side of the river where we are constructing a log fort called Fort Antietam. The Battle Ground is designated as White Stone Hill, that being the name given to the locality by the Indians.

We lost in the battle about fifty men, this includes the loss of the whole division. As far as I can learn the 6th Cavalry are to be scattered along the Missouri River and on the border between Iowa and Minnesota for this winter, and probably in the spring will go North and West again."

This letter, while written at Fort Antietam on Oct. 4th, was postmarked "Fort Randall, Oct. 19, N. T.", meaning that it was undoubtedly carried by rider to this latter fort.

In an old list of Forts found in the 1861 American Almanach, I find that the Military Posts were composed of some seven Divisions throughout the United States. According to this list, I find the Dept. of the East had 13 Posts, some being named as Barracks. These extended from Mass. to Florida, and west as far as Michigan. Dept. of the West comprised but 9 Forts, all in Minn., Neb., and Kansas. The Dept. of Texas comprised twenty forts and barracks, mostly in Texas, though Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations are included in the listing.

The Dept. of New Mexico had 12 forts, one being named Fauntleroy, possibly because it was so different from Little Lord Fauntleroy. They are listed in New Mexico, and Texas. The Dept. of Utah had but two, Bridger and Camp Floyd, both in Utah at this time. Their mail routing is listed Via Saint Joseph, Mo., so it looks as though mail did not go thru regular Post Office channel when leaving Camp Floyd, and possibly not from Fort Bridger, tho their P. O. was long established at this time—1861.

Dept. of Oregon had 12 posts, one unnamed. All are in Washington Territory and Oregon, which entered the Union Feb. 14, 1859. Oregon had but three of the 12 posts. Lastly is the Dept. of California. This included posts also in Oregon (Umpqua), New Mexico and Utah.

NEW SEASON APPROVAL BOOKS

During the summer I have remade all my approval books, and have combined in them many important purchases made during the past year.

The following is a list of new books that are now ready. In general these contain stamps from a few cents to some twenty dollars each. A list of my books of rare stamps will be issued later on.

Prices will be found very moderate, as a rule 35 to 50 per cent below catalogue quotations, and all these priced on this basis of the 1929 catalogue.

It is interesting to note the directi given for mail routing. Example, F Breckenridge is routed Via Overl Mail Route. I also have covers fr "Breckenridge C. T." and the pmk. is manuscript, this probably being the f on the 1857 covers I have. The unnam fort, Fort Harney Depot in Colv Valley, Washington, and Fort Wa Walla, Washington, are all routed Ft. Dalles.

Fort Crook and Ft. Bragg in Calif nia are routed via Red Bluff. Fort T waw is via Crescent City. Ft. Moja via San Bernadino, and Ft. Tejon, Los Angeles. This leads me to won if all of these Forts have a postmark covers from these points? Benicia B racks is listed as Benecia, Cal. I h had covers from this town on many my little finds, but never considered it a "Post" of any sort.

Here is a list of the covers I have cumulated in a short time from Fo Am placing the year of use in the f column. If the two figures have a d ger before them, it means the issue stamp on the cover—otherwise it is

U. S. Plates and Plate Markings

R. A. BRYANT, Editor.
Box 64, West Somerville, Mass.

Readers are requested to send in notes and data on errors, shifts, defects and all plate markings; also color varieties and new numbers for chronicle. The editor will gladly answer all questions on these subjects.

5c Air Mail Notes.—From New York we have another specimen from plate 19626 containing the reddish oval on the last "6" as first reported by George Wehlau, Jr., in our last column. This time it is in combination with center plate 19669 and was submitted for inspection by Henry Zierler. In our notes on this oddity and the "blue moon" variety as printed in the last issue I inadvertently mixed up the words "center" and "border" occurring with the various plate numbers given, and several correspondents have kindly called my attention to this error. While not apt to be very confusing to readers following these notes, I am always glad to be corrected when an error creeps in. The "red ovals" occur on specimens from border plate 19626, and the "blue moons" on specimens from center plate 19618. H. M. Southgate informs me that the red oval is probably due to the wrong pantograph die being used to stamp in the number. "It was caught evidently and blocked out, but not sufficiently well so as to leave a slight depression. This shows up if I recollect correctly, on the proof. They are not rare, as some 25,000 I suppose were printed—an average figure. It occurs on both sides." Mr. Zierler's specimen is the third of the group we have chronicled. L. S. Clark submits an interesting oddity in the form of an almost perfect inverted "C" appearing to the right of the beacon tower and about half way up. It is very pronounced and evidently caused by a deep scratch in the center or vignette plate. The plate number is unknown, and the only guide to the position of the stamp on the sheet is the guide line at the bottom, which definitely places it as one of the ten stamps in the fifth row. Mr. Clark states that the stamp was purchased at Minneapolis. Specimens showing several minor markings were also kindly sent by Karl Wilcox for examination.

And now here is something from our old stand-by on the West Coast. We realize that our air mail notes wouldn't be complete without an item from him, and, believe me, he knows his subject! We have had this for some time, trying to find space, and as items are coming in faster than ever and seem to be on the increase, we pass this on to our readers while the item is still current and collectors have an opportunity to go after it. We quote from Mr. Hopkinson as follows: "I am inclosing a block (19618-19630) which I think is worth while and one should gather them while they may. Observe the various subjects, frame only (no discrepancies occur in the vignettes). Note subject directly beneath vignette plate number and observe the 'bead' of the ribbon (AIR) and to the left of the airship, has been removed and the line below S. POST has been thinned and nicked. Also in front of the airship there occurs an 'unwiped plate' appearance. The plate has been wiped, of course, as these markings occur consistently except in a few of the earliest printings of 19630. I have a good many different combinations of this error in my collection, but I've seen only three combinations where no alteration has occurred on this subject; all the others show exactly as the inclosure. Now note the subject directly beneath the blue TOP and observe a well-defined hair line beginning on left center of the post of 'T' (in cents) and travelling to the right through the center of '5' and on to outside line of frame surrounding the '5' (right side). It then seems to stop, or jump, reappearing near the bottom of frame surrounding the '5' and fading away as it nears the next subject's lower left corner." When you locate this combination (right pane) follow above closely and you will plainly observe the markings our correspondent refers to.

George Brett kindly sends the following information concerning the unclassified Canal Zone on U. S. plate numbers listed in our column of May 27. 3c sharp "A," flat plate: 15550. 5c sharp "A," curved plate: 18855. 1c postage due, 13845. 2c postage due, 14029-14596 and 14598. 10c postage due, 6555; all with the sharp "A." This completes classification of all plate numbers reported, and our thanks are due Mr. Brett for following up and reporting the data at this late date.

I acknowledge with thanks first day Wayne covers from Mrs. J. W. Lundy, Theodore H. Ames, Leon D. Miller and Rev. E. M. Gearhart, D.D. Mr. Miller's

GREETINGS FROM ACKERMAN

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, M. C., Plainfield, N. J., who remembered the managing editor with a cover from San Marino as recorded two weeks ago, has now favored him with a handsome Vatican cover. It bears the 20, 25 and 80c values and they are canceled with "Poste Vaticane" marking.

NEW PANAMA AIR MAIL

PHILADA., Oct. 1.

Mr. R. S. Carter advises that the Panama air mail stamps will shortly be superseded by an entire new issue of special design. Mr. Carter writes that he has been shown the new stamps, but that they will not be placed on sale until the old supply of Provisionals becomes exhausted. They are similar to the old "map" stamps and each denomination is in a different color, namely, red, blue and green. They are printed by the American Bank Note Company in sheets of one hundred, and the denominations as heretofore, will be 15c, 20c and 25c. At the present time, special designs are being used for the Canal Zone so that there is no possibility of these stamps being overprinted for the Canal Zone.

PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

NEWFOUNDLAND STAMP NEWS

ST. JOHNS, Sept. 24.

Am enclosing copy of the new John Dickinson printing of the new 5c present issue. The color of this stamp is much brighter, paper thicker, and gum heavier than that of the old Whitehead, Morris printing.

Supplies of the old printing of the 1c are now getting short, but there will be no surcharging as the P. O. has a good supply of the 1c, new printing to put out, when the old are exhausted.

The old printing of the 10c present issue are all out and obsolete, but supplies of this value in the new printing are expected any day now.

All the remainders of the 24c Cabot issue 1897 are exhausted, and this leaves only 60c value of this issue on hand at the G. P. O.

FRANK F. WILLS.

LAST MINUTE ITEMS

—Special cachet Menlo Park, N. J., October 21, in honor of the 50th Anniversary of the invention of electric light by T. A. Edison. Covers to the Postmaster.—Kenneth Shepherd.

—A new stamp monthly is announced to appear on November 20. It will be called The Airpost Journal, and will be published at 108 State St., New Haven, Conn. A sample copy of No. 1 will no doubt be sent upon request.

—We are advised by B. Elmer that he is now located at 192 Washington St., Boston, but is keeping open his old office at 61 Court St., which is being used for his approval department. Collectors of Boston and vicinity are invited to call upon Mr. Elmer at his new address.

STAMP PRINTER AT LORD MAY

The Lord Mayor elect of London, s the Stamp Collector's Fortnightly, is William Waterlow, the prominent m aging director of the great stamp a bank-note printing firm of Waterlow a Sons, Limited. Sir William is natura very interested in stamps, and his fir productions in the postage stamp cover a wider variety of countries t any of the other great bank note co panies. A philatelic history of the Wat lows would be very nearly an encyclo dia of philately. The firm has consiste ly maintained a very high standard artistic and technical excellence.

Sir William Waterlow, as the senior the Sheriffs during Sir Kynaston Stud Lord Mayoralty, accompanied the pres Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress w they inaugurated the London Stamp E hibition in the Memorial Hall November.

Another great printer, Sir Rowla Blades (now Lord Ebbisham) of Blad East and Blades, has recently held of as Lord Mayor, but his firm's associat with postage stamp printing was limi to the North Bornians before the era the Waterlow pictorials.

NEW SO. AMERICA AIR SERVI

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 4

An official air mail service was inau rated yesterday between Argentine Chile. The airship piloted by Guillau left Buenos Aires at 6 A. M., and arri at Santiago via Mendoza at 3.15 P. Owing to very short notice of offi opening of the route, only two sacks mail were carried, one for Mendoza w 28 letters registered and ordinary, one for Santiago, with 278 letters o similar character. With the exception some 40 letters to Santiago all of above were philatelic items. All cov for this first flight are dated Sept. 2, earlier, and are backstamped with t date. So particular attention must paid by collectors to the backstamping Santiago with date of arrival.

11c Hayes; Shade Varieties.—There has been considerable comment in the philatelic press recently, pertaining to the various shades and so called colors appearing on the current 11c denomination stamp. The following remarks from our Washington correspondent on the subj will prove of interest. We quote fron recent letter of Mr. Southgate's: "As the 11c shade varieties would say t each summer on receiving the Post Off Department order for the year's requi ments, the Bureau of Engraving a Printing prints up the full supply fr the flat plates. I expect that each yea printing varies in shade from the othe Weather conditions, moisture in air, he etc., may affect the thickness of the i used. JOHNSON-CLARK STAMP CO.

A new firm, the Johnson-Clark Stamp Company announces itself ready for business at 3127 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn. The two members are pictured here, and we are pleased to introduce them to our readers as the new Company has excellent facilities for caring for precancel philately.

iss Agnes Johnson, who will care for precancel end of the business, has many years of experience. For years has handled the precancel sales and ted in editing the Rotnem Stamp Co. og. Miss Johnson was assistant ager of the recent National Philatelic ibition at Minneapolis.

Lawrence S. Clark, the other member, has long been a collector of air mail and first flight covers. He will devote his time to the management of this branch of the business, and will edit The Air Mail and Precancel Journal, a monthly publication. Mr. Clark was publicity director of the Minneapolis exhibition, and responsible for what editor Severn called "A quarter of a million dollars worth of publicity for the hobby."

R. A. BROOKS ON AIR MAIL

By Herman W. Boers.

R. A. Brooks, Fenton, Mich., a strong factor in the American Air Mail Society, gave an address Sept. 21, before the Michigan Stamp Club on air mail, stamps and covers. Members of the Wayne Stamp Society, Ann Arbor and Border City Stamp Clubs were present. Mr. Brooks showed a wonderful lot of pioneers and gave an interesting talk on the progress of air philately. There are thirty-one systems in the country covering a great deal of territory, and nine foreign routes are in operation. There are three societies devoted to air philately with a membership of 900. Mr. Brooks predicted a further reduction in the air mail rate. He was given a rising vote of thanks for his exhibition and talk.

DISCOUNTS

We deem it necessary to state once again that we do not accept general advertising announcing larger than 50 per cent discounts. Our reason for this is that there is apt to be extravagance in statements that will react unfavorably on Philately. Indicate definitely and describe some of the stamps you can sell at better than 50% discount and you may use an appropriate display line.

The Managing Editor.

EDITORIAL

BY actual count, we received during one week recently, eighty-five clippings from publications of different kinds, relating to stamp collecting in one or more of its phases. While some of the notices were exaggerated in their statements, they were a fairly intelligent summary, when taken in the aggregate, of stamp collecting as a whole. No longer is philatelic comment restricted to newspapers of the largest cities, as we find that in smaller places the press is aware of the element of news in philatelic developments. Much as we should like to refer to each of the items separately, they are in such number that we cannot attempt to do so. We wish to say that we appreciate the kindness of correspondents who send in news of the kind, and on occasion, we shall make use of it.

A CORRESPONDENT asks the question whether any of the British colonies make a practice of charging ten per cent. over face for stamps that they have on sale when ordered by non-residents. Judging from his letter, his experience has left him somewhat puzzled as to the procedure of postmasters at various of these colonies and he desires definite information that will aid him in future. We cannot say with assurance just what the expectations of postmasters, here and there, may be, but we have no doubt that some of our readers may be able to give the information desired.

THE question has been asked of us: What are the latest prices on quantity lots of stamps such as are found in packets, ranging from one thousand to twenty thousand varieties? The memory of many collectors exists of the standard price of ten dollars for one thousand varieties, but now we find a price of about fifty cents, wholesale, for this number of stamps. Five thousand may be had for around $15, and ten thousand for about $55. The 20,000 packet is listed at $350 by one wholesaler. The figures quoted are gleaned from the lists of foreign dealers and are not submitted as "firm", but are cited merely to show how much easier it is nowadays to make a representative collection than it was in the age when every stamp counted. Yet, in the late '70's it was possible to buy a packet of six hundred stamps for ten dollars; and we should say that the 600 stamps in question would have a catalogue value at present of much over a hundred dollars, to put it conservatively.

FROM Mr. Michael Miller, Baltimore, Maryland, we have received a copy of the Sun of his city dated September 22, 1929, with a full-page article, "France betrays a National Hobby. Ragged boys, noblemen, waiters, are rabid stamp collectors." A large illustration of "Paris' Open-Air Stamp Market" catches the eye with its familiar types of frequenters shown to the life and the text by Francis Dickie is sprightly and readable. He went to Paris in 1927 without the least bit of philatelic imagination; in fact, his ignorance of collecting was complete. However, his experiences from then on were such as to impress him strongly and he now makes the unqualified statement that the French people have a hobby "more general and popular than bicycle riding," which is called the king of sports in the open, in the form of stamp collecting, which is the king of indoor sports. Mr. Dickie writes that he is confirmed in the belief that the French "are an entire nation of stamp collectors," and he proceeds to prove his case by reciting incidents that show the avidity with which French collectors of all classes pursue their quarry. The tribute is one that will surprise the public in America where collectors may be said to be still in the segregated class. Our feeling in France last year was that at any place or any occasion one could speak of stamp collecting with the assurance that one's words would not excite curiosity, but rather would be received with understanding and a welcome.

A CORRESPONDENT, Mr. Arthur L. Johnson, Chicago, asks us if we can tell him what has become of five boys that were interested in stamp collecting when he was on "the near south side" in Chicago, about 1883. This is a large order and we cannot attempt to fill it, although several of those named became members of the society that antedated the Chicago Philatelic Society, if we remember old records correctly. However, another question deserves notice and it is to the effect that one of his early exchangers of stamps was Ellis Parker Butler of Muscatine, Iowa, and he wants to know if he is the famous author now living at Flushing, N. Y., whose stories have brought him world-wide celebrity and who sometimes resorts to the philatelic theme to embellish his tales. We think that they are one and the same person, and our correspondent is not the first one to recall that he traded stamps with Ellis Parker Butler when he was in Iowa, a contact having been established by means of an exchange notice in one of the boys' papers of the times, such as Harper's Young People.

A RECENT visitor, Mr. T. A. Hayward, Pueblo, Colorado, recalled the old days of the Denver convention when that bustling society of another day, the Philatelic Sons of America met in the Colorado capital in 1905. Mr. Hayward is on his way east and he may visit the seat of his early philatelic endeavors, none other than Susquehanna, Pennsylvania, where young Hayward, as a boy, joined forces with a youthful coadjutor, F. A. Ellis, and published the Keystone Philatelist in 1872 and 1873. His partner soon felt that while fame might be food for the soul, he wanted substance rather than spirit, and he sold his interest to Mr. Hayward, who kept the faith and published the paper for a year. The first subscriber was John Kerr Tiffany, of St. Louis, who was destined to become one of the beacon-lights of philately, the first (and for many years) president of the American Philatelic Society. Mr. Tiffany had not gone to Harvard at this time, we believe, but he was already much interested in philatelic journalism or literature, and some years later, while at Harvard, published a list of all the publications that had appeared on the scene from first to last. Mr. Hayward says that the only complete files of his paper that he knew of in later years were in the Tiffany collection and his own library. Mr. Hayward advertised the departments of the U. S. at the accepted prices of the day, 50c for Navy complete, and 15c for Treasury. Executives were always scarce and were to be had, in common with the other departments only in used condition, as a rule. Adhesive stamped envelopes to be returned to the departments enclosing the addressees' answers were often denuded of their stamps and ordinary stamps used in their place. It may be said that the supply of Executives was augmented by the philatelic enterprise of Jesse Grant, stamp collector (son of President Grant), and his friends at Washington, but after the use of departments was discontinued, the dealer of St. Louis, E. F. Gambs, emerged with sheets of Executives that he obtained from a clerk at Washington. Later, Mr. Gambs removed to San Francisco from where he advertised for years before his death.

THE newspapers recently gave varying degrees of prominence to a despatch from Baton Rouge, La., telling that a co-ed at the Louisiana State University had received as a gift from Queen Marie of Roumania, "a complete collection of postage stamps." Miss Bourgeois, the recipient, was requested by the queen to choose a memento of Roumania, and nominated postage stamps.

Air Mail News

BY DONALD E. DICKASON,
Wooster, Ohio

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

Once again I write this 3 days ahead of schedule, same alibi as last week, plus the fact that I leave in the morning to go through another college opening rush at Battle Creek, Mich., my second place of business. Just 7 days since the last write-up, but look at this coöperator list. Biggest we've ever had, and I can't help getting a little thrill over the fact that 68 people find enough interest in this stuff to send in their bit during one week. Such interest is bound to keep me on my toes. Here's the list: *Frederick D. Markee, *A. H. Lomax, Robt. O. Briggs, Anna M. Schafer, *Maurice S. Petty, *Frederick Hambrock, Jr., Geo. D. Kingdom, Omer C. Thompson, *Ebert Rhodehamel, Henry O. Meisel, C. F. Cornish, D. E. McPherson, Norman Rosenstein, Jos. Glenszewski, Everett G. Emerson, H. D. Egolf, Todd Fagan, Jesse Thompson, Elton Manuel, J. W. Stoutzenberg, M. C. Emsley, Charles E. Horn, Geo. Nowobilski, Herbert Barnett, Roy Hamilton McBean, J. A. Arce, Stewart Currie, *P. R. Hudson, A. W. Arter & Son, *R. A. Chenoweth, *Jake Siskel, *Lt. W. R. Smith, J. A. Stevenson, Otto Edenharter, Paul B. Hoeber, Jr., Henry C. Johnson, *Geo. R. Calder, *Earl Thomas, Dominick Fabian, *J. C. Adams, *Alois G. Thienal, Jr., Nelson E. Willits, Howard C. Rushmore, C. P. Manson, *Cecil F. Blogg, *A. J. Moeller, Wells Dewey Burnette, Geo. W. Kesler, Robt. M. Hayes, *Morton Shulman, *R. W. Dormer, Frank C. Clark, Billy Burr, Geo. H. Kieley, F. R. Gellenbeck, *Dr. Harry Ioor, *H. H. Merwin, *A. J. Steinhardt, *Herbert Levinson, *L. B. Wood, *Emerson C. Erb, Sr., C. F. Barnes, S. G. Miller, Boleslaus Jarzembowski, John B. Jackson, R. K. Mack, Sr. I especially appreciate the large number of complimentary covers, not only this week, but all the time. I can't possibly acknowledge them personally, so I hope this will serve instead.

Two new publications to mention. Since the late, and very lamentable disagreement between Bob Brooks, and the other A. A. M. S. officers, Mr. Brooks has continued the publication of the former A. A. M. S. Bulletin as an individual enterprise, as all former recipients are aware. The A. A. M. S., in the person of Secretary Gatchell, has undertaken a new advance air mail information Bulletin, which is being sent free of charge to all members keeping a supply of stamped addressed envelopes with Sec. L. B. Gatchell, Binghamton, N. Y. First numbers are highly creditable, and future ones should not be missed by members. Both bulletins are maintaining a fine "hurry up news" service, and their sponsors have a real job.The Berkshire Exchange announces the new "Standard Airpost Catalog," for November publication, at $1.75. On Nov. 20, the first number of The Airpost Journal, a new monthly magazine, will make its appearance under Berkshire sponsorship, and it will be looked forward to with considerable interest.

Lots of Fallen Timbers 1st day covers, with and without unofficial cachets. I went through Maumee, Perrysburg, and Toledo on the 14th, and each reported about 40,000 covers mailed, and still at it.First night flight, an additional daily service starts on CAM 28, Oct. 1st. St. Joseph, Mo., will be added to the route, with official cachet. Two trips each way—day and night.Effective Sept. 15, Flint, Mich., was omitted as a stop on the eastbound Bay City-Cleveland route on No. 27.Air mail pickup tests were continued for some days at Youngstown, then halted for a time to allow some changes in the arrangement of the apparatus.

Camden, N. J., service on CAM 19 opened on schedule Sept. 15th. R. W. Dormer tried to get me a cover through with the Fallen Timbers stamps, but it didn't work. Thanks for the thought, anyway. Cachet same as for other route 19 points, all black. Philadelphia lost service on its own field at this time, the trip on the 14th being the last. A last day cover arrived with no return on it, but it looks like Herbert Levinson's writing.

New route 32—Portland, Spokane, Pasco, Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver—had a real beauty of a cachet, and colors! They looked sort of nice, after all the plain blacks. Don't know how they got away with it, though—that is Portland, which sent through red, black, and green. Numerous special letters, newspapers, and other souvenirs of community interests were used for this flight, and add much interest to the covers sent me. Vancouver did not have the regulation cachet, but 1 cover received bore a 7 line box type in green, probably of local origin. Seattle and Portland mail was dropped there, and the morning plane stopped for a pickup, while the evening plane went via Portland. 12,000 covers left Pasco via the 1st flight. The 1st night flight on CAM 5 left Pasco the same evening for the east, and 516 covers, of which 250-300 were for collectors, left for the east. Cachet is interesting, as it very evidently is the official No. 32 cachet, on which a new top has been grafted with the words, "First Night Flight CAM 5."Herbert Barnett reports cover mailed from Grand Dalles, Wash., on which was written in red ink, "Hold for first flight CAM 32." Grand Dalles was on the route as an emergency port, but not as a regular stop. Anybody know if these actually were put on the plane there?

The Return of The Classic

is heralded by the return of the New England Company to its old stamping ground in Boston.

We see for the coming season an increase in popularity of the seasoned old issues. We have been preparing for this, we will make a big effort in the group this season. This does not mean our New Issue, Airmail, Auction, U. S. or general lines will suffer. The absorption of another established stamp business has strengthened us in every direction.

The NEW ENGLAND STAMP CO. has been a constructive force in philately since 1893. After a short lapse to inactivity, we are back again in strength, with new stock, new management, new enthusiasm, new connections, new prices, a new and more accessible location. The old attitude of co-operation with the customer, the sense of responsibility for his collection, the determination to uphold the best standards of fair and upright dealing, these still remain high on the mast.

We feel we deserve and expect the patronage of collectors in the East. We are advertising and ready for national business. For your convenience we invite you to our two handy Service Stations, 81 Nassau, New York, and 53 Bromfield, Boston. (All mail to Boston).

But "wonderful as we are" we haven't a mind reader on our staff. Write or see us. Help us to help you. May we hear from you?

Supplementary Mail

By Philip H. Ward, Jr.

When a mail-carrying ship is about to sail, mail is usually put aboard at least a half hour before time of departure. The Department, however, has arranged for the delivery of letters after this time and furnishes for this purpose a service which is known as "Supplementary Mail." For this service double postage is charged and it enables a letter to be placed on board at almost the last minute of departure. In the earlier days, postmarks used on such class of mail bore the words "Supplementary Mail," but the marks today are recognized by certain numbers and types of cancellations. Usually, and especially in the case of larger passenger and mail-carrying vessels, a branch post office is opened at the pier an hour or so before departure.

Newfoundland Prices

By A. C. LeDuc.

The 1930 catalogue shows many deserved increases in prices of the stamps for this popular country. By actual count, it is found that the 19th century issues for this country show 16 increases in the unused column and 13 in the used column, and a solitary minor decrease. The 20th century issues show marked activity with no less than 65 upward changes for unused stamps, and 38 for the used with no reductions whatever. This is a total of 81 increases in the unused column, and 51 in the used column, and after deducting the one decrease this leaves a net total of 131 increases over the 1929 catalogue. Truly this is a remarkable showing when you realize the comparatively small number of stamps listed for the entire country. It has long been known that the catalogue was lagging behind in its prices as compared with dealers' prices and those realized at auction. This has been especially true of the pictorial issues of the 20th century and the air mails.

Double Paper

By Philip H. Ward, Jr.

During the printing of the Bank Note Issues in the early seventy's, experiments were made with what is known as "Double Paper," that is—a very thin sheet of almost tissue paper attached to a thicker backing sheet. These two were so put together that in the case of a single stamp it is often difficult to note the double paper. The paper, however, is usually thicker and gives the appearance of a soft paper stamp, although they were produced by the Continental Company at the time of the use of the hard paper. The idea of the "double paper" was that after the stamp was cancelled, if any effort was made to wash or clean it that the thin section of paper which received the ink in printing would separate and easily tear, and thus prevent cleaning.

Junior Dictionary

Perce en Arc.—A French term for a form of rouletting in which the stamps are separated by rows of small semi-circular cuts.

Permits.—Printed notices appearing on third class matter to indicate that the necessary postage has been prepaid. These permits are used by firms mailing large quantities of circulars, catalogues, etc., under government regulation, and serve practically the same function as precancelled stamps.

Perot, W. B.—The postmaster of Hamilton, Bermuda, who, in 1848, issued special 1d stamps for the prepayment of postage, thus anticipating the regular issue produced in London by about seventeen years.

WELLS FARGO & CO.'S 10 CENT (ADHESIVE) PONY EXPRESS

By W. R. PARKER, 1026 Montgomery St., Oroville, Calif.

When we mention the Pony Express almost everyone is thrilled, even the non-philatelist. We turn a few pages, passing the $5, $2 and $1 Pony covers and come to the 25c and 10c Pony covers. Here my friend looks up in amazement. Is something wrong? Could it really be possible that such low rates were charged when for all of his fifty years he had thought "Pony Express" covers were charged for at from $2.50 to $5 a half ounce weight? Even $1 seemed unreasonable, but 10c, impossible!

So we light cigars, as it was up to me to make a little talk on Pony Express history, Nevada conditions and to prove to him that these 10c Pony covers were really carried by a Pony Express. I reached for my data and turned to the following advertisement: Wells Fargo & Co.'s—Pony Express—On and after Monday, the 11th inst., we will run a Pony Express Daily between Sacramento and Virginia City, carrying letters and exchange papers through from San Francisco in 24 hours, Sacramento in 15 hours, and Placerville in 10 hours. Rates: All letters to be enclosed in our franks, and TEN CENTS PREPAID, in addition, for each letter weighing half an ounce or less, and Ten Cents for each additional half ounce.

Dated Placerville, Aug. 7, 1862. Wells Fargo & Co., Au. 8. TF.

With the "franked" government stamped envelope (3c of 1861) selling at a "bit" or 12½ cents, the additional pony rate made the total cost 22½ cents.

The 10c brown, or/and chocolate Pony stamps may have been used from Aug. 11, 1862. No first day covers are known to the writer. Just how long this rate was in effect has never been determined and no students have ever found data as to the exact time this California-Nevada 10c Pony rate was changed to 25c (or 35c to 37½c franked rate). No writers I have followed have even made a guess. In fact, almost all data on the "cents" varieties is unknown even though students have been seeking it. (Wells Fargo & Co., and Britton & Rey, Printers: records were destroyed by fire; and so, it seems that information must come through the coöperation of all philatelists.)

The "More-for-Less" Man.

WHEN ordering stamps write "As per advt. in MEKEEL'S"

I offer the following information that came in through a recent purchase. Have I discovered, approximately, the time this rate was changed?

10c Pony Covers

Canceled W. F. & Co. Sacramento, Sept. 14 (1862).

Canceled W. F. & Co. Carson City, Dec. ? ?

Canceled W. F. & Co. Sacramento, Jan. 10 (1863).

25c Blue, Pony Cover

Canceled W. F. & Co. Sacramento, Jan. 22 (1863).

The three Sacramento covers listed are addressed to the same man at Carson City. The Pony advertisement of Aug. 7, runs to December 7, 1862. No further advertisement or news items has been found; and therefore cannot we say that the 25c Pony rate came in use about the middle of January, 1863?

To check this statement, are there any readers who know of the 10c adhesive used in the months, February to July, inclusively? An August or January date with year would be very interesting.

None of the "cents" value was cancelled with the well-known San Francisco Pony (running horse) large oval handstamp of 1860, and 1861, as on the Dollar values. It is possible that the "Pony Express Sacramento" oval handstamp was used on the 10c, early in 1862; we would like such an item. If this stamp was in use only five months, no wonder it is so scarce. The 10c seems to be many times rarer than the 25c blue, and copies in fine shape, tied to the cover, are twenty times rarer than covers with a fine 25c blue. Anyone having particulars are requested to coöperate with the aim of clearing up this "cents" mystery. It is possible that you will be lucky enough to find an early date.

OUR "3-IN-1" CONTRACT

"I do not understand your 3-in-1 advertising contract. Can you explain it?" This is our reply to our would-be advertiser:—

This popular contract allows the use of varying rates dependent upon the space used. The rates per week are:—

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) LEXINGTON, MASS.

A THING OF BEAUTY
One of the most appealing stamps of the late United States issues is the $5 red and blue showing portrait of America, the engraving having been taken from the statue on the Capitol at Washington. When the variety first appeared, many thought that it was an excellent likeness of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and that the engraver may have intentionally designed the stamp accordingly. The high denominations of all of our issues are desirable and as the issue is discontinued, become excellent property. The Department has already announced that they contemplate issuing a new series of stamps, possibly shortly after the beginning of the new year, and under the circumstances, the $5 red and blue will soon be a "past issue." I have recently been fortunate in acquiring a little lot of these stamps, Scott's 573, in singles and blocks, lightly cancelled, and while the small supply is available, they may be had at $1.50 per stamp, or blocks of four at $6.00. These are all well centered, fresh in color, without straight edges and lightly cancelled.
Those desiring unused copies may have them at $5.50 per stamp.
If you are looking for anything else in the way of United States issues, your want list is solicited.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., P. O. Box 2175, Middle City Station, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, cor. Robbins Road and Locust Ave., Lexington, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

United States

Washington Notes

I am officially informed that right at the present time insofar as new announcements from Washington are concerned, that there is absolutely nothing to be published regarding new stamps. The 2c Ohio Canalization stamp will be issued on October 12, as previously mentioned, and with that out of the way, the Department will be marking time until after the new year.

The question of the rotary stamps curling, is, however, still being given serious consideration and experiments have been perfected, which it is believed when carried out will result in a more satisfactory product. Heretofore, in the same operation, the stamp has been printed and then gummed, and it has been thought that the offset on the gum from the ink has resulted in the pigments of the ink affecting the gum, whereby it loses much of its adhesive quality.

In accordance with the new experiment, the stamps are first printed and dried. They are then gummed and dried, and gummed the second time, giving us the rotary issue with the double gum. While this does not necessarily give the collector a new variety, nevertheless, when the finished product is available we may be able to discover some peculiarity that will distinguish the stamp from the normal variety. The Bureau has already been authorized to proceed with the printing and gumming of the 2c stamp in this manner and their appearance may be looked for later in the year.

Air Mail Rates

Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, in charge of the Air Mail writes that the Department is planning to carry a complete list of the Air Mail Services to Foreign Countries, together with the rate, in the next issue of the monthly supplement to the Postal Guide. They will also shortly carry this information in a special sheet inserted in the Postal Bulletin, and further make a copy of this in the Postal Supplement so that postal window clerks will have this information available at a moment's notice. Collectors will do well to obtain copies of these through their post offices, so that in franking air mail letters abroad, they will be able to obtain the correct rate with little trouble.

Plate Varieties

Mr. M. R. Taschenberger has submitted for inspection a copy of 1887-1c blue, wherein some foreign matter adhering to the plate has resulted in a small imperfection to the right of the left eye shown in the portrait of Franklin, giving us the appearance of a portion of the right eye being seen.

Mr. Frank M. Lyle has submitted for inspection a vertical strip of the ½c rotary wherein the same portion of each stamp is without ink. This is possibly due to the fact that a certain portion of the sheet had become dry resulting in the paper not taking up the ink as supposed.

Prestamp Telegraph Cover

Mr. Frank E. Wood has submitted for inspection a most interesting prestamp cover consisting of a letter dated—Boston, December 10, 1846, and addressed to Worcester, Mass. The letter sheet shows a rectangular marking in red reading in three lines—"N Y & B Telegraph —Boston—Dec. 9, 1846." In addition, there is a further circular Boston postmark reading—"Boston, 5 Cts. 11 Dec." Evidently the clerk at the telegraph office forgot to change his dater, as the letter was written on the 10th, shows a Boston postmark of the 11th, and no doubt the telegraph marking should have been one of these two days.

The cover has been submitted to one or two who are greatly interested in prestamp covers, but they can throw no light upon the existence of such a telegraph company doing a business of carrying mail. The letter is a personal one which shows that the marking is not simply a return address. Both the telegraph marking and the postmarks appear in the upper right corner.

We will be glad to hear from any of our readers who could give us any information on the subject.

1851, 3 Cent Precancels

The Postmaster at Winchester, N. H., during June to September, 1856, must have been a lazy old cuss, for it seems that rather than sell his postage stamps in unused condition and then cancel them after he received them on letters, saved time by pen-cancelling an entire sheet, then cutting them apart and using them as they were needed.

Mr. W. F. Goerner submits for inspection no less than three covers of this period bearing stamps which would indicate their cancellation previous to their use on the letters. The one cover dated June 17, contains two horizontal ruled lines, whereas the two additional co have wavy vertical lines. Covers earlier and later date are also submi showing that the precancelling was sibly done only for a few months.

SEVEN AND SEVENTY

THE MAGIC NUMBER IN BRITISH STAMP PLATES

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

Seven is the mystic number of the Scriptures, the cabalistic figure of Israel, and the symbol of the occult. There are seven virtues and a like number of deadly sins. Seven were the Champions of Christendom, the Sleepers of the Koran, and the wonders of the world.

Philately's magic number is the double seven, and it is a curious coincidence that the most desirable stamps in the imperforate penny reds and the plate number penny reds are 77's.

First Plate 77

It was known for many years that plate 77 in the first series of penny postage plates had been registered twice, but it was not until Messrs. Wright & Creeke's great work appeared (1899) that any explanation for this circumstance became known to philatelists. They stated:

"On plate 77, the first stamp in the second row, which should have been lettered 'B. A.' bore the first letter only, the second letter-block being a blank. The error was discovered and corrected about nine months after registration, and the plate was then re-registered as 77.B.: this fact is recorded in the archives, and the latter plate was not, as has been stated, a duplicate. Copies of the incomplete stamp presumably exist, but we have never seen or heard of one."

The original plate 77 was registered on April 19, 1847, and the re-registration as 77.B. took place on January 12, 1848. Mr. E. D. Bacon has found among the correspondence of Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co. the following letter under date January 5, 1848:

"Dear Sir,

Mr. Keogh says the plate, No. 77, should have the letter 'A' engraved in the blank space and then be registered again. Please to have it done at once. As no notice appears to have been taken of the missing letter, it is not likely that inconvenience will arise from issuing those already printed, and as they, being printed from a registered plate, are legal stamps, their issue need not be longer prevented. I have informed Mr. Allen, who is prepared to receive them.

I am,
Yours truly,
(signed) E. HILL.

J. B. Bacon, Esq."

It is thus seen that the error had been noted and the circulation of sheets from this plate was temporarily withheld, but subsequently proceeded with. It is strange that copies had not attracted the notice of philatelists prior to the publication of "Wright & Creeke," and even then it was six years before a collector had the good fortune to find a copy. The corrected plate was destroyed on December 2, 1848, after giving a total of 82,400 impressions in its two states.

Belated Discovery

The first copy found by a collector was the one which figured as Exhibit No. 4 at the Exhibition of the Postage Stamps of Great Britain organised by the Junior Philatelic Society at the Old Exeter Hall, Strand, in February, 1905. Mr. S. T. Ellis soon afterwards found a second (Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly, Aug. 25, 1906), and the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain reported a third later in the same year. The first to appear in the auction room was at Messrs. Venton Bull & Cooper's sale, Nov. 8-9, 1906, when a price of £7 10/- was obtained. A few years later £18 was paid at auction for a copy. In recent times the number of known copies has grown, but apart from the specimen on the imprimatur sheet no unused copy has turned up. Of the used copies the King has one with the diamond postmark numbered 17 (G.P.O., London); the copy illustrated from my "Great Britain: line-engraved stamps" went, I believe, to America (Worthington coll.), but has since been returned and sold in this country. It is on a portion of the original, but Mr. H. C. V. Adams showed at the recent London exhibition a copy on the entire envelope, the only one known on entire.

Bank Note Issues, 1870-1889

The plates contained 200 subjects arranged in two panes of 100, each pane or "post-office sheet" having ten rows of ten stamps. The imprint and plate number is above and below each pane and at the top and bottom of the valley or gutter between the panes is an arrow indicating where the original sheets were cut apart vertically.

Stamps in the tenth vertical row of the left pane were always imperforate at the right side and those in the first vertical row of the right pane were always imperforate at the left side. The imperforate margin on stamps having such "natural" straight edge varies in width and may include the edge of the adjacent stamp in the opposite pane. Such "straddle" varieties and other pane margin specimens are not recognized as "part perforate."

Corrected Stamp

Copies of the stamp from the corrected plate with the "A" inserted in the right-hand bottom corner may be identified from the position of the corner letters, the "B.A." stamp in pair with its neighbour "B.B."; the pair was in the late Mr. G. C. Alston's collection. The stamp may be further identified by the slight extension of the bottom frame line at right.

Later Plate 77

In Series II of the One Penny plates, the series with letters in all four corners and with the plate numbers shown on the stamps, No. 77, is also of outstanding interest. At the period when the change to the four-letter plate number stamps were introduced there seems to have been considerable difficulty in laying down the plates in sufficiently exact alignment for perforating, although several years had elapsed since perforation had been in regular use. Plates 75 and 77 were rejected for the irregularity of their lay-out, and were not registered or used. About this time the firm of Holtzapffel & Co. designed a ratchet arrangement by which the bed-plate of the transfer press could be moved uniformly in level and spacing to ensure the plate being capable of printing sheets which would take the perforations well.

Although never registered or used, copies of stamps from plate 77 undoubtedly got into circulation, probably from the imprimatur sheets, which on being perforated showed up the plate irregularities. A sheet or more may thus have been passed into stock as the simplest way of accounting for the sheets delivered by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co. Specimens are of great rarity.

The first one found was the unused one which the late Mr. W. Hughes-Hughes had and which gravitated to Ferrari, though it was not among the listed items sold at the Ferrari sales in Paris. Its check lettering is not recorded.

A second unused one was acquired by the late Mr. T. K. Tapling, and is in the collection at the British Museum, lettered AB—BA.

The third and fourth unused copies were neighbours on the original sheet, lettered BA—AB and CA—AC, the former being in the collection of H.M. King George and the latter was the specimen in the collection of Mr. Per Gjerding, shown at the recent exhibition. This copy was found by Mr. Charles Nissen in 1919.

The Lost "77"

Of used copies, one was found and lost. It was in the collection of my old friend, the late Mr. Henry J. Crocker, who obtained it from the late Mr. H. L'Estrange Ewen; it was destroyed along with Mr. Crocker's fine British collection in the fire that followed the San Francisco earthquake of 1906. I have no record of its lettering.

The second one was sent to me in 1915 as a gift to the Daily Telegraph "Belgian Fund," the generous donor being Mr. C. E. J. Crallan, of Jersey. It was lettered LL—LL and bore a London E.C. postmark numbered 80. It fetched £50 at the sale, a very moderate figure when it was but one of three or possibly four copies known.

Another Pair of Neighbors

The next used copy turned up about 1920, found in a wholesale lot which was the source of another and more recent discovery. The 1920 copy is lettered IP —PI and is used along with a 4d red, on a portion of the original letter. The postmark is a London head office one, "15."

The wholesale lot referred to was an extensive purchase by Mr. H. F. Johnson, some portions of which he sold wholesale, retaining other portions of the lot for selecting items for his important stock of Great Britain stamps. It was among the balance that during 1924 his partner, Mr. A. O. J. Readhead, found a 1d plate 77, apparently the neighbor on the sheet to the one just described. It is lettered HP—PH, has the London city type-bars postmark (number not distinguishable) and is now in a private collection.

Figmentary 77's

Many copies of plate 77 have been reported on insufficiently sure ground. Most of them have proved to be other than 77, generally 177, which is a plate number commonly met with. Where the postmark or defective printing renders the "1" invisible, or almost so, the specimens can be compared with the known check lettering of 177, and if they tally the stamp is almost certainly not a true 77. Probably every stamp on plate 77 is cut into by the perforations, and a well-centered stamp is not likely to be found of this rare plate.

Another small detail that has been noted is the slope of the downstroke of the "7"s, well brought out in some photomicrographs Mr. Harold Cheavin has made for me. Unfortunately, in the unused plate 77 he had to work from a photograph, not from the actual stamp, and there is some loss of depth in the picture. Mr. J. B. Seymour pointed out in the British Philatelist of October, 1911, that whereas most of the sevens in the later penny plate numbers have their tails pointing perceptibly to the left of the angle of the diamond, those in plates 71 to 79 are nearly all (including plate 77) practically dead on the centre.

During the recent London Exhibition several supposed "77"s were brought to me, but none was the real thing; in nearly every case the plate was 177.—Stamp Lover.

REVIEW OF THE CHASE BO

"The 3c United States 1851-1857 Is a Notable Publication

By Philip H. Ward, Jr.

Twenty years back attention had given to the plating of several For issues, but up to that time, no stam the United States had been really stu in relation to its appearance and pos on the plate. At that time, Dr. Ca Chase accumulated and acquired t sands of the common 1851 3c, which a drug upon the market, and coul had at a few cents by the hundred. knew at the time, that these stamps been printed from numerous plates, knew little more about them. Chase took these stamps and in a tematic way by means of pairs, strips blocks, studied the peculiarities of different positions, and in time fitted t so together that he reached conclus that are now considered accurate by stamp collecting fraternity.

The J. O. Moore, Inc., have rece published a work written by Dr. Ca Chase, consisting of upward of four h dred pages, devoted entirely to this stamp. It is doubtful if a larger p lication has ever been devoted to a si variety heretofore. Dr. Chase start from the first, quoting from Acts Congress authorizing such an issue. tells us about the calling for bids, awarding of the contracts and the comments of the numerous papers of country at the time the stamps appea Part of a chapter is devoted to the gravers who produced this interes stamp, and further information is g as to all essays and proofs known exist.

From Dr. Chase's studies, we le that there were nine plates of the 3c, that the first plate can be divided its early, intermediate and late st while plates 2 and 5 were so recut they may be divided into early and states. Of the same stamp perfora known as the 1857 issue, twenty pl existed, which are divided into groups—those known as the plate group, which have the broken vert frame lines, and those of the other gr which have continuous vertical fr lines. Dr. Chase tells us that his st of the perforated issues has not beer extensive as of the imperforate stan hence, his remarks are not quite numerous.

With the aid of this book, we are abled in most cases, to separate stamps of certain plates. There are tain peculiarities that are peculiar to tain plates, and while in the case single stamps, there are exceptions, ne theless, strips and blocks can usually separated accurately by even the amat with a little study.

The numerous plate varieties, there are not one or two, but dozens, all illustrated by actual stamps, thus ing in the distinguishing of the import minor varieties. The broken plates all mentioned, as well as illustrated, the famous "three rows" from plat are fully written up.

Numerous chapters are devoted to c cellations, which in many cases are ill trated, complete lists are given of Railroad cancellations known upon t variety, as well as all Steamboat Packetboat postmarks.

It is doubtful if anything known to upon the subject of this stamp and use is omitted from the book, althou Dr. Chase calls attention to the pos bility of additional information, and quests criticism, as well as any new formation.

The author of this book is to be co plimented on the unusual amount of wo devoted in producing such a handbo and the J. O. Moore, Inc., who publish the work at $6.00, deserve much cre for making this information available the stamp collecting fraternity. It shou be in the library of every philatelist i terested in United States issues, and t specialist in the 3c 1851 will certainly at a loss without it.

IN STATE

By Edwin B. Hill.
(For E. J. A.)

The post office was due to open shortly. The Grand Canyon postals had all been properly inscribed (not forgetting W. O. W.'s)—however, not with the usual "Am-having-a-fine-time. Wish-you-were-here." This brand was more personal, and possibly less commendable. I sat upon the steps, looking toward the railway tracks, upon which was anchored a Pullman, with the cabalistic name, "Monaco." Why had the name-chaser chosen that particular country? And why was the coach here at the Canyon, of all places, at this particular time?

"An' would you call it 'Mo-knock-o,' or 'Mon-a-ko'?"

The drawling voice behind me held a familiarity of tone that amused. I did not turn.

"E-ther or I-ther," I replied.

Then he sat down beside me. It was Bill, the guide. Bill, be it said, had slithered to the depths, almost. One grade further and he would have been guide at a dude ranch, than which nothing can be lower in estimation of a real cow-hand.

Speeding up the ancient flivver, the evening before, I cut in ahead of Bill and a string of Bright Angel mules heading for the corral. Bill glared resentfully as I blew him a kiss. He came back strong. Going through the motions of picking cotton—the bitterest insult that could be offered a Texan—Bill then added to the shot by airily bouncing along mule-back. That meant the flivver-incumbent couldn't ride even a mule! It was a beautiful comeback. Oh, yes! The wind-wafted kiss spelt ladies'-man for Bill. But the honors were his. I felt jubilantly squelched, and then and there resolved to see more of Bill and his silk neck-scarf. So here was Bill. He had sought me out to clear his conscience.

"Ah, yes! The gentle William, with, ye gods! his scenery around his neck. One hour more and he loses it. Still buy 'em by the dozen, Bill?"

Needless almost to say the jibe came from Jimmy O', who then proceeded to seat himself beside me. The early rising tourists gazed curiously. It was not often that three harder looking citizens commingled on the brink of the Canyon. Bill wore chaps and spurs,—Jimmy O' was accoutered in engineering garb,—khaki and puttees and Stetson,—while I was togged out in an ancient army hat, army shoes, khaki trousers, and a shirt which showed traces—none too faint—of the hour I had too recently put in under the flivver. The inevitable handkerchief around my neck, cowboy fashion, did not add to the ensemble, for it was there for the purpose of blotting up perspiration, and not adjunct to the residue of the ruins.

The tourists gazed. I heard one of the young girls loudly whisper:

"Why, it's Bill—and the other one is that bridge engineer."

"The one in the middle is that awful gun-man Bill was telling us about!"

This from another fair maid who, liberally endowed with war paint, gazed round-eyed.

Bill grinned as the party passed on.

"You will blow kisses at me!" said Bill, resentfully. "Serves yuh right, ole timer!"

Jimmy O' and I chuckled. It was a fair stab. Trust Bill for that!

Bill? Oh, yes! I met up with him over in Arizona when he was just a kid riding an oversize horse.

"Get a low-down, Bill!" I shouted jubilantly.

Bill was so mad he nearly wept. And he had neither forgotten nor forgiven. A low-down is a burro,—that diminutive animal also known as a "desert-canary" from its raucous voice. An early insult,—unforgotten the years.

"Yes, sir," said Bill, cheerfully, "I sure told that kid a heap o' lies,—said you were so quick on the trigger we're all afraid of you."

"Killed 'em before, at, and after breakfast, eh?" interpolated Jimmy O'.

"Worse!" said Bill. "Said you were lookin' fer a certain bad man, an' when you met up with him,—good night!"

Bill rolled a cigarette, lit it, inhaled, and poisoned the air.

"By the dozen, Bill?" queried Jimmy O', coming back to neckchiefs.

"Gross lots, now," was Bill's answer. "We get a discount."

"Still toll 'em along,—the kids?"

"Yep. Gentle 'em," said Bill, solemnly. "An' that reminds me. 'Member that ole lady an' her brother here last month? She went down the trail but didn't come up—not then? Said she'd pay me double if I'd come after her. That o' course I wouldn't 'low. She wanted to see the Canyon by moonlight, she said.

"Well, after the mavericks got back, me leavin' her there alone, her brother asks how come. I explained.

"'Sister sure has a penchant fer moonlightin',' says he. 'When do you start, Bill?'

"I 'lowed right then, an' bein' down, I could wait. Well, when I reaches the spot where I left her,—me an' the led mule,—she ain't there. I see her on a rock, though, quite some way off the trail. So I anchored the mules, an' set down to wait, not interferin' with the view. About an hour later she come over to where I was an' says:

"'Mr. William, I am afraid—afraid. That's why I couldn't go back.' Then she cried a little an' laughed a little. I sure was worried.

"'Ma'am,' says I. 'Shall I blind-fold yuh?'

"'Please,' says she. 'But tell me before we reach the brink so I can take it off.'

"Well, I undid my neckchief, wropped it around her head, lifted her into the saddle, an' we started back. We talked all the way,—me tellin' her about the cowboys an' the canyons an' the cattle, an' Three-Bar-X, an' she of things back east.

"Then I took the neckchief off, an' didn't she ask if she might keep it! Well, next day I see her again, an' we made more medicine—talked a heap. B'jinks, she collected! Yes, sir! Had 'em with her at El Tovar! An' she must have me up to dinner in their suite—brother an' a girl bein' present. Nice kid, too."

"Another silken souvenir?" Jimmy O' queried.

Bill did not reply, but continued his narrative.

"She showed me her collection, an' it was some collection! Monaco, mainly. Ever'thing in singles an' pairs an' blocks —includin' the five francs, first issue. Said she'd read a mon-o-graph about it, an' that started her. When I told her the author was one o' my friends—"

"Pet aversions—cotton-picker," interjected Jimmy O'.

Bill withered him with a look.

"She wanted to know all about yuh, an' Three-Bar-X, too. So I told her how you an' them bum lungs that was—both bein' then in Gov'mint service—wrote a lot about Three-Bar-X an' the boys—some of it bein' alas! too true! She 'lowed she'd like t' see that ranch.

"Well, we rocked along fer awhile, and then I hit the trail. Next day they was gone. Couple o' weeks later I get a box by express. An' what d'yuh think?"

"More neckchiefs?" queried Jimmy O'.

"A real Porter saddle—hand-carved an' silvered up—an' a bridle—an' spurs! Yes, sir. From brother."

The post office was open. We ambled over, arm in arm. A letter for Bill.

"Ha! Another mash note," said Jimmy O', with a grin.

Bill read the letter twice. Then he passed it on to me. It bore a name I knew in realms of book- and stamp-collecting, and in the world of finance. But the contents!

These new friends of Bill's had bought Three-Bar-X ranch, and Bill was offered the foremanship! We held a real war-dance, much to the astonishment of the tourists.

"An' when I depart from this here scene o' my joys an' woes," said Bill, "which same will be sudden, I'll take along a couple o' friends o' mine fer to reune with me. Yes, sir," added Bill, impressively, "an' we'll travel in state—we'll go in old timer's flivver!"

"On the way!" chuckled Jimmy O', as the gong rang to summon the Bright Angel trailers.

"I'm resigned," said Bill. "Let's go!"

And so we departed—in state.

THE PROPHETIC PROCLAMATION OF GRAF ZEPPELIN IN 1895

By M. E. Arns of Arns & Schrott.

Graf Zeppelin, the inventor of the Round-the-World airship, made his first plans before the German-French war, 1870-1871. His plans submitted in 1887 to the King of Wurtemberg and examined by a congress of experts were rejected. On Aug. 25, 1895, he made a second appeal which was also rejected. The Graf Zeppelin took the matter to the public, but his friends who were willing to sign largely were warned by the War Ministry, and the petition was without much success.

Graf Zeppelin declared in this appeal that it was his duty to secure a valuable objective to the German people, and he must submit a statement in a confidential way to a limited public. "The commission of experts chosen to examine his projects of dirigible air crafts declared that their building was impracticable because their speed would hardly be 5 to 6 metres per second." Graf Zeppelin went on to say:

"Dirigible air ships which could fly under most unfavorable conditions 7½ days with a minimum speed of over 1000 km. per day without stop would be able to serve the following purposes, notwithstanding military operations:—

(1.) They could inform the fleet of any movements or positions of foreign ships by signals.

(2.) They could serve the marine by discovering lost and sunken ships through photographs of seaground and coasts.

(3.) In the exploring, governing and protection of our colonies.

(4.) For geographical science, viz.: Africa would be flown over within three days, and the North Pole could be reached from a northern port to and fro within a day.

(5.) No less will be the profit to meteorology.

(6.) The greatest importance will be to have airships for world postal service. For instance, mail could be carried from Berlin to Constantinople within 38 ho to Alexandria within 60 hours, to N York in 5½ days.

The prophecy follows with clear vi of future air traffic, the prospects of ships and a strong petition to save work for the German people by sig bonds of at least 20 marks, promi himself to sign 25,000 marks and 50,000 marks."

The wonderful deeds of the air LZ 127 were foreseen by the old pio thirty-five years ago. A man who regarded and called "the mad Graf" the prominent society people of pre-Germany. The deep faith of the G man people in the work of the great ventor has crowned it with great suc to a better understanding between nati and general profit to the entire world.

Poor and broken down after the and hindered by Versailles regulati LZ 127 was built by the sacrifice of whole nation, thus enabling Dr. H Eckener, the great successor of G Zeppelin, to fulfill in a most wonder manner the legacy left him.

U. S. Chronicle of New Issues

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Date of Issue Changed, 2-Cent Canalization Stamp

Under date of September 27, the Third Assistant Postmaster General announced that it had been decided to defer the first-day sale of the 2-cent red, Ohio River Canalization stamp, from Saturday, October 12, to Saturday, October 19. The stamp, as previously announced, will be placed on sale on that day at Cairo, Ill., Evansville, Ind., Louisville, Ky., Cincinnati, Ohio, Homestead, Pa., Pittsburgh, Pa., and Wheeling, W. Va.

The stamp will not be available at the Philatelic Agency until the following Monday, October 21, but attention is specifically called to the fact that the Agency will not accept first-day covers for mailing.

The change in date is made necessary by the visit to this country of Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of England, who will be in conference with President Hoover for several days during the early part of October. As the President contemplates attending the celebration of the opening of the Ohio Canal, the committee thought it advisable to postpone the activities one week. It is now expected that President Hoover will be in attendance on October 19, and will take a trip down the Ohio River making several addresses enroute.

The proof of the stamp has been inspected, and on first glance, reminds one of the 2c Panama-Pacific. Personally, I consider it most unattractive and it is doubtful if we have issued a postage stamp to date with less artistic appeal. Thirty million have been ordered, and it is not expected that a second order will be placed, as the stamp is produced by the flat bed method, which is more costly.

The variety will be printed in sheets of four hundred, and cut into post office panes of one hundred, with straight edges on two sides. It will be similar in size to our current stamp with the long dimension horizontal, perforated 11, on unwatermarked paper. No imperforates, rotaries or coils will be available. A general distribution will be made to postmasters requesting them.

Air Mail Stamps

I recently had the pleasure of discussing with Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, the question of Air Mail stamps, and he stated that until the Department had decided upon a new series, he would not ask for additional denominations of air mail stamps to take care of the increased growth of the air mail service.

Large packages are now being carried by air mail, and Mr. Glover called attention to several which had been brought to his attention, sent out by large concerns running in postage from thirty to several hundred dollars. With the new rates in effect on air mail to South America, high denominations are necessary, and when the time comes, the air mail series is likely to include eight or ten denominations. Mr. Glover even mentioned that he felt that a $10 air mail stamp would be advisable, in view of the heavier packages now being carried.

It is thought that a new series will be given serious consideration during the early part of the new year, and it is hoped that the air mail stamps will be in different designs, the same as the postage series. The history of the airplane could be very well depicted on the air mail series, while the other industries could be brought out on the postal emissions. It would not be surprising to see envelopes in new design follow shortly after the appearance of the new adhesive issue.

New Envelopes

Through the courtesy of Mr. P. R. Crooker we have been furnished with a list of the current envelopes with new watermarks, which have been located to date. As the list is long, only a portion is being printed in this number, but will be continued. Mr. Crooker writes that quite possibly it is not complete, but he believes that the list contains the majority that have been found to date. From his observations, the old Die H is the scarcest of the dies, being used by the new contractors, and the Die H on blue has been seen coming but from one source.

STOCK TRANSFER STAMPS

Recently, Revenue collectors were astonished by the appearance of several Revenue stamps perforated 10 instead of 11. Various lists of these have been published, none of which appear to be very accurate.

We are listing below all the varieties of the Stock Transfers that we believe exist at the present time in the 10 perforation. Our supply of some of these is quite limited and it is very likely that some of the varieties of overprints might turn out to be scarce.

PRECANCEL PRICES

By A. C. LeDuc.

From the standpoint of a dealer, permit me to draw some conclusions from a comparison of the 1930 Scott's advance sheets and the 5th edition of the Mitchell-Hoover bureau print precancel catalogue.

Granted that the prices in the bureau print catalogue are on a net retail basis. Granted that dealers usually sell at some discount from Scott's catalogue prices, which in the case of U. S. stamps is not as large as foreign stamps in general. Prices on 20th century U. S. have been rising rapidly and the demand is such that they will undoubtedly continue their rises. Good U. S. we will say will sell at 25% discount from Scott's prices in the case of used stamps, as this article is dealing with cancelled stamps whether precancelled or not.

Inasmuch as the compound perforated varieties are still in use we will not discuss them at this time. We will concern ourselves with the rotary press perforated 10 values as these are obsolete. In the 1930 catalogue these are catalogued as follows:

1c, catalog .03; 1½c, .03; 2c, .02; 3c, .03; 4c, .03; 5c, .03; 6c, .05; 7c, .15; 8c, .10; 9c, .15; and 10c, .05.

Suppose that we say for sake of argument that of all the perforated 10 rotary press stamps issued that half were precancelled, which is doubtful. Suppose we put down retail selling prices for these stamps with regular cancellation, we would find them running closely to this table:

1c, .02; 1½c, .02; 2c, .01; 3c, .02; 4c, .02; 5c, .02; 6c, .03; 7c, .10; 8c, .07; 9c, .10; and 10c, .03.

That being the case, no stamp of these values would be worth any less precancelled than those with ordinary machine or package dauber cancel. Instead, a neat bureau print would be far nicer and should be worth more than any ordinary cancellation. If all perforated 10 bureau prints were precancelled the same way and there were just as many cancelled that way as the ordinary machine or dauber, the two methods of cancellation would be on a par. If all bureau print perforated 10 precancels were Chicagoes or New Yorks, and all others of that same issue were the ordinary cancellation, then the two kinds would be on a par and sell at the same prices with the premium going to the Chicago or the New York if it was more pleasing to the eye. However, such is not the case, as we find precancel collectors taking specimens with all the various kinds of precancels. Therefore, the premium is given to the precancel at every turn.

Bureau prints have been issued for a great many towns and cities, so instead of having one precancel cancellation arrayed against the ordinary cancellations we have hundreds. Therefore, our ratio is badly upset. We have instead of theoretical equality, many, many kinds of bureau prints which should command an enormous premium over the ordinary cancellation.

With the foregoing tables of values and comparisons in mind, will someone tell me how in the name of common sense any dealer can afford to sell a neatly precancelled stamp of the rotary press perforated 10 group at a smaller price than can be obtained for one of the same perforation, but cancelled by machine or package dauber?

If one city type of bureau print on one value was equal to half of all those cancelled in the ordinary manner, its premium should therefore be twice the retail value of the same thing with ordinary cancellation. Such is not the case. We could go on expanding this divergence of relative scarcity. Soon we would come to a proper valuation of each value from each city in reference to that vast number of the same denomination with ordinary cancellation. If the Scott catalogue stated that precancellation ruined a stamp then we would assume that their prices were for non-precancelled stamps only. Such is not the case. Their catalogue states that, "The prices quoted are for specimens in good condition." That doesn't say fine nor superb. Personally, I would say that a stamp with a neat bureau print precancel was better than "good" and therefore worthy of a premium.

How can any dealer sell neatly precancelled bureau print San Francisco for the prices mentioned in the Mitchell-Hoover net price catalogue when ordinary cancelled ones sell for higher prices in all instances, except the 2c. If the San Francisco 2c was issued in equal numbers to all the 2c ones of same issue cancelled in ordinary ways, it ought to bring a premium on account of being a neat cancellation. The number of S. F. 2c precancelled would be small in comparison with all those issued and used at all other places, whether precancelled or not.

Certainly a dealer ought to have a guardian appointed over his check book if he continued to sell San Francisco 7c of same issue for 3c when it would bring 10c. Instead of selling for 3c it should not sell for 10c, but far more on account of the neatness of the cancellation as compared with ordinary cancellations on the same stamp. The same argument applies to the 8c, 9c, and 10c of the same set.

WHITE PLAINS

One of the most interesting stamp issues ever put out by the United States was the sheet of 25 of the White Plains commemorative which the government produced for and sold at the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York in 1926.

This sheet of 25 should be in every collection as it is the finest kind of a demonstration of the importance which Uncle Sam accords the hobby. Inscribed at the top "International Philatelic Exhibition, Oct. 16th to 23rd, 1926" and at the bottom "New York, N. Y., U. S. A." and having a plate number on each of the four sides, it shows that it was strictly a philatelic product.

We offer one of these sheets for $1.25.

If you are interested in varieties we will supply you with a sheet from plate 18773, with the dot on the 11th stamp, and a sheet from plate 18774, with the dot on the 9th stamp, the two sheets for $5.00.

rue, there are many instances where precancel price is higher than the or- ry cancel price of Scott's catalogue. is as it should be. I can't understand why in any case the precancel price could by any stretch of the imagination be less than the retail price for that value when based on Scott's prices for cancelled copies.

Let's go back to that 7c S. F. Now, if all the 7c rotaries perforated 10 were issued in equal amounts and half were precancelled S. F., and the other half went thru the various sieges of being hit with Post Office daubers, the S. F. neat bureau print would still be a better specimen because of the neater appearance, and should command a premium. However, the 7c was precancelled for many other places, so instead of being on a par with all other 7c ordinary cancellations, it would be several times better because this value was issued by at least 18 other cities in bureau print precancel form.

Supposing each of those 19 cities issued the same amounts of this particular stamp and the total was equal to all of those issued without precancel (which is most doubtful) the 7c from any of these 19 cities would be worth not 10c retail, but 19 times that price.

It is high time that dealers and collectors gave the question of fair prices serious consideration. It seems very doubtful to me if any bureau print precancel could be priced net at anything less than full Scott catalogue price for that denomination; most of them would be several times those prices.

BALDWIN PK. (CAL.) PRECANS

By Edw. L. Dithridge.

Inasmuch as we all seem to appreciate prompt notice of changes in design of stamps and new issues, I thought it likely that our precancel collector friends would appreciate notice of precancels coming from another post office.

I am inclosing a specimen impression from the rubber stamp which we received at this office yesterday, precanceling twenty-five stamps at each impression. Where the quantity of precancels is large the office is made an allowance for printing the precancelation, but otherwise, as in our case, a rubber stamp is furnished. The majority of precancels will be of one cent denomination.

During Christmas time nearly all packages mailed at this office will bear precanceled stamps applied on the packages by the post office clerks. The denominations will be, 1c, 1½c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 7c, 10c, 15c, 20c, 50c and $1.00. It is customary in most offices that are issuing precanceled stamps to use them on packages during the Christmas rush, as it saves the time required for canceling the stamps. So the precancel collector might do well to keep his eyes open during December, for a chance to pick up some good precancels.

NEWS ITEMS—

IT is with great regret that we are compelled to announce that Mrs. J. E. Guest, proprietor of the Kolar Co., is in the Methodist Hospital at Dallas. Her many correspondents will join with us in hoping for a speedy recovery. This fact will explain any delay in attending to Kolar communications.

WE have received from the Junior Philatelist, Box 56, Times Square Station, N. Y. C., a booklet, "Forming a Stamp Club." It is well worth the price asked, 10c, and will be very helpful to any recently organized club.

THE Rochester, N. Y., Philatelic Association meets on the second Thursdays at the Central Y. M. C. A., and at the Municipal Museum at Egerton Park on the fourth Thursdays of each month. At a meeting held Sept. 26, C. C. Benson of the Buffalo Stamp Club gave a talk, and exhibited his hotel cover collection.—GRANT BULKLEY.

WILL someone kindly send us the street and address of David Strock, who has made a remittance to this office and forgotten to mention the name of the place that he lives in.

Newfoundland Changes Printers, 1929

By HARRY E. HUBER.

The fact that Messrs. Whitehead, Morris, Ltd., London, have lost the stamp printing contract, and refuse to turn over the dies and printing plates of the Publicity series to the new contractors, Messrs. John Dickinson & Co., would indicate that future stamp supplies will be in different designs, or from new plates attempting to reproduce those of the Publicity series. A report was current shortly after W. W. Halfyard resumed his position as Minister of Posts & Telegraphs of Newfoundland, last November, that a new series of stamps was being considered.

In the Publicity series of postage stamps announced in February, 1927, by W. W. Woodford, Minister of Posts & Telegraphs, as being in preparation, and issued Jan. 3, 1928, Newfoundland's geographical position is shown, and many of its means of communicating with the outer world.

After years of dispute over the boundary line on the Labrador, between Canada and Newfoundland, the Privy Council of the Empire handed down a decision on March 1, 1927, in favor of Newfoundland. On the 1c stamp of the 1928 series the boundary line is correctly drawn, and on the 30c is shown Grand Falls on the Hamilton River, in Labrador, whose drop of 302 ft. is almost twice that of the American Niagara (162 ft.).

Means of communication are pictured on the 2c (Cabot Straits s. s. "Caribou"), 5c (Cross-country express, St. John's to Port-aux Basques, 546 miles), 8c (Trans-Atlantic cable landing), 9c (wireless), and 15c (Alcock and Brown's airplane).

The Newfoundland Hotel (6c) in St. John's East, costing over a million dollars, was opened in 1926, and through it considerable tourist trade is attracted. It occupies the site of old Ft. William, built in 1696. The design of this stamp occasioned much comment locally, the question being asked (by other than the shareholders, of course), why a private venture should be so advertised. The bond issue of $450,000 was guaranteed by the Newfoundland Government in furtherance of its tourist policy.

It had been announced originally, that the s. s. Silvia, of the Red Cross Line to New York, and the s. s. Newfoundland, of the Furness Withy Line to Liverpool, would appear on the 5c and 6c respectively.

Their Majesties (King George and Queen Mary), and the Prince of Wales, are portrayed on the 3c and 4c respectively. Three cents is the inland letter rate, and 4c that to the British Empire and the United States. These two designs are the least pleasing in the whole series.

Newfoundland's War Memorial on King's Beach, St. John's, is the subject of the 10c stamp; the General Post Office, on Water Street, near the Railway station, is shown on the 12c, and the

NEW SEASON APPROVAL BOOKS
During the summer I have remade all my approval books, and have combined in them many important purchases made during the past year.
The following is a list of new books that are now ready. In general these contain stamps from a few cents to some twenty dollars each. A list of my books of rare stamps will be issued later on.
Prices will be found very moderate, as a rule 35 to 50 per cent below catalogue quotations, and all these priced on this basis of the 1929 catalogue.

A $1 stamp bearing the ancient arms Newfoundland (as used on the 2c of Guy series, of August 15, 1910), was sidered, but finally decided against.

Normally, the 1c, 2c, 4c, 5c and 6c of Publicity series were perforated comb and the other denominations, single 13½x13 (horizontal rectangles), or 13½ (vertical rectangles).

Soon after issue, the 8c and 20c ap- red comb perforated, and the 1c sin- line, followed by the 3c comb, and the single line, and more recently, by the comb.

1482 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

To date the 1c, 3c, 5c, 8c, 10c and 20c have been reported with both perforations.

The 9c Cabot Tower, and the 12c General Post Office, both single line perforated 13x13½, exhausted on May 18, 1928, and at the end of October, 1928, respectively, and their places were taken by the 14c Cabot Tower (received August 23, 1928, and issued Sept. 7), and the 28c General Post Office (received Aug. 28 and issued Nov. 8, 1928)—these latter, too, are known only with the single line perforation.

The report circulated in December of last year that the 30c Grand Falls had exhausted arose through the omission, due to an error, in printing a new lot of vendor's forms. The 14c and 28c, although issued, were also omitted from the same list.

Pictorial Series of 1923-24

Only the 5c, 9c, 11c, 12c and 24c of the 1923-24 pictorial series had exhausted up to the end of August, 1928, although the 20c followed in September, the 1c and 2c in October, and the 3c in November. The 4c, 6c, 8c, 10c and 15c were still to be had on December 12, 1928. The 10c followed in January, 1929, and the 4c in March, leaving only the 6c, 8c and 15c.

The 40c stamp booklets, containing 8 1c and 16 2c of the pictorial series, exhausted towards the end of 1928; they were still to be had when I was in St. John's at the end of September, 1928. Ten thousand of these booklets were received August 16, 1926, and issued August 17th.

Cabot and Caribou Remainders

The 24c and 60c of the Cabot series, of June 24, 1897, are still available, as also the 36c of the Caribou series of Jan. 2, 1919. On June 30, 1927, there were in the vaults and in the Wholesale Dept. of the G. P. O., St. John's, the following quantities of these stamps—

24c,	Cabot,	19,583
60c,	Cabot,	44,000

Cayman's Postal System, 1889-1901

By Harry E. Huber.

Unlike the other dependency of Jamaica, the Turks & Caicos Islands, whose Post Office was established on December 11, 1854, and distinctive postage stamps issued April 4, 1867, the only means of forwarding letters from the Cayman Islands, until early in 1889, was by masters of sailing vessels, who on reaching destination, usually one of the southern ports of the United States, attached postage stamps and mailed them. Letters for the islands were sent in care of the General Post Office, Kingston, or the Cayman Islands agent there, Mr. George Orrit, and forwarded as opportunity presented.

Of the group, Grand Cayman, lying 178 miles northwest of Negril Point, Jamaica, is the largest, being 17 miles long and from 4 to 7 miles broad. Little Cayman is 58 miles to the northeast of Grand Cayman, and is separated from Cayman Brac by about 7 miles of sea. The two smaller islands are practically the same in size, i.e., 9 miles by 1 mile, and 10 miles by 1 mile, respectively.

Cayman Brac and Little Cayman were discovered by Columbus on May 10, 1503, on his fourth and last voyage, on returning from Porto Bello to Hispaniola, and were named by him Las Tortugas, from the numbers of turtles with which the shores swarmed. The smaller islands were first colonised, and for many years formed a valuable source of food su to Jamaica; later, the settlements v abandoned.

Between 1734 and 1741 Grand Cay was formally colonised from Jam and many patents of land in the is are on record in the Island Record O in Jamaica. On November 28, 1741, 1 acres (the present site of George To were granted to William Foster.

To some extent the present inhabit are descended from the settlers u these patents and their servants, as patentee was compelled to carry with a certain number of white men and sla According to Long, there were, in 1 106 white persons in the island. T had a chief or Governor of their choosing; magistrates appointed by Governor of Jamaica, and conducted t own affairs. The acts or resolution these magistrates and representative the people were validated by the pas in Parliament on June 22, 1863, of perial Act 26 and 27, Victoria, cha 31, "An Act for the Government of Cayman Islands." In section 3 of Act, the Justices and Vestry were g "power in their accustomed manne make such resolutions as to them seem fit for the following purposes, i alia, respecting the imposition and co tion of rates and taxes, and respec the custody and expenditure thereof."

In 1887, Sir Henry Norman, Gove of Jamaica, sent down Mr. L. R. as a special commissioner, to inquire the state of affairs in the Depende and as a result of his report (Sep 1887), Mr. Edmund Parsons, a Justic Peace of George Town, Grand Cay was appointed on May 21, 1888, Cu Rotulorum, or as the Grand Commis reads, "Keeper of Rolls and Record Peace of Grand Cayman, and the o Cayman Islands." This office Mr. sons held until the appointment of F. S. Sanguinetti as Resident Com sioner on August 22, 1898.

NFLD. 1923 6c PICTORIAL

ST. JOHNS, Oct. 4.

I have read Mr. Huber's very interesting article on the surcharged 3c on 6c. He states that all the stock on hand of the 6c, 1923 pictorial was used up with these surcharges. However, I found that I could still buy these 6c pictorials at the wholesale stock department of the G. P. O. only a few days ago.

LAST MINUTE ITEMS

—The first meeting of the new Board of Directors of the S. P. A. was held Sept. 21, in New York, with the new President, Dr. McGay, in the chair. Eight out of ten directors were present, including F. L. Coes of Worcester, Mass. The convention of 1930 will be held in that city.

—B. G. Bushnell has changed his address from Chicago to 1265 Burdsal Parkway, Indianapolis, Ind. Patrons will please take notice.

—We are indebted to C. R. Stollmeyer for a first flight cover from Port of Spain, Trinidad. It is very barren of official markings, the only thing about it being a rubber stamp "first flight FAM 6 from Trinidad." However, there is every reason to believe that the cover formed actual air flight service, and we thank Mr. Stollmeyer for his courtesy. The carriage is paid by the current 6d and 1sh stamps.

HE WORLD WAR ON STAMPS

By BEACH CONGER, JR.

nost ten years have passed now since lose of that great and disastrous, -making World War. So recent resh in our minds it seems that we ot need to be told its history. And nly generations of the years to come now about it. But beside that com- lace textbook, "The History," fu- philatelists will read the events in stamp albums, if they assemble the stamps. I will endeavor to give you ea of how to form such a collection stamps now printed. In 1929 un- edly more stamps will be printed emorative of events of the war. But rial today is plentiful, and the ener- and ambitious collector will find on perusal of the new Scott's 1930 ogue, which to the time of writing ot yet appeared.

e collection may consist of three , according to the taste and choice e individual collector, more or less. first part covers the war itself; sec- geographical changes as a result of war; third, governmental and eco- c changes resulting from the war. stamps alone and stamps on cover, ith cancellations alone can be used. atter to suit the collector. Contrast vs furnishes interest, and such items German Empire stamp cancelled ig and a Free City Danzig stamp d side by side enrich the collection. ian "Feld-Post" letters, or soldier s with cancellations will be of value e first section, explanation of which ws.

e beginning of the war may not have commemorated philatelically, but irst set might consist of the Bulga- set of 1921, commemorating Bulga- entrance into the war in 1915. The eriod of the war now is entered. You emember the rapid advance of the German troops through Belgium and France. German stamps were surcharged for use in Belgium and France, both with French and Belgian values. Several of these stamps with early dates will be of interest. Unfortunately many of them were cancelled with the Berlin cancellation, thus omitting local postmarks, but some may be found thus cancelled. On the Eastern front progress was also being made, and 1915 finds German stamps overprinted "Russich-Polen" and "Gen.-Gouv. Warshau" for usage in Poland and General Headquarters in Warsaw. Here, however, local cancellations were used and stations and advances of the armies may be shown. Austria's progress in the earlier part of the war cannot be noted very well, as not many copies of the "Feld-Post Marken" were cancelled to show positions to my knowledge. In the other sphere of the war, however, the success was reversed. 1914 and 1915 finds German Cameroon and Togo stamps surcharged for joint Anglo-French occupation, those of Samoa and New Guinea with British surcharges, and 1916 provides German East Africa stamps with Belgian occupation surcharges. In Europe, meanwhile, philately has not brought forth much of historic value, except Roumania's entry into the war, which promptly occasions surcharge of Austrian, Bulgarian and German stamps for use in Roumania. And thus we come to the last of the actual war. Italy, during 1921, issued a set commemorating a last minute victory over the Austrians at Piave in 1918; a second one is now in preparation. Also during 1918 and 1919 Italian and Austrian stamps were surcharged for use of Italians in Trieste and Trentino during occupation. Peace at last. United States, Japan, Belgium and the Bahamas all show thankfulness through peace stamps, although that of the United States is also called Victory stamp. Financial end of the war may be displayed by War Tax overprints of the various British Colonies and Red Cross and Charity stamps of the different nations. And to complete this part, France used a special cancellation "Congres de la Paix" on the dates of the handing over of the peace treaty to delegates, and the signing of the treaty in the hall of mirrors at Versailles.

Now for the second chapter, geographical changes. Let us start with Germany. The territories not taken away from her are made into Plebiscites, and at once issue their own stamps. These are Allenstein, Marienwerder, Memel, Saar and Schleswig-Holstein. The Schleswig-Holstein question is soon voted upon, part going to Denmark, part to Germany. Denmark issues a commemorative celebrating the return of Northern Schleswig. Danzig is made a Free City under guardianship of the League of Nations. All the colonies are taken, and the German stamps are surcharged with mostly French and English inscriptions. Belgian Congo stamps are surcharged for use in German East Africa in 1922. Austria has one plebiscite, Carinthia, which makes itself known in 1920. Austrian stamps are also surcharged for Czechoslovakia. Fiume becomes a Free City and immediately issues commemorative after commemorative. Roumania at last obtains Bessarabia and commemorates the 10th anniversary of the return this year. Down in Asia Minor Turkish stamps are overprinted by French authorities "Cilicia." The British make known their occupation of Baghdad and Mesopotamia also on Turkish stamps. Now for the big free for all. Russia, broken up by internal warfare dissolves completely. The following countries issue their own stamps during 1919 and 1920: Armenia, Azerbaijan, Batum, Central Lithuania, Estonia, Far Eastern Republic, (Siberia), Georgia, Latvia, Lithuania and Ukrainia. All of these may not have been in Russia itself.

Editorial

A CORRESPONDENT at Washington says that he is advised that the issue of the 2c stamp commemorative of the completion of the canalization of the Ohio River, which was announced for October 12, 1929, will be postponed for one week. While the post office department announced that the date of issue would be October 12th, at the seven cities that may be said to be associated with the great project, it now deems it advisable to defer the date of issue to October 19th; and postmasters are asked to acquaint collectors with the change of time. The Philatelic Agency will have the stamp on sale on Monday, October 21st, and adhering to the rule established recently, no first day covers will be accepted there for mailing.

OUR correspondent says that the proposal of a new stamp to commemorate the founding of the Massachusetts Bay Society is being given consideration by postal officers, according to "oral" statement. No action has been taken since "the quota for commemorative stamps has been exhausted" for 1929, and naturally, the postmaster-general is now taking a breathing-spell. Even the most conservative soul could predict with confidence that Massachusetts will get its stamp, since, as observed by the United States Daily, the head of the department will "keep in mind the importance of this latest application for a new stamp." We may as well quote further from this paragon of papers which prints the facts only under due authority: "Issuance of commemorative postage stamps is limited each year because of lack of funds to approve all the applications that the Department receives for special recognition of some historical event. It was stated that these stamps involve additional expense because of the requirement of special mechanical equipment, which is not required in the production of ordinary postage stamps." Thirty years ago or so, the department at Washington, after safely delivering the Omaha issue of 1898 to a mildly expectant world, said good riddance, in effect, and added that suggestions for further special issues would be as welcome as the visit of a bank examiner. Too much work was required for the somewhat attenuated results achieved. The Omahas were slow sellers, comparatively speaking, and the dollars loomed up larger then than they do now. However, times change and the wind that is prevailing at a given time may be a variable one.

MR. A. A. PORTER, Chicago, writes: "I have just seen Mr. McArthur's article on an early precanceled wrapper, 2c of 1863-64, that was used in sending out a publication, it seemed. I am sending you an entire envelope, 2c brown on orange, Reay, 1870, the envelope stamp on which is canceled by three horizontal bars in black, printing press impression. The return card is that of "Fairchild's Club List, Rolling Prairie, Wis. One Hundred and 75 Papers and Magazines at Low Club Rates. Agents Wanted at Every Post Office in the United States." . . . The postmark is: Rolling Prairie, Wis., Oct. 26.

SOME time ago, that excellent Italian philatelic journal, Filatelia, published an account of a curious mistake that forgers of the "Estero" surcharge on the Italian stamps that were given this wording; and we have received the following translation from Mr. H. J. Bertocchio: "Inasmuch as the surcharge is well reproduced, nevertheless, we are much surprised that the falsifiers could dispose of their product, on account of the ease with which it could be detected. It is known that the stamps of Italy were used for the offices in foreign lands and in the Levant, from the year 1863 to 1883, surcharged 'Estero.' However, on each denomination a slight modification was made on the corners of the designs, which vary in this manner from the ordinary stamps used in Italy. While there are some of the 'Estero' stamps of the first issue, the 10 and 30c, with all four corners not altered, they constitute varieties interesting and valuable. The description of the changed ornamentation on the 1863 issue of Italy, de la Rue series, issued with 'Estero' in 1874, follows: on the 1 and 2c, the corners have been emptied, leaving a small black quadrangle in the center. On the 5c, the slanting corner line has been removed, and on the 10c, the chief horizontal line has been taken out. The 20, 30 and 40 centesimi have blank corners, and removal of salient lines may be seen on the 60c and 2 l. It is evident that the 1879 set of Italy, surcharged 'Estero' in 1881, all of which have modified corners similarly, was used for forging purposes, thereby making it easy to detect the fraudulent surcharges."

THE National Philatelic Exhibition, Minneapolis, the corporation that so successfully promoted the first annual stamp show, under the auspices of the Twin City Philatelic Society and sponsored by the American Philatelic Society, has achieved another distinction that will prove most gratifying to those who subscribed to the underwriters' shares. A rebate of 75% has been made to the subscribers, and it is expected by the management that another return will be made, the amount to be determined later. This is a remarkable example of well-directed enterprise and we predict that the suggestion made in the letter accompanying the check to each contributor that it is fitting that the recipient join the Association for Stamp Exhibitions will be favorably received. The dues in this organization that did yeoman work in shaping the destiny of the first stamp show are two dollars a year, and for convenience' sake one may ask that this sum be deducted from the next rebate.

SEVERAL weeks ago the Sacramento Bee, California, in speaking of the activities of Mr. W. R. Parker as a historian of the western letter-carrying expresses, says that it is the plan of Mr. Parker to write a book on the subject of the California companies. Mr. Parker for some time has been in the Upper Feather River country, whose beauties are almost indescribable. He says: "Think how the private expresses got through here seventy years ago, especially in winter, on regular schedule without a miss. The fee of $5 up to an ounce of gold dust, about $18, a letter, really seems cheap postage, under the circumstances. The regular service would have been a matter of months, perhaps, six or eight, in winter." Mr. Parker has found some old California newspapers on the subject nearest his heart that will yield him valuable data, and he aptly says that material of the kind is more difficult to find than the covers themselves. A book on this fascinating subject from Mr. Parker would be most welcome, and we trust that it will be an accomplished fact in due time.

WE are pleased to hear the report that Mr. J. A. Galbraith, the New York dealer, is recovering from a severe illness over a period of several months, and that soon he will resume business again.

A WRITER who is preparing a stamp article for the general press asks us who was the first stamp dealer. The question is a difficult one to answ in fact, one dare not risk a definite sta ment. No doubt, there were a numb of persons who handled stamps for pr in the very early days of whom there no general recollection. We believe t the great Moens, born in 1833, and w died in 1908, was the first dealer prominence. In Brussels, Belgium, he sued a price-list in 1862; and since was a book-seller and publisher, it is f to assume that his liking for stamps clined him to deal in them before t time. Moens started with philately, a for years he was its leading light.

"HOME NEWS"

EWHERE AROUND THE FIRST AND FIFTEENTH OF EVERY MONTH there is xtra-busy day in our office—It is known as MAILING-DAY—It is the day which s the "HOME NEWS" by motor, by rail, by airplane and by steamship to the mem- of the big HOME OF THE POSTAGE STAMP FAMILY—THE "HOME NEWS" regularly to every state in the Union, to Mexico, to Canada, to many lands across seas—

CANNOT SUBSCRIBE TO THE "HOME NEWS"—We do not even want you to pay postage—There is just one condition under which the "HOME NEWS" IS SENT ULARLY—And that condition is YOUR PATRONAGE—If you are JUST CURIOUS can probably induce us to send you a copy or two—If you have SPASMS OF IN- ST in your stamps and our stock you will receive it occasionally—BUT IF YOU E US AND BUY FROM US REGULARLY, whether in large sums or small, you will EIVE THE "HOME NEWS" REGULARLY—

WILL PROBABLY BE DISAPPOINTED IN YOUR FIRST COPY OF THE "HOME VS"—It is a modest little affair in appearance, even if it does toot a nice big horn— four or five gayly-colored sheets of closely-typed offers, mimeographed in our own —But many customers tell that they FILE THEM FOR REFERENCE—And there loud wail if by some mischance they miss a single issue—In every "HOME NEWS" p there is always the "CHERRY BLOSSOM" which is our NEW ISSUE CHRONICLE BULLETIN OF SPECIAL OFFERS—We try to write up carefully and accurately ribe all new issues that come to us—And we here OFFER MANY RARE ITEMS ICH WE NEVER OTHERWISE ADVERTISE—The second part of each "HOME VS" group is taken up with "COUNTRY LISTS"—We carry a pretty complete stock ost EUROPEAN COUNTRIES, A FINE COMPREHENSIVE STOCK OF COMPLETE S, AIRMAILS and other groups—So thru our "COUNTRY LISTS" we place before month by month a REVIEW OF OUR STOCK—

THE LAST "HOME NEWS" is hardly in the mail before orders begin to come back elephone, by wire and by special-delivery as well as by the regular mail—For our omers know that it is often wise to STEP ON THE GAS if they want to make sure of ng their share of LIMITED STOCKS AND SPECIAL BARGAINS—WE NEVER D STOCK BACK—BUT WE SOMETIMES CANNOT GET NEW THINGS FAST UGH—AND RARITIES ARE JUST NATURALLY RARE—

Y COLLECTORS LIKE THE "HOME NEWS"—It is so simple to check it over, mail our BLUE ENVELOPE—which the P. O. clerks speedily sort out—and get back as as the mails can bring to them a PERSONALLY FILLED ORDER—REGULAR ERS LIKE THE "HOME NEWS", for they know they can spend their limit easily, tably and satisfactorily—INVESTMENT-BUYERS LIKE THE "HOME NEWS", for know the "NEW ISSUES OF TODAY ARE THE RARITIES OF TOMORROW" and know also that WE HOLD NOTHING BACK—FASTIDIOUS COLLECTORS—IN- LIGENT COLLECTORS—COLLECTORS TO WHOM THEIR HOBBY IS A PRICE- S TONIC all tell us that the "HOME NEWS" is a WELCOME FRIEND—

GIVE OUR BEST THOUGHT AND CARE TO EVERY ISSUE OF THE "HOME WS"—YOU CANNOT BUY IT—BUT YOU MAY HAVE IT COME TO YOU TWICE A MONTH—EVERY NUMBER PACKED FULL OF NEWS—LOADED WITH EAL OFFERS—CAN YOU AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT IT? TRY IT AND SEE—

"NEWSETTES"

"NEWSETTES" IS GROWING FAT—She started in as a LITTLE-SISTER publication to take care of the surplus stock of new issues which were left after the first sale from the "HOME NEWS"—Just a SINGLE SHEET sufficed for nearly a year—Then for two years she came out EVERY TWO WEEKS on TWO PAGES—But now "NEWSETTES" IS THREE CROWDED SHEETS offering solely NEW AND CURRENT ISSUES from many lands at a moderate "new issue" percentage over our cost—

"NEWSETTES" appears the week following the "HOME NEWS"—She chronicles the very LATEST THINGS—ISSUES THAT WE WANT YOU TO HAVE before they are offered in the "HOME NEWS"—And very often "NEWSETTES" price is lower than we find we can maintain—Often, too, "NEWSETTES" gets something of which we cannot get enough to list in "HOME NEWS"—AND YOU CANNOT SUBSCRIBE TO "NEWS- ETTES", either—nor does "NEWSETTES" go to our mailing-list—"NEWSETTES" goes out with EVERY FILLED ORDER—If you ORDER REGULARLY you will get "NEWS- ETTES" REGULARLY—IF YOU ORDER SPASMODICALLY you will get "NEWS- ETTES" SPASMODICALLY—If you do not order from us at all, "NEWSETTES" will not seek to entice you—

"NEWSETTES" HAS MADE A REAL PLACE FOR HERSELF—IF YOU HAVE BEEN AWAY FROM HOME and have been missing the NEW THINGS, "NEWSETTES" will concisely show you what are still available—IF YOU CAN ONLY SPEND LIMITED AMOUNTS, "NEWSETTES" keeps before you as long as possible NEW ISSUES AT COST-PLUS PRICES—"NEWSETTES" ALSO CHRONICLES CURRENT ISSUES which are in stock from time to time—

"NEWSETTES" ISN'T MUCH OF A CHATTER-BOX but her three pages are PACKED WITH JUST AS MANY LINES AS THEY WILL CARRY of attractive, desirable, up-to- the-minute offers—

MOST OF OUR CUSTOMERS BUY AS REGULARLY FROM "NEWSETTES" AS THEY DO FROM THE "HOME NEWS"—IT PAYS—IT'S INTERESTING IF YOU COLLECT NEW ISSUES—YOU SURELY DO NEED "NEWSETTES"— TRY IT AND FIND OUT—WE THINK YOU WILL STAY WITH US—

--- WE SAY ---

MINT ONLY 20TH CENTURY IN THE CORNER OF EVERY ADVERTISEMENT means exactly what it says—WE STOCK, ADVERTISE AND SELL ONLY MINT STAMPS. THERE HAS TO BE A LIMIT somewhere—ours is at the century mark —we carry NOTHING BUT 20TH CENTURY IN REGULAR STOCK.

WE HAVE THREE MAIN LINES EUROPEAN COUNTRY GROUPS—AIR POSTS—NEW ISSUES—Completeness and real worth—

AIR POSTS Just one rule here—TO GET AS MANY AS WE CAN IN AS LARGE A QUANTITY AS POSSIBLE AND THEN HUNT AROUND FOR MORE—MORE—MORE

Europe WE HAVE LONG BELIEVED IN THE STAMPS OF NEW EUROPE — THE GRAND BIG GROUP OF COUNTRIES that are struggling upward and onward with a thousand years of history back of them — EVERY STAMP carries its story — Stability and chaos, war and peace, great men and great scenes — Romance — History — Commerce — Art — Advance —

New Issues WE HAVE GIVEN A MIGHTY SATISFACTORY SERVICE for several years—but we have been VISITING OUR AGENTS IN MANY LANDS—We have been OPENING UP NEW SOURCES OF SUPPLY—We have been REACHING OUT IN EVERY DIRECTION—WE SHALL GIVE

A NEW ISSUE SERVICE AS NEARLY COMPLETE AS IT IS POSSIBLE
A NEW ISSUE SERVICE WITH SELECTION AND CENTERING CONSIDERED—A NEW ISSUE SERVICE WITH NOTHING HELD BACK FOR PRICE ADVANCE—A NEW ISSUE SERVICE AT AS FAIR A PRICE AS GOOD CONDITION WILL WARRANT—

(This department covers air mail news from the purely philatelic standpoint. Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If your letter calls for a reply please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. This is your department, so make your contribution as generous as possible.)

Charles Urnick, Jr., is another lucky one who has a genuine "round the world by regular routes" cover. Postmarked Oyster Bay, July 15, Durban, S. Africa, Aug. 14, San Francisco Sept. 10, Oyster Bay Sept. 20. Came back O. K., but with it a notice from the P. O. Dept. not to do it again—so that's that!

Official Flights

Lloyd Flickinger, Youngstown, who designed the pictorial cachet for the recent non-stop pickup trials, says that exactly 5,140 covers left Youngstown on the first trip, and that all covers, whether bearing the other 4 line cachet or not, were supposed to have had also the pictorial one, which, by the way, was applied by the Post Office force.Henry C. DeWitt has a Zepp cover that goes my $1.05 rate Lakehurst-Lakehurst one better. He had one of these addressed to Germany; it bears Lakehurst starting and ending cachets, then was sent on to Germany, and returned to him from there. He also reports a cover bearing a 3 line red cachet: "Received too late—to connect with —Graf Zeppelin flight."

E. J. Newcomer tells me that the lately mentioned cachet from Vancouver for CAM 32 was evidently applied by the postmaster, as covers sent direct to him had it on them.Ralph Moffatt reports that Boise Chambers had special cachets is heralded by the return of the New England Company to its old stamping ground in Boston.

We see for the coming season an increase in popularity of the seasoned old issues. We have been preparing for this, we will make a big effort in the group this season. This does not mean our New Issue, Airmail, Auction, U. S. or general lines will suffer. The absorption of another established stamp business has strengthened us in every direction.

The NEW ENGLAND STAMP CO. has been a constructive force in philately since 1893. After a short lapse to inactivity, we are back again in strength, with new stock, new management, new enthusiasm, new connections, new prices, a new and more accessible location. The old attitude of cooperation with the customer, the sense of responsibility for his collection, the determination to uphold the best standards of fair and upright dealing, these still remain high on the mast.

We feel we deserve and expect the patronage of collectors in the East. We are advertising and ready for national business. For your convenience we invite you to our two handy Service Stations, 81 Nassau, New York, and 53 Bromfield, Boston. (All mail to Boston).

But "wonderful as we are" we haven't a mind reader on our staff. Write or see us. Help us to help you. May we hear from you?

DID YOU START THIS WAY?

A prominent stamp dealer doing thousands of dollars worth of business a year writes as follows:

"In regard to my advertisement in ST. NICHOLAS MAGAZINE, I must say that my first venture into the Stamp business was twelve years ago by placing a four line advertisement in your magazine. This brought me so many high-class customers that I believed there was money in the Stamp business which gave me confidence to continue same. I find that one reply from ST. NICHOLAS is worth ten of any other publication."

ST. NICHOLAS MAGAZINE subscription $4.00 per year or 35c per copy at newsstands—reaching 50,000 Quality homes, with 150,000 Boys and Girls 12 to 17 years of age.

The ST. NICHOLAS Stamp Section, besides a description of new issues, illustrated, and brief articles of interest to collectors, contains advertising announcements of reliable Stamp dealers.

The Stamp advertising rate is $1.00 per line, payable in advance, the minimum space accepted three lines. Forms go to press the 1st of each month preceding; that is, October 1st for the November number. [M2-Nov

Royalty Via Stamps

By Max Schachter.

In 1840 Great Britain in its first issue started the custom of picturing a ruler on postage stamps. When other countries adopted stamps, they followed Great Britain's idea. Stamps show many interesting portraits of rulers. When King Alfonso of Spain became king he was only three years old. He is pictured at this age on the issue of Spain and her colonies in 1889-1890. We see him again in a different pose, older in 1898. We watch him grow on later issues of Spain, but not on the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico or Cuban stamps, because of Spain losing these colonies after the Spanish-American War in 1898. Another child portrait on stamps is that of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland in 1890. The latest example comes from Roumania with its boy King Michael. Three striking pictures of Francis Joseph of Austria reveal him as in 1848, 1878, and as an old man in 1908, reminding us of his long reign. Many other stamps in our stamp gallery give us interesting pictures of rulers.

Bits of Information

Rejistro. — This word appears on some of the registration stamps issued in the Republic of Colombia and means literally "registry."

Relais.—This word found upon Persian stamps indicates the special use to which the stamps are put. In the absence of railway communication passengers, goods and mails are transported by wagons drawn by horses in relays of 20 or 30 miles. Passengers in the post wagons pay extra for the privilege and a "relais" stamp is affixed as a tax to the passengers' tickets. They are not postage stamps.

Skiernewice.—A Polish city which in 1918, upon the declaration of Polish independence and the withdrawal of the German army of occupation, surcharged the German "Gen. Gouv. Warschau" stamps with the word "Polska."

Skilling Banco.—The early stamps of Sweden bore values in skilling banco, 48 of which were equal to a riksdaler. The skilling banco was worth a little more than 1c in United States currency.

S. L.—These letters signifying "Sierra Leone" are shown in the lower part of the design of the large stamps now current in this British colony.

AIR MAILS

Air mails are the outstanding philatelic fashion at the present day. The conquest of time and space by the aeroplane has captured the imagination of the world and the wonderful expansion of air transport is nowhere more attractively presented than in a collection of air stamps and covers.

We always have many interesting items in both stamps and covers on hand and shall be glad to submit approval selections.

Monthly approval books of new air stamp issues will be sent on request.

United States Perf. 10 Rotaries

For a very short time, that is during a period of a little over a year, our current stamps were issued from the rotary press, perforated ten. In the case of three of the high values, there was only one printing and these were on sale for only a few months. Under the circumstances, there is every possibility of the varieties increasing greatly in catalogue value.

There are eleven denominations from 1c to 10c inclusive, Scott's Nos. 581 to 591. The new Advance Sheets price these at $2.06 for a single copy, so that blocks, which are usually catalogued at five times a single in the case of late issues, will no doubt list $10.30 in the new Specialized Catalogue. I offer fine mint blocks of these several stamps at $7.50.

If you have not obtained the compound perforations of the same series, Scott's Nos. 578 and 579, 1c and 2c, cataloguing $1.25 for singles and $5.00 for blocks, I can furnish mint blocks of the two varieties at $3.75.

If you are looking for anything else in the way of U. S. issues, either early or late, I have on hand an unusual stock from which to fill want lists.

I am also in the market at all times to purchase rare and choice United States items, as well as collections. Common varieties, however, are not desired. Early covers of unusual importance are especially wanted.

RADIO AND PHILATELY

By George M. Mathewson.

The article relative to Mr. C. N. Kraus, Radio W1BCR of Providence, R. I., has prompted me to write this letter. I have been experimenting with short wave radio receiving and transmitting sets for a good number of years myself in addition to stamp collecting. My entrance into philately can be attributed to short wave radio as I was communicating with foreign radio enthusiasts, and naturally received a great deal of mail from them. My wife used to save the stamps from the mail with the idea in mind of starting a stamp collection. Personally I never gave the idea much thought as I was wrapped up in my radio experiments and communication with foreign points of the world. An office associate who was interested in radio from a broadcast standpoint was conversing with me one day and during the course of the talk I spoke of my wife's desire to start a stamp collection. He became interested and offered to help her get started. The outcome was that I purchased a packet of cheap stamps, an album, hinges, and a Scott's catalog for her. My friend called at my home and explained to both of us the art of stamp collecting, and I myself became interested, and as a consequence have been collecting stamps and air mail covers ever since. I have on a number of occasions used my radio set as a means of collecting stamps. Have communicated with radio friends in foreign lands and have prevailed upon them to send me stamps of their country. Have also worked the same system for first day covers. I am still interested in short wave radio, but it has waned considerably since I became a philatelist. I know of no other amateur radio operators who are interested in collecting other than Mr. Kraus whom I know through association via radio. Incidentally my call letters are W1BQD. The statement that perhaps others of the radio field might be in the philatelist field has caused me to write this letter.

Brazil.—The semi-official 1,300 reis, air mail vignette issued by the "Condor Syndicate" has been converted into an Express Delivery stamp of 700 reis by surcharging with the new value supplemented by the initial "E" according to information furnished by Stamp Collecting.

Mr. R. Roberts submits for chronicle the 500 reis blue, design A76, perf. 13x12½, new all over watermark "EU BRASIL" in block capitals. Mr. Roberts further informs us that all his supply show the watermark inverted.

French Colonies.—A public competition is being held among French artists, who are invited to submit designs for a series of stamps to be issued in connection with an International Colonial Exhibition to be held in Paris in 1931. The suggested design has, according to the rules, to allow for the inclusion of "the name of the colony" from which we assume that a key type series will be placed on sale throughout all the French colonies with just the name of each colony given. The stamps are to be the usual pictorial size (22mm x 36mm) and the design should picture "France as an empire builder; the greatness of the French Empire and the glory of its founders." Philatelic Magazine prints the above interesting information.

Japan.—The Aero Philatelic Society of Corea advises the Philatelic Magazine that the new Air stamps mentioned last April will be issued this month (September), and will be 8½ and 16½ sen for post cards, and 18 and 33 sen for letters. No other details are yet available.

Mexico. — In a recent issue of Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin it is reported that when the Carranza Air Mail stamps were issued on July 12th last enormous crowds gathered at the various Post Offices and the stamps were doled out in limited quantities. It is also reported that the whole issue was 100,000 sets, and they were sold out the day of issue.

Nicaragua.—Mr. R. E. R. Dalwick reports to Stamp Collecting that the following varieties are constant in the setting of the overprint on the air mail stamps of this country, viz.:—(a) large "A" in Aereo, (b) large "A" in P. A. (c) two large "A's" in P. A. A.

Seychelles.—Stamp Collecting is formed that all 4c and 5c values are of issue and permanently out of Also that when present stocks of the 18c, 30c, 45c and 2R25c are exhaust more will be printed.

w collectors, if asked to explain the ction of their hobby, could do so uately. Most would probably say they collect simply because they it, but that would be explaining the ction in terms of itself. Perhaps hree prime motivators of the philatare: the novelty, the beauty, and the rical lure. And I have started a collection which is to me an ement of the three in liberal quan-, "president's birth date" covers. r collecting, I know, is carefully led by a large number of collectors, here is a phase which should interest ge majority.

ie idea was suggested to me by a w collector a little over a year ago, I have followed it up enthusiastically my collection is nearly complete. ining the birth dates of our presidents ooking up towns named after them, I ed to work. A few days before the day of a president I would prepare ver and mail to the postmaster of the , say Coolidge, Kansas, with a cours letter asking him to mail it on date with a legible postmark if pos-. The results obtained were marvel- practically every postmaster coated graciously. I used envelopes ewhat smaller than the standard busi- 6¾, and used imperforate black dings for franking. These, of course, arbitrary; I have since thought that ould be carrying the idea out more oughly to use where possible stamps ing the president's own likeness. Bahamas To Celebrate

A BRIEF SURVEY OF THE ISLAND'S STAMPS

By D. B. ARMSTRONG.

The British West Indian colony of the Bahamas which is about to celebrate in stamps the tercentenary of its colonisation by Englishmen, can claim the distinction of having issued seventy years ago what is generally conceded by artists and philatelists alike to be one of the most artistic postage stamp designs of the British Empire.

At the time of the appearance of this stamp (June, 1859), the packet service in the Bahamas, as in the other islands of the West Indies, was maintained by H.M. Postmaster-General, British postage stamps of the period being available at Nassau, the capital on the island of New Providence. Those so employed may be recognised by the serial cancellation "AO5."

A postage stamp being required, however, by the Colonial Postmaster for purely local use, the Governor of the colony wrote to the Colonial Office in London, under date of July 6, 1858, requesting that a die might be prepared for "an interinsular postage stamp of one penny," and enclosing a sketch of a pineapple and a conch shell, two typical products of the Bahamas, which it was suggested might be incorporated in the design.

Famous Portrait Copied

The commission was subsequently entrusted to the London firm of Perkins, Bacon and Co., who then held the contract for supplying postage stamps to both the Home and Colonial Governments. A composite design embodying the head of Queen Victoria (after the beautiful Chalon portrait) with the emblems suggested by the colonial authorities was submitted and approved by the Treasury and the Colonial Office in October of the same year, but it was not until May, 1859, that the first consignment of finished stamps was despatched by the Crown Agents. They were finally placed on sale at Nassau on June 10.

The many varieties of the 1d interinsular stamp make a most interesting study. Originally issued imperforate, a second supply delivered in October, 1860, was distinguished by the addition of a clean cut perforation gauging 14 to 16, while in June, 1861, a further consignment was received having a very rough perforation of the same gauge.

Twelve months later the printing contract was transferred to Messrs. Thomas De La Rue and Co., who continued to print from the original plate at first upon paper devoid of watermark, but later watermarked Crown C.C. (1863), and finally Crown C.A. (March, 1882), until the plate was ultimately discarded on the introduction of surface printed stamps in 1884.

Many Varieties

Several varieties of perforation may also be found in the De La Rue prints of the 1d "Interinsular" stamp, 11½ to 12, 13, 12½, 14 and 12, characterising successive printings in the order named.

Among the more modern postage stamps of the Bahamas is a highly effective pictorial design showing a famous landmark in the vicinity of Nassau known as the Queen's Staircase, a long flight of 67 steps hewn out of the solid rock to facilitate the passage of troops between the harbour and Fort Fincastle.

A new printing of the current 5d stamp in this type has just been received from Messrs. Whitfield King and Co., and shows for the first time the latest Script C.A. type of watermark.—Bazaar.

(Just the thing to mount in your album or catalog)

National Plates, 1870-71

The National Bank Note Co. engraved one die for each denomination of the 1870-71 series. Each National plate was made from a transfer roll to which the design had been transferred from one of the National dies. The National plates from 1c to 15c were not used after the expiration of the National contract, April 30, 1873, but the National 24c plate and the National 90c plate were used later and were the only plates of those denominations of "U. S. POSTAGE" stamps made or used throughout the entire "bank note" series—1870 to 1889.

All the General Scott 24c stamps and plate proofs of the design of 1870, including the special printings of 1875 and 1880, were printed from National plate No. 21, and all the Commodore Perry 90c stamps and plate proofs of the design of 1870, including the special printings of 1875 and 1880 and the 1888 issue in purple, were printed from National plate No. 23.

The National 30c plate—No. 22—was the only Alexander Hamilton 30c plate of the design of 1870 made or used until about April 1882 and therefore all the 30c stamps and plate proofs of the design of 1870, printed up to 1882, including the special printings of 1875 and 1880, were printed from National plate No. 22. It is possible, but not certain, that 30c stamps for regular issue were printed from plate No. 22 by the American Bank Note Co.

Early in 1889, a Post Office was established at George Town, Grand Cayman, and Mr. Parsons was supplied with Jamaican postage stamps from Kingston. The notice of the Postmaster for Jamaica (Fred. Sullivan) relative to the establishment of this postal service, is dated April 12, 1889.

"Postal Arrangements between the Cayman Islands and Jamaica.

The undermentioned arrangements have been approved:—

ii. From the Cayman Islands

Letters, etc., originating in the Cayman Islands and intended for delivery in Jamaica, or for transmission to any place overseas, will be treated by the Jamaica Post Office as though they originated in Jamaica.

The Custos of Grand Cayman is supplied with Jamaica postage stamps, so that all such correspondence may be fully prepaid.

Signed, FRED. SULLIVAN,
Postmaster for Jamaica.
General Post Office,
12th April, 1889."

The following is extracted from the 22nd annual report of the Postmaster of Jamaica, for the year ended Sept. 30, 1889.

"25.—Arrangements were concluded during the year under review for the exchange of mails between the Cayman Islands and Jamaica by schooners which ply between these two places. The rates of postage in Jamaica, inland and foreign, apply equally to correspondence posted in the Cayman Islands."

2.—Postage Rates

The postage rates in effect in Jamaica at this date (April 12, 1889) were as follows:—

	Letters.	Post Cards
Inland
For town or office delivery, per half ounce,	1d	½d
Between Post Offices in Jamaica, per half ounce,	2d	1d
Registration,	4d
Overseas
Letters to Great Britain, U. S. A., and all countries of the U. P. U., per half ounce,	4d
Post cards,		1½d single 3d reply
Registration,	4d

On December 27, 1889, the rates on letters and post cards throughout Jamaica were reduced to 1d and ½d respectively.

On June 1, 1890, the letter rate from Jamaica "to the U. S. A., Canada, and other places when dispatched by vessels not under contract with the Imperial Government" was reduced from 4d to 2½d per half ounce (The provisional 2½d on 4d brown, occasioned by this reduction, was issued about June 4, 1890). The reduction was made to apply to "the United Kingdom, as well as all other places in the Universal Postal Union" from January 1, 1891. The registration fee, local and foreign, was reduced on June 1, 1893, from 4d to 2d.

The system of franking official correspondence was abandoned on April 1, 1890 (until December 31, 1897) in favor of prepayment by means of overprinted stamps (½d, 1d and 2d), which were intended to serve as a check on the abuses of the franking power, and also as a means of accounting for the heavy Government postage to the Post Office Dept.

3.—Postage Stamps Used at Grand Cayman

It would seem, therefore, from the rates in effect on April 12, 1889, that there was real need for postage stamps of denominations ½d to 4d inclusive, at the Grand Cayman Post Office. Writing in 1908, Mr. Parsons stated that he had never been supplied from Kingston with Jamaican postage stamps above the 4d denomination, although, of course, all denominations were valid for use at Grand Cayman. Mr. Parsons was also supplied with Official stamps (½d Kingston overprint, as well as the ½d, 1d and 2d London overprint). Stamps of other denominations than those supplied Mr. Parsons from Kingston could have been received through the post as small remittances, or been brought back to Grand Cayman by returning seamen, or visitors to Jamaica.

Oddly, however, Jamaican stamps above 2½d denomination are not known with genuine Cayman cancellations, in spite of the fact that the foreign letter rate on April 12, 1889, was 4d, and remained so for over a year in the case of U. S. A., Canada, etc., and for over a year and a half as regards Great Britain, and other Postal Union countries.

About June 4, 1890, the provisional 2½d on 4d brown was issued in Jamaica, and although the definite 2½d lilac and ultramarine in the DLR keyplate type did not replace it until February 25, 1901, the surcharged 2½d on 4d is not known with the Grand Cayman cancellation.

It would therefore appear that multiples of ½d, 1d, 2d and 2½d stamps were used to express all postage rates.

Even after the establishment of the Post Office at Grand Cayman, letters continued to be sent from the islands as before, by master mariners, and mailed in foreign ports, usually in the southern states of the United States. In this manner considerable time and postage was saved, on letters for the U. S., which receives much of Cayman's correspondence because of the large Cayman population in the southern states.

4.—Grand Cayman Postmark Type i

The first cancelling stamp, of rubber, used at Grand Cayman, type i, consists of two concentric transverse ovals, the outer measuring 40 x 25mm, and the inner 27 x 13mm, between which is "Grand Cayman" at the top, separated from "Post Office" at the bottom, by small circular ornaments. The date is in one line across the center; the earliest known is AUG. 7, 1890, and the latest NOV. 16, 1894. The cancellation was applied in violet, and being of such large size, single stamps, unless on entire, or on piece of cover, bear only a portion of the postmark.

Type i cancellation is known on the following stamps of Jamaica:—

½d green, Queen Victoria, 1885.
1d lilac, DLR keyplate, Mar. 8, 1889.
2d green, DLR keyplate, Mar. 8, 1889.
2½d lilac and ultramarine, DLR keyplate, Febr. 25, 1891.

Official Stamps

½d green, Kingston overprint, Apr. 1, 1890.
½d green, London overprint, 1891.
1d carmine, London overprint, Apr. 1, 1890.
2d gray, London overprint, Apr. 1, 1890.

I have the cancellation complete on the ½d and 2d on piece of cover MAY 20, 1891; 1d, on piece of cover, NOV. 16, 1894; on a pair of the 1d MAY 13, 1892, and partially on the 1d carmine, Official London overprint.

5.—Grand Cayman Postmark Typ

Early in 1895, type i rubber handsta was superseded by one of metal, a sin lined circle, 24mm, lettered "Grand C man" at the top, and "P. O." at the b tom, with the date in the center in t lines, FE 5—1895, applied in violet. though type ii postmark was proba used until the end of 1898, or very ea in 1899, it is known on fewer stan than type i. Oddly, Jamaican stamps not known with Grand Cayman da during 1897 and 1898.

The earliest date known for type i JA 7—1895, and appears as an en ro marking on the front of a letter mai at Lucea, Jamaica, and addressed to C man Brac; the latest date, AU 18—18 is also an en route marking on a le originating at Cayman Brac, and sent Jamaica via Grand Cayman.

Type ii marking is known on the 1d and 2½d Jamaican stamps, and ½d, 1d and 2d Official stamps, Lon overprinted. I have it on a vertical p of the 2½d lilac and ultramarine, only the month "AP" is legible. Impr sions from type ii postmarking stamp generally illegible.

6.—Grand Cayman Postmark Ty iii

Type ii cancellation seems to have b superseded late in 1898 or very early 1899, by type iii, a double lined cir 26½mm and 24mm respectively, lette "Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands," w the date in the center in two lines. T earliest date reported is JA 10—99, wh I have on the 2½d lilac and ultramari The day, month and year are quite f quently found reversed as to position, 23 OC-00, and 27 99-AP.

Type iii marking was in use until D cember, 1906, and appears on Jamai stamps, and (after Febr. 19, 1901) Cayman Islands distinctive post stamps. (There is also a type ii marking, very similar to type iii, with letters and figures differer formed; the impressions are always cl and the outer circle is heavier than inner one. This, however, is not kno correctly used on Jamaican stamps, a on but few Cayman stamps, during 1 and 1907.) Grand Cayman type iv ma ing, which does not concern Jamai stamps used in the Cayman Islands, i single lined circle, 25mm, inscri "George Town, Grand Cayman," w date in the center, in two lines, DE 1 06 is the earliest date known, and appe on a ½d King Edward VII, Postag Postage, multiple CA watermarked.

On May 24, 1899, Jamaica joined Imperial penny postage union, and lett from that date could be sent from Jam a and the Cayman Islands, to any part the British Empire, at 1d per half our instead of 2½d as previously.

Type iii cancellation is known on ½d, 1d and 2½d stamps of Jamaica, not on the Official stamps, as the use these ceased December 31, 1897.

This cancellation also appears on 1d Llandovery Falls, of Jamaica, red, sued in Jamaica on May 1, 1900 (first lot was shipped from London Jamaica on Apr. 3, 1900).

The latest date known for type marking on Jamaican stamps is 19 DE 00, on a pair of the 2½d lilac and ult marine.

The 1d red and black, Falls, of maica, issued Sept. 25, 1901 (first shipped from London, Apr. 30, 1901), also known with various Grand Cayn type iii dates MY 28 00, OC 26 01, e but inasmuch as this stamp was issu some seven months after the Caym were supplied with their own distinct stamps (½d and 1d on Febr. 19, 190 Jamaican stamps were not valid a longer in the Cayman Islands, inasmu as they benefited only from the sale their own stamps. The revenue from sale of Jamaican stamps, of course, w remitted to Kingston.

Type iii cancelling stamp was still the George Town Post Office for seve years after type iv replaced it, and maican stamps with type iii marking not always above suspicion. Subsequ to the issue of surcharged stamps in 19 and 1908, there was such a demand Jamaican stamps used in Cayman Islan and also used Cayman Islands stam that many of these were obligingly (?) manufactured right on the spot by someone who had access to the original type iii cancelling stamp. Fortunately, the dates are not always correct (as witness the 1d Jamaica, Falls, red and black, MY 28 00, more than a year before the stamp was issued in Jamaica), and the cancellation was sometimes applied to Jamaican stamps which had already been used, properly, in Jamaica, in such a manner as not to completely obliterate the original Jamaican cancellation.

7.—Cayman Brac Office Opened, 1898

After the Post Office at George Town, Grand Cayman, was opened in 1889, letters for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman, from the outside, were frequently routed via Grand Cayman, and in such instances, received the Grand Cayman postmark as an en route marking. Usually it was applied to the face, and not the back. However, as communication between Grand Cayman and the Lesser Caymans was more irregular than between the Lesser Islands and Jamaica, much mail continued to be forwarded from Jamaica by Cayman Brac by sailing vessels going there direct, and vice versa.

However, in 1898, an office was opened at Stakes Bay, Cayman Brac (H. W. Rutty, Postmaster). The first cancelling stamp, of rubber, received from Jamaica, gave an impression in the form of a horizontal rectangle, 31 x 16mm, with CAYMAN BRAC—CAYMAN ISLANDS, in two lines, applied in black. Similar rubber stamps were used in Jamaica at times, and the date inserted in pen and ink. However, Cayman Brac never supplied any dating. Cayman Brac type i marking, therefore, unless on a cover with backstamps, is very difficult to "date." I have it on the 1d lilac of Jamaica, on entire, for office delivery at Stakes Bay.

The earliest date known is on a cover with the backstamp of Kingston, Jamaica, AUG 15, 1899; the latest is JAN 12 00 (also as a backstamp).

About January 1, 1900, a metal cancelling stamp was received, very similar to type iii used at Grand Cayman, consisting of a double lined circle, 26½ x 24mm, lettered "Cayman Brac, Cayman Islands," with date in the center in two lines, and applied in black. The earliest date known is JA 6 00, and the latest JA 5 01. This cancellation, type ii of Cayman Brac, is known on the 1d and 2½d DLR keyplate stamps of Jamaica, and on the 1d Falls, red.

Cayman Brac cancellations are not known on Jamaican Official stamps, their use having ceased after December 31, 1897.

IN THE DAYS OF AULD LANG SYNE

By R. E. Farr, Fun Forum Editor.

Through the kindness of Mr. Chas. A. Townsend, Akron, Ohio, the Fun Office has received a file of C. H. Mekeel's The Daily Stamp Item, edited by the Office Cat, and published at St. Louis during the "Gay Nineties." Extracts from this newsy little sheet may interest the collector of today as indicating what stamps and collectors were doing a third of a century ago; older followers of the Great Game may find an occasional item to remind them of the days when they were Juniors:—

Old names, old faces
Long since fled;
And ghosts of laughter
Long since dead,—
Dear shadows!

From Vol. I, No. 1; Jan. 1, 1896:

Ah, Foolish Cat! A cat having been left in charge of a Weekly paper by the editor, who went abroad, grew sad at the thought of his return. Alas! the foolish cat started a Daily, and you have it in your hand.

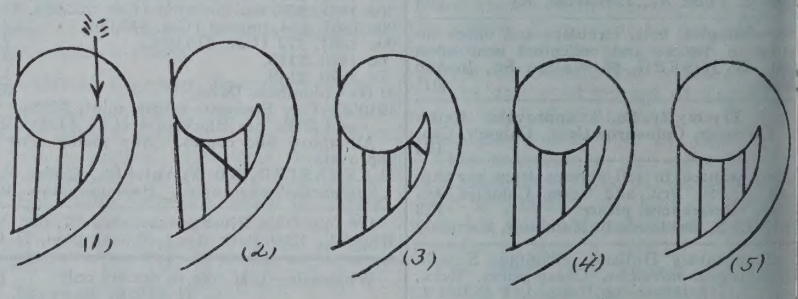
THE SECRET MARKS ON THE BROWN 1870-75

By G. A. Hunt.



Yes, there are two of them, one National Bank Note Co., and one Continental Bank Note Co. One is supposed to tell them by the shade and by "the secret mark." But can you?

I've recently examined thousands of these stamps and have prepared the five sketches numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5.

Nos. 1 and 5 are exactly alike and are magnified sketches of the Continental Bank Note Co.'s products.

No. 2 is the secret mark taken from Scott's Catalogue, and is entirely wrong and misleading to the beginner, and even the advanced collector. I note in the Specialized Catalogue that the Scott Co. has changed it to No. 3, which is more like the secret mark, provided it ever existed. I've never yet seen it on a stamp, and doubt very much if it really exists.

All red-browns I've examined, eit grilled or without, have four verti lines under the little ball ornament the upper left corner. The curved l running up to the ball is always op sometimes as it tapers upward the l tapers to a hair line and this makes gap appear more pronounced or wi than normal. All such stamps you bank on as the product of the Natio Bank Note Co.

All brown and dark brown's I've amined are like No. 5, four verti lines under the little ball ornament, the curved line running up to the ball closed; in other words, it continues and joins the little ball and the gap closed. All such stamps you can ba on are the product of the Continen Bank Note Co.

To simmer it down to A, B, C:—

Number 4—Is National.
Number 5—Is Continental.
Number 1—Key to No. 4 and 5.
Number 2 and 3—Forget them.

The Thousand Dollar Invert

THE EVER PRESENT QUANDARY OF ELECTING HONESTY AS A GODDESS

By H. Bedford-Jones.

There is a charming little story told by my friend J. C. Morgenthau; in common with all who knew him, I think we must always speak of him in the present tense, whether in simple tenderness or in a larger belief that he is not, after all, so very far away.

I must reproduce the tale after my own fashion, you understand, and not in the words of J. C., who gave it to me to use in print. If you've heard him tell the story, you found that it brought out the philosophic content of his vigorous brain, and its element of romance was a mere afterthought. I, on the contrary, being a confirmed romantic, find myself vastly more interested in the tale itself than in its philosophic angle. So bear with me cheerfully and be not too insistent upon the severe items of name, date and place.

The philatelist is a living paradox. He collects stamps selfishly and hoards his treasure as any miser his gold; yet he seeks the company of his ilk, and may commonly be found engaged in passionate discourse upon his hobby, or surrounded by a coterie of more youthful persons whom, like Socrates, he seeks to corrupt after the dictates of his own conscience and to set upon the road of his own aspirations. There was such a philatelist named Tremont, who had formed a stamp club among a number of boys in his neighborhood, and who used his own collection as a basis for the talks he delivered at their club meetings.

Upon one of these occasions, Tremont delivered an address upon bi-colored stamps, which in rare instances appear with inverted centers and are technically known as inverts. The word has a dangerous sound, and I am not quite certain that in these days of Mr. Sumner, and the various vice-suppression crusaders, it is a very safe matter to indulge in the free use of such a term; however, there it is, and we must make the best of it.

When Tremont had finished his address, the ensuing discussion was broken by the shrill tones of one Johnny Appleton, who was by no means content to stand silent upon his peak in Darien.

"Hey, Mr. Tremont!" he piped up in no little excitement. "I got one o' them things in my collection! I got one o' them inverts!"

"Good!" rejoined Tremont, with a smile. "Trot it out, Johnny, and we'll give it the once-over; but don't get all worked up thinking you have a treasure. The chances are you have nothing but a curiosity."

"Sure," said Johnny stoutly. "That's why I kep' it. Got it from my uncle in a little old collection he once had, and give me to start mine with. I'll get it out for you."

Johnny proceeded to get it out, and Tremont found himself dazedly regarding a fifteen cent revenue of the U. S. third issue. This erudite description means little except to a philatelist; but the important point was that the center of the stamp was indubitably printed upside down. The stamp was certainly an invert, and an extremely rare one.

"What's it worth?" demanded Johnny, with increasing excitement in view of the impression his curiosity had made. The other boys crowded around eagerly enough, and Tremont hesitated.

"Hard to say, Johnny," he returned. "It's genuine, all right, but not in the best of condition. At a venture, I'd say you might get a thousand dollars for it."

"Gee!"

Now there ensued such a Babel as has not been described in print since the time of Maitre Rabelais, and I am quite certain that my genius would be unfitting to the task. Unless I mistake, indeed, who am not very learned in these matters, the worthy chronicler of Genesis did not attempt any lengthy description of the original Babel. Moreover, a mere building strike among Semites could not possibly

STOCK TRANSFER STAMPS

Recently, Revenue collectors were astonished by the appearance of several Revenue stamps perforated 10 instead of 11. Various lists of these have been published, none of which appear to be very accurate.

We are listing below all the varieties of the Stock Transfers that we believe exist at the present time in the 10 perforation. Our supply of some of these is quite limited and it is very likely that some of the varieties of overprints might turn out to be scarce.

produce the startling effects achieved by the finding of a thousand dollar stamp among the sheets of a club of youthful philatelists. Only one word can properly sum up the scene, and this word has already been sounded.

"Gee!"

Tremont took the stamp and the matter under advisement. Johnny had never seen or dreamed of a thousand dollars in cash; and nothing was more unlikely to occur in his life. Besides, Tremont would not encourage his eagerness until the stamp had been expertised.

Faith is a very singular thing; an observation not altogether original with me. The lack of faith, however, is an actual human faculty. I am not positive whether a negation may rightly be affirmed to be a fact, but in this instance one must consider actualities and not grammatical hairs. It was only natural that, once the heat of astonishment had cooled away, the other boys, their parents and friends, and even Johnny himself, should wake up next morning with a highly skeptical reaction making itself evident. Even Tremont, one suspects, viewed the matter as one of those unfortunate delusions to which we are so liable; and which, whether they turn upon stamps or jobs or ladies, leave upon our lips the somewhat acrid taste of the unripened fruit of what-might-have-been.

Besides, however it may be in other lands or environments, New York does not permit its children to believe in fairies, and any thousand-dollar-cash stamp found in Johnny's album would be nothing less than a tangible fairy. Regardless of possible conflict with Sir Conan Doyle and other authorities, I cannot believe that fairies do appear, and most sensible people agree with me; because when fairies appear to us soberheaded folk, we recognize them as being something entirely different. That is the chief drawback in not being a simple-minded peasant—or, if you prefer, it is the chief curse of civilization. Opinions vary on the matter, unfortunately.

Tremont, then, walked into the shop of one Farthing and handed over the stamp. Farthing viewed it through a glass, and then viewed it through benzine; which, as every philatelist knows to his cost, are two extremely different viewpoints, and make one recall that poem of M. Heredia wherein the bridal couple leaving the church meet the bier as it enters.

"A beauty, except for condition," said Farthing. "You want to sell it?"

"At least," said Tremont, sitting down with a sigh, "I want to talk about it."

So he talked about it, knowing that he was dealing with an honest man.

"Well," said Farthing, at last, "I can get a thousand for that stamp—net to Johnny. But he's only nine? Then consider the law, my friend. A boy of nine does not own a thousand dollar stamp. He may own a three-cent stamp, but that is quite another thing. I understand that you are only anxious to help him, yes. Still, I am afraid that when Johnny's father learns about the affair, he will—oh, you know!"

Tremont nodded, and went to call upon Johnny's father. He knew well enough how it is with thousand-cent stamps, not to mention thousand dollar stamps, where non-philatelists are concerned. There is something magical about this word "thousand," and it has a terrible effect upon most of us. We at once think of ten thousand, a hundred thousand; it is difficult to prevent our imagination dealing in multiples, because if a thing is worth a thousand, why not ten thousand? That is the peril in evoking the imagination of ignorant persons, and that is why many stamp dealers are in a singular quandary when it comes to electing honesty as a goddess.

However, the father of Johnny Appleton proved to be a gentleman; and since this pleasing discovery, automatically brings to an end the story of every passionate pursuit, so it ends the tale of the thousand dollar invert. The stamp was sold, the thousand was placed in the bank, a trust-fund being created, and when Johnny Appleton reaches the age of twenty-one—he will probably wish he had kept the stamp and sold it for ten thousand later on, the way prices are mounting!

STAMPS AND BOOKKEEPING

(We heartily concur with the opinions expressed in the following editorial from the "Detroit News" and sent us by Herman W. Boers. —W. O. W.)

First Assistant Postmaster General Coleman is quoted as saying:

"We carry Government department mail free because it is much more economical to do so than to impose a bookkeeping department overhead to record the mail sent by each Government bureau and charge for the same."

Well, that is about as silly a reason as any that has been given by the politically-managed Post Office Department. It is just the sort of reason one would expect from a department that changes its executives every few years, putting in charge men who have had no experience in postal affairs, and neglecting the knowledge and advice of those who have handled mail for most of their adult years.

As a matter of fact, the Post Office Department has done just that, whenever some committee of Congress has demanded figures on how much free mail is being carried for Government departments. It weighs the mail for a time, charging it to the various departments and bur by a bookkeeping system, and thus it covers what this free service amounts

Some day a genius may arise who suggest that the way to ascertain this without "imposing a bookkeeping dep ment overhead" will be to abolish frank, and make every Government cer, department and bureau put pos stamps on its mail. That is what e business house does, and there is no g reason why the Government should n

The round-the-world covers carried by the Graf Zeppelin are about the most interesting of any so far produced. They represent the only official air mail ever carried around the world. The official cachet authorized by the U. S. Government for use at Lakehurst is very attractive, showing the top of the world and the four stopping points of the airship. As far as we know, the amount of postage, $3.55 per half-ounce, is the greatest ever required for the carrying of a letter. The special steel die receiving stamp, which was applied to the covers in green ink, is unique in postal history.

This cover is the outstanding souvenir of one of the great epochal achievements of all time.

The cover which we offer is franked with copies of the 50c Arlington Amphitheater, $1.00 Lincoln Memorial, $2.00 carmine and black Franklin, and 5c Aero Conference stamps. The stamps are all picked copies without straight edges. Covers bearing the $2.00 Madison or the $2.00 Capitol, instead of the $2.00 Franklin, are also available at the same price. The covers are the six-inch (size 6¼) air mail envelope and present a superb appearance. Their attractiveness makes them worth considerably more than other round-the-world covers on the market.

Our European Letter

By A. Wagner, Essen, Ger.

Essen, Sept. 24, 1929.

In regard to the 3 new charity stamps of Denmark for the benefit of the cancer fund, already recorded on pages 511 and 534, it is stated that these stamps will be sold at the post offices until Nov. 30, and at the window, serving stamp collectors up to and including December 31, 1929. The stamps will be good for postage for 5 years.

Referring to the new 10fs ultramarine stamp of France recorded on page 534, the following notes may be of interest.

The stamp designed by H. Cheffer, whose name appears in the right hand bottom corner, depicts the port of La Rochelle, the Santonum portus of the Romans, the capital of the Department of Charente-Inférieure, with a population of about 42,000, situated on the Atlantic coast between Bordeaux and Nantes. The remainder of the medieval fortifications, which even today influence the port scenery, are clearly visible on the stamp. The cathedral, making a somewhat ponderous impression, was completed in 1762, and is to be seen in the centre in the rear. Towards the end of the 16th century Richelieu besieged the fortress, which had been the principal point of support of the Huguenots, and starved it into surrender, thereby breaking the political power of the Huguenots. After their defeat the importance of the place began to shrink, so that even nowadays its historical value is much greater than its commercial importance. It was at La Rochelle that the famous natural philosopher Réaumur was born.

Germany.—The official stamps of the 10pf and 15pf denominations have changed their colors in accordance with the color-scheme of the Universal Postal Union.

The new colors are as follows: 10pf, perf. 14, vermilion; 15pf, perf. 14, carmine.

It may not be generally known that the amount of mail matter remaining undeliverable in the different countries, forming the Universal Postal Union, is very considerable. During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1928, the German dead letter office had to destroy no fewer than 3,500,000 undeliverable pieces of mail. There was no other way to get rid of them, as they bore the addresses of the senders neither inside nor outside, which rendered it impossible to return the stuff to the latter. Taking an average postage of 10 pfennigs per sending as a basis, it follows that the enormous sum of 350,000 Marks equalling $84,000 U. S. currency was lost due to the negligence and unthoughtfulness of the public.

Hungary.—The King Stephen stamps mentioned on page 524 were sold at the windows only during the month of August; they will, however, be good for postage until the end of the year.

Latvia.—On August 21 five new charity stamps appeared for the benefit of the Monument fund in honor of the late Siegfried Meierowitz. M., born in 1887, became leader of the foreign affairs of the Republic and participated in the peace negotiations after the Great War, as far as the several Baltic republics were concerned. M. was a member of the Genova conference, and exactly 4 years ago (September, 1925) the application of Latvia for admission to the League of Nations was accepted.

It will be remembered that in 1925 M. was killed in an accident near Riga.

The values are 2s plus 2s, 6/6, 15/25, 25/35, 30/40. The new stamps show the profile-likeness of M., are perforated 11½, and were printed at the Riga Government printing works, the colors being ochre, dark green, violet-brown, blue and ultramarine respectively. In conformity with previous issues of charity stamps two figures appear at the bottom of the stamp, the one to the left denoting the postal value of the stamp, and the other to the right the postal value plus the premium. 80,000 sets in all are said to have been printed, one-half of them being perforated, and the balance imperforated.

Saargebiet.—Collectors should give the stamps of the Saar particular attention. At the conference at The Hague, supplementing the financial work of the Paris experts, an extraordinary important Franco-German agreement was arrived at, according to which negotiations between the two contractors will shortly be entered into with a view to solving the difficult Saar problem. Probably the region will be turned over again to German control before the date stipulated by the Versailles Treaty, which means that then the special Saar stamps now current will be withdrawn, and regular German stamps be put into use again.

At the moment of writing the stamps in question can still be secured without any difficulty. Collectors interested in them should fill up on them now while they are cheap.

Parties desirous of acquiring mint Saar stamps may confidently apply to the writer of this letter. He is willing to secure them at a small premium only over face, postage and registration fee to be paid extra.

PRECANCEL STAMP SOCIETY

ANNUAL CONVENTION AT KANSAS CITY, ONE OF THE BEST EVER HELD

By A. F. Gamber.

The Kansas City convention is now a matter of history. What a glorious time everyone had there, from Wednesday evening to Saturday noon! Looking back, it is hard for one to say in what respect the arrangements could have been improved upon.

Those members of the Midwest Club who are not interested in precancels deserve special thanks for the splendid manner in which they coöperated with their confreres, to make the affair a huge success. One of the number, with not the slightest interest in our hobby, was everywhere in evidence, helping in every possible way. Webster's Unabridged lacks words adequate to express our gratification for such a helpful spirit. Should the time ever come when any of our precancel branches are asked to help out a non-precancel enterprise, let them recall how loyally our Kansas City brethren were aided.

It is the writer's opinion that Messrs. Jerrems, Keiter, Thresher, of those most interested in precancels, deserve the lion's share of the credit for the arrangements made and for the smooth way in which they were carried out.

The few who had drifted in by Wednesday evening found the time all too short for renewing old acquaintances and improving upon new ones. Some of us heard the milkman making his early rounds before we finally turned in. Thursday morning the convention opened exactly on time with five officers on hand (that man Mitchell is insistent on faithfulness to schedules). With the annual reports out of the way, the results of the balloting were announced: President, Dr. Mitchell; Vice Presidents, Newcomer, Carroll, Berolzheimer, Bledsoe; Secretary-Treasurer, Spaulding; Directors, Hoover (N. R.), Gloeb, Gamber. There then ensued an hour or so of snappy catalog discussion, the services being led by W. B. Hoover. Considerable hot air was released during this discussion, but to the critical eye it was hard to see what else was accomplished. Perhaps this was sufficient.

Thursday evening was given up wholly to a great big bourse. Although a member of the biggest precancel firm in the country was present, the whole convention was remarkably free from any attempt to make big sales or to use high pressure tactics. This was a welcome change from some previous conventions. Such meetings are for the purpose of promoting fellowship and personal acquaintance, not for some dealer to carry home a pocket full of jack realized on a big sale that later may turn sour.

On Friday it was decided to suspend, at least for the time being, the Society's publication, the Precancel Gazette, the ownership of the title remaining with the Society. The Precancel Bee of Omaha is now our official organ, and the Society thus temporarily anyway relieves itself of the burden of anxiety attendant upon publishing its own magazine.

The invitation of Cleveland to come to that city in 1930 was unanimously accepted. The writer recently had the pleasure of spending an evening with the members of the Cleveland branch, and can report that they are already in the midst of preparations for this coming event. This club has on its roster several men perfectly capable of staging a real convention. Located as it is, it should attract a great number of collectors from a wide area. Not since the Detroit convention of 1924 have those living in this part of the country had the chance of attending that they will have in 1930, and everyone should at once begin his budget for the trip. Those farther east who have not attended any of the middle west conventions through fear of Indian uprisings, may go to Cleveland in perfect safety, the Indian problem in Ohio is practically non-existent. We ought to see all the old faces, and a lot of new ones, at Cleveland in 1930. Be assured that the Cleveland members are doing and will do all in their power to make your visit pleasant.

The exhibits, while not as numerous as they should have been, were most excellent. In the city class Alvin Krause's 32 frames of Milwaukee deservedly won first. Wernstrom's San Francisco took second, and Hoover's New York City, third.

In the state class Mrs. S. G. Rich's Georgia won first, Ralph W. Porter's

NEW SEASON APPROVAL BOOKS
During the summer I have remade all my approval books, and have combined in them many important purchases made during the past year.
The following is a list of new books that are now ready. In general these contain stamps from a few cents to some twenty dollars each. A list of my books of rare stamps will be issued later on.
Prices will be found very moderate, as a rule 35 to 50 per cent below catalogue quotations, and all these priced on this basis of the 1929 catalogue.

U.S. Plate Markings

R. A. Bryant, Editor,
Box 64, West Somerville, Mass.

(Items about errors, shifts, defects and plate markings, also color varieties and new numbers, will be welcomed. If reply be necessary, enclose self-addressed stamped envelope.)

With this issue we start our report on the current 5c air mail plate number combinations. For some time now, readers have been sending in lists of these combinations ranging from a single item to several hundred in length until the total number of known combinations has grown to 831 to date. These have carefully been checked by our West Coast correspondent, W. H. Hopkinson, who has kindly devoted considerable time in verification of each item. As readers are aware, there have been forty-four center plates, and seventy-one border plates prepared for this issue, and, if we were to compute the total number of possible combinations on a purely mathematical basis, we would expect in time to have 3,124 different combinations. However, the problem is far from being as simple as that. For various reasons no such number of combinations exist, nor are they likely to. Later we hope to explain why certain combinations cannot exist, but at present must confine ourselves to just a list of the actual combinations. To print each individual combination would take too much space, so for the sake of brevity, where possible, we will group solid blocks and list single items. If you haven't made a chart showing possible combinations of this issue it is suggested that you do so and make your entries as chronicled below. Take a large size sheet of paper and place the seventy-one border numbers across the top and the forty-four center numbers along the left side. Rule between the numbers and you are ready for the check-off. The chart is naturally divided into three groups. Group I consists of the first twelve center plates in combination with all borders. Group II includes the next twelve center plates in combination with all borders, and group III covers the remaining twenty center plates also in combination with all borders, but only nine of which have had printings reported to date.

Group I

Border plates in combination with center plates 19545 to 19580, inc. All possible combinations of center plates in this group with border plates 19549 to 19605 have been reported with the exception of center plate 19580 with borders 592 and 605. This gives us a solid block of 250 combinations. The remaining items in this group are as follows (first two numerals omitted): center 545, border 614; center 547, borders 606-613-614-616; center 548, borders 606-613; center 573, borders 606-607-612-613-614-622-623-624 and 626 to 631 inclusive; center 574, borders 606-613-615-620-621-626-629-630; center 575, borders 606 to 614 inc., and 623 to 630 inc.; center 576, borders 606-607-612-613-614 and 622 to 629 inc.; center 577, border 606; center 578, border 606; center 579, borders 606-613-615-620-621.

Group II will appear in the next column. Meanwhile, readers having any combinations of this issue not included in the above are requested to send them in at once for chronicle.

J. H. Brackett informs me that he has a large block of the 2c 1922 imperforate with plate number 14334, which has not been mentioned in any list of imperforate numbers as far as he is aware.

F. B. BUFFHAM 927 Lake Ave., RACINE, WI

are unable to accept this kind offer. However, the subject is of considerable interest, and an article based upon Mr. Hawk's holdings, coupled with such additional notes as may be gleaned from column readers, would be of service to all. We will be pleased to receive notes on this subject, and perhaps, if interest warrants, something will be attempted. Certainly Mr. Hawk's offer is coöperation plus!

Our West Coast correspondent, W. W. Hopkinson, is slowly recovering from a recent illness, and during his convalescence his philatelic activities have been taken over by Mrs. Hopkinson, who is also "one of us," i.e., interested in Bureau issues, particularly the air mail field. Mrs. Hopkinson will keep us informed of anything new, and will report all new combinations on the air mail stamp, as usual. Which is also coöperation plus Since the publicity given to the "blue moons" in our columns recently, Mrs. Hopkinson writes that these have entirely disappeared from all local offices, "which have been stripped of all 'blue moons' it seems." Oh! OH! Someone has been reading our stuff! But why take all?

Readers in all sections of the country are urgently requested to report all plate numbers found on stamps of all issues at their local offices. Numbers will be chronicled in each appearance of the column, and will be of considerable assistance in checking items heretofore not reported. It frequently happens that printings from certain numbers remain undiscovered. Some may be rare, as perhaps very few exist and it is pertinent that information be published at the earliest opportunity, and while copies may be obtained. Please coöperate with us in this matter, which is of interest to all. Your name in the column will serve as acknowledgment of data received, as the editor cannot possibly answer all by mail. Thanks!!

We acknowledge with thanks, letters from Robert M. Storms, who kindly sends several air mail specimens for inspection; Rex L. Bell, who sends a box of used current plate number specimens; Mrs. W. W. Hopkinson and J. E. N. Paul, air mail notes; A. Wagner, John J. Spencer, Clarence E. Bell, Henry L. Parsons, and George Griffin, with notes on various subjects.

Thomas H. Hawk has kindly offered to send his entire collection of Harding plate number blocks for inspection. These blocks contain much that is of interest to the plate specialist, for, as Mr. Hawk remarks, "There are quite a few shifts in this issue and they will be found on many of the blocks in my collection." All of which shows the advantage of plate number specimens. At present we attention to the fact this heading, which I used immediately preceding his notes in a recent issue, is too broad and apt to be misleading, especially re the 1c 11 x 11. To quote further from Mr. Southgate: "11 x 11 waste sheets do exist on the 1917 issue, but I doubt if they do on the 1922 issue. The three cent don't I believe. This practice of using coil waste was discontinued several years ago, and now patching of coil rolls is resorted to to save waste. Some sheets at the start were cut into 100 panes and 70 panes. These were, I think, 1c 1917 issue, 170 subject coil 11 x 10 waste all right. The post office clerks did not like the 170 subj. sheets as they did not fit their stamp containers, but I guess there was trouble either with accounting, or maybe it was no convenience to have some 70 subj. panes kicking around so they gave it up. I never quite understood why they did not cut into 100's at once, but probably it would be an accounting difficulty. The presses count the number of sheets of 170, and it might mix things up to work them up into 100's."

OUR REVIEW

By C. A. Howes.

We have received the 34th edition for 1930 of the popular Yvert & Tellier-Champion French catalogue, which commands a ready sale among American collectors, particularly those who have a liking for the stamps of France and her numerous Colonies. It is in the usual handy "pocket size," but is rapidly outgrowing this term in thickness as the yearly flood of new issues requires the addition of many pages; yet the paper used seems to be as thin as the good quality required for showing up the cuts and preventing them from showing through on the other side will allow. The illustrations throughout are somewhat reduced in size, but are quite clear, and enlargements of various varieties are added to help the collector in identifying them. Many notes are also added for the collector's information.

The catalogue is the usual alphabetical arrangement for all countries, colonies included, except that foreign offices and departments or states follow the parent country; a table is given showing this grouping. All major varieties of stamps are given full numbers in the lists, and all minor varieties are sub-lettered in smaller type under the full numbers, so that those who wish to ignore the minor varieties can readily do so. Although the stamp cuts are reduced to three-quarters of the originals, the surcharges are all reproduced in full size, and varieties are enlarged to a size sufficient to show the differences clearly. The prices are of course in French francs, now stabilized at nearly 4 cents or 25½ to the dollar.

One feature that appeals to many is the inclusion of telegraph, telephone and "officially sealed" stamps in the lists, as well as the usual postage due, official, registered, air post, war tax, special delivery, parcel post, newspaper stamps and various others for special services. It is a good "all around" catalogue for the co lector, very handy, clearly printed ar readily understood by the English spea ing philatelist even though he knows b little French. Published by Yvert Tellier, 37 Rue des Jacobins, Amier France, and Th. Champion, 13 R Drouot, Paris, at 42 francs ($1.65 Ame ican).

We have received from the publishe of the Dutch magazine De Philatelist tv brochures (numbers 3 and 4) of a seri entitled "Dutch Philatelic Library," o on the "Life of Columbus on Posta Stamps," and the other on the "Lar Mail Stamps" of the Dutch East Indie The former contains twelve quarto pag of the story of Columbus' life as show by the various "Columbian issues" postage stamps issued during the perio of the four hundredth anniversary of h discoveries, illustrated by the stamps i sued by the various countries which co memorated the events in this manner.

The second contains seventeen pages text and illustrations covering the hi tory of the "land-mail" postage dues stamps for collecting the charges on ma matter carried by the inland postal se vice of the Dutch East Indies. The stamps are not listed in all catalogues, b "Scott" has always given them a pla and the present work would seem justify their standing.

A third brochure in similar form, b ing a reprint from De Philatelist, is nun ber one of a series of "Philately Story," the present one being the "Sto of Hawaii on its Postage Stamps." contains six folio pages of text illu trated by Hawaiian stamps as well as New South Wales and Niué, to sho Capt. Cook's portrait, and three Unite States stamps of the current issue show Cleveland's, Harrison's and M Kinley's portraits. It is a little disa pointing that the stamp cuts are not a half-tones, most of them being indiffe ently executed wood cuts apparentl such as used to adorn our former stan catalogues and albums. The only drav back from enjoyment of these attracti brochures is the slight knowledge th most of us have of the Dutch languag

The first two were published by L Philatelist, Post box 897, Rotterdar Holland. "Life of Columbus" at cents U. S., post free, and "Land Ma Stamps" at $1 U. S., post free. The la one (Hawaii) by De Haagsche Postzege handel, Noordeinde 90, The Hague, Ho land, at 50 cents Dutch, about 20 cen American.

NEW ARGENTINE SET

Buenos Aires, Sept. 26.

On Oct. 12 we have an annual holiday to celebrate the discovery of America. It is known locally as "Dia de la Raza," which means "Day of the Spanish Race." This year the Argentine postal authorities will commemorate the double event by the issue of a set of three stamps, 2c, 5c and 12c, to be printed by the Casa de Moneda, and to be placed on sale on the date above mentioned. Millions will be printed and the stamps will remain on sale until the supply is exhausted.

PHILATELY AND CONGRESS

By F. L. Coes.

Some time ago there was a decided effort made by the Officials of the Collectors Club of N. Y. to correct a tariff abuse, and Secretaries of the various Clubs were asked by those interested, to get their representatives in Washington to protest Paragraph 1671, Schedule 15 of the Tariff rules and free list, with the idea of correcting it for the benefit of the collecting and trade interests.

Pages 9339 and 9340 of the "Tariff readjustment—1929", Volume 15 (XV), Schedule 15, bear evidence to the fact that the Collectors Club of N. Y. thru Hon. John C. Ketcham of Michigan, was personally represented, and that one other Club, thru its representative, Hon. Geo. R. Stobbs of Worcester, Mass., had a letter read into the record.

It seems as if this fact ought to give the kicking members of some major and many minor societies interested, food for thought. Either, their acting Secretarial representatives did not see fit to take the trouble and time required to indite a letter to their Representative in Washington; or, the said Representative did not see anything in it for himself and just neglected to be "on the job" for his area.

Before we put it up to the gentlemen who go to Washington, why not take a census of the secretaries of the Clubs and find out just who omitted to do their duty, and who did it. Unanimity of effort will do many things. Just plain decency ought to cause the official entrusted with the interests of a Club to consider this and take time enough to comply with the request for action on anything as vital to collecting as this section of the Free List, and its administration.

Similarly, if these Secretaries did their duty (and can prove it) they have a good excuse for making political whoopee around the ears of their district representatives in Washington.

It is unreasonable to expect that the efforts of our esteemed co-worker from New Jersey can be directed always and successfully at the improvement of every ill considered ruling of the tariff and the other items that bear heavily on stamp collecting and interest. But it is unreasonable also to expect that anyone else will aid or be interested if we leave the Collectors Club, and the few Collector-Representatives to do all our work.

About this time we begin to look for motion against the "illustration" ruling. If this kind of coöperation is what has delayed that phase of sensible collecting aid, it is time we, as Society and Club members, got a few ACTING secretaries Yes? This free list publication has every ear mark of plain neglect by many Club Secretarial incumbents. Who suffers? What will the same push do to help the pictures?

Editorial

A FRIEND in Washington says that there has been a conference in that city between the Postmaster General and representatives of the air mail carrying interests that may foreshadow a change in air mail rates and perhaps in air mail stamps. At the same time, he says that nothing definite is to be said on the subject, as no results pointing to the possibility have yet been achieved. The Postmaster General is said to want an adjustment of rates that would make them uniform in the sense that the new scale could apply to all the air mail routes. Our correspondent adds that the new regular issue that has been announced as a certainty with the coming year is not to be considered "at this writing" as having developed to the degree that such a statement is justified.

FROM all indications, the first anniversary celebration of the Appleton Philatelic Society to be held at the Conway Hotel, Appleton, Wisconsin, will partake of the features of a convention of philatelists. There will be an exhibition in the lounge of the hotel, which will be open to all, and to which no admission will be charged; and in the evening the banquet will be held in the Crystal Room, at 7 P. M., with the secretary of the society, H. M. Brehm, acting as toastmaster. The date of the meeting is November 23, 1929, and invitations will be sent to many collectors residing in Wisconsin and adjacent states. The president of the Appleton Philatelic Society, which has done so much to place stamp collecting to the fore in its section, is Mr. M. F. Hatch.

A READER of the WEEKLY, Mr. B. LaCosta, who is traveling in Italy, says that the exhibition that opens at Turin on October 12th is attracting much attention, not alone from collectors, as he says, but from the public as well, in view of the fact that the Prince of Piedmont is the patron. His Royal Highness is the son of Queen Elena; and the Queen is known to be an advocate of collecting, and is said to have a good collection. The stamps of Italy and the Italian states will have the place of honor at the Turin exhibition, and some wonderful lots of these issues will be on view.

MR. SAUL NEWBURY has returned to Chicago, after having spent some months in Europe, and he remarks upon the general interest in philately that is manifested there. The work that we must attend to in this country is to so spread the idea of stamp collecting that it will penetrate to the farthest reaches; and the time here has never been so propitious as at present for the long pull and the strong pull.

* * *

DR. ELMORE G. STROM sends the following lively letter: "In order that the waiting world may no longer be kept in suspense, I am sending you particulars of my discovery by air mail." (Doc must be rich in money as well as in mind, as he uses a 15c air mail stamp, which we can sell for nearly fifteen cents.) "In W. Somerset Maugham's frankly pagan' work, 'Of Human Bondage,' the principal character, fatigued by his duties as a floor-walker in a London emporium, remains at night in his mean quarters, maintained by the proprietors of the store for the help, while his fellow robots seek the allurements of the street; and 'his companion on these occasions was Bell, the lad in the haberdashery, who stayed in often to arrange the stamps he collected. As he fastened them with little pieces of stamp paper he whistled monotonously.' Later in the book, 'the noisy lad of sixteen, whistling three notes' is again shown at his stamps, but it strikes us that the sentiment of the setting did not appeal to the writer, who, however, may have been unresponsive to the calliope effect instead of the philatelic ensemble. At any rate the whistling boy enjoyed a serenity of soul that was unknown to the other workers." The work that Dr. Strom mentions was published some lustrums ago and his discoveries may not be new, in consequence.

MANILA, Philippines, is airing a stamp scandal, in the newspaper press; and Mr. Ernest H. Oesch, Davao, Philippine Islands, has sent clippings from the Manila Bulletin, telling of the investigation of the irregularity involving stamps—but not stamp collectors. The charge is made that from 1924 to 1928, thefts of stamps have been committed by a number of postal officers. The inquiry has resulted in charges against four Manila post office chiefs and arrests are impending. The idea of a "perfect crime" seemed to have been in the minds of the culprits, and the few persons in possession of the combination of the safe in which the stamps are kept are under scrutiny. The theory is that quantities of the stamps that were stolen are still in the possession of the suspects. A loss of 217,800 pesos was sustained by the substitution of 2 centavos stamps for the 2 pesos denomination.

STAMP news has space in newspapers throughout the world, and we do not delude ourselves that the philatelic awakening is peculiar to our own country. The British colonies are to the fore in this respect, and Australia, Africa and Asia send forth through regular departments in some of their newspapers philatelic tidings that are readable and reliable for the edification of their readers. The "Stamp Topics" column of the South China Daily News, Hong Kong, and the items in the Straits Times of Singapore are good examples of this service; and American news is given its place in the summaries. That the world now knows of collecting is an observation that admits of no successful contradiction, and with this foundation the work of building up an interest in philately is facilitated.

MR. A. M. MOSS has sent us a list of cities that are on air routes, and it is a revelation of the growth of the service. The starting points and the terminals alone make a formidable table, and when the cities at which planes make stops to discharge and take on mail are included, the showing is impressive. Mr. Moss says that Air Transportation publishes complete time-tables monthly.

* * *

WE have received from Mr. N. S. Stark, a copy of a stamp, or rather two stamps, that is on an original document that is sightly. A thousand dollar bond of the Leavenworth, Lawrence & Galveston Railroad Company, dated July 1, 1869, bears the impressed one dollar internal revenue stamp impression in red, and right below it is that of the 25c impression in the same color. These printed impressions of stamped revenue paper embraced many varieties, in the Civil War period. We have not seen a specimen of this kind for many a day, and it recalls the time when interest was keen in this branch of collecting, and when there was a number of collectors of these varieties. Collectors who got a few of the stamped check varieties, for instance, became interested in the subject and pursued it, using the old Sterling catalog as their guide, and a few famous collections developed. Nowadays, one does not hear much of this off-shoot of collecting but who knows but that there will not be a swing of attention to the stamped revenue paper in days to come. We are glad to have the bond, and if there is some philatelic banker who would accept it as collateral for a loan, so much the better.

COLLECTING certainly has become complex. A reader takes us to task for speaking of "canalize" and "canalization" in connection with the new commemoratives, but, mister, some other fellow started it—his name was Uncle Sam. Another reader of æsthetic tastes says that he wants old covers that bear beautiful hand-writing on them; and we do not know whether it is calligraphy or philately that has the upper hand with him.

First covers from the new FAM 5 and 6 extensions have been coming in this week. Cancellations noted so far: "Castries, St. Lucia, 1st Air Mail", regular circular cancellation form; St. Kitts, regular cancellation, plus 2 line black cachet "Air Mail—First Flight"; British Guiana, rest of postmark undecipherable, box cachet "British Guiana by Air Mail"; Port of Spain, Trinidad, regular postmark, plus red and white label "By Air Mail—Par Avion"; Saint Thomas, U. S. V. I. —no cachet on covers received as yet, though announced that there would be; Paramaribo, Suriname—purple circular cachet, wording in border, map in center. Lloyd Flickinger reports a registered cover from Trinidad, no cancellation on stamps, or starting postmark of any kind, but backstamped Miami and Jacksonville, Sept. 30. Report has it that many of the intermediate point to point items are very short, some as few as 60, and we'll probably see some good prices asked —and paid—for the complete set.

Don't believe we've mentioned the Newfoundland "Bluenose" flight. Mail was sent from St. John's to Harbor Grace by truck, there put aboard the plane "Bluenose", and flown to North Sidney, arriving 3 hours after departure. Official flight, reported about 1,000 carried, of which only about 100 were backstamped.From Stamp Collecting we take the following figures for Zeppelin mail from Japan: For Los Angeles—859 cards, 1,124 letters; for Lakehurst—1,014 cards, 1,170 letters; for Germany—747 cards, 541 letters—a total of 5,455 pieces, of which 300 were from Yokohama Post Office, 100 from Osaka, and a few from Shizuoka, Karuizawa, and Nikko. Balance were from Tokio.

Addition of St. Joseph, Mo., to CAM 28, Oct. 1st, with same cachet as first flight on this route. At the same time, night flying as a second daily service started on the route. Wonder how many thought to get first day and first night flights from here. Omaha, St. Louis, and Kansas City all used cachets for 1st night flight, provided by contractors and Chambers of Commerce. Through some slip-up, some of the Kansas City covers missed the cachets, which may be obtained if you'll send the covers, accompanied by proper return envelope, to Leo L. Ross, 1900 Chelsea Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Postal Bulletin of Sept. 28, announced that about Oct. 15, the Alaskan Airways, Inc., would make a special flight from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Flat, via McGrath, Takotna, Ophir, and Iditarod; and to Circle, via Beaver and Fort Yukon, and return. Hurried a few covers off—don't know whether I'll get anything or not. First Air Express service over CAM 27 brought forth an unusually attractive cachet by the Thompson Aeronautical Co., contractors. The Standard Airpost Catalogue

(Formerly "The American Airmail Catalogue")

This edition is many times the size of previous editions, for it includes Airpost stamps and covers of the entire world to date. It will be printed on a fine grade of paper, pocket size, attractively bound, and is unquestionably the finest Airpost Catalogue ever put on the market. It is the result of four years experience and study, for a catalogue—worthy of the name—cannot be produced in a day.

Our staff, aided by contributing experts from all parts of the world, has been at work on this World Edition since November, 1928, and it is a catalogue worthy of any Hobby. It is profusely illustrated from cover to cover. [H2

New Uruguay Air Mail

By Percy C. Smith.

We illustrate the new type of air mail stamps for Uruguay. The familiar legendary horse Pegasus becomes smybolical of the flying post. Whether our modern method of air mail transportation is quite as fast as the speed recorded in ancient legend to this noted horse is something to be determined, but the old story relates that Pegasus sprang fully fledged from the blood of Medusa, the Gorgon, when she was slain by Perseus. He is supposed to have flown heavenward and joined the select company of immortals, the God Zeus making him his messenger to carry the thunder and lightning. The stamp is a very attractive one and is a welcome departure from the usual type picturing the aeroplane as a central figure. As previously noted in the new issues department the series contain twelve values from 8c to 4P50c, and are perf. 12½ on unwatermarked paper.

Junior Dictionary

I. E. F.—An overprint applied to many of the King George stamps of India since 1913, for use on the mail of the British Indian troops wherever situated. The letters stand for "Indian Expeditionary Force."

I.E.F. "D".—These letters together with the word "Postage" were overprinted on certain Turkish fiscal stamps in 1919 for provisional use in the town and division of Mosul, Mesopotamia. The letters represent "India Expeditionary Force, Troop D."

I Gildi.—An overprint applied to certain stamps of Iceland used during the years 1902 and 1903. Its literal meaning is "in validity," and it refers to the fact that the stamps so overprinted could only be used for the defrayment of postal charges during the years named above.

Imperforate.—A philatelic term applied to those stamps issued without perforation or rouletting of any sort. In general use it is usually contracted to "imperf."

Imperforated.—The term "imperforated" is an ungrammatical form.

Imperial Crown Wmk. — The name given to the type of Crown watermark shown in the paper of most of the British stamps issued from 1880 until 1911.

Impresos.—An inscription shown on several of the stamps for Cuba and the Philippines issued during Spanish dominion for use on printed matter. The word means, literally, "prints."

Impressed Watermarks.—These are watermarks produced, not while the paper is in the form of pulp during the process of manufacture, but by applying suitable dies under great pressure to the finished product of the paper mills. The stamps of Switzerland, issued during the period 1862-1904, will furnish excellent examples of impressed watermarks.

Imprime (or "Imprimes"). — An overprint meaning literally "printed" (also its plural), applied to various stamps of Turkey intended for use on newspapers and other printed matter.

Impuesto de Guerra. — An inscription, meaning "Impost of War," or "War tax," shown upon the war tax stamps of Spain, and also overprinted upon some of the stamps of Porto Rico.

Study Your Stamps

M. Q. E.—These letters overprinted on certain French Colonial stamps signify they were intended for use in Martinique.

Multiple Watermark. — A multiple watermark is a repetition of the same design, so arranged that several portions of the design show on a stamp in place of one complete design (single watermark).

Napoletana.—Naples. (See under "Two Sicilies" in Scott's catalogue.)

N. C. E.—These letters overprinted on French Colonial stamps indicate they were intended for use in New Caledonia.

Nederland.—Netherlands (Holland).

Ned. Indie (or Nederlandsch-Indie). —Dutch Indies.

Nieuwe Republiek, Zuid-Afrika.—New Republic, South Africa.

Nlle Caledonie.—New Caledonia.

Norddeutscher Postbezirk. — North German Postal District. These stamps were used just prior to those for the German Empire.

Norge.—Norway.

Nouvelle Caledonie.—New Caledonia.

Ships on Stamps

By Max Schachter.

Let us take our album and sail the seas with our philatelic ships. First we come to China with a Chinese junk pictured on a stamp issued in 1913, which is quite common. Many people live and die on these boats, never setting foot on dry land. Malta, a British possession in the Eastern Mediterranean, presents us with a stamp showing Valetta Harbor with various ships. The Danish West Indies in an issue in 1905 pictures a sailing vessel. These islands were bought in 1917 by the United States to serve as a protecting base to the Panama Canal. Cuba, in its first issue as a republic portrays a steamship on the 5 centavos. The Hudson-Fulton commemorative in 1909 shows Robert Fulton's "Clermont". All of us know the most valuable stamp in the world, the black British Guiana, is a ship stamp. Come let us take the steamship pictured on the 10c stamps of the Pan-American issue and sail home.

Bits of Information

Single C A.—A watermarked device consisting of a Crown over the letters C A found in connection with many British colonial stamps. It is so-called to distinguish it from a similar device, much used of recent years, in which parts of more than one crown and the letters are shown on one stamp, this latter being known as "Multiple C A."

Single-Line Machine.—This is the style of perforating machine which makes only one row of holes at a time.

Se-Tenant. — (French "joined together.")—Used in speaking of a pair of stamps of different values or of different design, or with different types of surcharge, etc. The 5c red error of the United States in a pair with the normal 2c will serve as an example.

THE DAWN OF THE CLASSICS OF PHILATELY was ushered in with the modest little imperfs. of the first issues.

Great Britain 1840 penny black, Spain 1850 6 centavos black, France 1849 10 centimes bistre and others which, even today, are inexpensive. In the older issues of Europe we have a particularly good assortment and would gladly welcome correspondence with serious collectors of philately's classics.

WHEN ordering stamps write "As per advt. in MEKEEL'S"

THE MOUNTING OF STAMPS

By Arthur Knapp.

Many collectors find the mounting of stamps in loose-leaf albums very tedious, particularly if they undertake the further improvement of such pages by drawing ink borders around stamps or groups. The obvious use for the faint quadrille, found on most loose-leaf sheets, is to assist in aligning and grouping.

The writer is using plain white sheets in place of the quadrille sheets and has no difficulty in aligning and grouping. This is accomplished by means of a special mounting board. This board, which is exactly the size of the loose-leaf sheet, has a frame around it which is one-quarter of an inch higher than the surface of the board. The arrangement is done, not with the stamps to be mounted, but with bits of heavy cardboard cut to standard stamp sizes. It will be found that ninety per cent. of the stamps handled will all be of a few standard sizes for which bits of cardboard may be kept and used repeatedly.

The procedure is to place the cardboard stamps in the arrangement desired and then to do the necessary ruling with these still in place, thus doing away with the use of dots or guide lines. Another very great advantage of the board is that lines may be drawn in both directions without waiting for the ink to dry, since the ruler is held off of the paper by the frame. A small T-square should be made to be used with the board. It will insure that all lines are parallel and that the arrangement sets square on the page. With the T-square, it becomes an easy matter to rule borders around the page and to block out lettering.

The writer has been using a new method of mounting which will, at first thought, appear very crude. It is suggested, however, that the reader think the matter over and then try it out. Three years ago, the writer mounted a large number of stamps by sticking them in an album with pure rubber dissolved in benzine. From time to time these stamps have been examined and no deterioration has been found in either the stamps or the rubber. They may be instantly removed by applying a drop of benzine. In this manner uncancelled stamps may be mounted and unmounted without any effect upon the gum. You cannot tell by examining the gum that the stamp has ever been in an album. The writer is now mounting no stamps with hinges. Ordinary stamps are stuck in the albums with rubber. Valuable specimens are put into Cellophane envelopes and the envelopes stuck into place.

Some chemist-collector may be able to improve on rubber. It is certain that any sort of mounting which has to be "licked" is not the thing to use, particularly on unused stamps.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) LEXINGTON, MASS.

Scarce Commemoratives

In 1925, the Bureau was asked to submit sketches to the Department of stamps to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the first landing of a considerable number of Norwegian immigrants. In doing so, the Bureau made photographs of the Viking ship, which was on exhibit at the Columbus Exhibition in Chicago in 1893, as well as a photograph of the ship which brought over the Norwegian settlers. These were reduced to the exact size of the center of a stamp and borders in colors were painted around them. This saved time rather than sketching the ships, but resulted in designs being submitted to the Postmaster General showing a black photograph in the center with colored borders. The two colors immediately appealed to Mr. New, and as a result, he suggested bi-colored stamps. It is for this reason that the Norse-Americans were printed in two colors, instead of one, as had been intended.

As the process of two color flat bed printing is much in excess of ordinary costs, the issue was small, so that in the case of the 5c less than a million were printed and distributed.

Most of these were sent to Minnesota and other northwestern states with heavy Norwegian population and were promptly used up on mail to Norway.

The stamp has been popular since its issue and many collectors not only seek singles and blocks, both used and unused, but some even desire sheets as well. The complete sheets, of course, show the two plate numbers, the four arrows, the initials of those who transferred the sheets, in addition to the center line block.

I offer these most interesting stamps on the following basis:

2c RED & BLACK, No. 620

Single, Mint .....$ .12
Block, Mint ..... .60
Sheet, Mint 15.00
Arrow Block, Mint 1.00

The above prices are for well-centered copies with full gum in the case of unused stamps and lightly cancelled in the case of the used items.

If you are looking for anything else in the way of United States issues, either early or late in blocks or singles, your want list is solicited.

Am always in the market to purchase at highest cash prices anything line in the way of United States issues, including postage and revenues, Postmasters, Carriers, Departments, Locals and Confederates.

LUDER-EDELMANN CATALOG

One marvels at the enterprise displayed by some of the auction dealers of Europe. The firm of Luder-Edelmann & Co. of Zurich, Switzerland, is one of the number. This firm has been advertising a seven days sale beginning Nov. 4, and catalogs are now at hand describing the contents of the sale which consist of no fewer than 5,232 lots. It is impossible for us to note the many fine contributions to this sale. In addition to the regular catalog of 172 pages, there is an additional booklet of 82 pages of half-tone plates, showing the many choice things. Particularly fine are the block and strips of Greece, found on no fewer than 24 pages. Any auction buyer will do well to be placed upon the mailing list of this firm.

Bureau Plate Numbers

Through the courtesy of Mr. A. W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, we are enabled to bring our list of plate numbers up to and including those issued October 4, 1929. The list includes all of the four hundred subject plates made for the recently issued Fallen Timbers variety, in addition to the plates to be used for producing the Ohio River Canalization stamp. The other plates are of the 2c regular issue of the rotary type, for coils, booklets and sheets.

30c Foreign Exchange, Imperforate

There has recently been found on the west coast a magnificent horizontal strip of twelve of the 30c Foreign Exchange in imperforate condition. This is believed to be the largest piece known, as those who are posted upon the subject state that the variety has only been found in pairs and strips of three heretofore. A beautiful block of four with margins on four sides was also located in the same lot.

Philippines

The Associated Press under Manila, October 2nd, headline, announces a further large theft has just been discovered at the Bureau of Posts at Manila, bringing the robberies to approximately $187,000. The new disclosure finds a loss of 157,000 of the one peso denomination for which two centavo stamps had been substituted. No announcement is made that the peso stamp has been rendered invalid for postage, as was the case with the two peso when the loss was discovered. This is, no doubt, Scott's No. 300, issue of 1917 to 1929, unwatermarked and perforated 11.

The clipping states that Flore Reyes, former head of the stamp divi is now facing trial relative to the It is not stated whether Reyes was pected of being involved in the l shortage.

Jose Tampico, Director of Posts, was attending the London Unive Postal Conference when the irregular were first uncovered, returned rece to deny responsibility or any knowl of property losses. A present disp states that he is attempting to shift responsibility to Juan Ruiz, the Ac Director. Tampico has been grante leave of absence during the investiga of the Bureau's condition.

SOME SOUTH SEA DESIGNS

By A. L. CHAPPELL.

Among the more popular stamps of the South Seas are the pictorial labels which were issued for Rarotonga, Aitutaki, Niue, and Penrhyn Island in 1920. There are six denominations in that series, and the designs are common to the four islands, only the colours of the stamps and, of course, the names inscribed on them differing in the four sets. Five of the designs are scenic, but not appropriate to all four islands. The other design is a portrait of that great discoverer, Captain James Cook. Now Cook discovered most of the islands in the group which bears his name, but only one of the islands whose names appear on the stamps we are discussing. Still, Cook's portrait should be among the designs. As we shall see, there are worse anachronisms in this series.

The Cook Islands consist of Rarotonga, Mangaia, Atiu, Mauke, Mitiaro, Aitutaki, Takutea, Manuae and Te Au-o-Tu (Hervey). Aitutaki, the most northerly of them, is in 18 degrees 54 minutes south latitude and 159 degrees 41 minutes west longitude. Mangaia, the most southerly, is in 21 degrees 57 minutes south latitude and 157 degrees 7 minutes west longitude. Rarotonga, the principal and most beautiful of them, is also the most westerly, being in 160 degrees west longitude; its latitude is 21 degrees 20 minutes south. It is quite easy for a navigator to sail through the group and see only one island. Captain Cook discovered Manuae and Te Au-o-Tu, two islands within one reef, in his second voyage to the South Seas, and named them the Hervey Isles, in honour of Captain Hervey, R.N. (afterwards Earl of Bristol), who then was the First Lord of the Admiralty. In 1777, in his third voyage, Cook discovered Mangaia (where he could not find a safe anchorage, and so did not land), Atiu, and Takutea (at neither of which he landed himself). Rarotonga was not known to Cook; the discovery of it, so far as Europeans are concerned, was recorded by the great missionary, John Williams, in 1822. Aitutaki had been discovered by Captain William Bligh in 1789, a few days before the mutiny on the Bounty. Several writers have said that Cook discovered Aitutaki, but perhaps they have been misled by Cook's spelling (Otakootaia) of the native name for Takutea, the "O" being only a vocative. Mauke and Mitiaro were not found until missionary days.

The solitary island of Niue (the Savage Island of Cook) lies a long way from the Cook Group, in 170 degrees west longitude and 19 degrees south latitude, and has no geographical connection with that group, but, like the Cook Islands, it is a dependency of New Zealand. Penrhyn Island, or Tongareva, is even a greater distance from the Cook Islands, in another direction. It is in latitude 9 degrees 6 minutes south, and longitude 158 degrees 2 minutes west. Associated with it as dependencies of New Zealand are the islands of Manihiki and Rakahanga. Penrhyn Island, Manihiki and Rakahanga were not discovered until the first quarter of the nineteenth century had almost passed.

It is reasonable that separate accounts should be kept, and separate issues of stamps made, for Niue and for Penrhyn Island, but it is not easy to understand why stamps of the Cook Islands should not be used for Aitutaki, since the island is a part of the group. Even more difficult to understand is the action that was taken in 1919, when the general issues for the Cook Islands gave place to New Zealand stamps overprinted "Rarotonga," these being followed in 1920 by the pictorial stamps labelled "Rarotonga." So several islands in one group use stamps bearing the name of only one of them, and another, Aitutaki, has an issue all to itself. Collectors in New Zealand are not aware of any good reason why the stamps for all but one of the Cook Islands bear the name of Rarotonga. The fact that it is the principal island is not enough.

To some extent the distribution of subjects in the designs for these pictorial stamps seems fair enough. Aitutaki is represented by its wharf; Mitiaro by a picture of native dwellings of the type to which I referred in my earlier article; and Rarotonga by the harbour at Avarua, its principal settlement. Presumably the palm tree on the 3d stamp is to be taken to represent Penrhyn Island, but of this more anon. Captain Cook, whose portrait—a reproduction from the famous painting by N. Dance, R.A.—appears on the 1½d stamp, certainly should be included in these designs, for, though he discovered only one of the four islands which are named on the stamps themselves, he did more than any other man in the discovery of the islands of the great South Seas. It would certainly have been more appropriate, though, if one of these four sets of stamps had been inscribed "Cook Islands."

There remain in this set of designs of the 1920 series, two pictures to be "placed," these being on the halfpenny and 3d stamps. And here we come to a very curious fact. So far as can be ascertained, both of these designs have been adapted from views of another island very far removed from any of those for which the stamps were issued. I am informed that no records of the originals of these two designs were attached to the New Zealand Government's official collection of stamps of the Dominion and its dependencies until some notes were forwarded to the official in charge by a friend who had just been visiting me. While this friend was inspecting my collection of books about the South Seas I drew his attention to a series of beautiful photographs taken by Colonel Stuart-Wortley in Tahiti about 1880. Colonel Stuart-Wortley's important work in photography—references to it are made in the articles on photography in the Encyclopædia Britannica and Chamber's Encyclopædia—had included the preparation of gelatine plates by a process devised by him specially to resist the effects of tropical heat. His photographs of scenes in Tahiti are still among the finest ever taken in any of the South Sea Islands. Thirty-one of them were reproduced in a book entitled Tahiti, the letterpress for which was written by Lady Brassey, and which was published in London in 1882. If any reader of this article has a copy of that book, and turns to the picture facing page 60 of it, he will find the original of the coco-nut palm which is presented on the 3d value of the stamps I am discussing. Some people might remark that one coco-nut palm is very like another, but photographic studies of individual palms do show unexpected diversity. In any case, there can be little doubt, from a comparison of Colonel Stuart-Wortley's photograph with the stamp, of what the engraver of the die for the stamp has worked from. Only a little alteration has been made in the background of the design.

This belief about the source of that design is strengthened when we consider the halfpenny stamp, which is supposed to illustrate the landing of Captain Cook. Here there is decidedly an anachronism, quite apart from the fact that Niue is the only one of the islands for which these particular stamps have been issued which can offer any justification for the design. Cook did not land on any of the islands in the group which bears his name. When Cook discovered Niue, on June 20, 1774, in his second voyage to the South Seas, he did land there. "We landed with ease in a small creek," he wrote in his journal, "and displayed our colours. I took two men, and with them entered a kind of chasm, which opened a way into the woods." As a matter of fact, two boats put off from the Resolution to the shore, to the northwest side of the island, but, no natives being seen there, Cook rowed southward to the rift in the cliff that he mentions, at a spot called Tuapa. Neither his own account nor the native tradition suggests that he took more than two men with him when, finding a passage through the jagged grey cliffs of the island—for Niue is of coral formation upraised in several stages—he went inland to try to establish friendly relations with the natives. Unfortunately, the natives, afraid of disease being introduced by the strangers, came at him and his men "with the ferocity of wild boars," and after a dart had just missed Cook himself, and his men had had to fire their muskets in the air to discourage the Niueans, the great navigator retreated. His reception caused him to give the island a name which the natives, really pleasant fellows, have regretted ever since they first heard of it.

In none of its essentials does the design which appears on the halfpenny stamp agree with the historical facts. Even Cook's ship is shown at anchorage near the shore when, as a matter of cold fact, ships have to anchor outside the reef. One may doubt whether any coconut palms grew on Niue in Cook's day, although several are shown on the stamp. Coco-nuts were scarce in Niue even in the '50's of last century. Later they were introduced from Samoa to form the basis of the prolific plantations of the present day. Indeed, this design is so different from the reality of Cook's landing that one wonders whether it is really intended to represent Niue. Perhaps whoever was responsible for the design had the erroneous idea that Cook landed on one of the Cook Islands, and intended the stamp to represent that.

Tracing the origins of the designs of some stamps certainly is a fascinating pursuit, yielding some curious results!

A CHART OF UNITED STATES ISSUES 1908-21, NOS. 331 TO 55

By W. D. PIERSON, Waterbury, Conn.

I have found this chart very useful as a quick means of differentiating these issues of 1908 to 1921 as to perfor tions, watermarks, printings, etc. My friends have also considered it a help, which leads me to believe your reade would care to use it. I do not claim any great originality for the arrangement, as some years ago Mr. E. B. Pow had a somewhat similar scheme on a portion of the list, but such did not give catalog numbers. It offers a suggesti as to other issues, such as the Bank Note series 1870-82 where the same design occurs in the different printings. using the above chart it is wise to first segregate by perforations, then by watermarks. This is the reverse of catal listing, but I have found it preferable.

Before I leave this subject of stamps of New Zealand dependencies, may I refer to the oft-made complaint that New Zealand has issued stamps for islands where there are few white men? The critics on this point have overlooked the fact that nowadays, and for years past, most Polynesians can read and write, and that many of them serve abroad for a time, on ships or in other islands than their own. Even over 60 years ago naval officers noted the proficiency of the people of Niue Island, for instance, in reading and writing. Missionaries and, later, Government schools have done a great deal in this way.—Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

SLIP-BRANDINGS

By Edwin B. Hill, Ysleta, Texas.

At the last moment Jimmy O' discovered there were a few loose ends relating to his work which needed gathering up, so he decided to take the train out a day later.

"You ride in Monaco, there," said Bill, waving his hand toward the Pullman. "Mebbe you'll meet up with a c'lecter."

It was to be a gay trip to Three-Bar-X, —through mountain passes and over plains, and then to what is known as "the range,"—that stretch of rough and rolling land in the Four Peaks country.

On the canyon's rim the last day!

"Before we hit the trail, Bill, we'll give Lizzie a square and a drink. She'll need 'em."

"Yeah; an' I want t' tell that hound at the fillin' station what I don't think of him, treatin' flivverites like dirt, but takin' their money, an' eatin' dirt when it comes to Rolls-Royces. I see him do it to my friends all o' two years I been here."

I grinned, feeling that way myself, only more so.

We stopped. The guardian of the gas tank took us in. His nose elevated. On leaden feet he came to our rescue. When his glance rested upon the hostile Bill, he looked slightly perturbed.

"Gas—and oil—and water—and air!" Bill's voice rasped. "Air first!"

The keeper of the tank started to reply. He didn't feed 'em air. That was your job. Bill vaulted out of the car.

"The seal's off it. Get busy."

The seal, by the way, is placed on all artillery by the ranger before one is allowed to enter the reserve.

The tank man grudgingly obeyed. But he sure was busy. I paid him.

"Give 'im an extra two-bits fer his mad haste," said Bill, with a grin. "I ain't got the change."

We started.

"Hold on a minute!" said Bill. "I clean fergot to kiss 'im good-bye!"

I stopped. Bill again vaulted out. A Packard had rolled into our recently vacated place. The man at the wheel had heard Bill. He knew him. He was smiling and chuckling.

"Bill, you sure have nerve! Why, he never did as much for me!"

Bill grinned. "Ner fer me—an' never again. That hombre maybe knows one thing more'n he did afore: he knows there's times when the worm turns—an' he's the worm."

The tanker stayed in his cell until we had made a clean getaway. Then he came out and glared. Bill blew a kiss. The Packard man haw-hawed. The expressive back of the tanker turned toward us.

"Feeling better, Bill?" I asked.

Bill chuckled. "Yeah,—some; but I'd feel a heap better if they'd been a little gun-play. Thought he was goin' t' reach fer his artillery when he started in his cell. Any way, I wanted to wound his amour propre—an' I did that same."

I looked at Bill.

"Yeah," said Bill, replying to an unasked question, "I got that out-a a book."

Then he burst into song,—his rich untrained baritone echoing among the pines.

And then to Maine.

"Here's the whitest outfit in Arizony," said Bill. "Looks right after yuh—an' no tips. Kid here never fergits, neither. Listen now."

"Hello, Bill! Going out?"

"Yeah," said Bill. "Friend o' mine goin' down the valley."

"Yes. You were here two years ago, sir—same car, too."

I confessed.

"Still collecting?"

I turned to Bill. That worthy grinned.

"Oh, Tom is one of us. Yuh see, he reads the Weekly, an' he's got a sure fine bunch. B. N. A.'s. I told him one time about you-all."

The tourist trade being momentarily slack, Tom invited us over to his shack. He had a pair of blank albums with a fine lot of Canadas—a few pairs, and, what interested me, registration cancellations. Then Newfoundland, with many of the scarcer stamps, and New Brunswick well represented with the three-pence red, in shades, and a single copy of the six pence yellow. Nova Scotia three pence blue, three copies in shades, one copy of the one penny red, and the cents issue complete. Prince Edward Island was complete except the first issue.

"Tom ain't c'lectin' holes in the paper—jest stamps," declared Bill.

"Those first issues are hard to get, Bill. I'd collect them if I could get them."

"Me—I ain't strong on them holes—except when it's fer specialization."

Bill would surprise one now and then by use of words which presumably were outside his vocabulary.

We looked our fill. Tom was silently observant. I thanked him for his courtesies and we were again on the way.

Maine to Flagstaff, then toward Pine and Payson,—the road home! At a conveniently retired spot we drew aside, had supper, and camped for the night. Breakfast, and on the way.

"I know a chap down here a-ways," said Bill, as we were reeling off the miles, "used t' c'lect. Cattleman. But, by heck! some misplaced brands nacherly ended him up in Florence. Two years. Must be out pretty soon, now."

We swept down Strawberry canyon, the tops of the tall pines far below us, into Pine. More gas and oil and water. Bill talked with the man at the filling station, when I got out to look at a tame coyote tethered to a wire line.

"Hank's time 's up next week. It's sure a shame. Why, seems like they'll never let 'im alone. Tells me them slip-brands wa'n't burned by Hank a-tall. Course they wa'n't. Chap had it in fer Hank. Seems like the jury didn't b'leeve Hank. I do."

Bill was silent for a space. Then he began to chuckle.

"I got it. You and me—we camp down here three-four mile three-four days. Cliff dwellin's yuh orter see. I'll kind-a help Hank's sister with the steers. Rodeo's this week."

Now there are just three things I'd walk thirteen miles up to my neck in snow to see — books, — stamps, — cliff-dwellings.

"Speakin' o' Hank,—what d'yuh think he c'lects? Afghanistan! He's what yuh might call an expert on 'em. Yes, sir. Funniest thing! I seen a page of 'em, an' I busts loose, Hank bein' what you-all call a 'purist.' 'Why pieces gone from 'em, Hank? No fine ones?' I asks. Hank, he says they cancels early issues by tearin' off a corner of the stamp. I thinks Hank was spoofing until I see a piece in the WEEKLY whaich same backs him up."

Bill grinned at me as we drew near a neat ranche-house. A young woman stood at the door. Bill waved to her. We drove perhaps half a mile further, up a draw, off the highway, and made camp. Bill proceeded to get supper, as I searched out the dead wood. When the meal was ended, and the beds made, Bill piled green stuff on the coals, and the smoke rose. Bill began to smother and free it with a blanket. Indian signals! I had read of it, but never had it been done in my sight before. Bill soon put out the fire by throwing sand upon it in true western fashion. At dusk I heard a coyote bark. Bill's answer was the hooting of an owl. Then he got up, and the darkness enfolded him. Perhaps half an hour later he returned.

"I got a little work t' do next two-three days. You-all find the cliff-dwellings right up the canyon one-two miles."

When I arose at daybreak, Bill was gone. Breakfast, however, awaited me. I found the cliff-dwellings, and, weary, returned to camp late in the afternoon. Bill had supper ready. We ate in silence. Next day and the day after I explored these relics of a forgotten people. Returning early in the afternoon of the third day, I found the flivver packed and ready to go. Bill blew a cloud of smoke from his ever present cigarette.

"Sorry t' keep yuh waitin'—but them there cliff dwellin's sure are entertainin' things. I knowed you an' me 'd enjoy 'em!"

I looked at Bill apprehensively. He grinned and chuckled.

"Speed 'er up a little?"

I felt Lizzie's response.

"Mind if we run all night?"

And so we drove through the mountains in the dark,—through Payson and past Roosevelt dam, along Lewis and Pranty creek, climbed Fish creek hill, on through the mountains past Superstition cliffs. Moonlight on the peaks, and shadows in the canyons. The far-off howl of a coyote,—the distant scream of a mountain lion. As we slowed down on a grade, the headlights picked up a diamond-back crossing the sandy road.

"Let 'im live," said Bill. "The Indians hold 'im sacred. Besides, we aint lost no di'mon'-back,—not tonight, anyways."

"Here," said Bill, as daylight found us near a mesquite thicket. We drove behind its shelter and ate a hastily prepared breakfast.

"Nice weather we're havin'," said Bill.

"Fine," I agreed.

There was more silence.

"Ole Timer, it's this way. I sure drug yuh inter it. Hank's a friend o' mine. That bunch o' coyotes framed 'im. They wanted t' drive 'im out. They slip-branded mavericks an' calves Hank never claimed. At the round-up they got 'im. There was them brands. The judge give 'im two years. Now I know Hank. I rode range with 'im. He's square. He sticks. So, when we come past the house his sister knows we ain't goin' t' pass 'er up that-a-way, me bein' an old friend. She watches. That's what-all that there smoke's for. An' that there coyote. An' that owl.

"Three days I ride the range, brandin' ever'thing I see—slip-brandin', mainly,—an' changin' brands an' raisin' th' hellinest kind o' hell with them there cattle. Hank's sister lends me the horse an' helps. We changes the shoes, nacherly, and then I changes 'em back. No trail, there. By heck! We got them there shoes right here in this war-bag!"

"Might keep them for pitching quoits when we are in the penitentiary, Bill," I suggested, affably.

Bill looked at me round-eyed.

"No, sir. We take them there shoes an' we drop 'em down a ole minin' shaft here-a-bouts."

Bill dived into his war-bag, rescued the evidence, and disappeared. I breathed more freely when he returned.

"But that other alibi is sure the finest yuh ever see. Hank in Florence till the rodeo's over, an' all this devilment done before he's out. Every cattleman an' cowboy on the range is suspicious now,—looks cross-eyed at his neighbors, suspectin' 'em. Yes, sir. They'll sure be madder 'n a cow on the peck!"

I whistled. Then the humor of it struck me. Hank was safe. But how about the men who railroaded him?

"Oh, yes!" Bill broke in. "I 'most fergot. Them there twelve men an' true, bein' that there jury, an' that there judge —well, seems t' me when they look them mavericks and calves over they'll do a heap o' wrong thinkin'. Anyhow, I'd hate t' be around when they get t' suspicionin'."

Bill slapped his leg.

"Yes, sir; I sure changed about forty o' them brands — Monkey-Wrench I worked over, an' Lazy-H I put a nice circle on after I made it somethin' else, an' I added a bar here an' a bar there, till their own ma's won't recognize 'em. Oh, yes! An' last of all on one of the Judge's pet blooded bulls I fixes a r souvenir. It was the brand of that th jury foreman what railroads Hank."

Bill rolled a cigarette, and poiso the neighboring air while I visuali troubles to come.

"I take it right kind o' Hank,—c'lec stamps. Mebbe he told 'em about it Florence. It'll take their minds off ot griefs. An' them there cliff-dwellin's Hank's sister was sure thoughtful, kee yuh busy archaeologing."

I thought to break into the conver tional monologue, but Bill anticipated

"Yeah. When we git t' Three-Bar we'll begin t' hear the bellerin' o' the c tle an' smell the dust. Later on Hank' sellin' out an' comin' too. I tell y what, Ole Timer, we're the safest the further Lizzie packs us out o' t there pine-tree country."

To which pronunciamento I ferven agreed as I spurred the flivver to renew activities.

A NOTABLE TRIBUTE TO ONE OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST PHILATELISTS

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Whenever we speak of the world's leading collectors of postage stamps, no matter where the discussion might take place, Mr. Alfred F. Lichtenstein, of New York, is bound to be among those mentioned. We have many important collectors who simply get together wonderful collections for their own pleasure alone, but fortunately, Mr. Lichtenstein does not fall into this class. His philatelic treasures, and they are numerous, as well as valuable, are available at all times for any exhibition or club where their showing might aid philately. It is this type of collector who is doing so much to show others the pleasures to be derived in the collecting of the little evasive pieces of paper.

The activities of this collector date from the time he was six years old. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and attended the schools in that city. His interests have never ceased, having been actively continued even while in attendance at the University of Berlin. While he has been known for many years as a collector, he came into prominence in 1917, at which time, he acquired the famous Worthington collection, the finest collection of stamps then in existence in America. Mr. Lichtenstein retained several important sections of this collection, thus forming a nucleus for his holdings of today. The balance of the collection, it will be recalled, was sold by the Morgenthau Company. Since then, he has acquired the Argentierre collection, said to be second only to the Ferrari lot; has purchased several of the foremost collections of South America, as well as important individual collections of certain countries in which he is interested.

In forming these several collections, it has always been the owner's desire to acquire the finest things insofar as condition and rarity is concerned that the market offers, and one viewing any of his specialized lots will appreciate that he has been wonderfully successful. He holds today, what is without doubt, the finest lot of British North America in existence. This includes Canada, British Columbia, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Islands. The rarities of all of these several colonies and dominions are present. Possibly the finest individual item among this group is a magnificent mint vertical pair of the British Columbia 5c imperforate—a unique piece. Many of the other varieties are present in large blocks and even sheets. Among the Canadian items are to be found upward of thirty copies of the famous 12 pence black alone, including three unused and three used pairs.

If all of the others in existence were gotten together they would not equal the lot in the Lichtenstein collection. His New Brunswick are rich in six pence and shilling values, including pairs, and in some cases, strips on the original cover. In the Newfoundland, the orange and scarlet vermilion issues are all to be noted in the finest of condition. The remarks regarding the New Brunswick issues apply equally to the similar varieties of Nova Scotia.

Uruguay is another prime favorite of this collector, and it will be recalled that his collection of this country not only received the palm of honor, but the grand prize at the New York Philatelic Exhibition. The plates of the early Diligencia varieties are practically complete, but Mr. Lichtenstein takes no credit for this plating, as it had been done before. His collection, however, shows the first successful attempt at plating the second issues, which are represented by a magnificent lot. The collection is brought up-to-date and is strong in unusual pieces.

THREE CENTS 1851

We are glad to announce we can now supply copies of Dr. Chase's book on the 3c 1851 at the published price of $6.00, post free.

We cannot recommend this book too highly to ALL collectors and students of United States issues and urge every collector to acquire his copy before it is too late.

1930 United States and British North American List

The new edition of our 32-page price list is now ready. This invaluable list should be in the hands of every collector. Nearly everything in United States and British North American issues is listed and priced, and we are certain that a careful perusal of this list will be of great advantage to the collector. Our prices are based on a large stock, and our regular figures will frequently be found much lower than many bargain offers, particularly when condition is taken into account. We very frequently see items sold at auction at figures greatly in excess of those at which we can supply identical or even better pieces; besides listing regular postage, it also prices revenues, envelopes, telegraph stamps, centre-line and arrow blocks, etc.

MAILED THIS WEEK

By the end of the week my new 1930 price list entitled

"Stamps of United States and Colonies"

will be in the mail. Four pages have been added this year, making 48 pages and covers, and it is by far the most complete list I have ever issued. There are, of course, many advances in prices, but I am glad to say that there are dozens of reduced prices made possible by favorable purchases during the summer. It is distributed free, as usual.

If you've been sticking to U. S. Air-mail covers only, and want to spread out a bit, there's nothing like Canada. Its various contract and government routes are at least as interesting as those of the U. S., if not more so.

I am a firm believer in the future of Canadian covers, and have accumulated a fine selection of scarce and hard to find items.

Other South American countries represented are—Argentine, Buenos Aires and Colombia Republic; the first two being especially important and possibly ranking with the foremost collections of these countries. The former contains such outstanding items as a block of four of the ten peso, inverted center, of 1899. Of course, the early issues are all present, well worked out in accordance with specialized study.

No endeavor is being made to place the collections in accordance with their rarity or interest, but they are simply mentioned as they come to mind.

The Cape of Good Hope section is, without doubt, the finest lot of these stamps now in existence, and the collection has been exhibited throughout the world, where it has received the highest honors. An exhibit of the triangular issues alone would prove an exhibition in itself, for the classic wood blocks are to be seen in profusion, and the collection includes a strip of four of the 1 penny red, showing the 4 pence error, which Mr. Lichtenstein considers possibly the finest piece in his possession.

His Mauritius exceed in importance the Cape of Good Hope, if such a thing is possible, and contains everything from a single of the 1 penny Post Office on cover, and pair of the 2 pence on a second cover, down through all of the imperforate and perforate issues to date. There is only one other collection that begins to compare with this lot, and judges would have a merry time awarding a first prize with the two in competition. At one time the Lichtenstein holdings included a small collection of United States stamps, which were sold quite a few years back. The only other approach to United States issues in the collection is an unusual lot of western franks, a most important lot. The nucleus of this collection was the well-known Phillips collection of Berkley, California, to which many new things have been added.

If one were offered the pick of these holdings many would, no doubt, choose the specialized collection of Switzerland, which is the outstanding lot of Swiss stamps now in existence. This includes such pieces as a block of fifteen of the Basle dove, no other block existing, a large block of the double Geneva, also unique; pairs and strips of the Zurich, 4r and 6r, with all of the other Cantonal and Federal issues in the finest of condition and in the largest of pieces existing. This collection, like the others, contains many outstanding and attractive covers. Recently, Mr. Lichtenstein has become interested in French Colonies in America, and has accumulated a choice lot of both St. Pierre and Guadeloupe. He is perhaps one of the few people in America who can distinguish these surcharges, good from the bad. So much for the Lichtenstein collection.

Now as to the activities of this foremost New York collector. Anyone holding membership in the Collectors Club of New York will appreciate that Mr. Lichtenstein has been behind every activity of the Club in such a strong financial way that the organization, which lay dormant for many years, is now one of the world's foremost stamp clubs. It was mainly through his generosity, and that of one or two others, that they have their present building, and while it is not generally known, it is not believed that a confidence is being betrayed in stating that he underwrote the Collectors Club Philatelist in its early days and has brought it to its present point of perfection.

Mr. Harry L. Lindquist, president of the Collectors Club, at a recent meeting outlined the proposed future activities of the Club, and Mr. Lichtenstein states that he is one hundred per cent in favor of the program.

The lease of the present Collectors Club will expire during next year and it is not thought that a further lease will be possible. The amount realized at the termination of the lease, in addition to cash on hand, will possibly equal between seventy and one hundred thousand dollars. It is proposed that this fund be raised to three hundred thousand dollars, by public subscription, and of this amount, one-third to be spent for ground, an equal amount for a building and the balance as an endowment fund. With such an organization many philatelic activities are planned. For insance, at the present time, the Metropolitan Museum of Art lectures to the numerous schools in New York and vicinity, on painting, sculpture and the like, and endeavors to arouse and train the artistic sense in the high school student. It is expected that similar lectures on the subject of philately will not only develop interest in general studies, such as geography, history and such subjects, but will be more important in developing accuracy, alertness, keen observation, neatness, concentration, system and other similar traits.

As a matter of fact, one of the largest banking institutions in New York City has organized a stamp club among its employees, and actually pays for their dinner meetings and activities, in order to develop these very features among its members. It was mentioned at the club meeting, when Mr. Lindquist outlined his program, that some of our foremost physicians have recommended stamps as a hobby for the busy and tired business man and others, with wonderful success. It is believed that we can show the possibilities of stamp collecting and pass on its pleasures in a more forceful way by

The round-the-world covers carried by the Graf Zeppelin are about the most interesting of any so far produced. They represent the only official air mail ever carried around the world. The official cachet authorized by the U. S. Government for use at Lakehurst is very attractive, showing the top of the world and the four stopping points of the airship. As far as we know, the amount of postage, $3.55 per half-ounce, is the greatest ever required for the carrying of a letter. The special steel die receiving stamp, which was applied to the covers in green ink, is unique in postal history.

This cover is the outstanding souvenir of one of the great epochal achievements of all time.

The cover which we offer is franked with copies of the 50c Arlington Amphitheater, $1.00 Lincoln Memorial, $2.00 carmine and black Franklin, and 5c Aero Conference stamps. The stamps are all picked copies without straight edges. Covers bearing the $2.00 Madison or the $2.00 Capitol, instead of the $2.00 Franklin, are also available at the same price. The covers are the six-inch (size 6¼) air mail envelope and present a superb appearance. Their attractiveness makes them worth considerably more than other round-the-world covers on the market.

The Gay "Nineties"

Some of the most marked advances in catalog prices occur in the 90c stamps of the bank-note and earlier issues. The 90c purple of 1888 scored an advance of 50% in used condition, moving from $6 to $9, while the unused stamp stepped up 33⅓%, from $9 to $12.00. Continued demand, with short supplies, have forced up the prices of practically all the others, from the 90c of 1857 to that of 1890, the last of this value to be issued.

Our stocks were acquired years ago when prices were easier so we are able to offer real bargains in many numbers.

such an organization, than is possible through other means. When one such as Mr. Lichtenstein supports such an idea, it may be depended upon that with his associates he will be able to reach the goal which has been set. In speaking of the subject in general, Mr. Lichtenstein states that the support of philately means simply the support of your own ideas, and the willingness to pass on to others a little of the fun you have had yourself, and thereby possibly following the old rule—to do unto others, as you would be done by.

MEIEROWITZ MEMORIAL

By PERCY C. SMITH.

An issue of stamps, illustrated below, in memory of Dr. Meierowitz, the late Minister of Foreign Affairs, was placed on sale August 22nd, which was the third anniversary of the tragic death of the late Minister. There are five denominations, 2 2 santimi, orange, 6 6 santimi, green, 15 10 santimi, claret, 25 10 santimi, blue, and 30 10 santimi, ultramarine.

The sur-tax on the stamps is to be used for a fund for the erection of a memorial, and as usual the issue was of a limited amount, half of the stamps were perforated, and half were sold imperforate. It is reported that only two sets were sold to each applicant at the Post Offices.

UNIQUE STAMP COLLECTION

By J. Leiblinger, U. S. Army, Retired, Los Angeles, Cal.

The desire of the present day stamp collectors to outdo other collectors by the formation of possible and impossible collections, the trend for specializations entailing expensive, extensive and exhaustive research work, the going into painstaking details in their search for varieties and conditions, their accounts in the philatelic press of what is being done and what can be done, prompts me also to report on my special collection, which I am now forming in addition to my general collection.

I just started to collect again, after an interval of 15 years. The resumption of stamp collecting leaves one somewhat bewildered and confused. One asks, "What shall I collect?" One may be advised to collect air mail, or entire covers, or 19th or 20th Centuries, or special countries, or British Colonies, and by all means, U. S. stamps and colonies. Turning the pages of a catalogue is like going through a labyrinth. How can one find his way through this maze of stamps?

Lately I came across the Goethe Stamp of Germany. I have worshipped at the shrine of Goethe since boyhood. It was my desire to give this stamp a place of honor in my album. In doing so, the idea came to me of making a collection of commemorative issues of Poets, Writers, Playwrights, Philosophers, Musicians, Painters and Scientists, who were thus honored by their nations.

Such a collection may be acquired easily and cheaply. The stamps are mostly of recent issue, there are no rarities, they are well executed, artistic, brilliant, and form a beautiful album page. Each stamp, or the entire issue may be embellished by excerpts from the author's writings, a verse or two, an epigram or an extract from a famous book, the great attainments or accomplishments of the Artist, Musician, Philosopher, an autograph, or a concise biography, or other pertinent remarks.

The collection can be further extended to include explorers and explorations, expeditions and discoveries, expositions and exhibitions, Congresses and conventions, saints and patrons, religious and faith issues, libraries, schools, and institutions of learning, art objects, statuary, and scenes from Mythology.

I also believe that such a collection would appeal to many people who would not find interest in a General Stamp Collection or the mere accumulation of stamps.

The following are extracts from some of my album pages:

Austria: 1922. Celebrated Musicians.

"Music exalts each joy, allays each grief, expels diseases, softens every pain, subdues the rage of poison, and the plague." —Armstrong.

"Music is the Universal language Mankind." —Longfellow.

1926. The Nibelungen Issue.

"To us in ancient story wonders gre are told of heroes rich in glory and adventures bold." —Das Nibelungen Li

In commemoration of Siegfried, t demigod, and Brunhilde, his romantic a very feminine Queen.

France: 1923 and subsequent issu Pasteur issue.

In honor of Louis Pasteur, the emine chemist bacteriologist, one of humaniti greatest benefactors.

1924. Ronsard stamps.

Pierre de Ronsard, the leading Fren poet and literary reformer of the si teenth century.

Germany: 1926. Regular issue.

Wolfgang von Goethe.

"Goethe appears to us as a person that deep endowment, and gifted visi of that experience also and sympathy the ways of men, which qualify him stand forth, not only as the literary orn ment, but in many respects, too, as t

NEW SEASON APPROVAL BOOKS
During the summer I have remade all my approval books, and have combined in them many important purchases made during the past year.
The following is a list of new books that are now ready. In general these contain stamps from a few cents to some twenty dollars each. A list of my books of rare stamps will be issued later on.
Prices will be found very moderate, as a rule 35 to 50 per cent below catalogue quotations, and all these priced on this basis of the 1929 catalogue.

Revolutionary Period Postal Days

By HARRY M. KONWISER.

In order to properly discuss the "early days" of the American Post Office, especially the period from 1774 to 1789, it is required that study shall be made of the records of the Revolutionary period. For this purpose the archives of the Continental Congress were read and the figures, as well as the facts, offered in this article are a result of these studies. The printed facts of the early American days are available at many libraries and afford interesting reading.

Every person of school age and many who have foregone the pleasures of attending school are well aware of the fact that in the stirring days of 1774 when the Americans began to appeal from the unfair practices of the English Crown, the several sections of what is now a portion of the United States, were separate Colonies—each a law unto itself, with but little in common, politically, socially or economically.

The revolution inspired them to form a confederacy, and under this method of collaboration, a Continental Congress was organized, each State sending delegates.

At this stage of development the intercolonial intercourse was not important, the greatest amount of commercial activity being done, by the Colonies, with European countries, mainly with England, or through there. The natural "ties" of the Americans of that day were with their European places of origin, and as their friends and relatives arrived this continued, for the earliest of Americans were not of the restless, pushing forward sort. Having shaken the dust of the old world off their shoes, they were content to remain "put" where'er they landed in America.

These conditions made no great demand for postal arrangement, it being deemed sufficient that the English Government had established post roads, under the dominion of the Postmaster General at London. Benjamin Franklin served the King as a Deputy Postmaster for many years, finally being removed in 1775.

If there is to be recorded a real beginning of what we are pleased to call the simon-pure American post, it must be when William Goddard, a printer of Maryland, issued a direct notice that the patriots should operate their own post. This appeared on July 2, 1774, and reads as follows:

> William Goddard, printer of the Maryland Journal, with great pleasure acquaints the publick that his proposal for establishing am American Post Office on constitutional principles, hath been warmly and generously patronized by the friends of freedom in the great commercial towns in the Eastern Colonies, where ample funds are already secured; Postmasters and riders engaged; and indeed every proper arrangement for the reception of Southern mails, which, it is expected, will soon be extended thither. As therefore the final success of the undertaking now depends upon the publick spirit of the inhabitants of Maryland and Virginia, it is not doubted, for the recent evidence that they have given of their noble zeal in the cause of liberty and their country, but they will cheerfully join in rescuing the channel of publick and private intelligence from the "horrid fangs of Ministerial dependence;" a measure indispensable necessary in the present alarming crisis of American affairs.

This notice appeared in the Maryland Journal, and it appears that the publisher was expected to pay 52 pounds sterling, Pennsylvania currency, per annum for weekly mailing 350 papers, 130 miles distant. The regulations called for cash payments, at the time the papers were mailed. Incidentally, in 1776, Goddard appealed to the Continental Congress, asking for a job as Mustermaster General, citing his work for the constitutional post had brought him losses that the sought-for job could, in part, repay.

In 1774 the post was in the hands of the Crown, of course, and many of the patriots agreed it would be politic to operate their own post, so that the Colonies could communicate with each other regularly.

One American friend of the English wrote Lord North, Postmaster General at London, decrying the dismissal of Franklin from the postal service, saying, in part, that he had brought the Post Office in America to be of some consequence, "yielding revenue to the mother country."

This, unnamed person, according to the Continental Congress records, said, "But what will follow, my Lord? I will tell you, the Post Office from Philadelphia to Boston is that alone which produces any profit worth mentioning; the others, taken together, do not more than maintain themselves; and between Philadelphia and Boston you may depend on it, the Americans will immediately set up a carrier of their own which you can not prevent, and they will entirely starve your Post between these capital cities. And thus will happily end your boasted Post Office, so often given as a precedent for taxing the Americans."

Early in 1774 Goddard, printer and patriot, made a trip to New York and to Massachusetts enlisting support for a "Constitutional Post Office in America," and always making his appeal to the Colonial governmental bodies. The name, as indicated, was suggested by him to the Provincial Committee, suggesting they all vote for a Postmaster General, making the New York Committee the board to tally the votes.

It should be borne in mind that not all the folks in the country were as one on the idea of absolute separation from England. There many people, some of the "most conservative and wealthy" who sought merely remedial legislation. They disliked the taxes assessed and were not disposed to rush into any war with England. Many "good people" failed to respond to the cry of the separatists and quite a few hampered the cause of independence.

During the early days of the independent Post there was a story current that the Constitutional Post Rider between Philadelphia and Baltimore had absconded with a large sum of money entrusted to his care. Goddard denied this, declaring the absconder was not the post rider (Stinson) but "a villain, whose name is Bryan."

London heard of the proposed American Post Office, to quote from a London letter, dated June 16, 1774, as follows:

"In the Boston paper of 2nd May, is inserted a plan for the establishment of the new American Post Office, in opposition to that established by Government. It is, however, supposed that as soon as General Gage arrives he will stop the career of this new Post, Riders and their employees."

Just how well General Gage managed all this, history records. But to the story.

A letter written on July 16, 1774, on post affairs, received in London, says "the present Deputy Postmasters Generals of North America are in distress, since the dismissal of Dr. Franklin and the hostile attack on Boston" and Americans, it appears, are "unalterably determined to support the new Constitutional Post Office on the 'ruins of one that hath for its basis the slavery of America'" and mention is made of the fact the new Post Office rates are "cheaper and more efficient than the Ministerial prices of a Foxcroft or Finlay." (These were Deputy Postmasters of the period.)

The Continental Congress made its first definite effort to embrace the Post as part of the government by resolution of May 29, 1775, reading:

Resolved, That Mr. Franklin, Mr. Lynch, Mr. Lee, Mr. Adams and Mr. Livingston, be a committee to consider the best means of establishing posts for conveying letters and intelligence through the Continent.

This committee appears not to have reported until July 25, when their report was presented and carried over to the following day. The minutes of the Congress read:

"Agreeable to the order of yesterday, the Congress resumed the consideration of the report of the Committee on the Post Offices; which being debated by paragraphs was agreed to as follows:

"That a Postmaster General be appointed for the United Colonies, who shall hold his office at Philadelphia, and shall be allowed a salary of 1000 dollars per an; for himself, and 340 dollars per an; for a Secretary and Comptroller, with power to appoint such, and so many deputies as to him may seem proper and necessary.

"That a line of posts be appointed under the direction of the Postmaster General, from Falmouth in New England to Savannah in Georgia, with as many cross posts as he may think fit.

Only a very few of each available.

"GNOTHI SEAUTON"

is an old Greek proverb—whilst this is a wise saying, we believe an equally good motto for stamp collectors is "Know your stamps".

With this end in view, we have done our part by publishing our United States Library, which tells just about everything the ordinary collector wants to know about United States postal issues.

We believe that once you understand your stamps, the joy of collecting will be increased many fold, and we are certain that the small investment in these books will be amply repaid.

VOLUME I. ISSUES 1847-1869

Replete with information about the early issues. Also full of information on what to avoid; fakes, etc. This alone is worth far more than the price 50c

VOLUME II. THE BANK NOTE ISSUES 1870-1893

An indispensable work for the collector who wishes to get these issues correctly placed in his album; accompanied by enlarged drawings showing the more important differences, secret marks, etc. .....Price 50c

VOLUME III. ISSUES 1894-1898

Much valuable information with enlarged drawings of the different types ..Price 50c

VOLUME IV. ISSUES 1901-1929

The 20th century issues complete in one volume of over 150 pages. Contains much helpful instruction on these puzzling issues, including enlarged drawings of the type differences; prices centre-line, arrow and plate blocks, booklet panes, and includes a very complete listing of private coils .....Price $1.00

All the above four volumes of our U. S. Library have been entirely revised and brought up to date, and collectors who purchased the old sets years ago should now buy these, as they all contain a wealth of new information, not the least important of which is a listing of earliest known dates of issue and numbers issued of United States stamps.

The record indicates no other matt came before the Congress that day. U fortunately there appear to be no d tailed record of the speeches made, a pertaining to America' first move, law, to effect a Post Office.

Reducing the rates by act of Congr and putting them into effect only to fi the receipts insufficient for the servi appears to have been the development f by resolution of September 30, 1775, noted "in order to support the necessa riders, to suspend the lowering of rat to a later day."

The records of the Continental Co gress indicate that Richard Henry L wrote General Washington, on June 1776, that "a certain Mr. Eustace, now New York, but some time ago with Lo Dunmore, is acquainted with the practi of taking letters out of the Post Offi in Virginia and carrying them to Du more for his perusal." Washington asked "to get Mr. Eustace to give writing all he knows about this busines

BRAZIL NEW DESIGN

By Percy C. Smith.

Below is the design of the recently issued 5,000 reis. It is similar to the type A85, but some change has been made in the framework. The portrait is that of Ruy Barbosa, and the watermark is a large star and CASA DA MOEDA. The issue is line engraved and on thin paper.

CONGRATULATIONS TO DR. DAVIS

Dr. William F. Davis, Caldwell, N. J., renewing his subscription for one year writes us a letter that is good enough for us to print. We get many letters that should really see the light of day, but this one is so very good that we shall be pardoned in giving our readers the benefit of it. Dr. Davis writes:

"I think my subscription has just expired and I send you a check for another year. I would join the "Honor" list, but you see, I'll have my 82nd birthday next week, and the probabilities of my living another five years, make a betting risk of about 10 to 1 against my doing it. I think I must be one of your oldest subscribers. I began with the Weekly Era when it was published in Portland, took the News under the Mekeel administration, and have taken it ever since it came under its present publishers, with an occasional lapse of a year or so. I have been collecting for over 40 years, and am still an active collector."

OHIO RIVER CANS. OF OCT. 19

Accompanying this article is a cachet used Oct. 19 on all Ohio River Can. covers sent ashore as regular mail from the steamer Tom Greene of the Greene Line Steamers, Cincinnati, Ohio. We are indebted to C. A. Ploch not only for a specimen cover, but also for the information that even though a first day cover is not obtainable, our subscribers can procure one, regularly mailed from the steamer with cachet, if letters are addressed to Capt. Tom R. Greene, Greene Line Steamers, Cincinnati, Ohio. The Tom Greene is the boat that raced the Betsey Ann, July 15, and by winning the race took the title of the fastest boat on the Ohio River.

Covers have been received not only from Mr. Ploch, but from Bradie Buchanan, A. E. Gorham, Delf Noronha, Harry Ioor, C. E. Nickles, R. D. Davis, Jack H. Wells, W. R. Sommer, Carrell L. Weber, and A. M. Kurtz, and cities represented in cancellations are Cincinnati, Ohio, Wheeling, W. Va., Homestead, Pa., Louisville, Ky., Pittsburgh, Pa., So. Bend, Ill., Cairo, Ill., and Washington, D. C.

It would take a great deal of space to describe the various kinds of illustrations that are shown on these envelopes. They will make fine historical souvenirs of the day. All the adornments of these envelopes were applied by local enterprise, but one is particularly deserving of mention, received from Bradie Buchanan. All mail out of Homestead, Pa., over CAM 11 received a cachet indicating that it was an air flight cover. A great deal of enterprise is represented in the varied exhibit of covers received from our many friends.

NFLD. 6c 1923 PICTORIAL

(We are very glad to place the readers of the WEEKLY right in this matter and regret very much the inconvenience and unintentional misrepresentation that our reliable contributor has been subjected to.—Ed.)

On page 611 of your issue of Oct. 14, F. F. Wills, in commenting on my article, on the Newfoundland 3c on 6c surcharge, issued August 23, reads into it something which I neither wrote nor implied; i.e., that all the stock on hand of the 6c 1923 pictorial was used in making this surcharge. What I said was that "practically the whole of the remainder stock" was so used.

Some Greek Stamp History

By C. A. Howes,
Ex. Pres. B. P. S.

Many of us have received at intervals the profusely illustrated catalogs of the notable auction sales of postage stamps held by the firm of E. Luder-Edelmann & Co. of Zurich, Switzerland. Many also, like myself, have doubtless preserved at least the supplements containing the excellent half-tone illustrations of the notable items in the sales, many of these being stamps or pieces of great rarity of which the reproductions form our only means of enjoying for ourselves a "second hand" inspection of them. We have just received the catalog of the firm's 13th sale to be held November 4th to 11th next, in Zurich. It lists over five thousand lots, and the supplement has 83 pages of excellent half-tone illustrations of the best pieces in the sale—stamps, pairs, blocks, on cover, and on piece of cover. Unfortunately for United States collectors four pages of our own country's illustrations are omitted with the mention "U. S. Stamps—reproduction prohibited in the States," and the further attempt to comply with our laws is shown in this specially prepared supplement by the white line scratched across all the illustrations. We have seen the omitted pages and they contain an array of superb copies of our early issues through 1869, including a used 30c with inverted flags.

The sale is particularly strong in old German States, with Germany and Colonies, the Italian States, early Swiss, the United States and Greece. There are many fine items scattered through the other countries of the world as well.

But it is the wonderful specialized collection of Greece, containing 1,221 lots from essays through the war stamps, that makes this sale notable, the outstanding feature being a series of blocks of various sizes cut from full sheets of the Paris prints of 1861, which were found among the effects of the estate of Albert Barre, formerly chief engraver of the French Mint, and purchased from his heirs last May. M. Barre was applied to by the Greek government about 1860 to furnish a design and die for a series of stamps and, as is well known, the one chosen was nothing more than that of the French stamps of 1849, which had been engraved by M. Barre's father, whom he succeeded, with the very appropriate substitution of the head of Mercury for that of Ceres. M. Barre engraved the die on steel, and the printing plates were copper electroplates, very likely made at the Mint in the same way as the contemporary French stamps. But the printing was done outside as shown by the inscriptions found on the margins of these sheets, and which had been previously published in an article on Greek stamps by W. D. Beckton in 1897, this showing it to be by Ernest Meyer of Paris. We quote from the story as given in the catalog.

"At the commencement of the definite printing of the first stamps of Greece, two sheets of each value of the first printing were put aside for the engraver before the sheets were gummed. He kept a sheet of each value for his own collection (these being the sheets acquired by us) whilst cutting up the other sheets of each value for distribution among those of his friends who collected stamps.

"According to Nicolaides '(a) Barre had 2 sheets only of each value, (b) he cut up and distributed one sheet of each value, and (c) he presented the Greek Embassy at Paris with the remaining sheets.' The sheets which he was supposed to have given to the Embassy are, however, precisely those which he kept for himself. For some unknown reason he received only one sheet of the 1 lepton, which he distributed; this value was therefore missing in his collection, which explains its absence among those sheets recently purchased by us.

"Thus Barre cut up an distributed one sheet each of the 1, 2, 5, 20, 40 and 80 lepta, and of the two 10 lepta without numerals, orange on bluish, and red-orange on blue. As is the 10 lepta with numerals, he gave one entire sheet to Hulot [Barre's assistant in charge of making plates and printing] . . . because the idea to print the value of each stamp on the back originated from the latter. He fostered this idea long before the stamps of Greece were printed, but it was rejected by the General Postal Administration of Paris (a proof of a French stamp with numerals 10 at back is known to us), only to be accepted years later by the Greek Government.

"A considerable time later this 'Hulot' sheet was also cut up. . . . Therefore, Barre kept only one sheet of each of the values 2, 5, 20, 40, 80 lepta; 10 lepta with numerals and 10 lepta without numerals, of the issue of 1861. He framed these sheets and hung them up at home (the 10 lepta was framed showing the back of the sheet with numerals); there they hung for 68 years until we bought them."

The colors of these sheets have faded slightly in some values, as would be natural when exposed to the light for so long a time, and their actual status has been a somewhat moot point amongst specialists, some claiming them to be trial impressions. But it seems to us that if the facts about their original source are as stated, they correspond practically to the "imprimatur" sheets deposited at Somerset House in London by the stamp printers when beginning to print a new issue, as samples of the work going forward, and therefore identical with those intended for actual issue. Of course the 10 lepta without figures on the back was never issued in this condition and is therefore of a different status. The fact that they were not gummed, for obvious reasons, while identifying them in a way from those actually put into circulation, may perhaps be somewhat exaggerated. The cataloguers state: "So far we cannot prove if all the stamps printed in Paris were delivered to the Greek Government gummed or ungummed. In any case it is certain that at least 3 kinds of gum were used. We therefore assume that part of these stamps were gummed in Paris, and the remainder in Athens." The London Philatelist sums up the question as follows: "That the stamps are genuine impressions taken at the time from the plates is beyond dispute; they are neither forgeries nor reprints, but whether they are proofs or trial impressions, or part and parcel of a printing intended for postal use, is the point at issue."

Accompanying the foregoing sheets was also one of the 60 lepta of 1875, with practically the same history, though the printer is not identifiable. This proves one point, that this value (and probably the 30 lepta of the same issue also) was from a plate of two panes of 150 each (15 rows of 10) instead of one pane to a plate as in the 1861 issue. And this gives opportunity to the curious for identifying 300 types of the 30 and 60 lepta, as well as 150 each for all values of 1861, because of minute differences in placing the figures separately on each stamp in the plate due to the master die being without any.

All of which makes a very interesting addition to early Greek stamp history!

Rev. Butler, Newfoundland,
Dear Sir:

Your island issues a good many stam so I hope you won't mind a suggesti from a stamp collector.

Your 8c stamp of 1908 is mark "View of Mosquito." Am nearly bli from hunting for him, and defy you point him out. Either he is mixed with the scenery, or he was away stingi a tourist when the view was taken, whi I am told is a favorite occupation the and not confined to the mosquito.

When you picture another anim please make it "View of an Elephant" something that a fellow can see.

Very truly yours,

LINES TO HERMAN TOASPERN F.H.S.L.

(Inspired by his ad in "Mekeel's")
The bird with whom to chat I yearn
Is none but Herman To-as-pern;
Or if, perchance, my accent's wrong
To Toasty I shall sing my song.

Beside the point this seems to be—
A major matter intrigues me.
I wonder much. Oh, who can tell
Just what this means—"F.H.S.L."?

I've tried this out but it sounds crazy:
"Fat and Heavy, Slow and Lazy!"
I've pondered, too, if it could mean:
"Fleet and Hasty, Swift and Lean!"

Another thought not so salubrious:
"Funereal, Hypochondriacal, Somber, I gubrious."
Or better this (he'll think I'm chaffing
"Fun-loving, Hilarious, Scintillatin Laughing!"
Oh tell us, Toasty, is this a sell?
What d'ye mean—"F.H.S.L."?
—Witticus of Balty.

Editorial

EVERY now and then, one enjoys a little triumph that is remembered for months with a sense of satisfaction and an experience of the kind was had by the WEEKLY. Soon after we had published the roster of five hundred names of members on our Honor Roll of five year subscribers, we mentioned casually to the editor of a trade paper that we had, with a circulation of not more than 10,000 copies (as of that date), over five hundred names on our mailing list, as five year subscribers. The statement was challenged as an exaggeration and the skeptic argued that it was unlikely that one reader out of every twenty, or fewer, had remitted the full price of five dollars for five years. There could be no object in subscribing for five years at a time, when no inducement was offered to do so, it was said, and the circumstance was so unusual that there must be a catch somewhere. In fact, the man was confirmed in his disbelief and he determined to investigate in order that he might be able, as he thought, to make us eat humble pie. He found that the truth had been told by the WEEKLY and his astonishment was genuine and he said that he knew of no other instance where the confidence or regard of readers had created a condition that could parallel the one that confronted him. He could not account for the record that had been established and he would now be more puzzled than before to explain just why our paper has been favored so decidedly. We are now nearing the thousandth mark in our Honor Club and with a circulation of 11,000, the ratio of five year patrons to the whole number of subscribers becomes one to eleven. This showing is one that deserves comment and rightly may be the subject of notice.

OLDER collectors remember that one of the charges against collecting was that it was not a permanent institution. It was called a passing fancy or "craze" and collectors were said to be here to-day and gone to-morrow. Common report had it that it was a transient occupation. There was once a color of truth to the allegation and the stamp papers of those times showed from an examination of their lists that each year there were many readers who did not renew their subscriptions and who gave as their reason that they were no longer interested in collecting. Granting that some of the reluctant ones wanted to let the publisher down easily, it is known that the number who meant what they said was large. In time, this failing became less marked even though it was not eradicated and evidences of this capricious tendency persisted, so to say. Naturally this phase of philatelic development received the attention of publishers who sought to stabilize their lists and the inspiration of Mr. Wylie to recruit a band of confirmed collectors who by their number would prove the permanence of philately was a stroke of genius when it was brought into play. The admission is made at the outset that the plan redounds to our business advantage but that fact does not discredit it. On the contrary, the selfish side of it becomes negligible in the contemplation of its merits. Here we have a thousand strong who are dedicated to the furtherance of collecting and who have pledged themselves for a period of years to be loyal to the pursuit. The members of the Honor Roll are stabilizing philately and by their example they are wielding an influence that cannot be brushed aside by any one who still holds to the idea that stamp collecting has not become seasoned. When we print the names of the gallant one thousand, any further comment will be superfluous; and so we wish to get a few words in before the fact.

THE most sanguine philatelic publisher of thirty or forty years ago who fought so valiantly for 25c pieces from hesitant collectors would not have said that the day was coming when one thousand persons would give five dollars each for a subscription to a stamp paper. The papers of yesteryear had so much difficulty in prying open the purses of the philatelic public that they died of exhaustion. If a publisher by reason of a special liking or aptitude for the work or a disdain for lucre succeeded in keeping his head above water for a time, he merely deferred his demise. He was bound to realize that he was paying too much for his whistle, and waving his hand above the water, he sank with a few gurgles, leaving only a bubble to mark the spot. The old-time publisher has memories of his early efforts to establish a stamp paper. He started out thinking that he would have a circulation of one thousand in no time, but he soon found that it was a job to get two hundred paid subscribers. The important monthlies published by stamp firms are exempted from this class, as they had circulations above a thousand. An exception must be made in one case: when Shirley Moisant, the big insurance man of Kankakee, Illinois, finally reduced the price of his stamp monthly to one cent a year and advertised the glad news in the WEEKLY, cautious investors to the number of well over a thousand risked their cent. Times have changed and the personal equation does not enter into philatelic activities as it did once, when almost every collector was known to name to his fellows in his own town, philatelic center, or not, as it might be.

THE new edition of the Standard Catalogue is almost ready for delivery, as the advance sheets of the work have been completed for some time. The arrival of the catalogue is a signal for the start of the season in earnest. The 1930 edition of Gibbons' Priced Catalogue of the Stamps of the World has been issued and is in two parts, stamps of the British Colonies, and other countries, respectively. There are almost two thousand pages in the book.

SOME time ago, the "Wall Street News", New York, had an editorial on the subject of the success that has attended the operations of the Philatelic Agency, as shown by the figures of the annual report of the bureau. The opinion is voiced that a business that yields so handsome a profit must be one that has substance and should be encouraged.

MR. THEODORE KEMM, Palisade, N. J., writes: "Enclosed find the very attractive ad used by the International Hotelmen's Association, of which I am a member, at its Jubilee Congress in session at Cologne, Germany, just now." The advertisement has a striking background of foreign stamps to the number of a hundred or so and should appeal to the cosmopolitan membership of the association which has members in 37 countries.

A NUMBER of announcements have been received of new stamp papers and reports of the coming of others have reached our ears. Two weeklies are said to be on the stocks waiting to be launched and one of them is to emanate from Chicago, although its publisher proposes to start with a semi-monthly and ultimately establish his paper as weekly. The competition in the philatelic publishing field will become keener and it is unlikely that any new publishers will enter the lists without having a good amount of capital at their disposal.

WE have been shown a "three star" cancellation on stamps that were mailed from a Texan city, making an addition to the visible supply of extraordinary markings that have become available latterly, especially on registered mail.

Education from Stamps

By Max Schachter.

Many educational subjects are covered by stamps. Thus a junior collector can not only derive pleasure and interest from a collection, but gain many interesting and valuable facts. Much history is taught by stamps. The changes in the government of France since 1849 is recorded. Who received Germany's colonies after the war? This answer is found on new stamps issued for them. Every stamp collector is familiar with the location and conditions of such out-of-the-way countries, as Aitutaki, Dominica, Guadeloupe, Liberia. Could a non-collector say that? Thus geography is taught. Collecting stamps increases one's foreign word vocabulary and introduces many familiar phrases. For example, the 5 shillings St. Vincent stamp found on top of the junior page. It bears the Latin inscription "peace and justice." The collector understands the word "currency." He knows that the sen is used in Japan, franc in France, centavo in most Latin countries, etc. Yes, a great deal of knowledge is derived from stamps.

Study Your Stamps

Para and Piaster.—These words, denoting the values, are the only inscription shown in English characters on some of the issues of Turkey and Egypt. In conjunction with the Star and Crescent design the words show the labels are Turkish while if the design depicts the Sphinx and Pyramid then the stamps are Egyptian. These same words overprinted on British, German, French, etc., stamps distinguish the special issues for the foreign post offices established in the Levant.

Pen.—Stamps with the value denoted by this word—an abbreviation for "Penni"—belong to Finland.

Peoymnhe.—This word, in Greek characters, distinguishes the issue of Russian stamps for the Rethymo district of Crete.

Persane.—Persia.

P. G. S.—An overprint on certain Straits Settlements stamps used as official stamps in Perak. The letters stand for "Perak Government Service."

Baton Rouge

The capital of the State of Louisiana, situated on the Mississippi River, and having a present population of well over 12,000. In 1779, it was taken from the British by the Spaniards and in 1862 it was the scene of a victory by the Federals over the Confederates. It is philatelically famous from the fact that in 1861 the then Postmaster, Mr. J. McCormick, issued three stamps to facilitate the prepayment of postage and these continued in use until they were replaced by the general issue for the Confederate States.

Bits of Information

Bordeaux Prints.—The name generally applied to the French stamps lithographed at Bordeaux from November, 1870, until March, 1871, during the siege of Paris when, of course, ordinary supplies from the Paris mint were unobtainable.

Borrius, J. P.—A printer of Potchefstroom, Transvaal, who printed supplies of the 1d, 3d, 6d and 1sh stamps for the South African Republic in September, 1870, and December, 1872.

Boscawen.—A town in the State of New Hampshire at which a special 5c stamp was issued by the Postmaster in 1846, to facilitate the prepayment of postage. The label was in use but a few months, for in August, 1847, it was replaced by the ordinary stamps for the whole of the United States.

Centimetre. — The one-hundredth part of a metre, or .3937 inch, two of which, equalling 20mm, form the generally accepted unit for measuring perforations.

Centimo.—The value in which the stamps of Spain, Costa Rica, the Dominican Republic and Venezuela are expressed. It ranges in value from about 1c to the fifth part of a cent in American currency.

Brazil

The largest state in South America. It is officially styled the "Republica dos Estados Unidos do Brazil"—Republic of the United States of Brazil. It has an area of 3,218,166 square miles and a population of over fifteen millions. The people are of various races and include more than a million "wild" Indians and other uncivilised tribes. The country was discovered in 1500, by the Portuguese navigator, Pedro Alvarez Cabral, who named it Tierra da Vera Cruz, and claimed it for the Portuguese. From that time until 1889 (except from 1580 to 1661) Brazil was governed by the Portuguese royal house. In 1808, the prince regent of Portugal, Joso VI, transferred his court to Rio de Janiero, and Brazil became an independent empire. On Nov. 15, 1889, a republic was proclaimed during a bloodless revolution which drove the reigning monarch, Dom Pedro II, from the throne, and with him the house of Braganza was banished. On February 24, 1891, a new Constitution was voted by the Constituent Assembly by which the President's term of office was fixed at four years; Church and State were separated, civil marriages only made legal, and education secularised. The legislative power is in the hands of two chambers—the Senate of 63 members, and the Chamber of Deputies with 212 members. The first Brazilian postage stamps were issued on July 1, 1843.

Dandy-Roll

A roller used in paper-making, under which the partly formed paper passes in an early stage of its manufacture. The dandy-roll is very important from a philatelic viewpoint, for in machine made paper it determines its nature—whether wove, laid, quadrille, etc.—and in the case of watermarked stamps this roller also applies the watermarked devices.

Various Topics

By A. C. LeDuc.

To collectors of the stamps of Pap and the Territory of New Guinea a others interested in stories of exploratio an article in the National Geograph Magazine for Sept., 1929, will be fou very interesting. It is about the expe ences of a group of scientists sent out the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Wh nothing is said about stamps, one c readily realize how little likelihood the is of getting many stamps "used on co er" from those little known and lit civilized colonies.

The United States stamps overprint Kans. and Nebr. have been listed a priced in the 1930 Scott catalogue, a bear the numbers 658 to 668 and 669 679 respectively, for the two grou These stamps appeared too late to be p into the main body of the catalogue are found in the addenda on pages 17 and 1792.

The 1930 catalogue consists of 1,8 pages thru the addenda. This is an i crease of 54 pages over 1929 catalog up thru the addenda.

Two new names have been added the list of countries that the stamp co lector will have to include in his vocab lary, namely, Rhodes and Vatican City.

Denmark has issued a set of stam that are as strikingly attractive as a that have showed up in a long time. T set consists of three values, 10 ore gree 15 ore red, and 25 ore blue. They a upright oblongs and show the crown, a below it a serpent entwined about a sce tre. These stamps were sold at a pr mium of 5 ore each for the benefit of t Danish Cancer Committee. It is repor ed on good authority that these stam are already commanding considerab premium over their original selling pric They are bound to be popular because their attractiveness.

Junior Dictionary

Jefatura de Hacienda del Estado Campeche. — The inscription show upon the lower portion of the provision stamps issued in Campeche, Mexico, 1867. It means "Office of the Treasu of the State of Campeche."

Jerez.—This name is shown on th circle in the lower right hand corner some of the stamps of Salvador issue in 1887-89. Jerez was one of the form Presidents of the republic.

Jhalawar.—A feudatory state in Ra putana, India, having an area of 3,04 square miles and a population of abo 100,000. Postage stamps were first i sued in 1887 and in 1900 it was decide to cease issuing special stamps for th state.

Jhind.—I. A native state in th Punjab, India, in which locally produce postage stamps were issued in 187 These ceased to be used for postal pu poses in 1885 and their place was take by current stamps of India suitably ove printed.

II. An overprint applied to variou stamps of India from 1885 to 1914, fo use in the native state of Jhind.

J. H. S.—These initials are shown i microscopic letters above the motto o all the stamps of Geneva. They stan for Jesus Hominum Salvator or "Jesu Savior of Men."

Jibuti.—The geographical spelling the French Colony of "Djibouti."

Official Flights

Very, very little of new things to report or forecast this week. Covers from the FAM 5 and 6 extension have been coming in from day to day, but the mention last week just about covers the situation as far as they are concerned. One thing is sure—the fellow who is able to get a complete point to point coverage on these may feel that he has accomplished a real job. And if he tries to get not only that, but complete coverage from the old FAM 5 and 6 points to each of the new points—well, he'd better lay off other branches of the hobby for a while.

D. Olin Herriott sends clippings telling of the Oct. 1st trip from St. Joseph, Mo. About 12,000 covers on the first outward dispatch, 3,500 of which were signed by the hard working postmaster, who sat up late several nights to do this for us. As is usual on these new additions to existing routes, the mail into St. Joseph via first trips was very light in comparison to outgoing.Last trip of the CAM 27 Detroit-Cleveland morning amphibian service took place Oct. 12. Evidently not enough business to justify the extra trip, and passenger business will fall off from this time of year until spring. Regular night trip continues, of course.

Canadian service to the arctic regions from Edmonton now definitely scheduled for Nov. 26. Cachets from Edmonton to all points on route, and return also, as detailed in a previous issue. In case you missed the list, ask your Postmaster to show you Postal Bulletin of Oct. 10. Covers go to Supt. of Postal Service, Edmonton, for all point to point cachets, marked as to which each is for.

Robt. W. Meinhoff sends a lot of information on the CAM 32 opening. Though from Portland was scheduled both first morning and first night flight, morning flight was unable to take off due to dense smoke from nearby forest fires, and mail was held for night flight. Covers postmarked 4 A. M. for morning flight are 6 times as scarce as those for night flight. Vancouver mail was supposed to go on morning flight, but had to be held for the night flight. 1,600 letters sent from there. Cachet was official. And here's an interesting point. Portland postmaster cacheted all his covers in black only, but the Chamber of Commerce had been given a cachet to work the many letters sent them, and they're responsible for the green, magenta and purple, as well as some black. Spokane is scarcest of the 4 cities, outside of Vancouver.

Air Meets, Shows, Dedications, Etc.

Recent arrivals: Falls City, Nebr., dedication Sept. 9, small purple cachet on back.Robt. Meinhoff gives me my first view of a cover bearing both cachets for the Portland-Cleveland air races. Diamond shaped one, swan central design, on front, large round cachet on back giving names of all contestants. Both in orange, and 254 covers sent.Springfield, Oregon, dedication Oct. 6—red typeset cachet in 4 lines; looks like a hurry up job for covers sent in.Peoria, Ill., Air Meet cachet mentioned 2 weeks ago was also for the dedication of the new municipal airport. Cachet by the C. of C. on about 500 letters, which will probably be good.

Princeton, Ind., dedication Sept. 20, no cachet, but signature of C. M. East, Sec. Community Club.First National Air Mail Week cachet from Cleveland, Oct. 7-12, came through nicely all week, in a number of different colors.Dallas State Fair cachet featured "Light's Golden Jubilee"—all in red, for 16 days. A bit too much.Pratt, Kans., came through nicely on some "chance" covers with a red printed sticker for their dedication Oct. 12 and 13.Conneaut, Ohio, with its "The Great Oreport Dedicates its Airport," and its lake freighter and plane, is an unusually good looking item —Oct. 12—and flown to Cleveland by CAM 20 plane.Canton, Ohio, Air Circus Oct. 14-19, star design, started off in red.

Somebody on CAM 11 is surely generous with those big "Thanks for your patronage" cards. They've been coming lately on those Pennsylvania and Ohio dedications whose mail is picked up by CAM 11, and are thankfully acknowledged from whomever is responsible. Lloyd Flickinger, 901 City Bank Bldg., Youngstown, Ohio, has very kindly offered to obtain the pictorial cachet of the first non-stop pick-up for all those who missed it, if they will mail in their covers at once, not forgetting the return stamped envelope.Texarkana, Tex., dedicated Sept. 20—no cachet so far as I know. McCleary, Wash., dedication came in blue as well as in red.D. E. McPherson shows me covers from Tulsa, Aug. 23, and Terra Haute, Aug. 25, each bearing a special cachet for the Women's Air Derby, applied by the local Chambers of Commerce.Fitchburg, Mass., returns covers, and says no dedication for a long time.Ford Air Tour has brought in a lot of unexpected and unannounced cachets. So far, I have seen or had reported all with special cachets, Detroit and Dearborn, Oct. 5, Richmond, Va., Oct. 10, Springfield, Mass., Oct. 7, Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 10, and Greenville, S. C., Oct. 10, and the rest of the tour will probably produce some more.

No. 3—BN of the Peach Orchard Series of Handy Reference Leaflets.

(Just the thing to mount in your album or catalog)

National Plates, 1870-71

The National plates were numbered from 1 to 55 as follows:—

1870—1c, Nos. 16, 17, 50 to 53.
" 2c, Nos. 12 to 15, 28, 30, 34, 35, 45 to 47.
" 3c, Nos. 1 to 11, 25, 29, 31, 32, 36 to 44, 54, 55.
" 6c, Nos. 26, 27.
1871—7c, No. 33 only.
1870—10c, Nos. 18, 19, 48, 49.
" 12c, No. 24 only.
" 15c, No. 20 only.*
" 24c, No. 21 only (obsolete 1875).*
" 30c, No. 22 only (discarded 1882).
" 90c, No. 23 only (obsolete 1889).

On plates numbered as high as 27 the imprint reads, "NATIONAL BANK NOTE CO. NEW YORK". On plates numbered 32 and higher the imprint is in two lines reading, "ENGRAVED AND PRINTED BY THE—NATIONAL BANK NOTE CO. NEW YORK". (See Luff's "Postage Stamps of the U. S." pages 126 and 127). The imprints and plate numbers remained unchanged, hence these inscriptions are of no value in identifying the work of the different companies who used the 24c, 30c and 90c plates. Sheet margins of the 90c purple of 1888, which was printed by the American Bank Note Co., bear the original National imprint and "No. 23".

*It is believed plates of all values up to the 15c became obsolete April 30, 1873. Plate No. 21 was used for the American special printing of 1880, and for any 24c plate proofs of this type printed after June 30, 1875.

The United States were almost the originators of Commemorative Issues by the Columbian Exposition Stamps of 1893.

Since that date many special stamps were issued at regular intervals. They are, however, too well-known to need separate enumeration.

THE HIND COLLECTION OF U. S.

Chas. J. Phillips, the New York dealer, has removed to The Mayflower, 15 Central Pk., West, according to Philatelic Classics for October, published by Mr. Phillips. The current issue contains a lengthy list of the rarities offered from the Hind collection of U. S. and Confederates and we quote the foreword:—

"Mr. Arthur Hind has placed in my hands for sale, in one lot, his superb collection of the stamps of the United States and Confederate States.

This collection is generally recognized as the most complete and it is the most valuable of its kind in the world.

In building it up Mr. Hind purchased the famous Duveen collection of United States, which the late Mr. Henry Duveen of Fifth Avenue, New York, was nearly thirty years getting together. The Duveen collection was remarkable for an almost complete set of unused blocks of four of the General Issues, several being unique, absolutely unknown in any other American collection.

Mr. Hind also bought many of the greatest rarities from the famous collections of the late George Worthington of Cleveland, also the pick of many other famous collections, such as the Jenkins, Gibson, Bowers and others. Many of his choicest items come from the famous collection of Philip La Renotiere von Ferrary sold at auction by the French Government in Paris.

The collection is mainly of unused stamps in immaculate condition, mint blocks of four being a prominent feature. Whenever possible larger blocks of rare items have been secured, and in many cases full sheets are included.

In the exceedingly rare Postmaster stamps issued by local postmasters prior to the introduction of stamps in 1847 by the Government, many stamps are included on full original covers, this adding largely to their value and historical interest.

In the same manner the numerous stamps issued by the Confederate Postmasters during the Civil War of 1861-1864 are very strongly represented, many being on original covers.

The collection is mounted in elegant specially designed large albums, beautifully written up, with much historical data, and is specially arranged to show in Exhibitions or in a great national Museum.

It is a thousand pities that such a collection as this should not be in the Smithsonian Museum in Washington. The National collection of stamps is there, but the rarities are almost all missing and can only be found in such a collection as that gathered together in the past twelve years by Mr. Arthur Hind of Utica, with loving care and regardless of expense.

THE WAR STAMPS OF FIJI

By Ernest H. Oesch.

In 1916, this Crown Colony overprinted the 1/2d stamp (Scott's No. 80) and the 1d stamps (Scott's Nos. 81 and 81a) with the words "War Stamp." In the process of the overprinting and the conveying of the stamps to the Postmaster of Suva, each sheet (120 stamps to the sheet) of each denomination was delivered with the overprint inverted. These stamps were, in the regular course of business, sold to the public in general. A fair percentage of these stamps were used and lost. About 90 of each of these stamps are known to exist today; of which about two-thirds of the 1d are in used condition and about one-half of the 1/2d in similar condition. Therefore, it appears quite evident that the catalogue prices are very low. Scott does not catalogue the 1/2d with inverted overprint. It is Gibbons' No. 22a. Neither does Scott mention the 1/2d with the double overprint, Gibbons' No. 22b. Only 120 stamps of this variety ever reached the public and they are equally rare with those of the inverted overprint. The greatest rarity, however, is the pair of 1d stamps, one bearing the overprint and the other without it (Scott's No. 202b). This variety resulted when the sheet was so misplaced in the press as to cause the overprint to fall on the left-hand margin of the sheet, thereby causing the last row of the stamps on the opposite side of the sheet to be entirely missed. Originally there were ten such pairs in the only sheet so printed. It is very doubtful if the ten pairs are still in existence today. Therefore, this variety of Fiji, Scott's No. 202b, is at least as rare as Hawaii No. 1, the former catalogued at $200.00 and the latter at $12,000.00. In both the 1/2d and 1d denominations there appears a broken "W" in the word "War". These broken letters are constant as the top stamp in each left-hand vertical row—that is stamp "number one" in the sheet—is the stamp that carries the broken "W". These broken letters occur only in the 1/2d stamps of Plate No. 5 and the 1d stamps of Plate No. 6. These broken "W" varieties are recognised by none of the great cataloguers.

The catalogue price of Scott's No. 20 (the 1d carmine War stamp) is no criterion of the real scarcity of this stamp, for the majority of this variety had been used and lost before the difference in color came to the attention of collectors in Fiji and other countries, for during the stress of war times many such things were missed until it was almost "too late", as Mark Twain might have said, "to do anything about it."

In the case of both these war stamps a few sheets were disposed of through regular channels with the overprint 1½ millimeters, or slightly more, higher than the overprint is on the regular issue. These misplaced overprints are about one-twentieth as common as the regular issue which have "War Stamp" printed across the bottom of the vignette containing the King's Head.

FRANCE AND COLONIES

Our stock of these stamps is one of the best in the country, being the accumulation of years of careful study and purchase. Not only are the medium-priced stamps in stock, but also many of the rare items. We are constantly replenishing and expanding the stock, and are prepared to fill WANT LISTS. First class selections by countries, general selections of medium and higher priced stamps are kept in readiness to send to collectors known to us, or furnishing satisfactory references.

SOUTH SEA ISLANDS

We are building up a stock of these popular, but neglected countries, with the aim of being able to furnish the elusive, medium-priced items, mint and with postal cancellations. As each country is stocked, special advertisements will appear. At present, we are prepared to fill WANT LISTS on most of the countries, and especially the German Colonies, Labuan and Borneo.

AIR MAILS

The popularity of Air Mail stamps still continues to grow. Our stock includes those issues within the reach of most collectors, and we have a great many of the more expensive sets, short printings and provisional issues.

NEW ISSUES

It is our practice to keep up with all new issues of all countries, with especial attention to those single stamps of the "in-between" type, changes of color, surcharges, and the like. We also stock the new sets as they appear. General NEW ISSUES are sold at a fixed percentage over our cost. The French Colonies issues and France are priced at 6c per franc face value, and British Colonials at 32c per shilling to our regular subscribers.

GENERAL COLLECTIONS

In our store at 81 Nassau, collectors of New York and vicinity will find plenty of varieties to choose from our counter collections. Our books are specially strong medium priced 19th and 20th century stamps, used and unused, at the right prices Plenty of room and a cordial welcome to everyone.

If you can't come to see what we have, write to us,

Foreign New Issues

PERCY C. SMITH, Editor,
Lexington, Mass.

(Information in regard to new issues and varieties will be welcome. If reply be necessary, enclose self-addressed stamped envelope.)

The new issues noted below have been submitted by Mr. R. Roberts of London, England.

Belgium.—The 1fr50c blue has been overprinted with a winged wheel in black for use as "Service" stamp.

Italy.—The highest value of the Monte Cassino set, which has been kept a secret hitherto, has been issued in 10 Lire + 2 Lire in slate color. It is a full figure representation of St. Benoit, perf. 14, with no watermark.

Newfoundland.—The 1c green, unwatermarked, perf. 14, engraved, has just been issued from an entirely new die, the design being much the same as the Whitehead Morris issue. There are more lines of shading in nearly all the floriate ornaments, and the lines of shading in the map are very much coarser and thicker together than the previous issue. In the lettering of the map, Cape Norman comes above Cape Bauld, which is geographically correct, whereas in the old plate Cape Norman was placed below Cape Bauld. This is the only improvement in the stamp, the whole execution is very much inferior to the first issue of the map. It is understood that these stamps were printed by Messrs. Dickinson & Co., of the Old Bailey, London, E. C., a firm we have not heard of before as engraving postage stamps, though the work has a very familiar appearance to philatelists.

Peru.—The 20c has appeared in yellow in the design of A85, and the 8c red-brown and black, type A58, has been overprinted "Habilitada, 2 Centavos, 1929" in three lines in black. And again the same stamp is surcharged "Habilitada 2 Cts. 1929" also in three lines in black.

Ruanda Urundi. — The 15c grey-brown, Native type stamp of Belgian Congo, has been overprinted in two lines 19mm apart for use in this colony.

Sweden.—The 115o red-brown, Post-horn type, imperforate x 10 watermarked, printed from rotary plate, seventeen stamps wide in continuous strips.

Whitfield King & Co. inform us of these new issues:

Canada.—Current 4c in ochre shade.

Curacao. — Type A13, surcharged "Luchtpost" and new value, 50c on 12½c red, 1gld on 20c blue and 2gld on 15c olive-green.

Mexico.—New Air Post type, AP3, 35c green.

Russia.—New design picturing di ferent types of people in these values: emerald green, 3k blue, 4k claret, 1 olive, 30k grey-violet, 50k brown.

Uruguay.—Design AP5, 4c in brow perforated.

Belgium.—Mr. Henry Hooreman i forms Stamp Collecting that regardi the 20,000 sets of the Orval Abbey seri issued on August 19th, overprinted wi the Royal Crown in red or blue, and "I in gold letters on the occasion of t first stone of the Abbatorial Church bei laid by the Prince Leopold, these se seem to have franking power by Roy Decree, but no post office in the kingdo sells them, and they can only be ha from the offices of the Orval Abb Fund. They are selling at 125p a 200fr, however, in the shops.

British Solomon Islands. — Accor ing to information furnished by Whi field King & Co.'s Bulletin the 10sh a 1 pound values are officially recorded out of issue, and will not be reprinte The 10sh with script watermark shou turn out to be a very good stamp. T 3p value has been issued in a much dar er shade of blue than heretofore, and probably a new printing.

Irish Free State.—Official informa tion has been received by Stamp Colle ing to the effect that the Catholic Ema cipation Centenary stamps were to b withdrawn from sale on September 30t last.

Uruguay.—Champion's Bulletin Me suel states that the following is the nu ber of stamps printed of the new issue o air mail adhesives: 8c, 20,000; 16c, 20 000; 24c, 10,000; 30c, 20,000; 40c, 10,00 60c, 20,000; 80c, 5,000; 90c, 10,000; 1.20 5,000; 1.50p, 10,000; 3p, 5,000, and 4.50 5,000.

Stamp Collecting in a recent issue lis these new issues as soon to appear:

Afghanistan.—A definite stamp issu by the new Ameer Habibullah is fore shadowed.

Belgium.—The denominations of thi year's Yuletide Charity stamps are to b 5+5c, 25+10c, 35+15c, 60+15c, 1.75fr+ 25c and 5fr+5fr. The winged whee overprint is to be applied to the curren 5, 10 and 35 centimes stamps for parce post purposes.

Tangier.—Exercising her prerogativ under the Tangier agreement, Italy i about to open a postal agency in the in ternational city, when contemporary Ital ian postage stamps distinguished by th overprint "Tangeri" will be taken int use.

MARKET NOTES

By W. E. Fyndem.

t may be remembered that last week I lied briefly to a correspondent who cialises in the stamps of Grenada, and o asserts that S.G. 40 of that country mint condition is worth considering as investment. My answer was that, while as quite prepared to believe that it was so common as the catalogue price ght lead one to think, as an investment mp I could not recommend it.

Since writing that, I have made fairly austive inquiries, and the position is y much as my correspondent describes. nt blocks, strips, etc., of this modest mp are apt to be elusive, and in this nexion I shall be extremely obliged ny collector or dealer who has such cks or strips for disposal will comnicate with me, so that I may put my respondent in touch with him.

But because this is the state of affairs, s extremely rash to jump to the conion that the stamp is under-catalogued. my opinion, Messrs. Gibbons' estimate he value of this stamp, having regard the general basis of their prices, is y fair one. The stamp itself is not rce; it is not even elusive. There are gles in plenty, and that being so, it is ery ordinary sixpenny-worth.

Of course, as an investment, almost stamp of the Victorian era is quite nd, and if not more than a five per t dividend is required, there are many I can advocate. But my contention nd always has been, that a stamp inor who buys judiciously can look for least ten per cent on his money, and n the most ordinary of luck can get nty, or thirty, or even fifty per cent his outlay.

ndeed, one of the objects of these es is to help the stamp investor to the Stock and Share Market every e, so that he may become convinced, in turn convince his friends, that nps properly purchased are the finest -edged investment in the world. There those, I know, who pour scorn on the ector who makes a practice of keeping eye on the financial side of his hobby, they are an ever dwindling minority, those who read these Notes can rd to ignore them.

To return, just for a moment, to my respondent and his colony. As a whole, nada is an excellent country to collect, it contains one stamp at least which I e always regarded as a common scar—to use an expressive Irishism. This he 1898 commemorative, a modestly ed stamp which is seldom seen in any ntity.

The Edwardians are, of course, excelproperty, while the 1s (Badge) gle CA of 1908 is a really difficult n. Of the Georgians, the star turn is 1s blue-green with olive back; I e seen very few of these stamps ind. Here also I have a correspondent o is interested, and I shall be glad if who have one or more copies of this mp available will write to me.

There are, and always have been, nuous instances of what I have called mon scarcities. The pronounced short- of the 8 cents, orange, Mult. CA uritius will be well within the recolion of many of my readers; yet it has er been anything but an ordinary mp. Incidentally, the 8 cents Script eatens to follow much the same course, in this instance there is probably more tification for regarding it as elusive.

According to the catalogue, the 1904 ue of Zanzibar is very little superior the issues immediately preceding and owing it, but if sight of it is any erion, it is at least twice as scarce as ier.

Again, the 50 cents K.G. Hong-Kong, h olive back, is a notably scarce item, the catalogue tells me that it is only y slightly rarer than its emerald-surfed brother, which is quite readily ainable. It is just the seeming inialities of this nature which make the ncial side of stamp collecting so fasating.—Stamp Collecting.

WANT-LISTS

Collectors who are completing difficult want lists should bear in mind that, in addition to a very comprehensive stock, we have a world-wide connection in the stamp trade.

Using these facilities to the full, we are able to supply many stamps which have been sought for unsuccessfully in other directions.

All stamps are sent on approval. Lists may be numbered by any standard catalogue.

soldiers, was not enjoyed by them and the letter says, "as gentlemen and officers we expect it."

Postal matters appear not to have concerned the patriots in Congress very much though record is made of the appointment of Richard Bache, brother-in-law to Franklin, as Postmaster General, Nov. 7, 1776.

In the report of the proceedings of January 11, 1777, mention is made of the lack of patriotism of some of the deputy postmasters and the post riders, and the postmaster general is directed to produce a list of his employees, showing who recommended them for office. The Continental Congress, at this time, also inquired as to the delay in organizing the Post Office.

A committee of five was appointed on February 2, 1777, to revise the regulations of the post office and to report on better service. This committee consisted of John Adams, Heyward, Samuel Adams, Lee and Witherspoon. They reported eight days later that the postmaster general should engage two surveyors; that he should extend his line of posts to several points, and they advocated appropriating five thousand dollars for this work. Later in the year two more surveyors were appointed at six dollars per day, likewise an inspector of dead letters.

Probably in those days as now everyone knew how best to operate the posts, for we note that on November 13, 1777, the enactment of a resolution, appointing a committee of three, to inquire into the cause of obstructions in the department of the postmaster general.

Early in this year Congress had passed a resolution requesting all operators of Publick Ferries to give all possible dispatch to Constitutional Post riders.

The salary of the postmaster general was doubled (made $2000. the year) and the rates of postage was also doubled, by act of April 16, 1779. This despite the resolution of May 29 appointing a committee of four "to report a plan for regulating Continental expresses and to inquire into and rectify abuses in the general post office." This committee consisted of Lee, Samuel Adams, Witherspoon and Drayton.

Increased wage came to the postmaster general, by act of December 1, 1779, the amount being fixed at $3500. This came despite the fact that Congress had found it necessary to wipe out a $40,000 deficit in the post office, the previous year and was compelled to add an additional sum of $30,000 on December 27, 1779. At this date the postmaster general had his salary advanced to $5,000.

The committee on post office brought in a report, January 6, 1780, increasing the salary of the postmaster general to $10,000, but this was tabled. (R. Bache was still on the job.)

On May 5, 1780, Congress passed a resolution "that the present rate of postage be doubled; that all masters of packets and other vessels are required to lodge whatev'er letters they bring from aboard in the post office nearest to the port where they shall arive."

Later in the year (December 12) it was voted the "rates be fixed at half the rates paid at the commencement of present war."

By ordinance regulating post office, passed on October 18, 1782, is noted the first Congressional record of actual rates. The ordinance calls for rates, as follows:

For distance not exceeding 60 miles, one pennyweight light grains; upward of 60 and not exceeding 100, 2 pennyweights; upward of 100 and not exceeding 200, 2py. 16 grains; and so on, increasing 16 gr. for each 100 miles. Single letters to Europe 4 pennyweight. Letters to and from members of Congress and heads of departments were to be carried free.

There can be made no comparision as between the rates of the Revolutionary period and today, for money "had different values" in the several Colonies; paper money being useful in some places and of no similar value in others. The Congress of September 20, 1786, taking cognizance of the money situation decreed that postmasters could accept no paper money; that only specie was to be used for mail costs.

And, this is "the way of things" to the organization of the United States of America, when Samuel Osgood was appointed postmaster general by President Washington.

AGE COUNTS

Ours is an old stock of old issues accumulated over these past forty years. Naturally it is useless to ask us for Vatican issues of 1929 or Air Mails of yesterday. Those things are obtainable from dealers in new issues. But just ask us for an old Great Britain and Colonies, old Germans, Portugal and Colonies, etc., and see the showing. Also whilst many claim to have a wonderful stock of U. S. we merely would remark that we can probably show from five to fifty copies of any U. S. stamp listing less than $100.

Correspondence solicited with serious collectors.

Visits desired from local collectors.

Special appointments made to suit the convenience of people unable to reach our offices easily.

OUR "3-IN-1" CONTRACT

"I do not understand your 3-in-1 advertising contract. Can you explain it?" This is our reply to our would-be advertiser:—

This popular contract allows the use of varying rates dependent upon the space used. The rates per week are:—

½ in. (6 l.) $2.50 1 in. (12 l.) $4.00
2 in. (24 l.) $8.00

The rate over 24 lines is 25c per line until 72 lines have been used when these lower rates prevail:—

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS

By "Philatelia."

Bahamas. If the mooted Tercentenary stamps make a belated appearance next year it will be almost the first commemorative set issued by the Bahamas if we except the "Peace" issue. Barbados has had several such series, and, judging by analogy, it seems to make for popularity of the Colony concerned, provided the sets turn out good from the investment point of view, and also provided it is not overdone. Barbados seemed to have had a lot of different issues, but they are all popular, whilst there has been quietude for the past four years.

If the Bahamas set appears, however, I do not expect there will be any cause for excitement over them, as collectors' requirements are better considered than they were a few years ago, and publicity like that attending the Cyprus Commemoratives, whilst increasing the sales, does not make for rapid appreciation afterwards.

The permanent and current Bahamas issue is not likely to be definitely superseded, and I do not think there will be any cause for excitement. It is a very steady country, however, and nearly all the obselete issues of the century are sure to show a continued and steady appreciation. The best stamp is the £1 King Edward, and this is rarer than most people imagine. The Roman CA George in the same denomination is also steadily becoming more elusive. The 5/- and lower values of the obsolete series are nearly all well worth holding. The 2/- Pictorial with both CC and Roman CA watermarks should be picked up at current pricings.

Leeward Is. Some of the stamps much fancied, and boomed in certain quarters, like the 5d value are not showing any progress financially. There is an interesting point in the Leeward Is. Stamps Order of 1928 made by the Governor in Council. Whilst laying down the values and designs to be used in the Leeward Is. Presidencies, there is also a clause that states "Provided that any stamps heretofore authorised, but not now specified in the first and second schedules hereto, may continue to be used unless or until otherwise ordered." Under this clause certain values, like 4d and 5d, which certain people have assumed obsolete, have continued in use and on sale.

Southern Rhodesia. Many readers will have noticed that we are promised a new set for Southern Rhodesia at a not distant date, and I would recommend completing the current series whilst it is current. In used condition the 8d and 10d are relatively scarce, whilst the 1/6 and 5/- are the two best values in fine used state. It might be thought that no great rise is to be expected as printings have evidently been fairly substantial, but we must remember that the size and population of this country is less than the old Rhodesia, and a glance at the catalogue will show how the last set has risen in price in the few years since it became obsolete. I do not suppose there will be anything like such a rise with the current series, but there is no harm in making sure!

In the northern territory, where certain values are down for eventual obsolescence when current stocks are exhausted, both the 2/- and 7/6 should be bought now at a fraction over face. Once they are quite obsolete they will be worth double this. Although these values are down for withdrawal as redundant, they are no rarer used than the other high values, in fact, there have been more of the 7/6 value about than one might expect of such an odd denomination, but the parcel postage rates are very high from this territory and presumably this value is not infrequently required for genuine postal service.—Philatelic Magazine.

The Five Year Honor Club

A GREAT SUCCESS AND A MARKED TRIBUTE TO OUR STABILITY

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 15.

My dear Sirs:

Neglected to renew my subscription. Please enter a five year renewal, and reserve the thousandth membership of the five year club for me. Congratulations on the eleven thousand circulation.

BEACH CONGER, JR.

As this article was being typed for final copy to Portland, the above telegram reached Beverly. We thank Mr. Conger for his splendid message and really wish we could comply with his request. We enter him as No. 1,004.

For some months we have been looking forward to the day when we could record the fact that one thousand five year subscriptions had been received by the Weekly. This is the day and the occasion,—October 28, 1929. We do not boast very much about our publication, certainly no more than might be expected as a part of good advertising methods. A managing editor busy night and day with the problems of circulation should be forgiven if he dwells occasionally upon the subject that is dearest to the heart.

The ordinary mind cannot comprehend the stupendous task of securing 1,000 five year subscriptions to any paper or magazine, and the accomplishment is all the greater when no premiums, commissions, or inducement of any kind enters into the transaction. We confidently believe that no other publication, secular or religious, anywhere in the world, can put on such an achievement.

There is a reason for this! The Weekly has a strong hold upon the affections of its readers. We have evidence of that fact in every mail that reaches our office. They believe in Philately and in expressing their belief in the Weekly they evidence it by these five year renewals of subscriptions. Once in a great while a subscriber mildly takes us to task: "You call this an Honor Club. I pay $5.00 for a five year renewal, but where do I fit in on the honor question?" And we were compelled to admit that the "Honor" is ours and we appreciate it.

To Alfred F. Lichtenstein who receives honorable and worthy mention in this issue, belongs the credit of being number 1,000. At the Minneapolis exhibition, this summer, he paid $10 for a ten years renewal and requested the number given him. His renewal duplicated one for $10 given at the New York Exhibition. We hope Mr. Lichtenstein will live to a deserved ripe old age. We also gratefully acknowledge the assistance of those whose names are now published for the first time, and who have aided us in going over the top. The list follows:

#983 T. F. Harrington, Waltham, Mass.
984 Joseph Leon, Carteret, N. J.
985 F. F. Wills, St. John's, Nfld.
986 D. K. Tripp, New Bedford, Mass.
987 G. C. McNabb, Philadelphia, Pa.
988 G. G. Bergman, New York City
989 Chas. I. Altman, Des Moines, Ia.
990 C. G. Capron, M.D., Utica, N. Y.
991 H. V. Bisgaard, Chicago, Ill.
992 C. R. McConnell, Alliance, Ohio
993 J. J. Glauber, Buffalo, N. Y.
994 A. E. Clattenburg, Jr., Athens, Ga.
995 Evan C. White, Keene, N. H.
996 J. H. Beattie, M.D., Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.
997 C. A. Loescher, Menasha, Wis.
998 Lamont A. Hall, Waterbury, Conn.
999 Fred W. Noske, Milwaukee, Wis.
1000 A. F. Lichtenstein, N. Y. City

When Howard W. Codding of Cleveland found that he could not obtain No. 1000 he wrote us to make him number one on a new thousand. We make a bold beginning upon the second thousand by listing four as a starter:

1001 H. W. Codding, Cleveland, Ohio
1002 R. V. Rice, Chicago, Ill.
1003 Dr. C. W. Hennan, Chicago, Ill.
1004 Beach Conger, Jr., Ann Arbor, Mich.

We shall list week by week applications for Honor Club membership, and trust the interest in it will be unabated.

As we go to press, seven additional applications for membership in our Honor Club have been received, and we add the following names to those already listed:

1005 V. N. Conzemius, Coun. Bluffs, Ia.
1006 Frank C. Clark, Medford, Ore.
1007 W. M. House, Knoxville, Tenn.
1008 A. V. Buskirk, Bloomington, Ind.
1009 A. A. Wassercheid, N. Y. City
1010 Donald S. Curtis, Rochester, N. Y.
1011 H. E. Waitt, Centralia, Wash.

Mr. Clark writes, "give me No. 1001 if possible, otherwise any number to help the cause along. My first paper was received in 1901, so you can see the faith I have in the Weekly. Am getting along in years, yet hope to see the expiration of this renewed subscription, at which time I may perhaps ask for an old age pension."

Precancelled Stamps

A. F. Gamber, Editor,
Valley City, N. Dak.

is about time we are catching up the always rapidly moving precan- procession by reproducing a few late and setting down a little current ip. The Atlanta typeset has ir not been explained. The only ex- ation that comes at once to mind is, their regular electro may have been aid or damaged temporarily, such gs have been known to happen else- e. I have this type on the 9c flat reading down, the 11c up, 14c up, ompound down, and understand that as used on a very few of the 10c ound. If any of our readers can rt the existence of any other values, will be noted here later.

ese typeset types are always hand- things. Some collector with a flare the unusual and the striking ought rm a collection of typesets only. No will question the fact that such a ction would command instant and rable comment wherever it might isplayed.

---

e Geneva is another typeset, like- striking, though not in quite so boyant a style as the Atlanta. In- y to date fails to reveal the existence nore than this one value in this type compound). Since Geneva regularly the U-82 handstamp on other values, most reasonable inference is that the master, confronted by an order for ral thousand of the 1c, sought the of his local printer.

---

nd here's another, equally handsome. ser Park also uses a fragile looking stamp, similar to U-77, but with ed letters, so this printed type on the compound may also have come into g as the result of a larger order for value than the postmaster cared to to precancel by hand.

---

almost every case the type from ch these typeset plates are made is kly distributed after the one printing been made. As a result they form ted editions, as the book collector , and are usually pretty hard to pick after the few saved have been ab- ed.

---

nother typeset of recent issue, which I ain from reproducing because it was ably widely distributed, is Man- ter, Mass., likewise on the 1c com- nd. It exists both normal and double nal. The Manchester office is now g the 1c Bureau Print, so these type- are thus quickly a thing of the past.

---

o, this isn't the Liberty 1½c that has causing the Bureau Print collectors ear their hair, it is another typeset, you'll have to admit that it's a mighty dsome and unusual appearing one. On 1½c compound.

---

lampton is the home of a big nursery pany, no doubt this pretty typeset was pared for use on nursery catalogs. n on the 1c compound.

---

e careful not to confuse this new type of Detroit's with its B-11 Bu- type. The lines on this city type much closer together, and its letters are squarer. While waiting for its new B-11 Bureaus, the Detroit office has been using up some remainders with this city type. Among them are the 1½c perf. 11, the 9c perf. 10, and the 7c and 8c compound. It surely was a surprise to find the 1½c perf. 11; one would have thought their stock of these must have been used up some time ago. But the explanation is logical: a new supply of sheets is received from Washington and piled up on top of the stock then on hand. This process may be repeated several times before the bottom sheets finally come out into service. The result, should a new type have been adopted meanwhile, is to create just one more nightmare for us collectors, especially if we are city or state specialists. The general collector can rest a bit easier, but even he likes to have these short-lived issues.

Regarding the recent difference of opinion among Messrs. Carroll, Lampson, and the writer as to Bureau Prints, I can only say, with that delightful A. Edward Newton of Philadelphia, "I argue, not for victory, but with an honest desire to enlighten and inform, however mistaken I may be in my judgment."

Mr. G. Hawse sends in some interesting new items: Hiawatha, Kans., and Lancaster, Mo., both in U-75 (Lancaster is also using a U-53); Green City, Mary- land, and Plentywood, Montana, U-71; Kent, Wash., U-82; Rippey, Iowa, U-82. Mr. G. S. Dills reports Garrett, Indiana, using the same type on several of the current issue.

It is very desirable that the precancel fans who follow this department report their interesting new items to me for chronicle here, as soon as seen. Please submit a sample, it will be returned at once if you desire it. The fall season is now at hand, vacations are over, collectors are opening their albums and exchanges once more, the convention has fired us all with more precancel pep, a new set is just around the corner. Let's make this the banner year for this department. Do your share, every little helps.

The Edison commemorative was issued in such large quantities that it is certain to be precancelled by quite a number of offices in the regular course of business. A few such have already been seen. The present tendency of nearly all precancel collectors to frown upon unnecessary precancelling of any and all commemoratives has well nigh put a stop to this practice, and specialized collecting of such stamps is a thing of the past. This detracts in no way from those items coming through the regular channels of business, they are as legitimate as any precancel can be, and will be regularly catalogued and priced as reported.

This past year has seen a host of new precancelling towns with quite a number of new types, coming out on the 1c compound only. The change in postal rates made a year ago has changed the whole situation; those who are especially interested in the 1½c now find their work cut out for them in acquiring many new ones.

Some more late comers, gleaned from a hasty skimming over some of my pages: Abilene, Tex., U-12; Apopka, Fla., U-53; Auburn, Ind., U-12; Barnesville, Ohio, U-73; Barre, Vt., U-82; Borger, Texas, U-82; Bremerton, Wash., U-63; Bridgeman, Mich., U-77; Brownsville, Pa., U-73; and ditto Tenn., ditto type; Carson City, Mich., U-59, with serifs and lines; Clarinda, Iowa, U-82; Columbia, Tenn., U-75; Cotulla, Tex., U-82; Cudahy, Wis., U-82; Galax, Va., U-75; Glen Rock, Pa., U-75; Glenside, Pa., U-76; Grand Junction, Iowa, U-59, but lines; Grand Rivers, Ky., U-73. The U-82 type referred to above is similar to the Wilton, N. Dak., cut considerably reduced in size, that accompanied my recent North Dakota article. This type will be illustrated in the next catalog.

2c Ohio Canalization

By the time these notes appear, the new 2-cent stamp commemorating the opening of the Ohio Canals will have been issued, on Saturday, October 19th. The press notices advise that President Hoover will travel up and down the river and will dedicate the Ohio Valley Improvement Association monument in Eden Park, Cincinnati, on October 22nd.

In the capacity of an engineer he will view and inspect three dams, units in an interlocking system of 50 dams holding back the waters of the Ohio River from Pittsburgh to the mouth, and constructed at a cost of more than $150,000,000. President Hoover will arrive in Cincinnati at 9 A. M., leaving in the afternoon for Louisville, Ky., viewing the dams while en route.

The project was started in 1875 and is being completed fifty-four years later.

Washington Notes

Under date of October 8, the Third Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. F. A. Tilton, announced that the supply of the 2-cent Battle of Fallen Timbers stamps was exhausted and no more of the stamps will be available for issuance on post office orders. Postmasters are instructed not to make further requisitions.

The Postmaster General, Mr. W. F. Brown, issues a notice to postmasters under date of October 14, which will be of interest to our readers.

"The attention of all employees of the postal service is called to the notice appearing in the daily POSTAL BULLETIN of April 9, 1929, relative to the issuance of special overprinted postage stamps bearing the surcharge "KANS" and "NEBR" for distribution to postmasters in Kansas and Nebraska.

One of the purposes sought to be accomplished by the surcharging was to assist in the apprehension of post-office burglars and thieves who steal stamps from post offices and take them elsewhere for disposition. Employees should, therefore, be on the alert to detect the presence of large quantities of the surcharged stamps outside the states of Kansas and Nebraska and should report all such instances to their local inspector in charge for appropriate attention.

Attention is called to the fact that the surcharged stamps are valid for postage at all offices now using ordinary United States postage stamps and the utmost care should be exercised in the handling of this matter to the end that the users of legitimately acquired surcharged stamps may not be embarrassed."

Revenue $500 1917

In inspecting a complete sheet of four of the 1917 $500 Documentary, blue, Scott's No. 4247, it was noted that the bottom stamp showed a very distinct double transfer. Almost the entire top of the stamp is doubled and as the same plates were used for producing the Stock Transfer and Future Delivery stamps, no doubt, the same oddity exists with these two surcharges. The variety was called to our attention by Mr. John A. Klemann.

Documentary 10c Compound Perforations

In a recent Chronicle, mention was made of the fact that the 10c Documentary of 1917 had been located with compound perforation. Mr. H. M. Southgate explains its appearance as follows:

"I am sure this must have been made when the perforating was transferred from the stamp division to the surface division several years ago. I have been told that at the time all work in finished or unfinished form was turned over to the surface division. When perforating, the perforations between top and bottom of the stamps are run through first. This is the 11 gauge in use in the stamp division. The surface division was given two 10 perforating machines. They finished with the vertical 10's."

THE SEASON OF 1929-30

INDICATIONS POINT TO A VOLUME OF BUSINESS NEVER EXCELLED

The only way that the Managing Editor has of measuring business is by comparing the results of a given month with those of the previous year. Given September of last year as against September of this year, and we find a splendid increase in trade activities. October is far enough advanced for us to note a similar buoyancy. We anticipate that the dealer would be equally enthusiastic about business conditions and would join with us in our optimism over the season's prospects.

Since September 1 only, we have written numerous contracts, and we know no better way to instil confidence in the trade than to mention the names of the firms that in six short weeks have taken out block contracts for lines for the coming year as follows:

Gibbons Stamp Co., N. Y. C.	5,000 lines
H. E. Harris & Co.	5,000 "
M. Herbert & Co.	5,000 "
Homan-Krassa Co.	5,000 "
Lissiuk Philatelic Co.	5,000 "
Scott Stamp & Coin Co.	5,000 "
R. Lesgor & Reel	2,000 "
Carl Young	2,000 "
Pelham Stamp Co.	2,000 "
Eugene Klein	2,000 "
Old Colony Stamp Co.	2,000 "

This showing for September, and part of October, is an indication of the faith these firms have in the stamp trade as a business proposition. It makes a more eloquent tribute to conditions than mere optimistic words based upon desire rather than conviction.

We have a desirable 3-in-1 advertising contract that we write designed for those firms who like to use regular space each week. Under this contract a minimum of one-half inch is required. The price is $2 per week for an 11,000 circulation, and is a bargain in advertising. At any time an inch advertisement may be used instead, at $3.50, or two inches up to six at $3.00 per inch, six inches $16.50, and twelve inches $30.00. It's a very flexible and convenient contract.

During the period from September 1, to October 15, the following dealers have taken out one of these contracts:—

Arnosti, John	Gittis, Samuel	Phila. Hobby Shop
Buffham, F. B.	Gronberg, N.	Prohaska, Fred E.
Becker, Rudolph	James, Royal	Reuter, H. A.
Bovard, R.	Litt, A. O.	Stadler, W. M.
Cross Stamp Co.	Lund, Leland	Stamp House
Duntze, Thos.	Morrison, C. E., Jr.	Stockmar, Fred
Fargo Stamp Co.	Mpls. Stamp Shop	Watson Co., Inc.
Ferguson, A. M.	O. K. Stamp Co.	Wendl, Jos.

We have proven our case, and while we have not mentioned the scores of other contracts we are fully appreciative of the patronage extended. The purpose of this article is to present a story of six September and October weeks as an augury of what the coming months have in store for the stamp trade.

CONCERNING MY BUSINESS

By FREDERICK P. PROESSEL.

(The office asked Mr. Frederick P. Proes for some lines concerning his business and quote his reply verbatim.—W. O. W.)

I deal only in United States and Briti Colonial issues, concentrating particular on the 19 Century emissions.

There are so many fields today that feel a restriction is necessary to all b the largest and wealthiest dealers in c der to make a good showing. I ha chosen what I believe to be at once t most interesting as well as the best i vestment groups.

My "White Books" are now ready f circulation. I have recently acquired very fine 19 Century British Colon collection containing many mint iten and the individual stamps run as high several hundred dollars each. In U. S. have nearly everything from the 5c 18 to date, including a fine run of unusu cancellations.

I aim to stock only the best copi available. Every damaged stamp I fi in collections is destroyed. Average co ies, with few exceptions, go into lar combination lots which I dispose of cost. So, only the best go into my "Whi Books." Condition considered, I belie my stamps will be found fairly priced.

I handle no packets, accessories, albums, nor do I at present intend to iss any lists. Every stamp I have for sa goes into my "White Books", and throu that medium I make my bid for the pa ronage of the readers of MEKEEL'S.

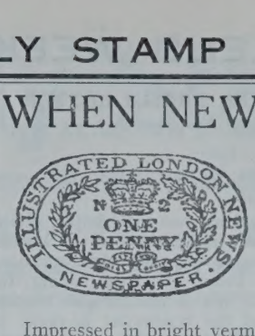
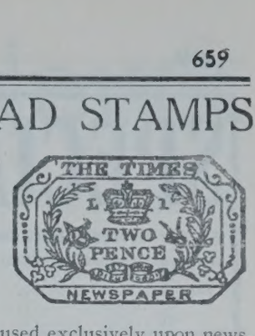
WHEN NEWSPAPERS HAD STAMPS



Privilege of Free Postage---The "Mercury Head" of Austria Worth $1,700 Today



By DOUGLAS ARMSTRONG.

Impressed in bright vermilion upon the margins of old newspapers will often be found the device of the heraldic emblems of the United Kingdom, rose, shamrock, and thistle, surmounted by a crown and displayed upon an outspread mantle. Actually this denoted a fiscal duty upon the number of inches of printed matter contained in that particular number, but it also conveyed the privilege of free postage under an Act of 1836.

There are many types of this newspaper "frank," for particulars of which interested readers are referred to an authoritative article by Mr. S. R. Turner, published in the Philatelic Magazine (Nov. 24, 1928). Curiously enough, they have received scant consideration from the general body of philatelists, with the result that they may be picked up for the proverbial "old song."

Printed Stamps

In June, 1855, however, this stamp duty upon printed papers was finally abolished, but newspapers could continue to enjoy the privilege of postal franchise by printing a stamp of equivalent value to the former tax upon their front pages.

In point of fact, permission to use a distinctive stamp of its own had been obtained by the Times as early as 1853, three years before the repeal of the stamp duty. Similar concessions were secured by the Stamford Mercury in 1856 and the Illustrated London News, in 1850.

The establishment of a uniform rate of ½d postage for newspapers, irrespective of weight, under the Act of 1870, and the introduction of an adhesive stamp of that denomination, did away with the necessity for these privately impressed "stamps."

Austria was the first country to provide special adhesive stamps for newspaper postage, and is the one of the few in which the practice continues to this day. The famous "Mercury head" stamps of Austria introduced on January 1, 1851, were used exclusively upon newspapers.

They had a nominal value of 1 kreuzer, but were sold to publishers in wholesale quantities at the rate of 60 kr. to the florin (instead of 100). Subsequently red and yellow stamps representing higher values were taken into use for franking packets of several journals despatched under a single cover, the red (6 kr.) being today one of the rarest of European stamps and valued at £350.

Another interesting and valuable series is the so-called "periodical" issue of the United States, which was in use between the years 1865 and 1898, some of which are highly valued.

The first issue, under Act of Congress of March 3, 1863, took place two years later, comprising three large rectangular labels, of 5 cents blue, with portrait of Washington (for weekly newspapers), 10 cents deep green, Franklin (for those issued twice a week), and 25 cents red, Lincoln, for papers published at more frequent intervals.

A Picturesque Issue

In 1869, without any explanation, these large newspaper stamps were withdrawn, and a return made to cash payments for newspaper postage. Six years later they were again revived.

Accordingly a long series of twenty-four "Periodical" stamps was prepared by the Continental Bank Note Company embracing twelve symbolical designs of female figures, printed from line-engraved plates and constituting one of the most picturesque issues known to philatelists.

These stamps were not on sale to the public in the ordinary way, but were affixed to the counterfoils of receipts for payment of postage in cash, tendered by the publisher. At intervals these counterfoils were forwarded to Washington for destruction, thus accounting for the extreme rarity of certain varieties.—Bazaar.

ANOTHER BREHM LETTER

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 13, 1929.

Mr. Phil. A. Telic,
Everywhere, U. S. A.

My dear Phil:

So you liked my last little letter, giving you thumb-nail impressions of the Minneapolis convention and exhibition, and now, like Oliver Twist, you are crying for more? Well, it's a fine bright Sunday afternoon and the typewriter is rarin' to go, so we're off!

But I haven't been to any other convention or exhibition lately, so what will I write about? You want me to tell you a bit more about my cover collection? Charlie Severn seems to think it's a humdinger, if you get me, and one other stamp-man, who rambles all over this fair continent of ours in quest of stamps and covers, says there isn't anything like it anywhere else in this country.

Well, let's see. To begin with, there is a cover cancelled by every town of Mason in the U. S. A.; there are 15 of those towns, spread from Virginia to Wyoming, and that letter traveled 22,000 miles over a period of 3½ months to gather all those cancels. You understand, I would send it to Mason, Wyo., with a request to the postmaster for a cancellation and return to me; then I'd affix another stamp and send it to the next Mason, and so on down the line. After it was all complete, it received the finishing touch by courtesy of Leon M. Abbott, 33°, of Boston, Sovereign Grand Commander of all Masons, who kindly autographed the cover for me.

I sent another cover out after cancellations; it shows the postmarks of Cadillac, LaSalle, Buick, Marquette, Olds and Mobile, Pontiac, Chevrolet—a regular "General Motors family party," eh what? And it bears the autograph of Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., President of General Motors Corporation.

Next I find that Appleton cover—the one that went galivantin' to every town of Appleton in the country—there are nine of them—covering some 6,500 miles in 21 days or so; and mind you, this one did not come back to Appleton, Wisconsin, after each cancellation, but went right on from Appleton to Appleton, and each of the nine postmasters very kindly and carefully cancelled just one of the nine 2-cent stamps that were affixed. Did you ever try that on your piano?

Then I have a cover bearing the autograph of our new PMG—yes, the Hon. Walter F. Brown. On this cover I sketched an imaginary postage stamp surrounding his picture in the center; then I sent it to his home town for cancellation on his birthday, after which it made the trip to Washington with request for his good autograph—and it came back with the most courteous letter imaginable.

Then there's a cover decorated with the emblem of De Molay—it is autographed by Frank S. Land, Grand Scribe and Founder of this great Order for Boys—it was mailed out of Kansas City at the time of their Tenth Anniversary early this year.

Next we have a large cover—about 8x11 inches, decorated and bearing the likeness of all the Grand Officers of Kiwanis—it was mailed out of Milwaukee at the time of their International Convention this summer, and it, too, bears the autographs of every one of the 18 gentlemen that make the Kiwanis wheels go 'round in America.

Which brings me to a large post-card—also about 8x11 inches—which I just garnered at the Minneapolis convention. It is made up like our flag—5c Hawaiian commems for the blue field, and coil Edison commems for the red stripes. It is nicely stamped off and cancelled at the Philatelic Exhibition Station, Minneapolis, and bears some 20 autographs ranging from Phil Ward and Captain Lipsner, to George H. Drake, Post Office Inspector in charge of the Minneapolis post office.

And here's a suit of 13 playing cards, used as post-cards, each properly cancelled, beginning with Ace, Texas, and ending with King, Nebraska.

In First Day covers I think I have something absolutely unique. You know, when George Rogers Clark licked the Britishers down there at Fort Sackville, (now Vincennes, Indiana,) he opened up for us, and our use, the so-called "Northwest Territory," comprising all or portions of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. And a very bright young man in Indianapolis studied train-schedules so closely for February 25th of this year (that was the First Day for the Clark stamp, if you will remember,) that he was able to mail covers with the Clark stamp from each of the six capitals of the above mentioned States on said February 25th—yep, I have them before me as I write—Saint Paul, Madison, Springfield, Indianapolis, Columbus and Lansing. The same very bright young man, who presented me with this set, tells me there are only six other sets in existence—what would you offer for mine, Phil, old boy?

And, of course, my real weakness has always been registration cancellations. You know, I've told you before how I burn the midnight oil carving designs out of corks, slap 17c after 17c in postage on covers, and then mail them out with a silent prayer that they may connect with a postmaster who is big-hearted and will help a poor, nut stamp-collector along. Hundreds of such covers are unaccounted for at this date—swallowed up in the Great Unknown of Hard Hearted Postmaster's Hearts—but some of them come through, sometimes autographed by the postmaster, himself, in person. Yes, Phil, I have most of the berries, most of the flowers, some birds, lodge-emblems, fishes, mail-bags, bales of cotton, autos, beds, thistles, wings, fans and oodles of other registry cancellations, all suitable and applicable to the towns from which they emanate. You'd be surprised at some of the names of the 52,000 good old U. S. A. postoffices.

And of course, I have the first and the last cover cancelled with our own Appleton "apple", besides most of the other "standard" cancellations that were in vogue and so much in print during the latter part of 1928.

In air mails I have most all the Zeppelins, I reckon; also some of the First Flights carried by our own Lindy. Got one of Appleton's first flight covers, autographed by Speed Holman, the pilot, and bearing a Pan American "invert"—you guess how it came to be an invert, Phil, when they list at about 1000 smackers per each.

Well, old son, this is about the end of a perfect autumn day and I think I better hang my "close" on this line.

Till we write again—yours,

H. M. Brehm.

P. S. Just received two more interesting covers—one showing a pretty little cub-bear, trying to find his way out of the World's Series woods, and it's autographed by Wm. Wrigley, Junior; the second cover shows a stalwart Athletic batsman, about ready to swing, and is signed by Connie Mack, himself. Not so bad—not so bad.

The Possibly Precancelled "Wade" Envelopes and Wrapper

By STEPHEN G. RICH.

A. B. Wade was postmaster at South Bend, Ind., during the later '60's and earlier '70's. On the side he was a publisher, publishing account books for keeping post-office accounts, and perhaps at least one manual on keeping post-office accounts. At least three of the items of postal stationery used by him have survived to this day, and two of these have been described in philatelic journals during 1929.

Under the caption, "Is this an early precancelled envelope?" I described, in the American Philatelist of March, 1929, an envelope, the 2 cents of 1863 on buff, in the collection of Mr. Joseph S. Rich, of New York City, bearing a Wade inscription printed across the stamp. This envelope, which is Scott No. 2348, does not bear any indication of having been used. The Wade overprint is in two lines, over the stamp, reading: "Wade's Double Index Post Office Book,—Aug. 11, 1869." The envelope bears, where the address would come, the legend "Postmaster at" and three dotted lines. These lines have not been written on; therefore this is probably an unused specimen.

Under the caption "Early Precancelled Wrapper," Mr. Lewis A. McArthur described, in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY of Sept. 30, 1929, page 587, a Wade wrapper contemporaneous with the Joseph S. Rich Wade envelope. This is the 2 cents black wrapper of 1863, Scott No. 3008. The imprint is in five lines here, with the date Dec. 11, 1869. It is again "Wade's Double Index Post Office Book." As with the envelope, there are lines to permit of addressing the wrapper to some postmaster. This specimen is used.

In my own collection of envelopes of publishers I have recently inserted a third Wade envelope, as yet undescribed. This is the 1 cent Reay on orange, 1870 issue, Scott No. 2396. Wade covers almost the entire face of the envelope with advertising of his publications. He prints this material right over the stamp, leaving only enough space for addressing the envelope to some postmaster. Omitting the varieties of type, the inscription across the face reads as follows:

Wade's Double Index Post Office Book, $5.60.—Wade's Single Index Post Office Book, $1.50.—The Standard Work For Post Office Accounts.—Specimen Page Sent Free on Application.—Address, A. B. Wade, Postmaster, South Bend, Ind.—Twenty-five Hundred Offices Supplied.—10th Edition—Enlarged and Improved—Just Published.—Post Office Accounts! Post Office Accounts!—Kept With Neatness, Accuracy, and Dispatch, By —Wade's Double Index Post Office Book, $5.60.—Wade's Single Index Post Office Book, $1.50—Sent Securely Wrapped and —Postpaid on Receipt of Price.

Postmaster .....

Wade's Double Index Post Office Book, $5.60.—Wade's Single Index Post Office Book, $1.50.

Address, A. B. Wade, P. M., South Bend, Ind.

My specimen was addressed to the postmaster at Salem, Ct. It furthermore was cancelled over the printing, with the ordinary town cancellation of South Bend, Ind., dated Feb. 1, no year. This is in black, with a "killer" consisting of one wide vertical bar and a vague irregular blob alongside it. There are no backstamps or other postal markings on the envelope.

Despite a request for information about the earlier Wade envelope in my article on it, nothing has yet come to my notice that will either prove or disprove that it is a precancel. Mr. McArthur's specimen would appear to have seen actual use as a precancel. My own later envelope is clearly not a precancel.

It may not be amiss at this point to call to the notice of persons interested in early precancels the fact that precancelling has at all times been legitimate in American postal operations. Until the comparatively recent introduction of precancelling as a systematic practice, with the establishment of the system of permits for the use of precancels, there does not appear to have been any official ruling which would prevent precancelling. We therefore need not assume that Wade or anyone else using precancels very early either needed or got special dispensation, by pull or otherwise, to use such stamps and postal stationery.

It will be evident that the Wade envelopes were used for circulars, prospectuses or sample pages of the Post Office Books. The fact that the wrapper did not have any additional postage added by means of adhesives points to a similar use; for the chances are greatly against any book costing $1.50 or $5.60 being small enough to go through the mails for 2 cents, under either the rates then existent or any other rates.

Prices And Condition

The trend of modern collecting is condition first and price second and it is certainly the very best policy for one who is forming his collection both for pleasure and as an investment.

Quotations in my annual price list may not be the lowest, but I believe them to rank fairly with other quotations, condition considered. Page one of my price list contains a very accurate description of condition—more definite, I believe, than contained in any other price list.

I invite trial orders upon the understanding that anything may be returned for any reason whatsoever. I cheerfully refund both your cost and postage on anything returned.

5c Air Mail Combinations

GROUP II

Center plates 597 to 600, 608 to 611, 616 to 619, in combination with all borders.

Group II not only contains the largest number of known combinations on our chart (366) but in many respects is the most interesting. Here we find much that is worthy of our attention. There are numerous gaps, some of which will never be filled, and solid blocks of empty squares which for various probable reasons have not shown up to date. In this group we also find the blue moon varieties which so many are searching for and so few have; the double TOP variety which everyone has and are very common, and several combinations of seeming rarity, that is, very few specimens having been located to date. For example, there are only two known combinations of center plates 19597, and above with border plates 19571, and below and in each instance, as far as I am aware, these are in the sole possession of H. M. Southgate.

Just why only two combinations out of a possible block of 144 have shown up, or why other combinations in this block, if they exist, have failed to appear, is, I confess, somewhat of a puzzle. That some do exist, I have been reliably informed. The question is: how many? Perhaps some readers may have a few and can enlighten us, and again, perhaps they haven't! We'll start off with the two aforementioned elusive birds. We can list the numbers even though we do not have the stamps! Here they are: center plates 19597 and 598 with border 19571. We next have a small block of thirty-six—all twelve centers in combination with borders 985-986-987.

There are many gaps in the next few rows so these we list individually as follows: center 19597, border 19590-591; center 19598, border 19588 to 593 inclusive; center 19599, border 19588-590; center 19600, border 19588-590-591; center 19608, border 19588-590-591; center 19609, border 19588-590-591; center 19610, border 19588-590-591; center 19611, border 19590; center 19616, border 19588-590; center 19617, border 19588-590; center 19618, border 19588-590-591; and center 19619, border 19590.

It is interesting to note that borders 589 and 592 are found but once in this group—both in combination with center 598. I am of the opinion that both, in combination with center 597, will eventually show up, but at present have no good reason to offer why either or both with center 599 and above have failed to appear.

We now come to the main block, which consists of 256 entries. All twelve centers in this group in combination with borders 19605 to 19635 inclusive, have been reported with the exception of these twenty: center 19599, borders 19630-635 inc.; center 19600, borders 19632-635 inc.; center 19609, borders 19627-629; and center 19610, borders 19628-635 inc. No copies from the next three borders (696-697-698) have ever been found. The remaining eleven combinations recorded in Group II are: center 19597, border 19699; center 19598, border 19701; center 19611, border 19701; center 19616, borders 19-699-701; and centers 19617-618-619, with borders 19699-701. You will note that no copies have been reported from border 19700, and so far nothing has been reported with borders 19702 and above. Group III will follow in the next issue.

Since the publication of Group I, ten additional combinations have been reported which should be entered in this group on our chart: center 19545, borders 19606-607; center 19546, borders 19606-607-614; center 19547, border 19607; center 19548, borders 19607-614-620; and center 19576, border 19621. All the foregoing from our West Coast correspondent, W. W. Hopkinson.

The O. R. C. stamp arrived today, and true to prediction, proves to be a very ordinary looking affair. Plate numbers were chronicled in our column some time ago. We acknowledge with thanks first day covers from Mrs. J. W. Lundy, George R. McNeil and George Griffin, which arrived just before our copy was sent to the publisher. We also thank M. J. Casey for a list of air mail combinations, and Mrs. W. W. Hopkinson, Leon D. Miller, Thomas H. Hawk, and Louis O. Dutcher, for letters on various subjects.

Here is the first batch of current plate numbers to be presented for our chronicle, all sent by William Ward. 1c, 15549; 2c, 15595, 19518-519; 3c, 18458; 4c, 18082; 7c, 19238; 10c S. H., 19553; and 15c S. H., 19560. The first two plates on our list were authorized in 1924, and it seems somewhat unusual for such early numbers to appear at this late date in a metropolitan district.

L. O. Dutcher kindly sends an anniversary cover celebrating the 152nd defeat of Burgoyne at Saratoga Battlefield, Bemis Heights, N. Y.

UNUSED U. S. STAMPS AT FACE VALUE

Probably nothing has contributed more to the present great interest in U. S. stamps and first day covers than the Philatelic Agency. The Agency is selling more than a quarter of a million dollars worth of stamps per year.

Why did the Government recognize philately to the extent of providing a bureau for supplying collectors?

How do you order unused U. S. postage stamps from the Agency at Face value?

Ten cents in stamps will bring you a little booklet giving this and other information, a list of the stamps which the Agency sells, and a sample copy of WASHINGTON STAMP NEWS.

POSITION PIECES

The world-wide demand for commemorative issues has resulted in practically clearing the market of the most desirable position blocks and strips; those with plate numbers, imprints, initials, arrows, center-lines, etc. These today are selling at prices well above those of a year or two ago but still well below their relative value.

We are breaking up a collection of commemoratives which contains many interesting blocks, ranging from the Columbians, Omahas and Louisiana Purchase to the Norse-Americans and later issues. Blocks range from those of four to half sheets. May we quote prices or send on approval? [341

J. O. MOORE, INC., HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y.

Philately and Aerophilately

By Geo. T. Street.

Almost all stamp collectors commence with the stamps of the entire world. About the time that they have transferred the collection to larger and better albums the second or third time, they begin to realize that they have neither the energy, time, nor means to obtain what they would consider a good collection. The more a collector learns and the more stamps he gets, the more he wants. He then decides to specialize in some country or group of countries, probably including his own, as he is more familiar with its stamps than with those of any other. In a comparatively short time, he is apt to discover that specializing in certain limited lines has eliminated much of the pleasure he received as a "general" collector. Formerly, changes in world geography and history were kept up with through the new issues of stamps, but now that interest has disappeared. As the more common of the stamps are obtained, the growth of the collection slows down, and each additional specimen added means a greater outlay. Collecting, the actual acquisition of new specimens, thus loses much of its interest.

At the present time, there is an outlet for philatelic activities, of the "general collection" class, but limited in scope. With the development of aerial navigation has come the air mail service, and issue of special air mail stamps. The collection of such stamps, aerophilately, is of decided interest at the present time. To date there have been issued but about 1,000 varieties, including the semi-officials, those stamps issued by the Companies transporting the mails under contracts with Governments, and used in addition to the regular stamps, such as those in use in Canada and Colombia. A collection of mint air mail stamps is not such an enormous undertaking, and the keeping such a collection up-to-date is not out of the question, for only a comparatively few new stamps are issued each month. Used specimens may be added to the collection, and the stamps used on cover. The earlier the postmark, the better, and if a first day cover is obtainable, better still.

At this stage, the collector discovers that most first flights in countries commencing air mail service, do not bear air mail stamps, as such stamps are not as a rule issued until the service is started. The next step in collecting naturally is the obtaining first flight covers, one of each new flight. Pioneer covers are searched for, and when found obtain a place of honor in the collection. While one cover of each first flight is enough to record such a flight, the collector will generally become interested in the development and expansion of the air mail system, particularly of his own country, and will desire a cover in each direction, or one from each city, or one from each city in each direction. He discovers that there were a small number of covers flown from one city to another city on the route and endeavors to get that cover for his collection. Possibly he goes so far as to attempt to get "full coverage" on certain routes, particularly if a route is in the immediate vicinity of his own city. "Full coverage," the collection of a cover from each city to each other city on the route, does appeal to many, as being a complete record of such a route, but the multiplicity of covers bars their being considered in a Standard Catalogue, on account of the comparatively few collectors who attempt it. Most dealers do not attempt to classify their stocks on "full coverage" basis, either, for it necessitates the listing of too many items. Thus "full coverage" is considered work of a specialist in aerophilately. Another specialization is variation in postal markings on first flight covers. Possibly, there is a regular postmark applied at the City Post Office, and a different postmark applied to covers mailed at the air field. Many first flight covers have an additional postal marking, a "cachet," identifying the cover as having been dispatched on the first flight. This "cachet," applied by the Post Office Department, is an official marking, a guarantee, and should not be confused with cachets applied by local organizations or private parties. Many collectors specialize in variations in the cachet, particularly in variations in color of ink used, but one can readily see how unscrupulous collectors and dealers may get friends in the Post Office to use different color ink pads on their covers, thus making varieties which have no real official status, and it is difficult to differentiate between legitimate color variations and those made intentionally as a favor to individuals. The specialization of "full coverage" is popular, however, on international routes, particularly in the case of each mail stop being in a different country, and most collectors want one cover from each country to each other country on the route, at least.

With the issue of an Air Mail Stamp Catalogue and the Standard Airpost Catalogue of the World, the collector has reliable guides for his hobby. The Standard Airpost Catalogue lists Air Mail Stamps, both official and semi-official, of the entire world, as well as pioneer air mail covers, and all official first flights. Thus, we see that what started as being a specialization in stamp collecting, has by gradual steps taken on the status of an important branch of philately, which promises to become more and more popular. And right in this connection comes the point of increase in values. The writer realizes that the orthodox philatelic writer insists that we should collect for the sake of collecting, and not have the sordid idea of values in mind. That is fine for the wealthy collector, but I think that it is safe to say that at least 99% of stamp collectors would not be happy, after obtaining a specimen for the collection at a price which should not have been considered just at the time that some necessity was urgently needed, if he could not quiet the still, small voice of conscience with the statement that the increase in value put the purchase in the investment class, and that it would soon be worth a lot more. The phenomenal rise in the value of U. S. pioneer air mail covers takes one's breath. Early Government flights are rising, and the earlier of the contract covers are following the same trail. Those who are now collecting, and those who start at this time, will have the better collections for a smaller outlay, and the actual values will increase enormously. Many thousands are going to commence specializing in Aerophilately in the near future, and the increased demand for the earlier air mail stamps and first flight covers is certain to bring about increased values. Now is the time to obtain all the covers one can, within the limits of one's collecting scope. Each collector may collect what he chooses. He may be satisfied with one cover of each first flight, or he may go to the other extreme and attempt to obtain full coverage, and even go into variations of postal markings, but the sooner he obtains what he desires, the less it is going to cost him. Foreign first flight covers are, as a rule, still materially lower in value than U. S. covers. With the Standard Catalogue to assist the Aerophilatelist, the collection of these foreign covers is going to increase, with the consequent rise in value as the demand grows.

With the A. P. S. and the S. P. A. both having Air Mail Units, and the A. A. M. S. in a flourishing condition with hundreds of enthusiastic members; with increasing space being devoted to air mails in practically all philatelic papers, and a new Airpost Journal, dedicated exclusively to the collection of air mails, published by an experienced firm, it can readily be seen that Aerophilately is a branch of the main hobby which is gaining in popularity and is well worth the consideration of discriminating collectors.

While the hobby of air mail collecting has been developing, a sister hobby, the collecting of covers commemorating events in the development of aviation, has grown apace. While it is an interesting hobby, it should not be confused with air mail collecting, as many have been prone to do in the past. Many collectors follow both lines, but to the philatelist, the collection of airposts is certain to make the stronger appeal, as it is a branch of his own hobby, while the collection of aviation souvenirs appeals more strongly to those who are not collecting from the philatelic angle.

NEW SEASON APPROVAL BOOKS
During the summer I have remade all my approval books, and have combined in them many important purchases made during the past year.
The following is a list of new books that are now ready. In general these contain stamps from a few cents to some twenty dollars each. A list of my books of rare stamps will be issued later on.
Prices will be found very moderate, as a rule 35 to 50 per cent below catalogue quotations, and all these priced on this basis of the 1929 catalogue.

Speaking of oddities, I have an idea—that is, I think it is an idea. Did you ever make a stamp "find"? Was it an easy unexpected one, or did you have to employ all the ingenuity, wiles, "strings", and what-not that were at your command?

Many a collector has told me that he would rather make a "find", than to really have the stamps, and I say "uh-huh", meaning yes, with reservations, so as not to interrupt the continuity of the story. When I see the stamps the owner thinks as little of them as he does of his right eye—of that I'm certain by his glow of triumph as he tells how easy it was to get them.

What do you say to writing the Forum about some real interesting "find"? Some of the stories I have heard would be much more relished by the reader than one about some little red dot that happened to fall inside the fort of a Clark stamp. I like to get a few items into the Forum that are stampic, yet unusual, and can be read with enjoyment by the collector of eight, or eighty.

How about a story? This means an actual happening of course. I hear of plenty. As a rule the finder gets something nice for nothing, or almost nothing, and under these distressing circumstances he does not wish to broadcast it where it may reach the eye of the unfortunate who overlooked it; or who "let it go for a song". Start something about your "find", make it short and snappy, but true.

Omit names if you wish. If you don't want to say Owosso, or Oshkosh, say Springfield, there are over two dozen of this name in the P. O. Guide. If you can let the correct names go in it may seem a little more real to the reader, and if you have left barren soil, no Phil Sherlock Holmes can go over the ground again, and gather in something that was overlooked.

Maybe your story will give some ambitious philatelist the method of procedure he has long looked for in approaching a nest of material that he is at a loss to know how to annex. Many a reader doubtless knows of a prospect which he feels unable to approach at the present moment, yet while he awaits the proper time, some one may get there before him and walk away with the entire lot. Don't have your story end up ". . . and I awoke just in time to catch the 8.13", or "They emptied the ole hair trunk and packing case out behind the barn, and burned them at the stake". That stuff is taboo, we want true tales of bygone finds.

L. H. SCHUMAN 368 Broadw
Member S.P.A. Youngstown, Oh

My best "find" was when I was a kid, a member in good standing of the Beech St. Hornets, our athletic club. Some good hauls had been made at some of the paper mills, which at that time bought old paper along with rags for the making of new paper.

On one incursion where we had to negotiate an eight foot fence with sharp, very sharp, barb wire atop, my pal and I made our find, unexpectedly. We scaled the eight footer without incident, and by a circuit brought a freight car between ourselves, and the entrance to the warehouse where the papers were being unloaded. Voices from the doorway of this shed forced us to do something snappy, and we both climbed into the narrow opening on the off side of the freight car. We saw bundles galore, all of the same size, and tied with manilla rope. In the uncertain light there appeared to be a blue stamp on each sheet in these bundles, so we each grabbed a bundle, and quietly exited toward the fence.

Those stamps were sure funny. I can remember them as though I found them last night. They were a dull blue, a little watersoaked, maybe, and had 1882 on each side, the name Norvin Green at the bottom in script in a label, and they all seemed to have a straight edge somewhere on them, tho we paid small attention to straight edges in those days. Western Union Telegraphs!—but the catalog value, oh, boy, $5 each!!! We got 'em home and soaked them off the sheets. Then we judiciously parted with a lone copy for some stamp we simply couldn't live without—you know what I mean. When we had annexed everything available in our vicinity, including a single cylinder printing press with gummy red ink (and no black) we had to seek new fields of disposal. So we set up one red letter ad. It was a peach, and quite reminiscent of other ads I've seen, where one tries to dispose of something he has in quantity by naming it about every third item in a slightly different description. Ours was a "Rare Stamp Catalog, $5 for Sale or Exchange—or what have you?"

This helped us to dispose of several. After the lull in the market, we pooled our holdings, and sold our rare find to a well-known N. Y. dealer, taking the "money" out in trade, but no Seebecks.

The sequel was that this particular stamp dropped in cat. val. to $3.00, where it lies today. If your copy is stained a bit, it probably came from this find. Fortunately no indelible pencil was used on the "forms" we happened to grab.

That was a right smart find for a kid of those days. If I were to find something similar today I would not know what to do with it. We had probably 1,000 copies of a $5 stamp. This is perhaps one of the few U. S. stamps which has taken a tumble in cat. value, and I am rather proud to have done that bit of catalog changing, even if it were downward—that's something rarely done.

I know of three stories that I like better, and I hope that some of you readers will come through with something better. Maybe someone has traveled and had access to some warehouse down in South America. Perhaps you have blundered into a deserted house up in New Hampshire that had the correspondence of the old store in the attic, and you saved out all the 5 and 10 cent '47's. Maybe you bought a cover with a block of four of the Confederate frame line stamp back when it was scarcely recognized as differing from the regular 10c stamp. Maybe you found an old trunk full of what you hoped were early U. S. and turned out to be nothing but Penny Blacks, and early Australias, etc.—too bad!

Well, what did you find?

1930 ZUMSTEIN CATALOG—(Europe Only)

This handy and hardy perennial is with us again. Its bright green cover, many illustrations and thorough yet simple arrangement make it a most desirable catalog. Its field is Europe only.

While it is written in German one hardly need understand that language to peruse it to advantage; a very complete Dictionary (36 pages) can be had without extra charge. English speaking collectors should ask for Dictionary "A", which contains among others the English translations of the terms used throughout.

In this way the publishers have made the catalog readily available to any one knowing at least one of thirteen tongues of polyglot Europe.

Boy, page the League of Nations and explain to them the difficulties of stamp collecting without a universal language.

AUCTION!!

On November 7th, 8th and 9th we shall inaugurate our auction department by holding our FIRST SALE.

With a few exceptions, this sale contains nothing but unused stamps.
If your name is not on our mailing list, let us hear from you.
This is a big sale and you ought to have the catalogue. Write us!!
For the benefit of those who wish to examine the lots before the sales begin, our office will be open until 7 P. M. every day from Nov. 4 to Nov. 7.

Attention is called to an error appearing in the foreword of our auction catalogue. Apologies are extended to Mr. E. B. Power, whose name was misspelled.

In comparison with Scott's catalog, type is larger and bolder face, thus ca ing less eye-strain to the older gene tion. However, the new styles in sk should also tend in the same direction

Since prices are, after all, the princi items of interest in a catalog we g below a comparison with Scott's 1 edition from which the erudite and ca collector can draw his own conclusio

Swiss francs in Zumstein have b figured at 20 cents each, near enough all practical purposes. All stamps quoted used, unless otherwise mention The numbers in parentheses are Scott's

FORD'S AIR TOUR CACHET

DETROIT, Oct. 25.

The Ford air tour which started from the Ford airport, Dearborn, Mich., Oct. 5, covered 32 cities in many states and came to a finish Monday, Oct. 21, at the above mentioned airport. There was no newspaper announcement that a special cachet was to be used, but postmaster Geo. Neisel of Dearborn favored local philatelists with the information and many availed themselves of the opportunity of mailing letters from Greenfield to the Ford airport, Oct. 21. The cachet was in purple and also in red with the inscription "National Air Tour" above an airplane, and below, "To Ford Airport, Oct. 21, 1929." The familiar Edison cancellation was used on this air mail service.

NEW BUREAU PRINT EDITOR

Some weeks ago we announced the death of C. A. Carroll, who for some months had edited the precancel department devoted to Bureau Prints. His death was a severe loss to philately and we were in a position where we could appreciate his work. Believing that a good many subscribers are interested in these stamps, it has been our desire to secure the very best available man to carry on this department, and we have found him in Mr. H. M. Southgate, Chevy Chase, Md. The mere mention of his name will carry with it an approval of the estimate that we place on Mr. Southgate's ability, and our readers will follow along with interest his contributions in coming issues.

EDISON JUBILEE POSTMARK

DETROIT, Oct. 25.

In connection with the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Edison Electric Lamp the P. O. Dept. authorized the establishment of a post office at Henry Ford's "Early American Village," Dearborn, Mich., to be known as Greenfield Station. It was opened for one day, Oct. 21, and will doubtless be reopened for permanent use sometime in the future. A building that served as a drugstore and post office in Phoenix, Ct., and built more than a hundred years ago, became the property of Mr. Ford. It was torn down, and rebuilt as a part of the "Village" and is now occupied as the Greenfield post office, but is really a sub station. All mail leaving this post office on Oct. 21 was given the familiar Edison postmark, and considerable mail was sent and received during the day, although collectors were not generally aware that anything of a philatelic nature would be issued. It is said that Mr. Edison received nearly 700 letters during the day.

Nothing Succeeds like Giving the Most for the Money!

—and there lies the open secret of the increasing success of our publications! We are constantly striving to give the best values on the stamp market—and to give them with a merchandising service that places the satisfaction of our customers ahead of everything else.

A pictorial history of our progress to ever-better values is shown in the illustration. The four publications at the top are still available, and we urge you to write today for the ones you want.

BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL No. 28—the Fall and Winter Issue. Choice assortments of better-grade and low-priced sets, packets, collections, dealer helps, philatelic supplies and printing—at unrivalled prices. 128 profusely illustrated pages; an interesting and valuable guide to the stamp market.

—Free, on receipt of 2c postage.

The TEN CENT SETS Booklet describes a profitable dealer's outfit of our fast-selling, universally popular Honor-Bilt Ten Cent Sets. This Outfit requires an investment of $125.00 and pays generous profits.

—Free on request, to dealers only.

MORE MONEY IN STAMP PACKETS. A beautifully illustrated, 16-page booklet, describing an excellent business opportunity for the wide-awake mail-order or store dealer—our merchandising outfit of Honor-Bilt Packets. The required investment of $300.00 will pay constant dividends in big profits and satisfied customers.

—Free on request, to dealers only.

SINGLE STAMPS AT WHOLESALE. 32 pages, handsomely illustrated, offering popular single stamps priced in quantities of 10, 100, and 1,000. This list also includes a valuable article on how to make maximum profits from approval sheets.

—Free on request, to dealers only.

If you are looking for stamp merchandise that will make, or save, money for you, it will pay you well to have your name on our mailing list. Address— [26,29&32

"PRECANCEL PRICES"

By DR. W. I. MITCHELL.

Mr. LeDuc's article under the above heading in your issue of Oct. 14th, pages 606 and 607, in which he takes the "Mitchell-Hoover" bureau print catalogue to task for seeming low prices has just been read by me with considerable interest, especially since the author had written me a personal letter on the subject, in answering which I tried to explain to him just exactly why the prices in the bureau catalogue (for which I am responsible) were set in many cases lower than ordinary cancelled stamps. Evidently he has either not understood my explanation or does not agree with me.

First of all, precancelled stamps are not taken as ordinary cancelled stamps by non-precancel collectors, and I have yet to find any collectors of general U. S. not interested in precancels who would mount precancelled stamps in their collections and accept them as ordinary used copies, so his premise that "a neat bureau print would be far nicer and should be worth more than any ordinary cancellation" does not hold good.

In my humble opinion not only "half", as Mr. LeDuc says, but much more than half of the perf. 10 rotary press issue gross production by the bureau was precancelled, and a much larger proportion of the precancelled copies was saved than of the ordinary varieties. I should estimate that at least three to five times the number of precancelled copies of this perf. 10 rotary issue are in the market, than of ordinary cancelled copies, in all denominations except the 2c. Comparison of stocks of dealers in regular issues only with those of exclusive bureau precancel dealers will, I am sure, bear me out on this statement. The 7c San Francisco Mr. LeDuc especially picks out is an extremely common stamp, and I think all bureau collectors will agree with me that 3 cents is certainly enough for this stamp.

relatively, but not absolutely. On average Zumstein is lower, say 20% 0% nearer the cash value.

Zumstein prices the cheaper stamps ortionately lower, and the really ce ones higher. Scott evidently pays e attention to demand, Zumstein to ly.

cott omits 1850, 5 rappen, black and on blue paper, "with parts of frame". v? If this stamp does not belong in a general catalog, then the same reasoning applies to 21a, the 10 rappen also "with parts of frame". It certainly exists in both values. (I have 'em.) Why differentiate and discriminate? Must make a note and ask Mr. Clark the next time any of us see him.

In 1929 Scott priced Number 21, the 10 rappen, with full frame, used at $200.00. Now it is priced at $750.00. The latter figure is about right. If you don't think so try and find a good one.

This proves that Scott does watch out and does correct. By the way, I wonder how many additional mistakes each of us would make if we were in charge of the pricing.

To collectors of Europe we commend Zumstein & Co., Berne, Switzerland, as their catalog is of value, not only as a handbook, but also as an intelligent exposition of European values and thought.

Editorial

THE Ohio River stamp is here and its design is such as to make a pleasing impression. In fact, a difficult subject is handled in a satisfactory manner, and the stamp is an effective advertisement of the huge project which had its inception almost a half century ago. The old glory of the Ohio River has been restored and soon the river will carry boats and barges unnumbered that will make the long hauls with a tonnage that will be astounding, in comparison with the present operations. A system of fifty dams from Pittsburgh to Cairo is opened that affords a nine-foot depth, and it is declared by U. S. engineers to be the greatest work of the kind ever accomplished. The actual work has been prosecuted over a period of twenty years at a cost said to be $118,000,000, and it is fitting that a stamp issue be one of the memorials of the completed task.

A CORRESPONDENT says that Tulsa, Oklahoma, had an Air Mail Week recently in which the whole city participated, and that among the features of the festival was a talking mail box that voiced air mail information to the public, and a motion picture produced by the National Air Transport called "Saving Time with Air Mail," that was received with enthusiasm.

* * *

ONE of the syndicate writers, H. I. Phillips, presents a burlesque of one of the college questionnaires, in his feature, "The Once Over," and asks: "Have there been any rickets, gas-meter inspectors, delirium tremors, stamp collectors, hay fever, or dog show judges in your family?" We suspect that the queries are not made in the interests of pure science, and so forebear to comment on them; it suffices to say that collectors are placed in unhappy juxtaposition in the roll call.

DURING the recent celebration at Dearborn, Michigan, mail was despatched from the old post office that originally was built at Phoenixville, Conn., in 1803, and transported by Henry Ford to Dearborn. A special marking was used on the envelopes that were sent and a number of collectors availed themselves of the opportunity to obtain the mementos.

HERE is the question of an intelligent reader of the Detroit News: "What do stamp collectors do with cancelled postage stamps? Are the lines erased and the stamps used over again? D. M. A." We award the gilded clam shell to this inquirer.

OUR correspondents are active at present and in the aggregate, they cover philately in all of its aspects. A letter that bears evidence of careful preparation has been awaiting attention and the writer of it, Mr. Thomas X. McArdle, brings forth the subject of the marketability of stamps, from the position of the collector. He feels that there is no system that will give him a basis for valuing his stamps for inventory purposes, and he would welcome a certainty of knowledge that within a fair range, he could make his calculations fairly. He has much more to say along this line and his tone is not "peevish" as he takes care to say. At times, we have discussed this question. It is natural that the man who pays a large amount in the aggregate for his stamps wishes to have an assurance that he is not spending it vainly, even though he may know that collecting pleasure may be spoiled by dwelling too strongly on the monetary side. The ordinary collection that grows along the accepted courses does not fare well in the market because it has a routine attraction only. There is no way in which to overcome the law of supply and demand in this case; and the average collection is too familiar to receive a second glance commercially. However, the collection that is made unusual by the class of stamps in it or is developed on special lines is assured of consideration and its value is established, even though it may not be stable. The avenues of sale are the dealer, the auction; and the sales department has its uses. When money must be had on the dot, the situation becomes complicated and is unfavorable to the seller. The dealer from whom one buys many of his stamps may be a good outlet. Time seems to be the essence of the philatelic contract. There is an increase from year to year in stamp values that is gradual on the whole, but in some instances is marked, and this increment works to the benefit of the collector over a period of years. In comparison with other avocations, collecting does not suffer market-wise, and the tendency is constantly towards the better stabilization of the market and the consequent advantage of the seller.

THE postmaster general has made a statement telling of the stamps with the Kansas and Nebraska surcharges and the reasons for their issue. Postal employes are asked to be on the alert to recognize any irregularity attending the possession of large lots of the surcharged stamps outside of the sections with which they are associated as the purpose of the stamps is to discourage the operations of thieves who steal from post offices and seek to dispose of their loot elsewhere. However, the postmaster general concludes: "Attention is called to the fact that the surcharged stamps are valid for postage at all offices now using ordinary United States postage stamps, and the utmost care should be exercised in the handling of this matter to the end that the users of legitimately acquired surcharged stamps may not be embarrassed." This is a mild reminder that postmasters should heed as some of them refused to accept the state surcharges as uncompromisingly as they did the Hawaiian surcharges, and in rarer instances the Molly Pitcher. One postmaster said that they didn't allow the names of women on postage stamps.

IN sending a copy of the official catalogue of the National Philatelic Exhibition held at Turin, October 12 to 20, Dr. Emilio Diena, Rome, writes: "I am glad to say that a real success has been attained. The exhibition is national, but inasmuch as foreign philatelists were invited to send in their collections of Italy, Italian States and Colonies, a few exhibits from abroad have been received not for competition. As a whole the exhibition is mainly of stamps of the Italian group. Having seen all the Exhibitions previously held in this country, I am in a position to state that this one is absolutely the best. A special post office has been opened in the fine building of the Society for the Advancement of Fine Arts where the Exhibition is held. Note the postmark on the envelope enclosing this letter. An Italian Philatelic Congress is also being held here on the 16th, 18th and 19th inst." This exhibition shows that philately is at high tide in Italy as the catalogue of the exhibition shows over a hundred pages of interesting exhibits. The newspapers gave much space to the display which was opened by H. R. H., the Prince of Piedmont, who remained an hour after and showed every evidence of interest in the stamps on view.

AN international philatelic exhibition is to be held in Berlin, during the month of September, 1930, and among the patrons of the undertaking are the postmaster general of Germany and the Mayor of Berlin. Prof. Dr. Erich Ster is directing the preliminary work and is inviting distinguished collectors to become members of the Committee of Honour. What has been described as an unprecedented wave of interest in philately is characterizing Germany, where interest has always been keen, and it is safe to predict that the coming exhibition in the German capital will exemplify philately in its greatest triumph.

(Coöperators will find their names listed each week. If a reply be necessary, enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.)

One of our subscribers recently sent a substantial remittance for first day covers to a "Coöperator." The money order was promptly cashed, but the covers never arrived, nor can any satisfaction be secured. We are unable to guarantee the responsibility of those who offer their services in connection with flights, and may be compelled to entirely eliminate this feature. Are there further complaints of this character?

Official Flights

As more of the FAM 5-6 extension covers have come in, I find that certain of the St. Thomas, V.I. covers have the cachet in a magenta shade, and some have no cachet at all. Haven't had time to check up yet, but it rather looks as if the cachet had been applied to outbound mail only. The great majority of my Miami and San Juan covers also bear the cachet in magenta, but I have seen a very few in purple, and Ed. J. Dormer says one of his came in in black. Incidentally, Mr. Dormer sent covers via 1st trip from Camden, Sept. 15, which connected nicely with this flight, and bear both cachets.

J. Delano Bartlett tells me that the first flight Jaurez-Mexico City, Aug. 19, actually started from El Paso. Jaurez airport was not yet ready, so all mail was trucked over the border, and actually flew from El Paso to the various Mexican cities on the route.Ralph Moffett shows me one of the first night flight covers from Boise, Sept. 15, bearing the special cachet applied by the local C. of C.; and with it, a letter from the postmaster saying that about 100 letters went west, and 200 east, by the first night service.

These new FAM cachets show somebody's using some thought in their choosing. The one for the FAM 9 extension to Buenos Aires shows what appears to be the famous statue of The Christ of the Andes, past which a plane is flying. Count this one out for the time being, at least. Director of Posts of Manila, Philippine Ids., returns covers sent him, with the statement that "there is no established air mail route at the present time, and the government does not contemplate opening one so far."

A recent trip of the S. S. "Ile de France" was to inaugurate a new element of the ship-to-shore service. Plane was to fly to Paris with its load, but mail for Le Havre was to be dropped by parachute en route. Practically no notice before sailing.More flood covers, no doubt. All details lacking, but we'll try to have more information later.Des Moines, Iowa, Sunday Register of Oct. 13, gave a front page write-up to the pioneer mail flight made by Lincoln Beachy July 20, 1912, and illustrated one of the souvenir cards carried on the flight.

Airport Dedications, Unofficial Cachets, Etc.

Louisville, Ky., Cincinnati, Ohio, Huntington, W. Va., and Homestead, Pa., applied special unofficial cachets to the first day covers of the Ohio River stamp. I wish to express my appreciation to all who so kindly mailed me covers from these and other first day cities, and especially to Robt. M. Hayes, who sent the complete set from all cities, both singles, and by air mail, and to J. P. Penning, who mailed from Homestead a cover with 12 different plate number stamps, varying in number or sheet position.

Denver, Colo., cachet reads, among other things, "Air Mail Week—Oct. 14-20," but I have received covers for the 18th and 19th only, and believe they were the dedication days. All in green, but one sent me by Dr. Davis, which is printed in black.San Jose, Cal., 1st Anniversary cachet came along in due order Oct. 15, in red.L. S. The Standard Airpost Catalogue
1930 (World) Edition—4th Year
(Formerly "The American Airmail Catalogue")
This edition is many times the size of previous editions, for it includes Airpost stamps and covers of the entire world to date. It will be printed on a fine grade of paper, pocket size, attractively bound, and is unquestionably the finest Airpost Catalogue ever put on the market. It is the result of four years experience and study, for a catalogue—worthy of the name—cannot be produced in a day.
Our staff, aided by contributing experts from all parts of the world, has been at work on this World Edition since November, 1928, and it is a catalogue worthy of any Hobby. It is profusely illustrated from cover to cover. [H2

Robinson Crusoe's Island

By GEORGE BRIGHTMAN.

In 1910 four of the stamps of Chile were surcharged for use on the Island of Juan Fernandez. It was on Juan Fernandez that a mariner, Alexander Selkirk, was cast away, and it was there that he lived for four years until he was rescued. Using Selkirk's written account of his adventures, Daniel Defoe wrote his great novel, "Robinson Crusoe." Thus Juan Fernandez is Robinson Crusoe's Island.

Tomb of Sun Yat Sen

The last resting place of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, as depicted upon the memorial stamp chronicled last month, is an imposing mausoleum built at a cost of £200,000 on the slopes of the Purple Mountain overlooking the tombs of the Ming Emperors in the vicinity of Nanking, the Nationalist capital. Here in the Rotunda, on June 1st, the embalmed remains of China's first President were reburied with elaborate ceremonies which began in Pekin and lasted for a full week. The funeral cortege was two miles long and took half-an-hour to surmount the marvellous granite stairway with its 339 steps leading up to the mausoleum, where the bronze catafalque was finally deposited after a short funeral ceremony. —Stamp Collecting.

Blue Safety Paper

A paper employed by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. in the manufacture of the 4d stamps of Great Britain of 1855 and certain fiscals. This paper had prussiate of potash in it, this salt added as a preventative against illicit cleaning. This paper is characterised by its bluish tint, varying in intensity, but it appears that the blueness was quite unintentional and it was attributed by the manufacturers of the stamps to the presence of small particles of iron in the pulp which ought not to have existed therein.

Study Your Stamps

N. S. B.—These letters overprinted on various French Colonial stamps indicate that they were intended for use in Nossi-Be.

N. S. W.—These letters are the only indication of the country of origin shown on the Postage Due stamps of New South Wales.

Nueve Granada.—New Granada. The name appearing on the 1861 stamps of the Republic of Colombia.

N. Z.—The first postage due stamps for New Zealand bore these letters in place of the full name of the Colony.

Oesterreichische Post. — Austrian Post. On most of the issues which appeared prior to 1908 the name is abbreviated to "Oesterr."

Ottoman Empire.—Turkey.

Double Lined Letters

A term usually used in descriptions of watermarks to distinguish them from similar ones in which the letters are "single-lined." The Crown A watermarks of the Commonwealth of Australia will serve as instances, some of these having the "A" formed of single and others of double lines.

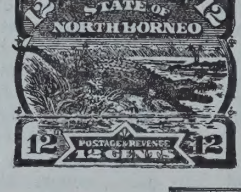
Training the Collector

Recently a stamp collector asked sadly how he could arouse an interest in stamps in his son, aged 14. He and others may care to hear how a similar problem was solved a few years ago. The boy in question was rather younger than this correspondent's son.

Children are attracted by bright colours, animals, people, machines and many other objects found on stamps. They are not interested in dozens of types bearing the King's head. It is advisable to cut right across the usual divisions made by philatelists and to make use of many stamps rather despised by the experienced collector.

In my own case, animals proved successful. Starting off with Malay tigers, Sudan camels, mid-Congo leopards, Nyassaland giraffes, and several issues from that enterprising colony, Borneo, the boy was soon engrossed in forming a philatelic zoo.



The zoo idea has the advantage that so many of the stamps to be collected are very low priced, so that if they are damaged by careless handling there is no great harm done.

Picture stamps form another class that would appeal to girls as well as boys. Bosnia, Morocco, and the Belgian Congo could form a nucleus, but the field is very wide. There has been a large number of really beautiful picture stamps issued since the war.

For the slightly older child one might suggest maps. The Canadian jingoes, with their big Mercator's system, have set a hot pace here, and one can roam from plain outlines like Australia, where they have no boundary, and Ireland, where they are too jealous to mark it, to San Domingo, where a wrong boundary nearly caused a war, and Venezuela, where an accurately plotted boundary prevented one.

Then why not ships? The Kaiser's yacht, the warship Maine, that cost Spain her last American colonies, the Chinese junk, canoes from the Solomon Islands, and Brunei, strange boats from the Nile and Malta, the ships of Columbus and Prince Henry the Navigator—there is a great armada here.

But the point need not be laboured. Buildings, famous men, sports, native types, myths and legends are only a few more of the possible subjects.

What does it matter if the collection formed is worth very little? The child will have learned to appreciate stamps, to handle stamps, and to think stamps. At least one group—aeroplane stamps—would well repay collecting if started now.

Stamps in their variety are a reflection of life itself. It is a dull child that can find nothing in them to interest it.—Bazaar.

Irishmen on Stamps

The production of a stamp, or series stamps with a picture of the Irish "libe tor," Daniel O'Connell, raises the int esting query, what other Irishmen ha figured on postage stamps? The b known one is, of course, Bernardo O'H gins, the Chilean dictator, but there another in the late Mr. J. D. Bourchi the Times correspondent, who was h oured with a set of stamps by Bulga in 1921. Canada has pictured D'A M'Gee. There may be others, and th are probably as many Scotsmen. I only recall one Welshman, Sir H. Stanley, whose original name was Jan Rowlands.—The Stamp Lover.

FALLEN TIMBERS

Issued in September
A stamp for Fallen Timber,
With frontiersman, Indian and Wayne.
This may look like treason
But for some artistic reason
The design gives me a pain.

One local dumb-bell thought it depicted "The Spirit of '76."

Does this stamp also commemorate the mighty forests which once grew on the hills of Ohio? All are Fallen Timbers now.

If Gen. Anthony Wayne could see the stamp issued in his honor he would be "Mad."

AGE COUNTS

Ours is an old stock of old issues accumulated over these past forty years. Naturally it is useless to ask us for Vatican issues of 1929 or Air Mails of yesterday. Those things are obtainable from dealers in new issues. But just ask us for an old Great Britain and Colonies, old Germans, Portugal and Colonies, etc., and see the showing. Also whilst many claim to have a wonderful stock of U. S. we merely would remark that we can probably show from five to fifty copies of any U. S. stamp listing less than $100.

Correspondence solicited with serious collectors.

Visits desired from local collectors.

Special appointments made to suit the convenience of people unable to reach our offices easily.

Continental Plates, 1873-75

The contract to supply U. S. postage stamps for the four years commencing May 1, 1873, was awarded to the Continental Bank Note Co. That Company had a secret mark engraved on each of the National dies of 1870-71 (except the 15c and 30c?). On the denominations from 1c to 12c (and 15c?), the designs showing the secret mark were transferred to new rolls from which new plates bearing the Continental imprint and plate numbers were made.

Each stamp on Continental plates of the 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 10, 12c (and 15c?), should show the secret mark as cut on the National die of those values; but on certain plates of the 1c the secret mark is very faint; the mark on the 2c stamps is minute and rarely clear; the mark on the 3c may vary in width; and the mark on the 15c is open to serious question.

As the Continental Co. did not make plates for the 24c, 30c and 90c, but used the National plates of those values, the secret marks for those denominations never occur on stamps or plate proofs and are found only on proofs from the altered dies.

The 5c "General Taylor" stamp came into use July 1, 1875, and the first six plates for it were made by the Continental Co.

The Continental imprint is much like the second National imprint but reads, "PRINTED BY THE — CONTINENTAL BANK NOTE CO. NEW YORK", in two lines. Imprints and plate numbers remained unaltered during the life of the plates. Certain Continental plates were used only by that company but others were also used by the American Bank Note Co. and in the latter case neither imprint nor plate number is of any value in determining which of those two companies printed the stamps on which these inscriptions occur.

Old German Covers

A collection of over 700 covers bearing stamps of the German States is in my hands for sale. Mostly singles, but quite a few pairs and several beautiful blocks, also many railroad and other cancellations of special interest. The condition throughout averages very high. The Scott cat. prices (as singles off cover) total about $4,400. By the Hess German catalog, which prices pairs, blocks and covers, the total is very close to $8,000. All I ask is $6,000.

FOREIGN ISSUES
Catalogue $60,000.00

I am breaking up a general collection of 19th and 20th century BRITISH COLONIES and FOREIGN issues listing in excess of $60,000.00 and containing most varieties priced up to $50 to $60. The stamps are arranged in accordance with Gibbons, hence, not only the normal items are present, but most of the perforation varieties of the British Colonies. The collection was made over a period of thirty years and the owner endeavored to obtain a single mint copy of each variety, but where this was not possible, he took the cancelled stamp. In many cases, scarce errors are present.

An opportunity of this kind is seldom offered for filling spaces and want lists are solicited from both general collectors and specialists who are willing to spend $10 or more at one time. Everything is priced most reasonably in accordance with condition and rarity; some, such as early superb Canada, being priced at full catalogue, while such things as Hejaz errors are likely to be priced at 80% discount. There is only one of a kind and I am anxious to dispose of the entire lot as it is not my intention of stocking foreign stamps, so everything will be priced to move.

Send me your general want list and I will gladly make up a special selection to meet your requirements.

Especially strong in British, French, Spanish and Portuguese Colonies, with a good lot of Europe, Central and South America, Hayti, China, Siam, etc. Reference required from those unknown to me. Society number not sufficient; please refer to your bank or a reliable dealer.

When you are looking for fine United States, I have them. Also a buyer of anything choice in United States issues, especially the rarities.

MISCELLANY—

THERE was recently advertised in adlets, a set of Icaria stamps at a very low price. We shall be greatly obliged if one or more of our readers will submit their purchases, for our consideration, and indicate the name of the dealer from whom they were bought.

WE are indebted to H. W. Boers and Stanley Gregory for Greenfield, Mich., covers bearing date of Oct. 21, postmarked with an Edison stamp, the cancellation reading, "Edison Celebration Light's Golden Jubilee, 1879-1929."

WE are indebted to the Home of the Postage Stamp for a clipping from the New York Times of Oct. 20, in which Gimbel advertises the inauguration of a permanent stamp department in the book section on the street floor. This is a notable departure upon the part of this great store, and should have a beneficial effect in securing a similar service from other department stores.

WE are indebted to H. M. Brehm, Sec. of the Appleton (Wis.) Philatelic Society for an invitation to help celebrate the first anniversary of the local Society, Nov. 23. The envelope that brought the invitation bears a pair of the current 1c green. One of the stamps has the regular cancellation, but the other stamp is canceled with the former registry marking of an apple with the word "ton" outlined in white.

WE are in receipt of greetings from F. E. Wilson, of Birmingham, Eng., who has been spending a few days in the old town of Bruges, Belgium. It carries upon its face an interesting Ostend-Dover packet cancellation.

WE have received a communication from the Buffalo Stamp Club informing us that Adolph Steig, past president of the club, has been nominated as a candidate for director of the A. P. S. for the election to take place in 1930. The Buffalo Stamp Club is a live organization, and desirous of representation in the official councils of our National Society will no doubt support his candidacy with vigor.

2c Ohio River Canalization Stamp

As previously scheduled, the new 2-cent stamp, issued to commemorate the completion of the canalization of the Ohio River, appeared on Saturday, October 19, the stamp having been placed on sale in seven cities. As a description was furnished in a former Chronicle, it will not be necessary to make further mention of it. All of the stamps issued are from plates 19838 to 19841 inclusive, and it is not expected that any other plates will be made. In posting first-day covers, Cincinnati had two special postmarks for the occasion, namely, a six line marking in magenta reading—"Ohio Valley Improvement Association, 35th Annual Convention, Oct. 19th-25th, 1929", in addition to a blue three line elliptical postmark reading—"Ohio River Dedication Cruise, Pittsburg to Cairo, Celebrating the Nine Foot Stage." Louisville used a four line magenta marking reading—"Ohio River Celebration, Louisville, Pittsburg-to-Cairo Channel Completed." The other cities used simply the normal postmark without any additions. After observing numerous covers, we reach the conclusion that Pittsburg, Cairo and Louisville carefully selected stamps without straight edges, while Homestead, Cincinnati, Wheeling and Evansville took the stamps in any condition that they might come to hand, and in the case of the former city, they even patched together damaged stamps. It is customary for the Third Assistant Postmaster General to issue instructions to postmasters, covering the stamping of first-day covers, but evidently the clerks from these four offices disregarded the instructions entirely.

We wish to thank Mr. C. E. Nickles for two very attractive covers, showing views of the locks and dams, Mr. Harry Ioor for covers showing a map of the canal territory, and Mr. W. Austin Amory for a neat cover from Cincinnati.

1922-29 50-Cent

Mr. Frederic R. McAlpin kindly sends for inspection two blocks of the current 50-cent, perforated 11, showing view of the "Arlington Amphitheatre" in very distinct shades. One is in a violet, while the other could be described as a red-violet, as it has a reddish tinge. Practically all of our current issue is obtainable in shades. It seems that the higher denominations, that is from 11c up, are printed about once a year, when a supply is made sufficient to take care of the next twelve months. As these printings are about a year apart, they are generally distinct differences, and if you followed the matter carefully, you could designate the high values by years. It is because of this long elapse that we have our 11c shades, which differ vastly.

The demand for the $1 stamp has greatly increased during recent months, so that the Bureau is now contemplating making plates of four hundred subjects for this denomination. Heretofore, plates of two hundred subjects have been used.

A PRECANCELED DEAL

A remarkable case of hitting the fa of the newspaper folks has been affor by the transaction recently, wher Adolph Gunesch, Chicago, acquired stock of precanceled stamps of Fred R of the same city. A note mentioning sale appeared in one of the Chicago pers, whereupon it was copied by ot newspapers, some of which played up details cleverly enough. Then, the n was made the subject of an Associa Press dispatch and all over the land, story appeared in the newspapers in sp ranging from a few lines to a stick-f The statement that Mr. Raff had voted years to gathering the precance stock and that he had the best accun lation of them extant was well found It is known that Mr. Gunesch paid a g price for the lot; and the newspapers h the amount as $50,000. At any rate Gunesch made a great purchase with result that precanceled stamps have b brought prominently before the pub since we have received clippings fr over twenty newspapers by actual cou with the story in some form or other.

STAMPS OF THE OLYMPIC GAMES

By STANLEY PHILLIPS.

The revival of the old Olympic Games in the form of international athletic meetings on a world-wide scale provides an opportunity for the formation of a most novel and interesting collection of stamps issued by various countries in connection with the Games. Such a collection is of interest to practically everyone and should be the means of bringing many enthusiastic sportsmen into the philatelic fold.

The 1896 issue of Greece deals with the Olympic Games in classic style, the designs being obviously based on early Greek sculpture and art. The set is printed in rather weak colours, without sufficient depth of contrast in the designs, but the stamps depicting gladiators, the discus thrower, the chariot race, the Stadium at Athens, Pallas Athene, "Victory," and Hermes have always been popular. A search for them will prove that they are much scarcer than catalogue prices indicate.

The Greek series of 1906, though not very artistic, is more clearly printed, and the designs are very quaint. The actual "events" shown on the stamps are discus throwing, wrestling, and a foot race, but the stamps showing incidents in the life of Hercules, and the offering of sacrifice before the Games, are of unique interest.

The Belgian series for the Antwerp Games of 1920 next claims our attention. The American Bank Note Co. here do justice to the discus thrower and the runner, but a longer stamp was needed for the chariot race.

The Paris Games of 1924 gave us a series representing ideas rather than actual sport, though we see the Stadium on the 10c and an athlete in "shorts" is shown on the 50c. In connection with the Paris Games, there should be added the Uruguayan series issued to commemorate the victory of that country at football. The design is classical, and depicts the headless "Victory" of Samothrace, which would have made a better appearance if an upright format had been chosen instead of the oblong shape selected.

In 1925 the International Olympic Congress was held at Prague, and stamps bearing the portrait of President Masaryk were provided with an embossed overprint reading "CONGRES OLYMP. INTERNAT. PRAHA 1925."

In the same year Costa Rica issued three stamps to provide funds for the Central American Olympic Games. These stamps were poorly printed, and that old favourite, the discus thrower, is again presented to us, on the 5c stamp.

The 1928 Olympic Games have so far given rise to stamps from two countries, Holland, where the Games were held, and Portugal, whence come two very poorly produced stamps, on which I have already commented in G.S.M. The Dutch stamps, while partaking of the eccentricity which has characterised recent issues from that country, are a brightly coloured and attractive series, and have already proved very popular.

If to our Olympic collection we add stamps on which other sports are depicted, we shall have an even more attractive display, as the Hungarian sports issue of 1925 will be shown, and also stamps from various parts of the world which picture for us the delights of shooting, fishing, big game hunting and other open-air pursuits.

I strongly recommend my readers to consider the formation of such a collection. It will not cost a large sum and will provide a most amusing and interesting side-line. — Gibbons' Stamp Monthly.

Foreign New Issues

PERCY C. SMITH, Editor,
Lexington, Mass.

(Information in regard to new issues and varieties will be welcome. If reply be necessary, please self-addressed stamped envelope.)

We are indebted to Mr. R. Roberts, of London correspondent, for information regarding the new issues listed below:

Brazil.—In type A75, the 20r has been issued in violet and the 100r in emerald green. These stamps are watermarked "E U Brasil" in block letters, multiple all over the sheet. The perforation is 13½ x 13. Also the 400r brown postage due stamp, design D4, watermarked "CASA DA MOEDA" in large sans serif capitals extending one and a half times across the sheet. The perforation is also 13½ x 13.

Newfoundland.—Two more values of the last issue are at hand, the 2c red and the red-brown, no watermark, perf. 14. The difference in the 2c is slight, the main feature being the word "Postage", the "P" of which is closer to the scroll than the left than in the De La Rue print. The color is more red, whereas in the old printing it was carmine. On the portraits of Their Majesties bear entirely different expression, and the shading of the background of the letter- "Newfoundland Postage" is blurred and indistinct. The whole impression is dull and flat compared with the previous issue, which stands out bright and clear in all details. The color is red-brown instead of deep brown. The change in both of these is rather for the worse than for the better, writes Mr. Roberts, so far as philately is concerned.

South Africa.—The new Air Post stamps in two values have arrived. They are the 4p green and 1sh orange, no watermark.

Sweden.—The 45o dark brown, King Gustav type, imperforate x 10 has been placed on sale. They are printed in continuous coils, on plates 17 x 10.

Australia. — From information received by Gibbons' Stamp Monthly we learn that the forthcoming Western Australia Centenary stamp will be deep vermilion in color, but in other respects it is similar to the Canberra stamp. It will be printed in sheets of 80 (10 x 8) on unwatermarked paper, perforated 11.

Papua.—All values up to the 2sh6p denomination among a supply just received from this colony still bear the Harrison imprint with the exception of the 1½p, which is now printed by Ash, states Gibbons' Stamp Monthly. This value is now in a slightly deeper shade of ultramarine, and still has the "Postace" error on the first stamp of the sheet. The ½p is also noteworthy in having the frame in a distinctly paler olive, while we think it advisable to state here that all stocks of the 2½p which came were badly faded and unfit for sale, the ultramarine having changed into a very pale lilac, which should not be considered as a shade of the normal.

Mexico.—There has been received by the publishers of Gibbons' Stamp Monthly two stamps of 10 and 20c denominations inscribed "Ejercito Renovador" and showing in the centre the Mexican Eagle with a snake in its beak. These are understood to be the unofficial emissions of the Sonora revolutionists in the uprising of last February, and that only a total quantity of 400 of the two values was printed.

Spain.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that they have received second series stamp issued for the International Exhibition at Barcelona. The type is the same as the first issue, but the color is claret. The denomination is 5c. Also a new special delivery stamp has been received in a new design. The value is 20c and the color red, size 21 x 25mm, perf. 14.

A JOKE ON C. J. PHILLIPS

In the interesting and amusing reminiscences which Mr. C. J. Phillips has contributed to the Jamaica Philatelist occurs one very good tale. Some twenty years ago Mr. Phillips was travelling through Germany with his friend, Mr. M. P. Castle, and while in Berlin was invited to dinner by Judge Fraenkel to meet some of the leading collectors of that city. When sitting down to dinner Mr. Phillips noticed by the side of his plate three pencils, one about an inch long, very thin and slender, one normal size, and one enormous one, very thick and some 15 inches long. Knowing that this was a joke on him he turned to his host and asked him to explain. Judge Fraenkel said, "Well, Phillips, the big pencil is for the stamps you price too high, the middle one for the stamps priced about right, and the little baby one for the bargains you sell —you won't often use that one."—Aust. Stamp Journal.

PAPUA: CURRENT AND RECENT

By Romney Gibbons.

Preface

Collectors with short memories will find it hard to realise that it is nearly twenty years since the "boom" in Papua started. For three years or thereabouts excitement was at its height; philatelic journals published detailed studies of each denomination of the lithographed issues; controversies raged over thick and thin papers, upright and sideways watermarks, and "large holes" and "small holes" perforations; and several valuable handbooks devoted to the issues of British New Guinea and Papua made their appearance. Then the excitement gradually subsided; fresh candidates for popular favour arose; and of late years Papua has been little heard of. This is the more curious because other stamps which have been produced at the Australian Commonwealth Government Printing Office during the last few years, have proved fruitful subjects for study, and there are several points of interest to be found in the current issue of Papua.

The only articles which I have met with on this subject have appeared in the Southern Cross Collector, by J. O. Feil in Volume III, No. 2, and Volume IV, No. 1, and by J. G. Spychiger in Volume III, No. 3. These writers have pointed out a large number of more or less constant flaws, which exist in most values, to some of which I shall refer later on.

Chronological

The first values of the current type to appear were the 1d, 3d and 5/- denominations in 1916, the 3d and 5/- stamps not having been previously included amongst Papuan issues. All three stamps were printed by J. B. Cooke, the then Commonwealth Stamp Printer, and on the bottom margin of the sheets appear the monograms so familiar to Commonwealth specialists, viz., "C.A." below the second stamp of the bottom row and "J.B.C." below the fourth. These stamps, I may add, are printed in sheets of forty, eight rows of five.

In 1919 the ½d value appeared printed by T. S. Harrison, whose imprint appears below the third stamp in the bottom row. In the same year the 1d denomination printed by Harrison also appeared. Compared with the Cooke printing of this value the colour is very different, for whereas the Cooke 1d has the frame coloured carmine, the Harrison 1d ranges from pale red to a dull vermilion. (At the end of 1926, or early in 1927, this value appeared with the centre in quite a new colour—slate-purple.)

Subsequently the remaining values of the series, all printed by Harrison, were placed on sale, the last to be issued being the 1½d and 10/- stamps in 1925. Particulars will be found in the reference list at the end of this article.

The only value which I have seen with A. J. Mullett's imprint is the 1½d and I am not sure exactly when it appeared, but I believe it to have been some time last year. The 1½d value Mullett printing is slightly different from the Harrison printing in shade, the frame being a rather lighter brown and the centre a truer ultramarine.

By a recent mail our publishers obtained a sheet of the 1½d with the John Ash imprint. The colour of the frame now closely resembles that to be found in the Harrison printing of that value, the centre is, however, a much deeper and brighter ultramarine than in former issues.

The Watermark

Papuan stamps are printed on paper which was formerly intended for use in South Australia, and although rumours have appeared, from time to time, that this paper was nearly exhausted, apparently much larger stocks were in hand at the time of the suppression of the South Australian issues than was formerly supposed.

In the great majority of cases on holding up a sheet of Papuan stamps it will be found that the watermark reads to the left, i.e., if the stamps are held with their left side downwards (looking through the face) the watermark will appear in an upright position. This I take to be the normal state of the watermark of the Cooke printings, and of the Harrison printings with the exception of the 6d and the last printing of the 1d, for the watermark in these is inverted, i.e., it reads to the right-hand side of the stamp.

Of course it is possible that any or all values may exist with the watermark inverted, in fact Mr. Feil mentions the ½d denomination in that condition, but these I take to be irregularities, and not the normal state.

The Mullett printing of the 1½d has always, so far as my experience goes, the watermark reading to the right, i.e., inverted.

The Ash printing of the 1½d denomination has reverted to the normal position with watermark to the left.

Manufacture

The stamps are produced by lithography and I believe that one and the same stone has been employed for the central vignette of all values. There are a number of flaws, some of which, however, are not constant, but in all sheets that I have inspected of the Cooke and Harrison printings, there is a distinct weakness in the shading in the right-hand bottom corner of the vignette on the fourth stamp of the third row, i.e., No. 14. On this stamp, if well centred copies are taken, it will be found that the white space, above and to the left of the right-hand numeral of value, is considerably larger than in the other stamps on the sheet, and I think that this is conclusive evidence as to the existence of only one stone for printing the central vignette. In the Mullett and Ash printings there seems to have been a certain amount of retouching on the vignette stone in this position, but it is not very marked.

On the last Harrison printing of the 1d (slate-purple centre) and on the Mullett printing of the 1½d value there is a very distinct flaw in the upper portion of the vignette on the second stamp of the top row. This consists of a white scratch which starts below the second "a" of "Papua" and runs diagonally downwards to just above the left-hand sail of the lakatoi. From the sheet of the Ash printing of the 1½d denomination before me, I can see that some attempt has been made, not altogether successfully, to remove the flaw by retouching.

On the frame stones of all values there are a number of flaws which Messrs. Feil and Spychiger have tabulated, but which I do not propose to go very fully into here. Three are, however, worthy of special mention.

On the 1½d stamp, the first stamp of the top row has the word "Postage" on the right-hand side of the stamp spelt "Postace." On the first stamp of the seventh row of this value, the little bulge in the line which connects the two bunches of leaves in the bottom corners is considerably enlarged, the drawing of the leaves is also not normal, and it seems probable that this is a retouch on the stone; it was present in the first printing of this value.

In the 6d denomination the second stamp of the sixth row has the word "Postage" on the left-hand side of the stamp spelt "Postace."

General Observations

With the exception of those which might serve to distinguish the different printings of the stamps I have made no reference to the many shades which occur. These exist in all values, especially in the ½d and 2½d. Some of the shades of the latter value are indeed remarkable; I believe that the colour of that stamp is particularly liable to be affected by climatic influence, and many of its varieties might be better described as "fades" than "shades."

Some comment has been aroused by the action of Messrs. Stanley Gibbons in considerably increasing the catalogue quotations of this issue in their recent supplement. This was due, I believe, to their impression that the stamps were obsolete, having been superseded by an issue printed on unwatermarked paper. The 6d denomination was accorded the greatest rise. It has been freely stated that this stamp is not at present on issue in Papua, the stamp of that value on sale being the 6d orange-brown (S.G. 98). I believe that large stocks of the orange-brown stamp remained to be worked off when the 6d bi-colour was issued, but the latter has always been available on demand, and only last month our publishers, on writing to Port Moresby for a supply of the bi-coloured 6d, had their order executed in full.

The publication of the statement that the stamps were to be issued on unwatermarked paper is to be regretted. In consequence thereof there has been a good deal of speculation in the current issue, the 6d value having been singled out for particular attention. Copies have changed hands for what, in view of the facts, can only be described as ridiculous prices, and those who have purchased at high figures are, I believe, doomed to disappointment.

Canada Air Mail

ORIGINALITY IN DESIGN FEATURES THE CACHETS USED IN THE SERVICE

By CHAS. B. HILL-TOUT, Victoria, B. C., Can.

MONCTON TO SYDNEY

The Post Office Department of Canada has secured the respect and admiration of philatelists everywhere by the uniformly successful designs of its postage stamp issues and the unimpeachable manner in which its philatelic activities have always been carried on. The design and workmanship of its stamp issues are recognized as among the very finest known to collectors, and the fact that they are entirely the product of Canadian craftsmen and printers lends added interest and value to the achievements.

The newest major development of the postal services of the world—air mail service—has brought into existence a distinct and most interesting phase of philately, the permanent value of which must be apparent to the most conservative collector. Canada's contributions to "aero-philately" bid fair to set an example to the other postal administrations of the world. Her air mail stamp is a chaste design, symbolic in nature and happily conceived, depicting winged genii hovering over the Northern Hemisphere, an aeroplane in the empyrean and the outline of the Dominion of Canada discernible below. The frequency with which this design has been accorded a place of honour in books and catalogues relating to air mail stamps is a sufficient indication of the admiration it has aroused on every side.

It is perhaps in the originality and excellence of design and workmanship of her air mail "cachets" that Canada may be said to lead the world. These rubber stamps which, of course, are the delight of "first flight cover" enthusiasts all over the globe have attained a degree of artistic excellence in Canada, which is little short of astounding when one considers that the medium is merely an ordinary rubber stamp, usually impressed under conditions of great haste and difficulty in a busy Post Office when the mail is being closed. Here again the achievement is entirely Canadian. The romantic and picturesque features of the country, both historic and contemporary, are being used to excellent advantage on the more recent inaugural flights. However, the fact that these cachets depict wild Indians, Eskimos, buffalo and other more or less extinct species would deceive no one who is conversant with the progressive, civilized and law-abiding democracy known as Canada, as to the conditions existing there at the present day.

We understand that the cachets to be used for forthcoming inaugural flights during November and December, to MacKenzie River and trans-Prairie points, excel in picturesqueness and artistry any previously issued. The highly colored "Northwest" country, with its storied past and vivid present, affords an unexcelled opportunity for the ca-

LANSDOWNE (PA.) EXHIBITION

By Geo. M. Emery.

The Lansdowne (Pa.) Stamp Club, which now enjoys the largest membership of any suburban Philadelphia philatelic organization, will hold its fourth annual exhibition Friday and Saturday, Nov. 29-30. R. W. Swearington, exhibition chairman, has been busy for weeks completing arrangements for the show, to be held in the spacious offices of the Lansdowne Bank and Trust Co., who contribute each year the display quarters. The judges will be Charles J. Phillips, Philip H. Ward, and Eugene Klein, well-known experts.

The exhibition will be divided into sections as follows:—A—U. S. and possessions; B—Gr. Britain and Colonies, other than in Section B2; B2—Br. No. America, including Insular Colonies; C—European countries and Colonies; D—Other countries in North, Central or South America; E—Other countries in Asia, Africa, Oceanica or Australia; F—Specialties; (F1)—Cancellations; (F2)—Covers; (F3)—Proofs and Essays; G—General Collections; H—Rarities; I—Juniors; J—Non-Members; K—A Grand Prize for best exhibit in the show (open to members only). Three prizes will be awarded in each section: blue, red and green.

In view of the fact that awards will not be made to Club members who have previously received prizes in Club exhibits, much new material will be brought out by Lansdowne collectors. Some members will display portions of their collections shown in previous years, but not in competition. A majority of the exhibits will be spread out on glass covered tables, and some will be shown in specially constructed glass frames owned by the Club and used for wall display.

Among the notable collections shown will be U. S. Proofs and Essays, by Clarence W. Brazer, of Lansdowne, Pa. Mr. Brazer's philatelic activities cover only the last few years, but he has assembled what is believed to be the most complete and valuable collection in existence. His collection of U. S. adhesives and envelopes, now virtually complete, is

A. F. Gamber, Editor,
Valley City, N. D.

A Pacific Coast reader of this paper, who regards precancels as the "JOKE (capitals his) of stamp collecting," says, "Did it ever occur to you what a little printing press can do after the stamps of your hobby get beyond the $1 per thousand stage?" We can leave to one side his joke regarding precancels. His opinions are his own business, but his query as to the possible usefulness of a printing press comes in very pat, as it is typical of the attitude many non-precancel collectors take. Yes, indeed, Mr. West Coast, many have had that little thought, and some of them as a result have enjoyed years of free board and room at your Uncle Samuel's expense. One recently did in Portland, Oregon, another one did at Leavenworth, and another is now on the inside of Atlanta Penitentiary, thinking upon the error of his reckoning. Precancels may or may not be the "joke" of stamp collecting, all depending upon one's viewpoint, but this printing press idea is far from being a joke. We extend you a hearty challenge to try to carry your idea out into concrete practice, and see how far you'll get with precancel collectors with it. And how much trouble you'll get into with postal authorities over it.

Here are some more new towns and types, what can you report in any of them: CAMPGAW, N. J., 1c compound, type U-82; LAUREL, MONT., 1½c compound, type U-82; DEPERE, WIS., type U-82, 1c compound; CARBONDALE, PA., type U-63, 5c compound; CHEYENNE, WYO., type U-63, 25c.

Once the projected new set comes fully into use, how long will it be ere the current set will have been fully retired? Some years, if we may take the 1917 set as any criterion. Two cities as large as Charleston, W. Va., and Saginaw, Mich., are now, or recently have been, using the old 30c precancelled, the former in its tiny type electro, the latter in its recently acquired U-12. At this rate we'll be seeing values of the present set appearing as late as 1935 or 1936. We should live so long!

The janitor wants to know how come these old issue values are just coming into use at those cities, when the Agency no longer has them. Because both offices had small quantities of them underneath more recently received supplies of the current set, and they have but lately gotten down to them. Or, in either or both cases, they had such a big stock of

LIGHT'S GOLDEN JUBILEE

We offer an attractive souvenir cover, which is worthy of a place in any cover collection. It was mailed in Menlo Park on October 21st, the fiftieth anniversary of the electric light. It is printed in three colors, gold, red and blue, and shows a picture of the lighting of the first Edison lamp, in the laboratory at Menlo Park. Franked, of course, with a copy of the Edison stamp.

ever existed. (P. S. They're all gone now.)

Some more precancelled envelopes in local typeset types to report: Dr. Randall shows me a new Carrollton type, one line of serifed caps and lower case 29mm long, between bars ½mm thick, 38mm long, and 5½mm apart. On the 1c circular die white size 8, and the 2c circular die white size 5. Rev. Markham showed me recently another such type, in two lines, Carrollton in caps and lower case 18mm long, OHIO in caps 9mm long and 3mm high, between bars ½mm thick, 21mm long and 14½mm apart, on 1c circular. A cut square, so I can't give the size. At the Kansas City convention I saw positively the gem: a size 8 white precancelled in two types, both locally typeset: JOPLIN MO in one line of tiny, plain caps 1¾mm high between hair lines 21mm long and 7mm apart; over it the same in one line of large plain caps 3mm high between bars 1mm thick, 34mm long and 9mm apart. A rambling guess would indicate that the first overprint didn't suit the local postmaster because it was too small, so he ordered the job done over in a larger and more striking type. I hope to tell you the result is a striking piece of work, the person who couldn't be interested in that, wouldn't give 5c to see the world come to an end.

A recent news item says precancel collectors in Philadelphia have the desire to organize a club. Such a move is distinctly in order. Philadelphia has been widely known for many years for its postage collectors and dealers, it is high time that its precancel collectors, of whom it has no mean number, were telling the world something of themselves. Why can't they get together, get some pep and invite the annual convention there before very long? We're always waiting to be invited some place we've never been before.

Dr. Mitchell calls me on a recent note. The RRDO error, which was said to occur on a certain Colorado Springs type, really occurs on a certain Grand Junction type instead (type I). One good result of making an error, it shows that at least one person reads carefully what is written.

Speaking of errors, we should have included among them the missing lower bar variety that comes from Owensboro, Ky., on its U-10 electro. This is not strictly an error, but the result of a break. C. C. Damon sends along a vertical pair with lower stamp carrying the marginal strip, to show its location in the bottom row (horizontal). However, it doesn't extend clear across, as I have a pair of the 2c due from there, one with no lower bar, the other with.

Mr. Damon also sends a couple Nashville old type Bureaus, compound perf., whereon the T is broken to look like the right half of a capital Y. And also a Denver old type 1c Bureau, whereon the second O is broken to look like G.

Two unusual items, not errors, that any collector would like to possess, are Lexington U-1 current 20c down double, and Nashville current type, 20c double, one up, one down.

Mr. Damon's sending was in response to our recent request for something to inspire an editorial mind rapidly going to seed. Where is your contribution?

1476 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

THE BEST ARRANGED, ANNOTATED AND MOUNTED COLLECTION AT THE MINNEAPOLIS EXHIBITION

By Delf Norona.

At the International Exhibition at New York in 1926 a special section was created for the best arranged, annotated and mounted collection in the show. However, no such section was included at the recent Minneapolis Exhibition by the Exhibition Committee, and the writer constitutes himself a committee of one to make an unofficial award.

A couple of hours were well spent on already tired feet making a special inspection of all the collections. It became apparent at the outset that several outstanding collections, rich in material, were not fully or properly arranged or written up. Among such collections were Mason's New Yorks, Knapp's Western Expresses, Brazer's Proofs and Essays, Lichtenstein's Nova Scotias, Capes and Mauritius, Diamant's Mexico, to mention a few. Their owners in many cases are authorities on the respective subjects shown, yet had to be eliminated from consideration for this reason.

Then again, there were other collections most artistically mounted, arranged and lettered, yet after looking into their respective subjects, we decided to omit them from consideration. One of the most attractive exhibits in the whole show was Dole's Portraits on Postage Stamps. The arrangement, condition of specimens and lettering was probably unexcelled, yet it did not cover a real philatelic subject. Another eye-opener was Clark's Patriotics, well worth a trip half way across the Continent to see—historical, certainly, yet despite their popularity Patriotics are not true philatelic items.

After a second trip around the Exhibition hall and making special note of a dozen or more collections, we decided to make three tests: (a) Which was the outstanding collection displaying the most masterful and thorough study of a Pure or True philatelic subject. (b) The collection must be so annotated that the tyro, after having studied it, could go away with a complete understanding of the subject shown; and (c) The arrangement, neatness, and method of mounting were to be considered, as well as completeness considering the scope of the subject and the various philatelic problems encountered, for obviously a collection dealing with a simple subject could be fully covered while the last could never be written on a more complex matter. This may not be strictly adhering to the title of this article, "The best arranged, annotated and mounted collection," yet being unofficial, we exercise our divine philatelic right to follow fancy's whims.

An Unofficial Award

After eliminating various collections from consideration for the above reasons, the choice of a winner narrowed down to three:

Beverly King's United States Postage Dues and Special Deliveries were entered separately, yet may be treated as one. These collections showed the history and development of the stamps, included some very rare proofs and essays. The writing up was done in pencil, and while it is easy to criticize, more could have been done in referring to rates and uses as shown by covers to make it of greater philatelic interest. This we give the Phantom Third Prize.

The next collection, to which we give the Second Prize, is the collection of

NEW SEASON APPROVAL BOOKS

During the summer I have remade all my approval books, and have combined in them many important purchases made during the past year.

The following is a list of new books that are now ready. In general these contain stamps from a few cents to some twenty dollars each. A list of my books of rare stamps will be issued later on.

Prices will be found very moderate, as a rule 35 to 50 per cent below catalogue quotations, and all these priced on this basis of the 1929 catalogue.

re Chinese Express Delivery Stamps, we cannot do better than quote in the owner's (James Starr) descrip-

This collection exhibits the entire se- of Express Stamps from the first through the demonetizing sur- ges. At least part of every cataloged ip is shown, and in most cases entires, and reconstructed used stamps. Each is fully written up and the Chinese acters translated, the mounting and ing up being the work of the owner." nnotations are made in ink, and the k is that of a born philatelist. It the Winner a somewhat close second. ne most interesting exhibit in the le show, in our opinion, is Thomas t's Confederates, General Issues. A f historical introduction is given in h a letter of John Brown and se- d provisionals and "stampless" cov- are shown. The collection is divided three sections, principal of which are lithographed stamps. The plating is of the most unique things about the ction. Accompanying reconstructed plates of stamps are descriptive charts, ruled off to the size of the individual stamps and sheets. In each space is an enlargement of the particular portion of the stamp which contains the most outstanding flaw or variety differing from the normal. Some of the reconstructing work is original, while other portions are very naturally the work of others. Stones 1 and 2 of the 5c green, 1861-2, are shown completely plated; of the 5c blue of 1862, stone 2 is shown plated; and stone 3 is shown partly plated, both in dark and in chalky blue. Examples of shifts, shades and sub-varieties are shown in profusion, and various printings and shades are shown of the later engraved stamps. A complete study has not been made of postmarks, as shown in the frames on display, yet many odd looking and interesting cancellations are to be noted. The writing-up is done in ink, and every stamp or cover is enclosed in a black frame. The lettering is done in small block letters, entirely in the handwriting of the exhibitor himself. All headings or titles are underscored in red.

PONY EXPRESS ENVELOPES

(The following clipping is taken from the Los Angeles "Record" and is sent us by H. B. R. Briggs, the editor and publisher of this enterprising daily. It will prove interesting reading and demonstrate that there are sidelines of philately in which good prices can be commanded. It will be noted that W. R. Parker, who has long been interested in Pony Express covers, figured prominently in the purchase of these rarities at the Watson auction.—W. O. W.)

Two faded, old envelopes sold Monday night in Los Angeles for more than $1,000 each, with eager buyers bidding hotly against each other.

On the envelopes are stamps of the famed Pony Express, fleet frontier mail service of the days of the California pioneers. On the backs of the same envelopes curious labels of the Wells, Fargo Express, and some early U. S. postage stamps as well, the 3-cent stamps of the 1851 issue.

The two old covers were sold at the Philatelic Club quarters, Commercial Club building, in the monthly auction conducted by C. S. Watson Co.

W. R. Parker of Oroville, Cal., was the purchaser. For one cover he paid $1,300; for the other $1,110. These are the highest prices ever realized for single pieces in a Los Angeles stamp auction, and also break the record for prices ever paid for Pony Express covers.

The two high priced stamp rarities were part of a recent "find" made by a stamp collector on visits to some of the pioneer towns of Arizona and Nevada. They came from files in old court houses

WATERBURY ENTERTAINS

Visitors Present from Albany, Troy and Hudson, N. Y.

On Oct. 28, the Waterbury (Ct.) Stamp Club enjoyed a visitation of members from the Fort Orange Stamp Club representing the cities of Albany, Troy and Hudson, N. Y. The Club members entertained their guests at dinner at the Waterbury Country Club, following which the company gathered at the Guild Room of the All Souls Church, where a most interesting meeting was held. After an address of welcome by the Pres. A. A. Baldwin, the meeting was turned over to Elliott Ryder, of Troy, who introduced the following exhibitors, who showed some of their philatelic treasures:—

G. L. Habbert, Troy, rare United States stamps of early issue on and off covers; W. W. Reynolds, Albany, specialized collection of three cent stamp of 1869 issue; Charles E. Brind, Albany, stamps of the Netherlands; Louis I. Swartz, Albany, 20th century stamps of United States in blocks of four and in unused condition; Wendover Neefus, Hudson, "30 miles collection" stamps and envelope cancellations of Columbia county; Elliott Ryder, Troy, collection of great number of varieties of stampless covers; W. L. L. Peltz, Albany, collection of railroad and steamboat cancellations on revenue stamps. Three Connecticut postmasters were among those who enjoyed the exhibit.

The Waterbury Stamp Club was organized in January, 1921, and meets the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month in the library of the Mattatuck Historical Society. It has about 50 men in its membership, some of whom reside in New Britain, Naugatuck, Southington, Torrington and Watertown.

NEW GERMAN CHARITY STAMPS

ESSEN, GER., Oct. 23.

The papers contain an official announcement to the effect that this year's series of charity stamps will be on sale from Nov. 1 up to and including January 15, 1930. The set will again consist of 5 values, similar in design to the one previously used, viz.:—5, 8, 15, 25, 50pf, the selling prices being 7, 12, 20, 35, 90pf respectively=M 1.64 per set, or about 40c U. S. currency.

It will be remembered that last year's issue of charity postage stamps was sold at a premium of 100% over face, which was generally complained of as being excessive, and which induced the public to make use of the stamps on a moderate scale only. With a view to creating a more satisfactory result in the present instance, the P. O. Dept. has authorised a marked reduction of the excess, which in the case of the 50pf value reaches a maximum of 80%, while in regard to the other 4 denominations the excess ranges from 33⅓ to 50% only.

The new stamps will be demonetised June 30, 1930; they will, therefore, be valid for postage purposes for eight months. In addition to the adhesive stamps an 8pf domestic postal card will be placed on sale. Its selling price has been fixed at 12pf a piece.

Editorial

THE new catalogue is out and the eighty-sixth edition of the Standard for 1930 is here on the day advertised and distribution of the volume has been widely made by this time. With the release of the catalogue, there is always a forward movement in stamps, and now there looms pleasantly before us a season of activity in which a greater number of people will participate than ever before. A volume of over 1,800 pages shows that there is substance to philately.

* * *

THE gyrations of the stock market have not added to the joys of any stratum of citizenry of the country, one may observe. As for collectors they can get away from the moil and toil of the marts of trade by immersing themselves in their stamps. They have an advantage over others who have no buffer of the kind.

* * *

THERE has been a tendency among unphilatelic writers to emphasize the necessity of cultivating a hobby if man is to live a well rounded life, and in the lists of suggested avocations, we find stamps have their place, as a rule. We thank those who have sent in clippings from various sources dwelling upon the hobby theme.

THE Honorable W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general, contributes an article to the United States Daily with the heading, "Transportation of Mails Utilizes Vehicles of Diverse Types. Airplanes, Railroad, Automobile, Steamship, Motorboat, Horse and Wagon, and Dogsled in Postal Service." The lowly mule could have been included in the enumeration, since it does its bit. The article is an intelligent analysis of the conditions affecting the air mail service, and its conclusion is: "The post office department will continue to encourage an intelligent use of the air mail service."

TO those who have sent in first day covers of various kinds, we extend our thanks, and our friends may know that we appreciate their thoughtfulness even though acknowledgment may not be made to them individually. Clippings are always welcome and they are received in large number. Naturally, a great percentage of them cannot be used in their entirety, but even so, they sometimes suggest lines of thought that may be pursued to advantage.

THE editor and publisher of the Los Angeles Record is H. B. R. Briggs, and in him philately has a friend at court even though he must be the busiest of men as we cannot conceive of any more exacting and responsible positions than those of editor and publisher of a Scripps-Canfield newspaper. Yet Mr. Briggs likes his British colonials and covers as befitting a member of the American Philatelic Society. Our duty done with this little reference to Mr. Briggs, we proceed to say that his Los Angeles Record of October 22nd contains a fine philatelic spread with a picture of two Pony Express covers that occupies a quarter page. The text is descriptive of an auction sale by the C. S. Watson Company that included these masterpieces. We quote: "Two 'Pony Express' covers bought at Monday night's auction by W. R. Parker of Oroville, California, for record-breaking prices. At the top, a unique piece selling at $1,110. Below, the $1,300 piece. Note the blocks of 'Pony Express' stamps which caused the hot bidding. On the reverse of each envelope are Wells-Fargo labels and early U. S. postage stamps." Elsewhere, we hope to make provision for the text as given in the newspaper.

THE following skit comes from "an occasional attendant" at stamp meetings . . . cigarettes, cigars, pipes . . . we hope that none of the stamps become ash-receivers . . . the airy glad-hander, professionally cheerful . . . the president assuming the dignity of office and signalling the hard-working secretary to get ready . . . the member who answers the roll with a bellow . . . the one who doesn't answer at all . . . business . . . "we ought to so-and-so" . . . "in the Claro Club they" . . . the introduction of visitors . . . the introduction of the distinguished visitor by the president who delegates a member to further introduce him . . . the buyers, sellers and exchangers with their eyes glued on the stamps, at the table . . . wise-cracks and personal remarks allegedly humorous . . . cackles . . . stock-stamps and the other kind . . . plans for more members, for more entertainment, for the annual banquet . . . "there's a lot of big collectors who have never heard of the society" . . . committee reports progress . . . chairman committee not present . . . committees appointed . . . the dour member, the gabby member, the member with ideas . . . a little auction sale with the auctioneer in fine spirits which droop with the prices . . . meeting is over . . . some members stay and hold little courts . . . suburban boys duck . . . good night!

A CORRESPONDENT says: "I have become interested in stamps again after a lapse of years, and find that many changes have taken place during my long vacation from philately. Prices on some of the U. S. have mounted so high that I should think that they would be as dizzy as they make me. You may not remember but I was one of the first collectors of U. S. dollar denominations in blocks, beginning with the Columbians, and when I see the prices at which such things are now held, even singly, I have a distinct and localized pain. You may recall what a brisk market there was in the unwatermarked values of the 1894 issue, and how some of us made a pretty penny when the sun shone. As a consequence of the discovery of the 2c counterfeit stamp of that issue, the government decided to watermark the stamps of the set then current. The change was made suddenly and the realization came to collectors that some of the stamps, the high values in particular, would be desirable in unwatermarked condition. (In the lower denominations, we had high hopes for the 8c.) Chicago was about the only city that had quantities of the $1, $2 and $5 denominations of 1894 in stock, at the post office, when the news broke and a few sharp-sighted men there smelled them out, and what is more to the point, they arranged what practically was a 'lien' on the lot. Then, an active traffic began in the stamps, with Chicago as the focal point. The WEEKLY of 1895 will bear testimony to the interest that was excited in these stamps. Cablegrams came from Germany, for instance, and there was a stampede to get the stamps at prices that allowed a very good margin over face. Prices were well maintained and all went as merrily as the proverbial wedding bell, but toward the end of the episode, a scandal broke in the newspapers, in which it was charged that one of the clerks at the stamp window kept back the unwatermarked stamps for preferred customers through subsidizing said clerk, but the case petered out. However, looking at the prices asked today for the stamps, they have proved to be the best of property. The difference between the watermarked and the unwatermark stamps is not marked, yet I rememb that my eye became trained by pract to mark the whitish crackly gum of t 1894 and to detect the watermark in t 1895 issue." Here is an echo of the pa We can call to mind the "brisk mark that there was for the 1894 issue, a while the prices asked in 1895 were hi enough, they are small in comparis with those of the present day. The c respondent had the right idea in colle ing high value blocks, but he did not ke his stamps long enough to cash in on we should judge.
